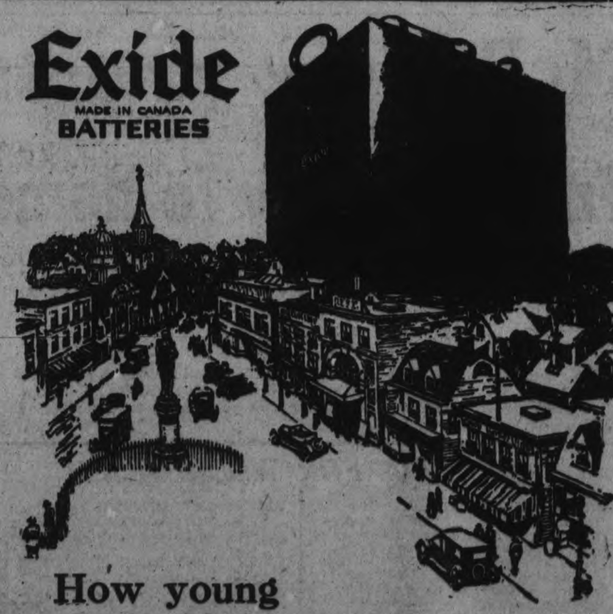
Exide
MADE IN CANADA
BATTERIES



How young is your battery?

Your battery is as old or as young as it acts. Whether it tackles its job with vigor or seems scarcely able to turn your engine over after a few months' service depends largely on the choice you made when you bought the battery.

An Exide Battery—powerful and constantly on the job—will outlast an ordinary battery long enough to save you real money. The Exide is young-acting at an age when many batteries are in the scrap-heap.

Make up your mind that, when you need another battery, you are going to have the best. It will pay you in every sense of the word. There is an Exide dealer near you, with the right battery for your car.

ALL GIRL GUIDES ON SAME FOOTING

TORONTO, April 3. (Canadian Press. — Lady Baden Powell is an ardent believer in the welfare of the young, so ardent that when she arrived at the convention hall last night to address the opening meeting of the 62nd annual conference of the Ontario Educational Association she advised that the children from the Williamson Road school choir should be allowed to go home. But she failed to win her point. The children had been doing some fine work and Lady Baden Powell thought that their reward should be permission to disappear, but when she made the suggestion from the platform there was little support.

"Personally, if they were mine, I would see that they went home to bed," she declared when she failed to score, and then she went on to give an outline of the work of the girl guides of which she is the chief. She said she wished to let all persons know that the spirit of Girl Guides is sisterhood for all the members of this world wide association, the members of which were on the same footing from Princess Mary to the poorest tot who came from the lowest slum of any city in the world.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Curlers Enjoyed Some Out-of-Season Curling — Easter Visitors to Town.

MILLBROOK, April 3.—In common with many other places the local curling club had the unusual pleasure of playing friendly games all day on Good Friday, the ice being in excellent condition. The skating season has also been extended unexpectedly, the ice being so good that the rink was open on Saturday evening for all who cared to indulge in this healthful exercise. Doubtless, however, the majority would prefer more seasonable weather and cheerfully bid farewell to any further indulgence in winter sports until time for them to re-open another season.

The annual "Decision Day" was observed in the Methodist Sunday school on Sunday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. S. T. Tucker, making a very earnest appeal to the scholars to make full surrender to Christ's claim for their definite, personal allegiance, especially those young in years with life's opportunities just opening up before them. The teachers had an opportunity of backing home the message when presenting the lesson for the day, following Mr. Tucker's simply-worded and impressive talk.

Miss Elsie Spence, spent a few days last week visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard, Cavan.

Mr .W. Fred Fallis was in Bowmanville last week attending the second annual consignment sale of Holstein cattle under the auspices of the Durham Holstein-Friesan Club, which was held at Beith's stables just west of the town. Buyers were present from many outside points and in spite of the stormy, cold weather, bidding was brisk, and prices realized fairly satisfactory upon the whole. R. R. Stevens, of Bowmanville, president of the club, received the highest price paid during the sale, Dr. John Noble of Toronto, and his partner, H. Hambly, of Bronte, paying $500 for "Pauline Sylvia," an animal with a splendid milk record. $300 and $250 were the next highest prices given, both animals being from R. R. Stevens' consignment, and the buyer, C. H. Sheppard ,of Aurora. The heaviest buyer was Noble Metcalf, of Bowmanville, who purchased eight cattle in all. Mr. Fallis disposed of five animals from his own herd at the sale. The secretary, L. C. Snowden, stated that the average price for the entire 38 head of cattle which were sold was $136.

Miss Kathleen Sutton, who is a member of the High school staff at Burk's Falls, is spending the Easter holidays at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. M. Sutton, Anne street.

LIVE STOCK TRAIN IS IN EASTERN ONTARIO.

MARIPOSA, Ont., April 3, Canadian Press. — The better live stock train, which has just finished a successful tour of Western Ontario, made its first stop in Eastern Ontario yesterday. Over 600 farmers were present. Much interest was manifest in the swine departments. This is a centre for the production of good bacon hogs, as S. D. Irvine, Dominion government hog grader, stated that 25 per cent. of the hogs marketed in this section graded select at the Peterboro packing plant. In view of this the farmers are anxious to still further improve their stock. Four pure bred sows and one pure bred boar were purchased locally. Beef importance is of primary importance in this section. Especially is this true in the breeding of steers to be finished on the ranches in the north end of the county; as a result the exhibition of beef bulls and market grades of steers was much appreciated. The lectures on beef cattle, better bulls, sheep and swine were timely and instructive.

NARROW ESCAPE SEVEN CHILDREN

Were Being Dragged Out to Sea When They Were Rescued.

BIARITZ, France, April 3. United Press. — Seven children playing on the sand here, were swallowed up by a huge wave that inundated the beach. They were being dragged out to sea when an American and an Englishman who had been promenading nearby, plunged into the surf and succeeded in rescuing all seven. The wave was believed to have been part of a terrific tidal swell reported by wireless from many ships at sea.

SOVIETS EXECUTE CHURCH PRELATE

Vicar-General Budkevich Suffers Death at Moscow for Alleged Treason

(By John Graudenz, United Press Staff Correspondent.

MOSCOW, April 3. 11 a.m. — Vicar General Budkevich, Roman Catholic prelate, who was found guilty of treason, was executed today.

Appeals from Catholic organizations throughout the world, from several governments, including the United States and Belgium, and urgent representations from Poland, which a sharp Russian note declared constituted an unfriendly act, failed to dissuade the Moscow government from enforcing the death penalty.

Monsignor Budevich was sentenced to death, together with Archbishop Zepliak, after a trial which ended last week in the conviction They were accused of communicating with Poland during a time when Russia was at war with that country, and with resistance to the Soviet system of requisitioning church property.

FELL FROM A BICYCLE DIED FROM INJURIES

HAMILTON, April 3.—(Canadian Press.)—From a fractured skull and injuries to her spine which she suffered yesterday afternoon when she fell from a bicycle, Edith French, twelve years of age, died last night in St. Joseph's hospital. The girl was learning to ride the bicycle on the front lawn of her home when she lost her balance and fell, striking her head.

ONLY ONE ITEM BEFORE COUNCIL

Seymour Council Made History at Their Regular Monthly Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 3. — Seymour Township Council, in regular session on Monday, passed the smallest budget that has ever come before it in the memory of the oldest member. It contained only one item, and was for $14.00, the salary of J. M. Arnold, the school attendance officer.

Mr. Arnold's report for the months of February and March, showed that conditions in the rural schools so far as attendance is concerned, are fairly satisfactory.

There were a good many pupils out of their classes during the winter, but this was due to illness and to the condition of the roads in nearly every case. In one section there are pupils living three and five miles from the school, and yet the average attendance was good, even during the stormy weather.

Care of Roads.

Reeve Van Volkenburg called the attention of his colleagues to the fact that a Bill introduced into the Legislature by Representative Denyes of East Hastings to limit the width of the roads for the upkeep of which township councils are responsible had been defeated. As the law now stands the townships must keep in repair all the highway between the fences. If there are accidents due to deep and uncovered ditches or to holes between the fences and the travelled portion of the road, the township must make good all the damages. It has been ruled, too, that all deep ditches should be tiled and covered.

The Reeve said this was an expense that the township could not undertake, but care should be taken to see that there were no dangerous holes in the road between the ditches at least. The only way in which this could be done was to appoint some responsible man for each of the different highways to see that the roadways were safe for travel.

Sheep Killed by Dogs.

John Locke, vice-president of the Agricultural Society, was present, and recommended that a change be made in the manner of compensating owners of sheep worried by dogs. The valuation should be given authority to bill all sheep that are beyond recovery instead of leaving them to suffer for, sometimes, days at a time.

Dr. Hay, clerk of the township, said that the present law covers that point. Animals in pain should be put to death at once when it is evident that they are past hope. If this is neglected, the person permitting them to continue to suffer is liable for a fine.

A delegation from the Agricultural Society was expected to ask for the annual grant for the Fall Fair, but wor dwas sent that the representative would not be present owing to the absence of President Alex. Hume.

Expenditure to Date

Councillor Meiklejohn, chairman of the finance committee, reported that so far this year the town has spent $12,028.62.

The usual budget of accounts was passed before adjournment.

Regimental Ball

There was a brilliant assemblage last night in Cole's Opera House the occasion being a ball given by the local company of the Northumberland Regiment; the officers of which left nothing to be desired in the arrangements for the ir guests. The music was furnished by Leonard's Orchestra.

At St Andrew's

Fred Wigglesworth the new organ ist and choir leader of St. Andrews church, had charge of the musical service on Sunday for the first time since his appointment and put on morning and evening, a splendid programme of Easter music. Mr. Wigglesworth demonstrated his ability as a vocalist as well as an organist by singing two duets with Miss Emma Meiklejohn, the accompaniments for these being played by E. C. Dolman.

Mrs Catherine Miller

There passed away on Sunday, April 1st at her home Centre street Mrs. Catherine Miller relict of the late William Miller. The deceased, whose maiden name was Catherine Thain, was in her 84th year was a woman of noble Christian influence and example. Although confined to her home for some time, she was always cheerful. She is survived by he family, who have the sympathy of all in the loss of a loving mother. The funeral takes place this afternoon from her late residence and will be conducted by Rev' Mr. Pearson of the Plymouth Brethern of which the deceased was a faithful member and the remains will be laid to rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery

THE FIRST BIGGER BUSINESS SALE TOOK PLACE IN SEPTEMBER OF 1922 AND WAS A TREMENDOUS SUCCESS, THE HALL BUSINESS INCREASING IN VOLUME TO AN EXTENT AWAY BEYOND OUR MOST SANGUINE EXPECTATION, AND THERE HAS BEEN A STEADY GROWTH EVER SINCE, UNTIL TODAY THERE IS NO STORE IN EASTERN ONTARIO ENJOYING A BIGGER PATRONAGE.

AFTER CAREFUL CONSIDERATION IT HAS BEEN DECIDED TO STILL FURTHER INCREASE OUR VOLUME OF BUSINESS BY INAUGURATING ANOTHER BIGGER BUSINESS CAMPAIGN, AND THE MONTH OF APRIL HAS BEEN SELECTED FOR THIS IMPORTANT EVENT.

ONE OF THE THOUGHTS PROMINENT IN THE MINDS OF THE EXECUTIVES OF THIS BUSINESS HAS ALWAYS BEEN THAT OF SERVICE TO THE BUYING PUBLIC, AND WE KNOW OF NO GREATER SERVICE POSSIBLE TO RENDER THE PEOPLE OF PETERBOROUGH AND ALL THAT SECTION OF COUNTRY THAT MAKE THIS ITS SHOPPING CENTRE THAN TO LOWER PRICES TO THE LOWEST POSSIBLE POINT ON DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE, KEEPING IN VIEW THE SHAREHOLDERS' RIGHT TO A LEGITIMATE RETURN ON THEIR INVESTMENT.

THE BIGGER OUR BUSINESS THE LOWER OUR PRICES. HERE ARE THE REASONS:—

FIRST—THERE ARE CERTAIN FIXED OVERHEAD EXPENSES THAT MUST BE TAKEN CARE OF IN CONNECTION WITH ANY BUSINESS, SUCH AS RENT, TAXES, LIGHT, HEAT, SALARIES, ETC.

SECOND—THESE EXPENSES ARE LARGELY THE SAME WHETHER THE TURN-OVER IS $100,000.00 OR $500,000.00 A YEAR. THE RENT IS THE SAME, THE TAXES ARE THE SAME, THE LIGHT AND HEAT ARE THE SAME, THE OFFICE AND EXECUTIVE EXPENSES THE SAME. THE ONLY DIFFERENCE WOULD BE IN THE EXTRA NUMBER OF SALESPEOPLE NECESSARY TO TAKE CARE OF THE INCREASED BUSINESS.

THIRD—IT IS APPARENT THAT A STORE DOING $100,000.00 MUST EXACT A LARGER PROFIT FROM THE PUBLIC THAN A STORE DOING SAY $500,000.00 WITH PRACTICALLY THE SAME OVERHEAD. THE DEDUCTION IS THAT THE LARGER THE TURN-OVER ON PRACTICALLY THE SAME OVERHEAD EXPENSE THE CLOSER WE CAN SHAVE OUR MARGIN OF PROFIT.

THAT'S WHAT WE'RE OUT TO DO. INCREASE THE VOLUME OF BUSINESS AND BRING PRICES DOWN TO LOWEST POSSIBLE LEVEL.

WE SOLICIT YOUR INCREASED PATRONAGE. WE'RE OFFERING VALUES IT WILL BE DIFFICULT TO DUPLICATE.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"On the contrary, quite ordinary. It's absurdly simple. I need some getaway money. I ought to have it—and I'm going to get it by the oldest known method—extortion through intimidation. Your father is a smart man and he will see the force of my argument."

"He's a very stubborn man and doesn't bluff worth a cent," she warned him and added: "Particularly when he doesn't like one or when he is angry. And whatever you do, do not threaten him. If you threaten him, instantly he will be consumed with curiosity to see you make good."

"I shall not threaten him. I shall merely talk business to him. That's a language he understands."

"How much money do you expect to realize?"

"About half a million dollars."

"In return for what?"

"A quit claim deed to the Rancho Palomar. He can have a title in fee simple to the ranch by noon to-morrow and thus be spared the necessity for a new suit to foreclose that accursed mortgage and the concomitant wait of one year before taking possession. He will then be free to continue his well-drilling and dam-building in Caliente Basin; he can immediately resume his negotiations with Okada for the purchase of the entire valley and will be enabled, in all probability, to close the deal at a splendid profit. Then he can proceed to erect his hydro-electric plant and sell it for another million dollars' profit to one of the parent power companies throughout the state; when that has been disposed of he can lease or sell the range land to Andre Loustalot and finally he can retire with the prospect of unceasing dividends from the profits of his irrigation company. Within two years he will have a profit of at least two million dollars, net, but this will not be possible until he has first disposed of me at a total disposing price of five hundred thousand dollars."

"Please explain that."

"As I think I have remarked in your presence once before, there is extreme probability that the State of California will have passed additional anti-Jap legislation, designed to tighten the present law and eliminate the legal loop-holes whereby alien Japanese continue to acquire land despite the existing law. If I stand pat no Jap can set foot in the San Gregorio valley for at least one year from date and by what time this legislation may be in force, in which event the Jap deal will be killed forever. Also, there is always the off chance that I may manage, mysteriously, to redeem the property in the interim. It would be worth a quarter of a million dollars to your father this minute if he could insure himself against redemption of the mortgage; and it would be worth an additional quarter of a million dollars to him if he were free to do business with Okada to-morrow morning. Okada is a sure-fire prospect. He will pay cash for the entire valley if I permit the deal to go through now. If, however, through my stubbornness, your father loses out with Okada, it will be a year hence before he can even recommence work on his irrigation system and another year before he will have it completed. Many things may occur during those two years—the principal danger to be apprehended being the sudden collapse of inflated war-time values, with resultant money panics, forced liquidation and the destruction of public confidence in land investments. The worry and exasperation I can hand your respected parent must be as seriously considered as the impending tremendous loss of profit."

"I believe you are a very shrewd young man, Don Mike," the girl answered, sadly. "I think your plan will be much more likely to produce half a million dollars of what you call 'getaway money' than my suggestion that a friend run up the price on father at the sale. But how do you know Okada will pay cash?"

"I do not know. But if your father's attorneys are Californians they will warn him to play safe when dealing with a Jap."

"But it is not possible that Okada may not have sufficient money to operate on the excessive scale you outline?"

"Not a chance. He is not buying for himself; he is the representative of the Japanese Association of California."

"Well, Don Miguel Farrel," the girl declared, as he ceased speaking, "I have only known you twenty-four hours, but in that time I have heard you do a deal of talking on the Japanese question in California. And now you have proved a terrible disappointment to me."

Young Swedish Prince Makes Debut as Critic.

STOCKHOLM, April 3—A royal prince as a paid dramatic critic is the latest sensation in the literary world of Stockholm. Prince William, second son of King Gustaf, has been appointed staff writer of Idun, the leading Swedish weekly for women. His debut as critic was hailed as a success, and he has covered several first performances of new plays in the Stockholm and Gothenburg theatres.

The prince has already made his mark as one of the notable young authors of Sweden. He has published several volumes of poetry and some of his verse has gained considerable popularity by being chosen for public recitals. He has also written a number of short stories two of which have been published in leading American magazines. The best known of these, entitled "The Pearls" is decidedly dramatic in quality and has been filmed by a Swedish company. One of the prince's latest works, "Among Dwarves and Gorill as in Africa," is a colorful and lively description of his recent hunting and exploring trip in Africa. A translation of this work is about to appear in England, and it is reported that negotiations are being carried on for an American edition.

The prince is exceedingly democratic and strongly objects to any special consideration as a writer because of his royal status.

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A case is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., 4615 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long stages of tiresome exercise and starvation diet or fear of bad effects.

CITY SOLICITORSHIP

Russell-Townsend Bill.

An account from the Russell-Townsend Company, the Hunter street bridge contractors, claimed a net balance of $1,289.97 from the city. Their account totalled $2,432.71, including quite a number of small items and the following larger amounts: The London Guarantee and Accident Company $1,100, Ed. Conroy $300, C. R. Widdifield $169.70, C. J. Townsend for trip to Toronto $62, David Conroy, judgment, $231.91.

The company credit the city with $1,142.74, made up as follows: 2,500 cement bags, less 30 damaged ones, $493.75; timber sold the C.G.E. company $587.25 ;timber sold to Ramsey and Wilde, $61.74. The account was referred to the Finance committee.

Chief Gimblett's Report.

The Fire Department responded to 78 alarms during March. Of these 67 were telephoned and 11 wer sent in from alarm boxes. The apparatus travelled 189 9-10 miles in going to these fires.

During the month there were 350 inspections of which 12 were by the Chief and 6 were reinspections.

The loss for the month was $3,-168.82, of which $568.82 on property and $2600 on contents. This does not include the loss in the J. C. Turnbull & Co., Ltd. fire, which is estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000.

Chief Praises Men.

Referring to Saturday morning's fire Chief Gimblett wrote: "I think the men deserve a lot of praise for the very efficient manner in which they held this fire to the ground floor. Considering the start it had and the inflammabde nature of the stock on the ground floor, and the elevator has an opening around it and the opening stairway in the north-east corner of the building."

Auditor's Report.

F. J. A. Hall notified the Council that he had completed his audit of the city's books, including those of the various commissions, Board of Education and Public Library and had found them all correct.

"In the amount paid by the city to the commissioners of the City Trust there is included the sum of $1,690 interest on $26,000 of debentures which were issued but not sold until later," Mr. Hall wrote. "This amount should be credited to the Utilities Commission and deducted from the 1923 demand."

With reference to the collector's roll, clause 11 of the by-law, passed March 7, 1921, provides that the roll shall be returned on or before December 14, 1921. In this case, I find that the roll for 1922 was also in the hands of the collector. In my opinion it is bad practice to have two rolls in the collector's office at the same time and this should be avoided if possible.

The bonds of the various officials o fthe Corporation are in proper form and for the required amounts.

Two hundred copies of the report will be published.

Support From Uxbridge.

The Council of Uxbridge wrote that they had memorialized Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways urging the electrification of the Midland division of the system.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads
There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Ball Club to Play at Riverside Park--Championship Bowling

BALL CLUB OBTAINS LEASE OF RIVERSIDE FROM CITY COUNCIL

TO AID YOUNGSTERS.

On a division of seven to four the Council lats night gave to the Peterborough Baseball Association this season's lease of Riverside Park for $1,000.

Ald. Meyer's motion, seconded by Ald. Maher, that the park be rented to the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association at $800, the same terms upon which they held it last year, was opposed by Ald. Holloway's amendment, seconded by Ald. Phelan, in favor of the P.B.A.

The ayes and nays were recorded as follows:

Nays: Aldermen Turner, Meyers, Morrison and Maher.

The motion was defeated with the vote reversed.

The debate was comparatively brief, although a new note was injected into it by the representation of a deputation from the C.G.E. baseball club, who asked for consideration in the disposition of the park in view of their hopes of admission to the senior series of the Central Ontario League.

Advocating the P.A.A.A. offer Dr. McPherson said that the Association felt that Riverside park should not be given to any organization that confined their interests in sport to one line, exclusive of all other branches. If given to any organization it should be to the organization that took care of all sports in the city.

"We carried out all the conditions of the agreement with the city last year," said the president of the P.A.A., "and tried to play fair with all sports, and we feel the city should give the park to the organization which represents the Council in athletic work.

H. T. McFadden of the C.G.E. baseball club had written to the Council that because there would be no city league here this summer the C.G.E. team, last year's intermediate champions of the province, would be unable to arrange for sufficient games and had therefore decided to enter the Central Ontario League with Lindsay, Port Hope, Oshawa, Leaside and Bowmanville.

J. J. Solomon, of the P.B.A., said there would not be two senior Peterborough teams in the Central League this year.

"I was talking to President Dedman and he told me the C.G.E. had been trying to change our dates. I said that was new to me. I am a member of the executive of the league and I'm pretty sure there won't be two teams from here in the senior series."

Mr. Solomon remarked that the C. G.E. had been charged 50 p.c. of the gate by the P.A.A.A. last summer. He didn't consider that rate an evidence of trying to help sport.

To Ald. McIntyre Mr. Solomon said: "We've made up our minds we won't play under the P.A.A.A. if they get the park."

Ald. McIntyre—Suppose the ball team gets the park, what concessions will they give the P.A.A.A.?

Mr. Solomon—We made the C.G. E. a proposition that we'd give them the park at ten per cent. of the gate. We'd put that money to one side, and if they went in the hole we'd give it to them. We'd let the juniors and youngsters in free.

Walter Jackson, of the C. G. E. club, said that Mr. Solomon had proposed to him that the C.G.E. enter the league.

"We considered it from all angles and we decided that if possible we'd go in. We had to the end of last week to decide. I called up Mr. Dedman and told him we had been unable to agree. He said the opposition wouldn't make any difference to him. We decided to-day after work that we'd enter a team in the senior section. If the Central Ontario team gets the grounds the C.G. E. wouldn't be able to make it pay, if we had no place to play. We consider that most of our fellows play the same class of ball as they do."

Dr. McPherson said the P.A.A.A. had charged 50 p.c. for the park, but that didn't enter into the question, because the P.A.A.A. had made up the deficits of three of the ball teams, giving the C.G.E $125, the Adanacs $100 and absorbing the deficit of the Maple Leafs.

"Where do we come in?" asked Sidney Whatley representing the Football league. He raised the question whether the Council could let a public park for purposes of gain. "The only way to get sports going is by co-operation, and everybody should have a share of the grounds."

When the question came up for disposal by the Council Ald. Holloway said he was in favor of renting Riverside to the Baseball Association, because many citizens would be disappointed if they were deprived of the opportunity of seeing the ball games they expected to see this summer. The men in the Association were reputable citizens and taxpayers. If the team won the championship they would be a wonderful advertisement for Peterborough.

Had it not been for the Baseball Association, said Ald. Phelan, the city wouldn't have got any money for the park this year. All the junior teams were assured of using the park. "I don't think there could have been a fairer offer than that, and I think it was due to that offer that we received the subsequent offer of $800 from the P. A. A. A. They handled the park well last year, but I think the Baseball Association is just as competent."

To Ald. McIntyre he said the ball team would require the grounds once a week for games and two or three nights for practices.

Ald. Meyers took the view that the Council could afford to accept $200 less from the P.A.A.A. because they were a community organization.

Ald. Maher remarked that it was due to the Baseball Association that friction had developed. He favored leasing the park to the P.A.A.A. on the same terms as last year.

Mayor Taylor closed the discussion with the comment that all parties had been heard at considerable length and that the Council fully understood the issue.

BOXERS PULLED THEIR PUNCHES

TORONTO, April 3.—Bermondry Billy Wells, billed as the welter weight champion of Great Britain and Frankie Schoell of Buffalo, met for the first and probably last time in Canadian ring circles to-night when their schedule ten round bout was stopped by Referee Marsh in the Fourth round for "refusing to fight". Their purse was with held by the Ontario Athletic Commission and it was intimated by officials at the ringside that representations would be made to the controlling authorities of boxing in the United States to have the boxers disciplined until a satisfactory explanation is given for their showing before six thousand fans who packed the civic arena here.

From the start of the bout it appeared to those close to the ring that the boxers were not making ther best efforts to fight. Referee Marsh stopped the bout after two minutes and warned the fighers. They plainly "pulled" their punches and were hissed and boohed by the crowd. Another warnng failed to have effect, and after many cries of 'fake" and "stop it" the men were ordered from the ring.

Belgian Congo Water Power

Hydro-electric engineers are at present investigating the possibilities of two large water-power schemes in the Katanga district of the Belgian Congo. One is a 60,000-70,000 horsepower project on the Lualaba River; the other involves 50,000 horsepower on the Lufira River. The latter entails a mass-concrete intake dam and an earthen reservoir dam, 17 meters high. The schemes are as yet only in the project stage and actual construction will not be possible until the necessary capital has been raised.

CLOSE SCORE IN ROTARY GAME

Smart Fielding Featured Best Game Seen This Season.

The Rotary Club and the Triple Link clashed last evening in the best game yet played in this Spring's softball schedule, the Rotarians finally winning out by the score of 3-2, after a battle that went the limit for closeness and good baseball.

The warm day heated the interior of the Armouries, bringing back memories of real baseball weather and enabling the players to play with both hands out of their pockets. There was also a good number of fans crowding the benches.

The fielding of both teams was the bright spot in the game. Neither pitcher tried to put much on the ball, but both got along well, letting the ball be hit and leaving it to the men behind them to do their share. The ball was hit hard and often and nearly all the putouts were made on fast pickups with a speedy throw to first on long difficult flies to the field.

Dobbin and Rogers teamed up well in the garden area, spearing everything that came their way. The Triple Link pair were just as good, Long picking off many that looked good for a hit.

The Triple Link crew got the first run in the first trip to bat, two hits in close succession and a stolen base sending "Aleck" Butcher across the white triangle for the first one. The Rotarians didn't score in the first innings, although they walloped out three clean singles.

The play tightened up in the next two innings, both teams hitting hard but each fielding cleanly every ball hit.

An error and a long hit gave the Rotarians two in their half of the fourth, while the Triple Link were blanked.

In the fifth the Triple Link opened strong, Rogers ran back and grabbed one hand, George Butcher's wallop that looked due to hit the far wall. The next man got on on a nice single and Munro gave him a passport for the other three bases when he crashed out a three bagger.

The teams batted along with the 2-2 tie for the next two innings, neither team collecting a hit in those sessions. Matthew's two bagger in the seventh "cooked" things up for the Rotarians, when he sent MacPherson in for what proved to be the winning tally. Neither team scored in the eighth, a double play retiring the Rotarians in quick style.

In the ninth the Triple Link got a man on second and hope sprung up anew in them, when "Aleck" Butcher the next man up, sent a low fly sizzling at "Doc" MacPherson. The "Doc" got his hand on it, but it bounced out, but Harold Young grabbed it before it reached the ground, making a great climax to a fine game.

The players were:

Triple Link—G. Butcher, ss; A. Butcher, 3b; Munro, 1b; Ackford, c; Long, lf; Byers, ss; Price, p; Barrie, 2b; Percy, rf.

Huge Game Preserve Approved By Canada.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 3.—Plans to establish a new game reserve in British Columbia, to be known as the Bowron Game Refuge have been approved by the Game Conservation Board of the Dominion government, and the boundaries of the park will soon be definitely determined.

The preserve will form a refuge and breeding place for a greater variety of wild game than any other in either Canada or the United States, according to the announcement. It will include within its area Bowron, Spectacle, Sandy, Long, Isaac and Indian Point lakes which, with streams connecting them, form an almost circular waterway 200 miles in circumference.

The park lies in the old Cariboo gold district, and will be 70 miles long by 40 wide, with its southern boundary 22 miles from Barkerville The country is the native habitat of moose, deer, caribou, mountain goat big horn sheep lynx, black and grizzly bear and other animals.

According to the announcement the streams and lakes are full of trout, steelheads, pike, salmon and bass, and are one of the noted spawning grounds of sockeye salmon Geese ducks, brant and grouse are plentiful. A canoe can travel around the circle of lakes without portage, almost constantly in the shadows of snow clad peaks that rise some 8,000 feet.

Sybil Bauer.

EVANSTON, Ill., April 3.—Miss Sybil Bauer, famous swimming star, now appears in a new role. She is striving to obtain a full fledged competitive athletic program of all sports for girls of the "Big Ten" universities.

She is now a freshman at Northwestern University and already has taken the leading place among her classmates in things athletic.

Within a year sports lovers may expect to see big things being done by college women in the sports field, she predicts.

LAWN BOWLERS EASY FOR L.O.L.

Fife and Drum Boys in the Lead All the Way—Score 19 to 3.

L.O.L. 50 gave the Lawn Bowlers softball aspirations a bad jolt when they handed "Tim" McArthur and his merry boys a 19 to 3 trimming last evening. The game was far from dead; on the contrary it gave the fans some good ball and sent them away talking. Leaving out the first two and the last two innings, when the L.O.L. obtained eighteen of their total nineteen runs, the game was fast and interesting.

The lineups:

L.O.L.—H. Hardill, 1b; Helson, 2b; Spencely, p; Mahood, ss; Bradley, lf; Carney, rf.

BOXER IS SHOT.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 3.—(Canadian Press.)—Jack Britton, a Memphis boxer, was shot and killed yesterday near White Station, a Memphis suburb. George Jones, charged with the shooting, surrendered. Britton, a midde-weight, was about 33 years old. He recently appeared in bouts in Atlanta, New Orleans and Hot Springs.

According to statements credited to Jones and a young woman of the Jones family, Britton had been warned to remain away from the Jones home. When he appeared there yesterday, Jones opened fire with a shotgun.

WESTCLOX TOOK THE FIRST COUNT

Post Office Went Behind in First Match For Five-Pin Championship.

Westclox defeated the Post Office in the first match of the final round for the G. N. Gordon trophy and the championship of the Mercantile Five Pin League. One more match is to be played and as total pins count the Post Office team still has an opportunity to win the round. Wyatt had the high score last night by a wide margin. He had a total of 595 pins, while his nearest rival was Ballard with 515. The scores were:

Westclox:

American Ships Thrive Without Selling Drinks.

LONDON, April 3.—Those who thought prohibition was going to kill passenger travel on American ships have found out they were mistaken. In spite of prohibition and the fact that mid-winter is usually the dullest season for trans-Atlantic travel, four of the American passenger liners which left England for America during the past six weeks had a full complement of passengers booked several days before sailing time. In each instance applicants for berths were turned away.

The President Roosevelt was the first of the vessels flying the American flag to experience the unusual rush of passengers in mid-winter. Thirty-five applicants for passage were turned away, and a temporary dormitory had to be built to make room for extra third-class travellers The America left Southampton a few days later with more than than 1,800 passengers, every berth being filled. Accommodations on the George Washington were entirely sold out two weeks before she sailed. The President Harding was the fourth of the "full-up" liners.

LACROSSE GAME IS RETURNING TO POPULAR FAVOR

BOYS INTERESTED.

There are Rip Van Winkles in every community who will say when lacrosse is mentioned, "It is a fine old Canadian game, but they do not play much of it any more, do they?" People like that are very aggravating. They make you want to ask, "What cellar have you been hiding in the for the last four years?"

Every lacrosse enthusiast ought to carry a few of the figures given by Secretary Labett of the O.A.L.A., to show these people whenever they indulge in their pessimistic squak. There were 431 lacrosse games played in Ontario under the supervision of the Association in 1922. Also, the league authorised 44 exhibition games, which brings it up close to 500. That does not include the city leagues and similar minor organisations. In fact, the remarkable recovery of lacrosse since the lean years of the war has surpassed even the fondest hopes of its most enthusiastic admirers.

The healthy sign indicated by the secretary in his account of last year's operations is the manner in which the boys are taking hold of it. The number of junior teams increased from 18 in 1921 to 26 in 1922; juveniles from 17 to 22; and midgets from 8 to 17.

That means that the boys are playing the game and that the boys are growing enthusiastic. Not only the present but the future of lacrosse seems to be entirely healthy. There were four of five juvenile teams last year which left one with the impression that there will be some great senior lacrosse about half a dozen years hence.

Widening the Borders.

The fact that Ottawa and Cornwall will operate groups in the O.A.L.A., promises added strength in lacrosse in the next few years. After the games in Ottawa, between the O.A. L.A. champions and the Ottawa seniors in 1920, it was practically decided that Eastern Ontario would no longer figure in the calculations of the association. However, several things have happened since then.

Last year an effort was made to revive lacrosse in Ottawa on as clean and sportsmanlike a basis as has characterised the O.A.L.A., since the war. They were successful, and now they want to enter the largest lacrosse association in the world. As Sandy Karn pointed out to the convention, it was not a subject that should even be debated. Ottawa is part of Ontario, and if they will abide by the O.A.L.A. rules, they have a right to enter teams in the association.

It is not so much a new thing to have O.A.L.A. teams in Eastern Ontario. In 1913, there was a senior group in that part of the Province. In the town of Prescott, they had a strong team(and were expected to be strong contenders when the senior finals were reached. There was some trouble over one of the Prescott players, and if one remembers rightly the club got peeved because they could not have their own way. They wiggled their fingers at the O.A.L.A. executive and said, "We won't play, so there." The teams that remained were not strong enough to hold their own against the teams from this part of the country. Anyway, the O.A.L.A. activities in that part of the Province patered out.

They have now been revived, and it looks as though the Province of Ontario will soon be thoroughly organised from stem to stern under the supervision of the O.A.L.A.

One only wishes that all the pessimists who wail about Canada's national game had been present at the annual meeting of the O.A.L.A.

A THOUGHT

Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him: but I will maintain mine own ways before him.

He also shall be my salvation: for an hyprocite shall not come before him.—Job 13:15 and 16.

If our faith in God is not the veriest sham, it demands, and will produce, the abandonment sometimes, the subordination always, of external helps and material good. —Alexander MacLaren.

SARAZEN CARRIES EIGHTEEN CLUBS.

Golf experts tell you that it is foolish to carry too many clubs in your bag. Most of them say that a half dozen is plenty. Others stretch the figure to 10, allowing for duplication of certain clubs in case something should happen to your driver, brassie or mid-iron.

Most professional players say that the amateurs are too fussy about their clubs, that the moment they go bad they blame the slump on the clubs rather than their poor playing. Of course such a system makes business good for the club professional and they really shouldn't offer any advice to the contrary.

While most of the leading professionals insist 10 clubs is plenty to pack around, few of them live up to the doctrine they preach. The next time you attend one of the big tournaments count 'em.

At a recent tournament in the south, it was noted that Champion Gene Sarazen had his caddy weighted down with 18. When some friend commented on the number, Sarazen replied.

"The boy is travelling a bit light today, four sticks are in my club house locker."

In golf you hear a lot of things that don't mean what they seem to.

STOMACH TROUBLE "INDIGESTION" Relieved By Burdock Blood Bitters

The sufferers from dyspepsia, indigestion or other stomach troubles who has to pick and choose his food is the most miserable of al mankind.

Even the little that is eaten causes much torture and is digested so imperfectly it does but little good.

Mr. Wm. Kruschel, Morden, Man. writes:—"Some time ago I had quite a serious case of stomach trouble, indigestion. I could scarcely eat anything, outside of some light food, and even then I generally had pains after each meal. I tried many different medicines, but without any improvement, and had almost given up hope of ever being well. A neighbor recommended Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it a short time I felt much better, so I continued to use it until I was completely relieved. I can honestly say that B.B.B. has done wonders for me after all other medicines failed."

VITAL STATISTICS.

In Peterborough there were 55 births, 7 marriages and 27 deaths in the month of March, as compared with 54 births, 5 marriages and 36 deaths in February.

Births show an increas of 16 over March 1922, marriages a decrease of 6 and death a decrease of 8.

BRINTON LOST TEN-PIN MATCH

De Laval put a crimp in Brinton's ten-pin aspirations by handing them a great trimming last night. The final score was 2269 pins to 2372. De Lavals won every game of the match and only the first game was close. In the final game the winners piled up a total of 912 pins, two of the players rolling over the 20 mark.

Murray was the high man for the night with 582 pins to his credit. A. Fitzgerald rolled 560 and W. Fitzgerald 502, but none of the other players were able to get over the 500 mark.

The Lawn Bowlers have already challenged the De Laval and a match will be arranged in the near future.

BEAUTY PARLOR METHODS PERVADE CHICAGO STABLES

CHICAGO, April 3.—The seductive, soothing murmur of the vacuum cleaner which draws the dust and dandruff from the heads of fair women in beauty parlors is now heard in the stables where the best of Chicago's horses are kept. The golden sheen on Milady's hair as she walks down the boulevard Michigan is no more pronounced than the glossy tint on the coats of Chicago's police horses.

Dr. Frank T. McMahon, a veterinarian of this city, has installed such a machine in the stables where the police horses are kept and also in four other large stables in the city.

Dr. McMahon says he got the idea from noticing the cleaning of a woman's hair in the beauty parlor. He hurried to a company engaged in selling vacuum cleaners and bought one of the kind used for cleaning halls and rooms in hotels. On theend of the hose he attached a curry comb device and put this equipment into use on the Chicago police horses. Such satisfactory results were obtained that it was installed in other stables. He says that with this equipment one man can clean 75 horses a day more thoroughly and more satisfactorily than is possible in any other way.

This winter almost slipped by without anyone repeating that hot water improves a cold bath.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 3. — The weakness that developed in stocks yesterday when a break was engineered in Union Pacific extended into to-day's session with the throwing overboard of marginal accounts which were impaired by yesterday's decline. At various times the downward trend was steadied somewhat and near noon Canadian Pacific and United States' Steel made a rather impressive showing, contrary to the general market trend. While many of the speculative leaders were going backward, Canadian Pacific gained two points. Slight recessions were shown by the leading industrials. Selling pressure lifted after the early offerings had been absorbed. Although recoveries among the speculative leaders were confined to fractions, the general list showed an improved tone. Union Pacific led the rally, getting back to 137 5-8 against Monday's low of 135 1-8.

Impressions which prevailed in some quarters of the street Monday that the Union Pacific statement to be given out was of bearish import, it turned out to be a stupid blunder.

Judge Lovett, as everybody expected, opposed the Holden plan of western consolidations. The Interstate Commerce Commission has not given the slightest intimation that it favored the Holden plan or regarded it as more than a story of possibilities.

An important aspect of Judge Lovett's testimony has been entirely disregarded. On Monday he advanced further toward co-operation with the commission in its consolidation study and indeed toward acceptance of this feature of the transportation act under acceptable conditions than even before.

Further throwing overboard of insufficiently margined stocks furnished the basis for another sinking spell in the whole market in the second hour. American Can made a new low on the move at 93 1-2, American Locomotive at 131, American Woollen at 101 and other speculative leaders receded proportionately.

But the whole list was steadied around noon by the two point advance in Canadian Pacific and by evidence of impressive support in Steel. Interests in close touch with the affairs of United States' Steel believe that the net earnings of the first quarter will be in the neighborhood of $38,000,000. This would mean an increase of $10,500,000 over the last quarter of 1922.

MOTOR CAR MANUFACTURERS HAVE DIFFICULTY IN SECURING MATERIALS.

Canadian motor car manufacturers are experiencing some difficulty in obtaining supplies for manufacturing purposes. This is especially true of materials that have to be imported from the United States. Production of American motor car companies has been increased considerably and it is said that the domestic market is using a portion of the materials which usually find their way into the Dominion.

The steel mills in the United States are hampered by a scarcity of labour and are falling behind in their shipments. Railroads have been placing orders for new equipment and some of the steel companies have orders from this source which will keep them operating till next October.

Manufacturers of alloy steels also report heavy bookings from motor car manufacturers, and in some cases their entire output is sold up to July next. Canada is unfortunate in not having mills equipped for the turning out of alloy steel and the result is that we are dependent on the American mills for our supply. Practically all of this steel now being used is imported, and it is the scarcity of this material that is hampering the automobile industry. With the completion of the Dominion Alloy Steel Company's plant at Sarnia, this situation will be relieved to a great extent.

Roderick Grant, in examination by Mr. O'Brien, said that he considered from what he had heard in court the charge was within 10 per cent. a fair charge. The prices charged for material were those generally prevailing in a retail way at that time.

Q.—What is the general custom in regard to adding profit?

A.—The general allowance for profit is 40 to 50 per cent. This is invariable.

In cross-examination, Mr. Kerr elicited the information that Mr. Grant buys at jobbers' prices in large quantities and sells to plaintiff at wholesale prices, to which plaintiff adds 50 or 60 per cent.

Q.—I suppose it is possible to tender in such a way that the owner of the property wouldn't know where he was at?

A.—We never have any trouble, Mr. Kerr. We could even tender to you and make it clear.

The case was adjourned until 2.30 this afternoon.

OVERHEATED PIPES.

An Acute Attack Quickly Helped

Montreal Lady Rubs Away Her Cold Troubles With Vicks.

Miss Lachance of 1142 Wellington St., Verdun, Montreal, Que., says: "I had occasion to use Vicks VapoRub during the winter, while suffering from acute LaGrippe, and it gave me instant relief. I used it as per directions on label and also rubbed it over aching spots—throat, joints, forehead and around the nose for cold in the head—and found it very beneficial in every way. It was recommended to me by a friend who uses it as a family remedy all the time.

Vicks VapoRub comes in salve form, as for head or chest colds, you just apply it over throat and chest cloth. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled all night long into the throat and lungs—Menthol, Camphor, Thyme, Eucalyptus and Turpentine. Vicks is also absorbed through and stimulates the skin, aiding the vapors to relieve congestion. Usually colds go in one night and croup is commonly relieved in 15 minutes.

By invitation of the manufacturers fifteen thousand families in Canada, tried Vicks last winter for cold troubles, the only condition being that they would report results. The above is just one of the enthusiastic reports received. The above statement is just one of dozens that can be quoted right in Peterborough.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal P.Q.

BURNHAM OPPOSES CARVING COUNTY

Vitally serious to this city will be the effects of the proposed realignment of the two Peterboro ridings under the forthcoming redistribution Mr. J. H. Burnham ex-M. P. wrote the Council last night in an appeal for an expression of disagreement from the city.

East Peterboro he wrote, wished to remain with us in the entirety and integrity of the county. A resolution to that effect was passed at Mr. Forke's recent meeting in Norwood. Politics should not weigh in this matter and Peterboro cannot stand the loss of the municipal and commercial importance it would suffer if the county is split up and parts taken away from us, Mr. Burnham declared. The letter was referred to the Legal Committee.

A protest from the Peterboro Relief Association against the Council's action in diverting to the Central Charity board the $6,000 remaining from the fund which was contributed by citizens at the outbreak of the war for persons who might be reduced to need by its results. Industrial conditions quickly recovered and the money was not used for the purpose for which it was intended. The Association objected to the remnant of the fund being applied to the credit of the Charity Board thereby reducing this year's taxes by that amount.

The Council is replying that its relief is customarily distributed through the Central Charity Board and that they will disburse the balance of this fund for the benefit of persons in adverse circumstances.

Ald. McIntyre objected that the money had not been raised for that purpose, but Ald. Holloway replied that the Charity Board were thoroughly competent to handle this money.

MRS. MISENER'S ACHES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—"When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken. I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' I worked on munitions, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing inflammation from which I suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines." — Mrs. Goldwin Misener, Branchton, Ont.

Sick and ailing women everywhere in the Dominion should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before they give up hope of recovery. c

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Captain M. W. Plunkett's ever-popular "Dumbells" Company, will be the attraction at the Grand for two days, April 13th and 14th.

The company is again headed by Ross Hamilton and Al. Plunkett, those two favorite stars of all the previous "Dumbells" offerings, while other outstanding stars of the original "Dumbells" show in France and Canada are Ben Allen, T. J. Lilly, Bert Wilkinson, Morley Plunkett, Bert Williams and Captain "Mert" Plunkett, who is making his first public appearance in Canada with his own show and duplicating his great success of overseas days.

Then there are Stan. Bennett and Fraser Allan, Canada's greatest song writers, Bert Mason and Gordon Calder, who are leading impersonators with Captain Plunkett's other divisional parties in France; Dick Kimberley, of the old "Volatiles"; Jimmy Devon of the dancing platoon; Pat Rafferty of "Maple Leafs" fame; Jack Challes of the same organization; Art Allan and Jack Grace and a dozen other Canadian soldier boys including the French-Canadian baritone, Al. Johnson, winner of the Dominion singing contest; and Billee Baker, gold medalist tenor.

Another addition to the company this season and one which has met with the utmost approval, is Captain Plunkett's Overseas Orchestra, a jazz band of nine pieces, which is given a most elaborate staging. It's a riot.

The new revue, "Carry on," will be found entirely different from any of the previous "Dumbells" shows in the matter of songs and sketches. It is more of an overseas revue than anything which the company has given since their initial offering of "Biff, Bing, Bang." Many of the songs and all of the sketches have a direct bearing on the lighter side of life in the trenches.

CAPITOL Entertainment

Romance with a capital "R," is the high note of the feature picture, "Adam's Rib," at the Capitol Theatre for the first half of the week. Probably a true presentation of modern conditions, it reveals a topsy-turvy state of affairs in feminine psychology.

Anna Q. Nilsson, beautiful and wonderfully dressed, is Marian Ramsay, a woman in her late thirties, whose passion for romance is starved. She becomes infatuated with "Mr. Jaromir," (Theodore Kosloff), who it transpires, is really the dethroned king of a small monarchy in the Balkans. The production affords the curious spectacle of a romantic mother being saved from the consequences of her folly by an extremely modern young lady, her 17 year old daughter, Matilda, played by Pauline Garow.

This effervescent young lady falls in love with the pictured countenance in a magazine of a stern scientist, Professor Nathan Humboldt Reade (Elliott Dexter), and takes up the study of anthropology "to fit herself to be his wife." She pursues the protesting gentleman to his lair in a natural history museum, where he spends his leisure hours in investigating the vital works of decayed dinosaurs, makes violent love to him, and lures him to a frivolous cotillion where she deserts him for the king. This last whim is an effort to save her mother from her infatuation, but the professor fails to grasp its significance and retires once more to his gigantic skeletons. Just at this point an interlude picturing the struggles of a cave man with a flirtatious mate is injected into the picture and the professor sees the light through the medium of its working out.

Later when the mother decides to fly with her kindly lover, the husband spends seven million dollars in carrying through an effort to restore the philandering monarch to his throne, with the proviso that he shall marry a fat Germanic princess. After a series of mishaps, the daughter captures her scientist, and the production ends quite true to form, with the mother dropping violets upon her husband in the wheat pit, he pausing to bestow a kiss upon the flowers while surrounded by a frantic multitude of buyers anxious to secure some portion of his newly-acquired seven million bushels of Balkan grain. Milton Sills plays the part of the husband, Michael Ramsay, in this picture of high romance.

Percy and Ferdie are as funny as usual in an uproarious comedy "My Mistake."

EXPLAINS REASON OF VICE DISTRICT

Recorder Defends Disorderly Houses in Montreal

MONTREAL, April 3.— (Canadian Press.)—Defending his administration of law in a public reply to criticism that his court was too lax in regard to red light district by not sentencing to jail public disorderly housekeepers on the fourth conviction, Recorder Amedee Geoffrion from the bench to-day declared that he had been goaded to the point of exasperation by a communique, attributed to the secretary of the Committee of Sixteen, which asked: "Are recorders afraid of keepers?" "I am afraid of no prostitute, nor of the Committee of Sixteen," said Recorder Geoffrion, in rejecting jail as an antidote for prostitution. The closing of the red light district, in his opinion, would mean clandestine vice.

Montreal vice system, he admitted, is "prostitution supervised without being tolerated." He defended disorderly houses on the grounds that they "fulfill the function of a moral sewer of a big city," and branded Puritanism as a "bad guide."

SPECIAL SERVICES AND A MUSICAL FESTIVAL

The special services held over the week-end at the Salvation Army Temple, conducted by Colonel and Mrs. Morehen, of Toronto, in charge of Young People's work in Eastern Canada, concluded last evening with a musical festival in the Aylmer Street Hall. The chair was taken by Col. Morehen, who congratulated the Temple Band on the fine programme of music rendered, assisted by selections by the orchestra, vocal solos by the Misses Hilda Broome and Ivy Smith, and instrumental selections by Mrs. S. Richardson. Adjt. Smith expressed the appreciation of the audience and the Army for the presence of Col. Morehen at the Easter services. On Sunday morning the Boys' Band gave Easter music through the city, and on Sunday evening, five seekers responded to the call of Col. Morehen at the conclusion of the evening services, when an address was given by the Colonel from Isaiah 53: "He was wounded for our transgressions."

Canada's Mining Boom

New veins are being discovered almost daily, therefore old mines are again being worked. The market price of the shares is very conservative. For instance, Wetlaufer appeared on the market Thursday at 5c and closed at 12c. 5,000 Shares bought at .05 on margin would cost $85.00—if you had sold at 12c your profit would have been $350.00 less brokerage, and all made within 5 Hours. EXPECTED 200 NURSES WILL CONVENE HERE

BILLETED AT HOMES

The Peterborough Chapter of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario held a meeting in the Public Library yesterday afternoon, to make final arrangements for the convention of the Ontario Graduate Nurses which commences here with an executive meeting this evening, continuing through Thursday and Friday to Saturday morning. The sessions of this, the 20th annual convention of the nurses, will be held in St. John's Parish Hall, and it is expected that nearly two hundred members of the association will be present. This is the first time the nurses have met in convention in this city.

The convention opens on Thursday with addresses of welcome from Mayor Taylor and Rev. Dr. Blagrave, with addresses to the nurses by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien and Dr. T. N. Greer. Other speakers will be: Miss Jamieson, of Toronto, president of the association; Dr. Gladys Boyd, of Toronto, who will explain the insulin treatment of diabetes, in place of Dr. Banting, who is unable to attend the convention; Miss Coutts, of Toronto General Hospital, who will give an address dealing with special diet in diabetic disorders, and Dr. Jessie Birnie, of Peterboro, who will speak on baby welfare work. The annual election of officers also takes place at this convention.

Arrangements for entertaining the visiting delegates include a banquet at the Empress Hotel on Thursday evening, when musical numbers will be given by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, Mrs. Hazel Davidson McClelland and Mr. John Ball; a motor drive around the city on Friday afternoon, followed by a tea at the Y. W. C. A., given by the Local Council of Women, and a visit to the Peterborough Clinic.

The delegates will be billeted at various homes in the city, at the Empress Hotel and the White House. Billeting arrangements are in charge of Miss Mary Deyell, the entertainment programme will be looked after by Miss A. Thornton, while Miss F. Dickson and Mrs. Leeson, superintendent of Nicholls Hospital staff, form the reception committee. Officers of the Peterborough Chapter are: Miss F. Dickson, president; Miss A. Thornton and Miss Foote, vice-presidents; Miss M. Deyell, treasurer, and Miss L. Simons, secretary.

MASS MEETING TO-NIGHT IN TRINITY CHURCH

The public are again reminded of the mass meeting of all the local churches in Trinity Methodist Church this evening in the interests of the Armenian relief.

Rev. A. J. Vining, D.D., secretary in charge of the Armenian Relief Association of Canada, will tell the gathering of the needs of the Armenians and the projected plan for bringing a number of Armenian children to this country.

Dr. Vining is an eloquent and impressive speaker, endorsed by the press generally, as holding his audience in breathless attention. He tells the story of the blackest and most tragic chapter in the world's history, and his appeal on behalf of the stricken Armenians is stirring in the extreme.

TRAPPING BEING HELD UP BY THE EXTREME WINTER

The Indians who are in the city to-day for the illegal fishing trial, report that trapping conditions are very poor. They are offered $1.75 upwards for rat skins, but unless the season opens up quickly there will not be much trapping done.

The roads are bad around Roseneath Reserve, and the winter is described by the Indians from that part of the country as the worst in their history.

ARGUMENT ON FREIGHT RATES

H. J. Symington Suggests Any Prices Fixed by Alleged Combine Were Unjustifiable.

OTTAWA, April 4. — (Canadian Press).—Was the alleged shipping combine used to fix rates that were unreasonably and unjustifiably high?

This was the question to which H. J. Symington, K.C., addressed himself on the resumption of his argument this morning before the Royal Commission on Lake Grain Rates.

In the first place he suggested that any rates made by the alleged combine were prima facie unjustifiable. The fact that rates could be enforced by a combine, made possible by legislation, that is, by coasting laws, in itself suggested this. Shipping people said they were not common carriers, owed no duty to the public, and that rates were wholly a matter of contract. Still the shipment of grain was a forced shipment, and the rates were therefore fixed by a combine or by forced contract.

In the second place, he argued that the rates were unreasonable because they were made in spring and summer, when, naturally, they would be low, and allowed or helped to soar at the season when the demand for space was keen.

In speaking of the season of demand for space, he quoted Lee Wolvin as saying: "We got whatever we asked." To this Mr. Pitblado objected that there was no such statement in Mr. Wolvin's evidence. "It was a telegram," replied Mr. Symington.

TWO MEN IN COURT ON DRUNK CHARGES

Wine Sold Openly on George Street Caused Trouble.

In the Police Court this morning, Magistrate O. A. Langley disposed of two cases of B.O.T.A.

A local man charged with being drunk on George Street said that he got the wine in a store on George Street, where it was sold openly at $1.75 a bottle. He was fined $20.00, and costs, or one month in jail.

The man who sold the wine was brought to the Police Station and cautioned. He stated that the wine he sold was unfermented.

The second case was that of a voluble man who brought his whisky from Montreal. He was found drunk at the corner of Hunter and Water Streets at 10 a.m. yesterday. He was fined $10.00, and costs.

OBITUARY

ADELINE VICTORIA AMES FRALICK.

Peterborough has lost an old resident in the death of Mrs. Adeline Victoria Ames Fralick, 186 Edinburgh street, a daughter of the late James H. Ames, who was an early settler in the city, and was for forty years one of the leading shoe merchants here. The late Mrs. Fralick was for about fifteen years a teacher of high standing in the Public schools. She was a life-long member of George street Methodist church, and leaves many friends who deeply regret her death.

The deceased had been ill for several months, and last December she suffered a stroke of paralysis. A second stroke occurred on March 18, from which she did not recover.

Interment will be made in the family lot at Little Lake cemetery, the funeral being private. Rev. W. Harold Young will officiate.

CUNO ASSERTS FRANCE WANTS PART GERMANY

Exclusive Interview With Chancellor Makes Startling Charges—Will Mean Disaster.

THE GERMAN ANSWER

(By William Philip Simms.)

BERLIN, April 4. — (Special.)—In an exclusive interview given the writer in Wilhelmstrasse, Chancellor Cuno, of Germany, openly charged France aims at the dismemberment of Germany and the ruin of the German people.

If France accomplishes her purposes, according to Cuno, it will mean disaster and peacelessness for Europe and unrest for the whole world.

The German chancellor clearly made a bid for international mediation. He authorized the following statement:

"Throughout the months of the Ruhr invasion Germany and the whole world has been waiting for France to show the ultimate aims of her action.

That she is not bent on reparations is shown by the universal opinion—shared by the allies—that the invasion diminishes the means to get reparations.

"But at last one of France's most astute politicians, M. L. Loucheur (whose work as minister for the liberated territories has engaged universal attention), in a public speech has given a hint of the French motives.

"He proposed to tear the Rhenish zone definitely from Prussia. He further proposed to 'emancipate' these German provinces and to make an artificial political body of them.

"I am grateful to Loucheur. He specifically proclaimed what Germany by bitter experience has known for centuries to be French policy: namely, dismemberment of Germany.

"There's but one answer to this French challenge: The Rhenish zone must remain an intergral part of Prussia.

"We cannot permit France to interfere with the sovereign rights of this country.

"The dismemberment of Germany would mean not only the ruination of the German people but disaster and peacelessness to Europe and unrest for the whole world.

"For this reason the French policy of political aggression with so-called sanction can no longer be regarded as a Franco-German matter.

"French intentions of the dismemberment of Germany become more and more an international danger and concern the peaceful development of the entire world."

SWEDISH SYSTEM HELPS PAY RENT AND TAXES

STOCKHOLM, April 4.—In Sweden a man does not have to remember to pay his rent, his income tax, of his insurance premiums, nor suffer the penalty of forgetting, if he joins the General Installment Fund and Payment Bureau, a cooperative service institution which announces the completion of its organization in Stockholm.

This unique bureau is organized for the purpose of relieving its members of all personal worry and inconvenience in making payments of all monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or other periodic dues, and generally to encourage thrift and financial preparedness for meeting such personal obligations.

The operation of the bureau is as follows: Membership is secured by paying an admission fee of three crowns, or about 75 cents, and membership dues of 2.50 crowns. The member then instructs his employer to deduct weekly or monthly allotments from his pay. These are sent direct to the bureau, and must be large enough so that the sums accrued will cover the payments of rent, light bills, insurance premiums, taxes, and other recurring dues which the bureau meets on account of the member. There are even loan funds at the disposal of members who are in arrears upon entrance.

Besides the handling of general installments for the interest of its members a saving department is maintained, as well as a department for the writing of insurance policies.

CANADIAN GENERAL GETS A CAMPBELLFORD ORDER

Mr G N. Gordon, M.P., received a telegram to-day at noon from the Hon. Geosge P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, stating that the Canadian General Electric Company's tender for transformers, controllers, motors and electrical equipments at Campbellford for the Trent Canal System, amounting to $12,000, has been accepted.

Mr. Gordon was before the Department on several occasions urging this tender to be accepted, as the material could be easily sent to Campbellford, as required, from time to time.

BY A MAJORITY OF ONE THE EDUCATION BOARD VOTE COMBINED SCHOOL

Divergent Views as to Cost of Adequate Accommodation for Academic and Vocational Education — Opposition Places Figure at a Minimum of $450,000.

COUNCIL OR PEOPLE MUST PASS BYLAW

On a vote of 5 to 4 the Board of Education last night reached a decision to build a combined Collegate Institute and Vocational School that is to say should the proposition pass the City Council or be endorsed by the ratepayers of a bylaw to this end is submitted to them.

The board divided as follows on this issue, which is the same project as they tied on last year:

Ayes — Mrs. Morris, Dr. Neal, Worth and Wearing.

Nays—Chaiman A. A. Fowler, J. M. Greene, E. B. Fowler and Denne.

Mr. McKone, who was in the chair at the time to permit of Chairman A. A. Fowler taking part in the debate, broke the tie by casting his vote in the affirmative.

The above division was taken on a motion by Messrs. Worth and Wearing that the following report of the Committee of the whole, submitted by A. A. Fowler, be adopted as read;

Your committee of the Whole Board beg to recommend to the Board the building of a combination Collegiate and Vocational School the same as was recommended to the Board last year by the Building Committee which was appointed to consider the matter and report.

Your Committee also recommend the appointment of a new Building Committee with power to engage an Architect to prepare plans and submit the same to the Board and the Department of Education for approval.

Apart from the question of a vocational training, the present Collegiate Institute is not offering adequate accommodation for academic and commercial needs, and two high school inspectors have reported that the deficiency must be remedied, otherwise the scrool will lose both its collegiate standing and government grants. Therefore, the whole board were a unit in recognizing that action at least in this regard is imperative.

But the opposition to building a combined Institute and Vocational School, utilizing, of course, the present building, contend that academic needs can be supplied now and increased provision for technical training later if found necessary; and so, Messrs. Greene and Denne moved in amendment to the foregoing motion that the present Collegiate be extended only, separate accommodation for vocational classes to be forthcoming later when considered imperative.

The building committee to put into effect the provisions embodied in the adopted report of the committee of the whole is composed of Messrs. Worth, Mrs. Morris, McKone and Chairman A. A. Fowler.

The two groups into which the board is divided on this project advance divergent estimates of the cost of a combined school, Mr. Worth contending the work can be done for in the neighborhood of $310,000, while the other estimate a total expenditure of between $450,000 and a half a million.

The Debate

When submitting the committee of the whole's report recommending a combined Collegiate and Vocation-

DR. SUTTON, PETERBORO PRESENTED EVIDENCE

TORONTO, April 4 (Canadian Press). — Evidence as to the need for improved proceedings indicating the entitlement of ex-soldiers to pension and treatment was presented by Dr. M. H. Sutton, of Peterborough, before the Royal Commission on Pensions and Re-establishment at Osgoode Hall this morning.

A serious flaw in the legislation creating the Board of Appeals at Ottawa was revealed when it was shown that this legislation provided that no decision of the Appeal Board should contravene the legislation under which the Board of Pension Commissioners operates, and which provides that decisions of the Pensions Board are final.

It was declared by the witness that the Appeal Board's decisions could be negated by the Pensions Board.

The problem of dual medical examinations in deciding entitlement to treatment and a pension occupied a large part of the sitting.

ORDER RETURN OF MOTOR CAR TO PLAINTIFF

An Interesting Case Was Decided in the County Court—The Car Was Seized.

BOY UNDER AGE

The appended judgment respecting the alleged sale of an automobile to a juvenile has been handed down by Judge E. C. S. Huycke in the County Court. Mr. S. T. Medd appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. J. O'Brien for the defendant and Mr. V. J. McElderry acted in the interests of Bailiff S. R. Pearson, who made the seizure of the car. According to the evidence an automobile claimed by plaintiff was seized by F. H. Sanderson and Bailiff Pearson, under a lien note given by plaintiff's son on the claim that it was the son bought the car and not the father.

Samuel McConkey, claiming that he, not his son, owned the car, started action for the recovery of the car and damages for its seizure. The case was tried before His Honor, Judge Huycke at a special sittings of the County Court on March 15th and 16th and judgment reserved.

Judgment has now been given upholding the claim of Mr. Samuel McConkey that he was the purchaser of the car and that his property had been illegally seized, and ordering the return of the car forthwith to Mr. McConkey and the payment, in addition, of $100.00 damages and the costs of the action.

This is an action for the recovery of a McLaughlin motor car and for damages for its detention. The plaintiff is a farmer in Smith township, and claims to be owner of the car.

The car was seized in November last by the defendant Pearson as a bailiff acting as agent for Sanderson, who claims to be the owner of the same car, or entitled to its possession under certain lien notes given to him by one Norman W. McConkey, son of the plaintiff, Samuel McConkey.

The chief and only question arising for decision is who bought the car from Sanderson, was it Samuel McConkey the father, or Norman McConkey, the son? Norman is a boy living at home with his father, nineteen years of age, hence an infant. Norman McConkey had been wanting and talking about the purchase of a car for a considerable time as is alleged by Sanderson, and this is practically admitted. He had been in Sanderson's garage a great deal, day by day, with other boys talking about it, and if he had been or was to be the purchaser of the car the arrangement could easily have been carried out there at any time without reference to the father. The bargain for the purchase of the car was very loose and defective, no matter which theory is accepted, and was carried out last July on the roadside at Bickell's gate with the parties all present. The plaintiff swears, and in this he is corroborated by his wife and son Norman, that he then and there bought the car for $1,100.00—$500.00 to be paid in cash and the balance in one year. Sanderson on the other hand contends that the same bargain was entered into at the same time and place by the son Noramn, and that the father simply expressed his willingness that the son should buy it. The car was delivered a day or so later, nothing more being said about it, and the $500.00 was paid by monies belonging to the father, but actually handed to Sanderson by the son Norman in various payments. No lien was retained in the car, or right of possession, or ownership mentioned by any party to the transaction until the 27th of October, when Sanderson went to the McConkey home, when the boy Norman was there alone, and the result of the interview was that Norman signed three what are called lien notes, declaring the ownership and right of possession of the car to be in the defendant Sanderson. There seems to have been no previous mention of lien all these months These notes were signed on the 27th of October, 1922. For several days after that, Sanderson had Bailiff Pearson looking for the car, and it was finally seized on a public street in Peterborough on the 8th of November, 1922, only ten days after the notes had been given. This undue haste makes it appear as if the last transaction were only a subterfuge to enable the defendant Sanderson to get possession of the car, sold and delivered so long before, which he could not have done but for these alleged lien notes. It is unnecessary to state that this whole affair between Sanderson and the son was idle and useless; the son being clearly shown to have been an infant at the time, and therefore incapable of contracting in such a manner, or giving the lien notes in question; that however, does not affect or help the plaintiff although the defendant's action was illegal and improper in any case.

I find as a fact that it was the plaintiff who bought the car, the father, not the son. In so finding I do not overlook the fact that the witnesses are all more or less interested, the husband, wife and son. The only other person there who gives any evidence was the defend-

Turkey Goes Over To the Dry Areas

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 4. —(nited Press.) — Turkey has gone over into the dry column. The prohibition law of the Moslem nation, the most drastic in the world, went into effect Tuesday. Under the provisions of the statute, drunkenness is punishable by from one to two years in prison, and a large fine.

NO HOPE THAT PRELATE LIVES

Execution of Vicar-General Butchavitch by Soviets Said to Have Been Confirmed.

LONDON, April 4. Canadian Press —Not the slightest doubt is entertained here that the execution of Vicar-General Butchavitch has taken place. It is pointed out that the principal Moscow papers published it as a fact, and various Moscow correspondents have confirmed it.

ROME, April 4, Canadian Press.—Notwithstanding the Riga despatch published by the Times of London, appearing to throw doubt upon the execution of Monsignor Butchavitch, the Vatican continues to believe that the prelate has already been shot. This belief is founded on the fact that the announcement of the execution reached the Vatican from several absolutely independent sources, it is stated, with such details as appeared to leave no hope that the prelate was still living.

LONDON, Aprol 4. Canadian Press —Confirmation of the execution by the Soviet authorities of Constantine Butchavitch, Vicar General, of the Roman Catholic Church in Russia, is contained in a despatch received to-day from a Rosta official agency of the Bolsheviki news organization.

GERMAN VIEWS.

BERLIN, April 4, Canadian Press. —While notes and petitions have been fairly raining in on Moscow on behalf of Vicar-General Butchkavitch, says the Vessiche Zeming today "against the murder of eleven German workmen in Essen only one country has protested — Germany. These dead claim our sympathy," it continues, "all the more in that the rest of the world shows not the slightest interest in them."

STEPSON OF WILHELM NEEDED DOOMY CASTLE

By GUS M. OEHM.

BERLIN.—(By Mail to United Press).—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm's 13-year-old stepson thought he needed a castle with forty rooms.

He has it thanks to the ruling of a beneficient Wohnungsamt, official dwelling bureau. But a lot of things had to happen first. The ex-Kaiser and his bride mixed in; two castles with a total of sixty rooms were involved; a princess was ejected from one castle into another, from which she thereupon ejected a family of five, because they were "common people," and—a lot of things.

Hermine, who now calls herself "Empress and Queen of Germany and Prussia," because of her marriage to Wilhelm, instructed her young son to move into the great castle, thereby forcing his widowed aunt, Princess Margarete von Schoenaich Carolath, to move into Castle Starzdell, which Hermine had placed in readiness for her. Margarete did not like the idea of moving from the forty-room castle into a twenty-room affair and wrote long letters to Hermine and the ex-Kaiser at Doorn. Hermine, however, acting on Wilhelm's advice, remained obdurate and Margarete was forced to move to Starzdell.

Living there in four small rooms was a poor merchant and his wife and children. Margarete, declaring she needed all of the twenty rooms for herself, brought an eviction suit against the merchant. The dwelling bureau and the district president decided in favor of the Princess and ejected the merchant and his family. Hermine and Wilhelm, after first upholding their son in evicting Margarete from the bigger castle, now turned to support the widowed Princess, writing long letters upholding her stand, declaring any person in whose veins the blue blood of a Schoenaich Carolath flowed "could not share his castle with common people."

The merchant who fled to Berlin with his family, hired a lawyer here and obtained a Government commission to go to the district, which lies near Frankfurt-on-the-Oder, to investigate the case. The local authorities informed the commission that "the Government had nothing to say in the matter," referring the members to the Princess Margarete herself. However, when the commission visited the Princess, they were told she was "out for a walk."

The affair has aroused a demand that great castles of twenty to forty rooms which are used by only one or two persons should be thrown open for the free use of the Ruhr refugees.

JUDGMENT FOR HARTSHORN IN WORK DISPUTE

Awarded $175 With $100 Paid by D. W. Dumble to the Plaintiff's Lawyers.

ACCOUNT WAS $359.11

Judgment for $175, but with only Division Court costs, was given by Judge Huycke late yesterday afternoon in favour of Wilfrid Hartshorn in his unit against D. W. Dumble for $259.11 for wiring the defendant's house, which he had converted into duplex apartments.

The total account rendered for the work by the plaintiff was $359.11, but Mr. Dumble had paid $100 to Gordon & O'Brien, solicitors for Mr. Hartshorn. In evidence Mr. Dumble said he had forwarded an additional cheque for $20, but a marginal note on the letter produced in court bore Mr. Gordon's memorandum that, although an enclosure was mentioned by Mr. Dumble, the letter had actually contained no cheque. There was some slight confusion in regard to this detail, and Mr. O'Brien spoke of calling Mr. Gordon to the stand if necessary. Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., appeared in behalf of Mr. Dumble.

Judge Huycke congratulated counsel upon the courteous manner in which they had handled the case, the respect they had shown Mr. Dumble and their consideration for him in his difficulty of hearing.

The Dean of the Peterborough Bar sat immediately below the witness box to hear better the evidence, and in his own testimony repeated several times that he wished to pay the plaintiff a fair wage for the work that had been laid out.

In his summary of the evidence Mr. O'Brien contended that Mr. Hartshorn's charge had been fair, and Mr. Kerr argued that the plaintiff had occupied a position of confidence and trust to Mr. Dumble. In that relationship, he said, a trusted agent should not take any secret profit.

Judge Huycke declared that he was unable to go as far as Mr. Kerr in regard to the relationship of agent and employer, nor could he find that there had been a secret profit. The work was done, and was fairly satisfactory in so far as His Honour could determine. Mr. Dumble was responsible for allowing Mr. Hartshorn to proceed with the work, and Judge Huycke decided that substantial justice would be done by allowing the plaintiff $175.00 on his claim. It was an arbitrary amount, he acknowledged, but he couldn't determine exactly in dollars and cents what amount should be awarded the plaintiff.

Contractor's Profit.

Mr. Charles Thorpe, of Grant & Thorpe, said it was generally known that in all trades there was a profit on the wholesale price of material to enable the contractor to carry on business, and that the same applied to workmen's time.

"If I fetch a plumber to my house and I am charged one dollar an hour, I know that the workman does not receive the whole dollar, but he probably gets 65c or 70c an hour," witness said.

Mr. Thorpe regarded it as simply a matter of commonsense that when a firm was buying material and selling time, the public would know that there was an overhead charge. It was not considered good business to make out bills showing what the overhead was or what the workmen were paid.

Witness admitted to Judge Huycke that he formed that opinion only from those persons with whom he had come in contact.

"You have not talked to sufficient people to indicate whether that is general knowledge," His Honour remarked.

Mr. Dumble said he had lived in Peterboro sixty years having come here in 1863.

Recalling the work of transforming his house into a double apartment in 1921 he said: "A young man wandered into the house one day. He seemed respectable, and I asked him if he was an electrician. He said he was. The house was wired already and I wanted the new addition wired. It as 16 feet by 21 feet with a kitchen and pantry downstairs and a bathroom and servant's bedroom upstairs. I wanted the apartments illumined by electric systems that would be separate so that each tenant would pay for his own electricity."

JUDGMENT FOR

There was a question as to which side of the house the wires should be brought in. Mr. Dumble thought the west side the better way, but he felt that Mr. Hartshorn should know better.

"He wanted to bring it in from the east side and I assumed he knew his business", Mr. Dumble said. "Near the close of the work he suggested that some lamps be bought. I told him to get half a dozen. He said more than that would be needed I told him to get a dozen but four or five dozen were charged. I don't know where they are; besides tenants pay for their own bulbs."

Mr. Kerr pointed out that only two dozen bulbs were charged in the claim before the Judge, but Mr. Dumble referring to papers he produced insisted that he had been charged for four dozen.

Journeyman Out of Work

Mr. Dumble said he thought Hartshorn was a journeyman electrician out of a job. He told him to go to work and he would pay him for the number of days he worked.

Mr. Kerr—He says you suggested some changes which he estimated cost $40 or $50, — Ans. — Utterly false.

He says he brought to your attention that it was necessary to overhaul the east side?— Ans.—He did not. He was to use the wire already there. I didn't meddle with him at all.

Mr. Dumble said he had paid $100 to Gordon and O'Brien on the Hartshorn bill. He wished to pay what was fair. "That's what I've done all my life."

The defendant's acuteness was indicated by his reply to Mr. O'Brien's question. "You wanted two independent wiring systems on each side?"— Ans.—No just one on each side.

You didn't go into details of the job? —Ans. — No. I gave him the job and told him to go to work.

You don't remember all you said? —Perhaps not.

Do you remember what you said about changing switches from bulbs to the wall?—I don't think I told him anything.

Mr. Dumble asserted that the plaintiff had two boys working for him who were very rough. On the third storey the floor was left open and the boards left on the floor.

Mr. O'Brien—You didn't use the attic?—Ans. Yes for bedrooms.

Do you remember telling Hartshorn that the carpenters would put down those boards?— Ans. I may have. I was glad to get away from those boys.

Misunderstanding About Floor

When Mr. Hartshorn was recalled he testified that Mr. Dumble had told him that a handy man who was working there would put down the floor.

Mr. Dumble in rejoinder said he never discussed the attic floor with Hartshorn, but had told him the carpenter would relay the boards in the sitting room. They were of inch and a half lumber that couldn't be bought now and had been split when they were taken up.

Could Do it Cheaper

Mr. P. Alexander, electrician, said that fifteen years ago he had wired Mr. Dumble's house for $50.

"They didn't get rich quick in those days," was Mr. Kerr's comment.

Mr. Alexander swore that he could have saved Mr. Dumble $100 on the wiring. He considered that Mr. Hartshorn shouldn't have started without a full understanding with Mr. Dumble. The work could have been done more cheaply if the wire had been brought in on the west side of the house. Witness believed that more material than was necessary had been put into the job.

Questioned by Mr. O'Brien witness failed to recall the prices in 1921 of most of the materials used by Mr. Hartshorn.

Mr. O'Brien asked him how he could fix a saving of $100 although he did not know the prevailing prices at that time.

Witness explained that he had given a general estimate of the cost.

GARDNER RESIGNS FROM U.S. SECTION THE COMMISSION

SERVED TEN YEARS.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(Canadian Press.)—Announcement of the resignation from the International Joint Commission of former United States Senator Obadiah Gardner, of Maine, its chairman, was made yesterday after the semi-annual session.

The announcement was made by Mr. Gardner. His resignation is effective April 15, and it is understood that the vacancy on the United States section of the Commission, which has jurisdiction over the United States-Canadian boundary waters, will be filled by the appointment of former Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan.

There have been frequent reports that Mr. Gardner would retire, but until late yesterday no confirmation that the resignation had been submitted and had been accepted by President Harding, was obtainable.

Mr. Gardner has served nearly ten years on the Commission, most of the time as chairman and during its important investigations of the St. Lawrence and other boundary water questions. He was appointed by President Wilson, but after several years' service his resignation was requested. President Harding later had a vacancy on the Commission to fill and called upon Mr. Gardner for further service.

No important decisions were made at yesterday's meeting of the Commission and it was said that most pending matters would go over until the fall meeting at Ottawa. A final formal session will be held today.

Questions relating to the St. Mary's Milk River project in Montana and adjacent Canadian territory were studied in detail yesterday, but without final action. E. F. Drake, representing the Canadian Reclamation Service, and Director Davis, of the United States' Service, appeared to discuss the effect of plans for developing irrigation from the boundary rivers. Both reclamation experts were said to be of the opinion that the projects would not cause material harm to the scenic beauties of Glacier National Park or to the Candian park at Waterton.

LEGISLATURE HAD A QUIET SESSION

Attention of Members After Easter is Occupied Chiefly With New Members.

TORONTO, April 4.—(Canadian Press.)— The Legislature resumed the session after the Easter recess yesterday with a quiet continuation of the budget debate and discussion in committee of the amendments to the agricultural development act. Regarding the latter, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, made a vigorous protest against reducing the margin of security to the province in loans made. "This bill," he said, "is extending beyond that of any loan company the proportion of advance upon the amount of security." In view of the difficulties encountered in the western province he thought the government might well stop loosening the credit Hon. Manning Doherty thought the Conservative leader was unnecessarily worried. He was in favor of reducing the restrictions, stating however that there would be no very great reductions at a time. He did not think this act could properly be placed in comparison with those in western Canada.

J. G. Ramsden (Lib. Southwest Toronto) in resuming the budget debate congratulated Speaker Parliament on having engaged so many returned soldiers for sessional work, particularly disabled men. He extended this credit to the government for having hired so many veterans in civil employ. Taking the price at which the provincial treasurer had sold a fifteen million dollar bond issue and the price at which these bonds sold in the open market a few weeks ago Mr. Ramsden contended that the provincial treasurer had lost the province two millions. He advocated selling bonds in smaller denominations over bank counters so that the small investor could get a chance. He argued that the government would then sell its bonds at par. Taking the money donated to unemployment in the city of Toronto alone, that spent on rentals for buildings and for repairs to old rented buildings Mr. Ramsden contended that the amount of about $450,000 would pay the interest on a magnificent office building which would house all Ontario government offices, thus doing away with the present scattered office quarters.

W. D. Black (Con., Addington), attacked the Dairy Standards Act, saying that although Ontario produced cheese second to none, that it was placed third in Britain. Mr. Doherty interjected the marked that this was because it was not uniform. Mr. Black advocated further expenditure on colonization roads and contended that if the total expenditure on roads to date had been spent at $9,000 a mile on more roads, that Ontario would be better served today. With a system of good trunk roads tourists he said simply went past all the beauty spots of Ontario. He made a plea for government assistance in developing for tourists the wonder lake district of centre and northern Eastern Ontario.

Although the time has long passed for submission of private bills, D. M. Hogarth (Port Arthur) secured consent of the House to introduce a bill where the city of Port Arthur may hand over a certain property to a nearby township as a site for the proposed mill of the Great Lakes Pulp and Paper Company. The proposed bill takes the land out of the corporation of Port Arthur. The reason it was stated was that the company would secure the benefit of a lower tax rate in the township. Mr. Raney while not opposing the introduction said there was opposition on the line that in handing the property over to the township it was in reality bonusing the company because of the advantages gained in taxation. The company, he said, was under obligation to the government to build its plant in the neighborhood of Port Arthur and Fort William. The bill will be discussed in private bills committee with all interests represented.

LORD ROBERT CECIL PREACHING LEAGUE AS A PEACE EFFORT

Did Not Go to United States to Instruct People As to What They Should Do About Joining.

Business Proposition.

NEW YORK, April 4. Canadian Press. — Lord Robert Cecil in an interview with newspaper men denied yesterday that his trip to the United States was purposed to instruct the people of the United States what they should do about joining or not joining the League of Nations.

"I am not an impertinent intervener in other people's affairs," he asserted. "I thought I had made it clear in my public statements that my object in coming here was to give information about the League of Nations as a first hand observer of a great international experiment. I would be guilty of the grossest impertinence if I intended to instruct the United States people in their own affairs.

"I am presenting the League of Nations as a practical business proposition and as an organized international effort for peace. I can see no hope for the survival of European civilization unless there is an end of war and some hope of peace in the future."

Lord Robert said he had neither the expectation or intention of changing the attitude of the United States people toward the League of Nations as expressed by the last election. He pointed out that there was a great danger for a nation in distrusting everyone.

While the decisions of the League would be decided by the votes of the members, he said, world public opinion would have the greatest force in influencing the members of the League to give just and impartial decisions.

The entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, while not necessary to the success of the League, he stated, would bring about an organization of the world on a peaceful basis. With the entrance of Russia and Germany, he said, it was expected that all of Europe, Asia and South America, would be in the League with only the United States on the outside.

Lord Cecil was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the Commission of International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council of Churches, at which he explained the workings of the League to more than 100 clergymen.

COMPLETE THE AUDIT OF DUAL COUNTRIES.

Accounts of Northumberland and Durham in Good Shape.

PORT HOPE, April 4.—Last week, Messrs. J. H .Bedford of Codrington, and J. N. McGill of Millbrook, finished the work of auditing the counties' accounts for the year 1922. In their report they state they found everything in both the counties' treasurer and counties' superintendent of roads departments in good shape, with the proper vouchers for each payment made. The total payments for 1922 were $594,494.47, which left a balance in the bank on Dec. 31 of $6,430.52, showing that $601,374.99 had passed through the treasurer's hands during the year. The principal amounts spent last year were as follows:

County Roads	$129,023.17
Administration of Justice	13,300.47
Jail	5,454.50
House of Refuge	16,979.50
Mother's Allowance	11,285.00
Schools	123,932.08
Provincial Highway	71,031.13
Interest	6,199.03
Interest on debentures	2,443.14
Debentures	1,926.56
Roads and Bridges	3,218.34
Registry Offices	2,206.45
Printing and Stationery	2,524.13
Municipal expenses	8,456.57
Agricultural, Children's Aid and Miscellaneous grants	8,357.95
Rents	2,000.00
Fuel, water and light	1,441.81

Debentures duel in 1936, one of which is payable each year, amount to $36,652.02, while debentures due in 1928 amount to $20,000.00. In the latter debentures a sinking fund has been created which amounts to $20,018.36, most of them which is in victory and war bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, leaving the counties 1 per cent clear, as the counties are only paying 4½ per cent interest. This leaves a net debenture debt of $36,633.76 which is remarkably small for counties the size of Northumberland and Durham.

ENGLISH TAXES OVERDUE.

LONDON, April 4.—Many million pounds are due the British treasury from unpaid super-tax and income tax assessments, according to the chancellor of the exchequer, Stanley Baldwin. The total amounts to about £118,500,000, or approximately $590,000,000. The income tax arrears alone amount to £950,000,000.

In Great Britain and norther Ireland there are approximately 5,000,000 people with incomes above the exemption limit, but the tax liabilities of roughly one-half of this number are covered by personal allowances, deduction and reliefs.

GLASGOW DELEGATES FAVORED PROHIBITION

Annual Labor Conference in London Was Livened By Debate on Questions of Government Liquor Control and Total Prohibition — Amendment Was Defeated.

LONDON, April 4. — (Canadian Press Cable)—The question of prohibition came up yesterday at the annual conference of the independent labor party which has been in session here three days and it led to a lively debate. A resolution was submitted by Liverpool delegates urging public ownership and control of the liquor traffic and Glasgow delegates moved an amendment favoring total prohibition.

A delegate from Birmingham protested that Scotland was trying to dominate the conference.

The Glasgow men's response was that it would be a good thing if Scotland could dominate Birmingham and bring the latter up to the labor standard.

One of the Glasgow delegates, speaking in support of the amendment, said one of the most degrading sights Scotsmen had witnessed in London was queues of women with infants in their arms, standing outside public houses waiting their turn to get inside.

A Dundee delegate denied that drink led to crime and degradation. He pointed out, amid laughter, that one of the biggest bank robberies ever known in Glasgow was perpetrated by a temperance man, and he instanced the case of a prominent financier and insurance magnate in London who was recently sentenced to prison for fraud who was president of a temperance society.

The amendment in favor of prohibition was defeated by a vote of 263 against and 152 for the amendment. The resolution for public ownership carried by a large majority.

A resolution was carried expressing the opinion that labor members of the house of commons should not accept the hospitality of political opponents at public dinners or society functions.

The conference which concluded yesterday, referred to the national administrative council a resolution which had been submitted by the Bradford delegation proposing the abolition of cabinet government and the substitution therefor of government by committees of the various parties represented in the house of commons.

C. P. Trevelyan, labor member of the house of commons for Newcastle-on-the-Tyne, opposed the resolution, which he said simply proposed to substitute parliamentary anarchy for government tyranny.

ACADEMY OF MEDICINE HONOR DR. F. G. BANTING

Would Approve of Any Assistance From Federal or Provincial Governments.

TORONTO, April 4.—(Canadian Press.)—Official recognition of Dr. F. G. Banting as the discoverer of "Insulin," the new treatment for diabetes, was extended by the Academy of Medicine of Toronto in general session last night. Resolutions were unanimously adopted through which the academy recorded its deep appreciation and acknowledged the discovery as a signal contribution to science and to humanity at large. The name of C. H. Best, who assisted Dr. Banting in his research work at the University of Toronto, was coupled in the resolutions with that of the discoverer.

The academy would also "thoroughly approve of any appropriate recognition of Dr. Banting's discovery by the Ontario and Dominion Governments."

Together with authorities in the United States and elsewhere the Toronto Academy of Medicine believes that the discovery of "Insulin" is an epoch-making event as far as the treatment of diabetes is concerned.

The resolutions passed were as follows: "The Academy of Medicine of Toronto records its deep appreciation of the signal contribution of Dr. T. G. Banting and C. H. Best to science by discovery of insulin, and to humanity at large by virtue of its successful application to the treatment of Diabetes Mellitis; and further commend the admirable manner in which they have acted in giving it freely to the medical and scientific world, thereby maintaining and assisting to secure the traditional ideals of our profession with respect to observations or discoveries tending to the prevention, cure or control of disease or the amelioration of human suffering."

"That in view of the importance of the discovery and isolation of a substance purporting to be the internal secretion of the pancreas controlling carbonhydrate metabolism, and consequently of great value in the science of physiology and bio-chemistry, and possibly, in practical medicine by reason of its presumed ability to control Diabetes Mellitis;

"The Academy of Medicine of Toronto ,after careful investigation, believes that conclusive evidence has been furnished of, (first) the isolation of such a substance from the pancreas of various animals and termed 'Insulin' by Dr. F. G. Banting and C H. Best in the summer of 1921, at the University of Toronto; (second)that hypodermic administration of the substance exercises a profound influence over carbonhydrate metabolism as recorded by these two observers and others; (third), that they have succeeded in controlling experimental Diabetes in dogs ,and also the symptoms of human Diabetes Mellitis in many cases of this disorder; and further that these observations have been amply confirmed by skilled investigation both here and elsewhere.

The founding of a permanent chair of medicine for Dr. F. G. Banting, discoverer of the famous insulin treatment for diabetes at the University of Toronto will soon be acclaimed by the whole world of medicine if plans now under consideration by the government and the university are approved. This, together with the public announcement of the virtual release of insulin to the medical profession brings to its consummation the first period of one of the greatest medical discoveries of the age.

The founding of such a chair of medicine, it is now understood, will be the proposal of Premier Drury to the Ontario legislature, probably this week. Conferences between Premier Drury and President Falconer on the subject are not denied. Only a few readjustments of the premier's proposal by the university authorities are said to be holding the announcement back.

Perpetuate the Name

People who are acquainted with the situation say that it is Premier Drury's idea that the perpetuation of the name of the discoverer of insulin should accompany any grant upon which the legislature decides. With this end in view he proposes that a permanent chair of medicine should be formed at the university to be called the Banting chair of medical research.

The main details of the proposal so far as Dr. Banting is concerned are to be generous. To give him the opportunity to complete his research work on the diabetic problem which alone will take years, and in recognition of his invaluable services to humanity and his utter unselfishness in so far as his discovery is concerned, it is felt that the new chair of research should be invested in him for his lifetime or as long as he cares to retain it. The proposal contemplates a yearly grant of $10,000 by the province to sustain the new Banting chair of medical research. Of this $6,000 a year would be Dr. Banting's salary. The remaining $4,000 would be, for supplies, attendants and other incidental expenditures to maintain an efficient laboratory for research.

Greater Supply Available

With the wider distribution of insulin commencing on June 1, the present diabetic clinic at the Toronto General hospital, as organized at present, will be disbanded. Dr. Banting in charge of the clinical work there now at a salary of $6,000 a year will sever his connection with the institution to devote his attention entirely to research.

Insulin will not even then be on sale on the open market. Supplies for this purpose are not yet available Even if they were there are other reasons why insulin should not yet be sold widespread. There are dangers involved in the administration of the extract, caused bp the rapid lowering of the blood sugar by the merest fraction of an overdose. This causes an almost instantaneous comatose state in the patient.

Doctors to be authorized to administer insulin must take a special course at the Toronto General Hospital for two days. This course will be open to twenty practitioners each week.

Distribute Insulin at Cost

Administrations of insulin under the new distribution will be at cost of manufacture. So rapidly has the process of manufacture developed, that the total cost of treatment to each patient a day will be only 25 to 30 cents.

SHILOH

CAPTAIN RANDALL MAKES HIS SECOND RESCUE ON OCEAN

Was Once Charged With Neglecting to Pick Up Men in a Motor - Boat But Exonerated.

SCHOONER BURNED.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—Captain A. B. Randall, of the President Fillmore, yesterday reported by wireless his second rescue at sea since he was exonerated two years ago of neglecting to pick up three men in a disabled motor-boat off the Long Island coast.

The latest rescue was that of the captain and crew of six aboard the British schooner Rita M. Cluett, in distress 360 miles south of Cape Race, while bound from Oporto to St. John's, Nfld. The schooner, badly damaged by storm, was fired before she was abandoned. The Fillmore, bound for Bremen, radioed that she would transfer the rescued men to the coastguard cutter Tampa and that they would be landed at Halifax.

Captain Randall was in command of the steamer Hudson, in October, 1921, when he was alleged to have ignored distress signals. Randall declared his ship was carrying mail and he did not realize the motor boat was in trouble. He was cleared after a hearing before the Board of Steamboat Inspectors.

His first rescue after the hearing was made in January, 1922, when he saved the crew of six on the schooner Rene des Mers, found in about the same position as the Cluett.

BOSTON, April 4. — (Canadian Press). — The coastguard cutter Tampa, on ice patrol in the North Atlantic, reported by radio yesterday that she had taken on board from the steamer President Fillmore, the survivors from the Newfoundland schooner Rita M. Cluett, abandoned at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The Tampa, which was making for Halifax for fuel, made a detour to take off the survivors.

According to the Tampa's message the Cluett, 63 days out of Oporto with a cargo of salt, ran out of food and water, lost her rudder and sprunk a leak in a series of heavy westerly gales. Her master, mate and crew of four men were weakened from lack of food. One is quite ill, but is expected to recover. The schooner, a hopeless wreck, was set on fire after it was abandoned.

Wolves and Hunger Are Killing the Deer

FARRY SOUND, April 4.—(Canadian Press.)—From Wilson township David Sword has returned from cruising the whole township and he reports large numbers of deer dying from lack of food owing to the depth of snow and great slaughter by wolves, not the kind which can be killed with a stick, but real deer hunting wolves. He suggests that the government send men to cut down trees so that the deer may browse from the branches as they have eaten off everything within their reach. Unless something like this is done the revenue from deer hunting licenses will not be forthcoming as there will be few if any deer left in the district and it is quite possible that the same condition exists all over this northern country.

Mrs. J. Jones of Hall's Bridge spent Easter Sunday here with her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Whetung.

CHINESE COOLIE IN MANILA NOW RATED MILLIONAIRE

MANILA, P.I., April 4.—From coolie to millionaire in the space of 12 years is the experience of Ong Che, who came to the Philippine Islands 15 years ago from China. He worked as a coolie in Manila, performing all sorts of menial tasks, for nearly three years. After accumulating a few hundred dollars Ong went into the business of buying and selling junk. Today he is rated as worth $1,000,000, all of which he acquired in this field.

Ong declares he will buy anything from a wire nail to a steamship. In order to substantiate the latter statement, he announced that he had purchased the old steamer Missoula from the quartermaster department of the United States Army.

CANADA'S CATTLE THE WORLD'S BEST SAYS C.O. ROBINSON

BARRED FROM U.S.

CALGARY, Alta., April 4.—(Canadian Press.)—"I do not think the people of the United States really understand what they are doing in barring your cattle entering the country as you have the greatest beef cattle in the world," was the statement made by Charles O. Robinson, of Chicago, one of the best known live stock commission men of that city, in the course of an address before the annual convention of the Stock Growers' Protective Association of Western Canada.

Mr. Robinson dealt in an interesting manner with his experience extending for more than 44 years on American cattle markets. He declared that the tariff that had been placed on Canadian cattle was most unfair; "in fact it is about as unjust as was the war between the North and the South," he exclaimed, and added that it was an undoubted fact that, generally speaking, Canadian feeders were wanted by farmers. Most of the trouble was caused by western and south-western cattle men.

He strongly advocated that a committee from the Stock Growers' Protective Association should go to Washington and have an audience with President Harding. He expressed the belief that such a course would do a lot of good. Personally, he was convinced that everything would come out all right as they had in Western Canada, one of the finest cattle raising countries in the world.

IMPERIAL PRECEDENT BROKEN.

TOKIO, April 4.—Another imperial precenedtn of Japan has gone by the boards. Prince Jujimaro Yamashina, third son of Prince Kikumaro Yamashina, has decided to enter the Imperial University at Tokio as a student of literature. Heretofore imperial princes by custom have entered either the military or naval service, hence Prince Yamashina is the first of the royal family to attend a university. He is a graduate of the Peers school.

THAT LINDSAY RESOLUTION.

A very helpful neighborly little resolution is that passed by the Lindsay Council calling upon the Hydro Commission not to entertain any extensive expenditure on gas plants, street railways, or other utilities of the Central Ontario system, now under its management until the system is disposed of by the Ontario Government.

That motion was probably intended to head off a possible extention of the local street railway.

From a Lindsay standpoint such an attitude is undoubtedly justifiable, although the motion contains little of the milk of human kindness.

But the point seems to be, when will the Government dispose of the Central power system?

If the transfer is delayed indefinitely are the public utilities now operated by the commission on behalf of the Government to be starved and allowed to deteriorate?

Apparently the Lindsay Council—Lindsay not having any of these utilities—does not care what becomes of them.

Their policy may be economical, but it is far from friendly.

A GOOD CITIZEN.

Peterborough citizens have learned with regret of the departure from the city of Mr. Edgar Worth, and the hope seems to be widespread that his absence from Peterborough may be only temporary and that after viewing the conditions elsewhere he may decide to remain here.

Since coming to Peterborough Mr. Worth has proven a very useful citizen.

Community enterprises of all kinds have had his active support, and he has never failed to extend a helping hand to movements that have as their origin a desire to be of public service.

As a member of the City Council Mr. Worth devoted himself assiduously to the city's business and showed himself to be a useful alderman.

His work as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce was of great assistance to that organization.

In many other circles Mr. Worth has been prominent, and his permanent departure from Peterborough would represent a loss that will be felt by the community.

Public spirited citizens who are ready to sacrifice their time and energy for the public weal are not so plentiful that the loss of one can be received without regret.

ABOUT OLEOMARGARINE.

In opposing the resolution introduced before the House of Commons asking that the oleomargarine industry be made permanent in Canada the Alberta Dairymen's Association has made out a strong case.

A booklet received by the Examiner on the subject goes into the whole question of oleomargarine at considerable length, and many of the arguments advanced against the use of this substitute for butter seem to be logical and sound.

It is claimed that the oleomargarine industry is operated for a privileged few against a national industry generally established throughout the Dominion, but as yet in its infancy.

That a large percentage of 'margarine sold in Canada was imported already manufacturered from the United States, or was manufactured in Canada almost wholly of materials imported from the same country.

That the exports of butter from Canada during the last five years about equal the quantity of margarine manufactured in Canada and imported into Canada.

That oleomargarine is not a wholesome food and not a good food for working people.

These are some of the reasons brought forward in favour of the exclusion of this substitute, but there are many others in the booklet issued by the association.

A copy has been sent to each member of the House of Commons, and with so many farmer members there it is difficult to see how oleomargarine can escape the ban.

WHITE COAL.

The annual report of the Toronto Hydro-electric Commission indicates that eventually electricity, rather than Alberta coal, may go a long way towards solving Ontario's fuel problem.

In other words, white coal may take the place of anthracite.

The use of electric energy in cooking and heating operations is only in its infancy, but what has already been accomplished affords an opportunity to judge of future development.

Electric ranges have already affected a considerable fuel saving.

It is estimated that every house wired for cooking saves Ontario from importing two tons of coal each year, it being estimated that the average kitchen range burns that quantity every twelve months.

A general adoption of cooking by electricity would of itself represent a remarkable cut in the amount of fuel the Province is now forced to import.

Still great possibilities are, of course, offered by the use of electric energy for heating purposes, although there are many obstacles to overcome before this can be made an economical proposition on a large scale.

In the first place, heavily wired circuits are necessary, for the ordinary lighting circuit could not safely carry the necessary energy.

Experts declare, too, that in order to make electrical heating a success houses must be built in a different manner, with a better method of insulation keeping the heat in and the cold out.

These obstacles are not insurmountable, and before long it may be found that electricity is becoming a substitute for coal in many Ontario houses.

CENTRAL HEATING.

It is well if the House of Commons Fuel Committee is going to seriously look into the possibilities of central heating. On the face of it, central heating is attractive to the layman, and engineers profess that it is feasible. It should make for ecopomy in fuel consumption and give cheaper heat to the householder than individual heating, says the Ottawa Journal.

Central heating for Government buildings in Ottawa is a demonstration. One heating plant supplies the Parliament Buildings, the East Block, the Langevin Block, the City Post Office, and other buildings. The cubic space heated is equal to that of 3,500 private dwellings. The City Post Office is a mile from the boilers.

Would it be greatly more difficult to heat blocks of private homes in the same way? If not, is central heating not desirable? Fuel economy would come from the saving in the mechanical stoking of great furnaces over individual firing in the homes—often very inefficient firing. There would be practically no waste of coal. And these great furnaces could use a cheaper grade of fuel. Another saving would be in the disposal of ashes. Door to door ash collection would cease, the ashes having to be removed only from the few central plants.

On top of the saving in fuel would be the saving in labor and annoyance. The householder would turn on and regulate his heat as he does his electric light and city water supply.

Again, it is not improbable that oil furnaces may be sufficiently improved that oil may replace coal to a large extent for fuel. Central heating plants could use oil to greater advantage than the householder.

That which offers greatest discouragement to central heating is the capital cost—the cost of the plants themselves and of the underground transmission system. But the saving, one would think, in the cost of heat production would be sufficient to pay a high interest and sinking fund rate on capital outlay. Incidentally, in respect of the transmission system, it is interesting to note that parts of the Parliament Buildings are heated with hot water and that this water returns to the central heating plant only 12 degrees lower in temperature than when it started its circulation, thus showing that there is little loss of heat in transmission.

The committee of the House of Commons would serve the public by securing some expert opinion on central heating.

THE BRITISH BUDGET.

Britain has once more given the world proof of her amazing financial strength, of her resilience in returning again to her place as the world's banker, and of the soundness of her financial methods. Last year Sir Robert Horne had an invidious task in balancing his budget. Demands for the reduction of the income tax assailed him from all sides, while the expenditure was swollen by the fact that the country was feeling the reaction of the boom period that followed the Armistice, in the wages bill of its civil servants, in the high cost of material and in the extravagant habits which a sudden prosperity had stimulated among all classes. The former Cancellor drew a gloomy picture of the outlook for the year that has now just closed and he took the unprecedented step of suspending payments on the sinking fund for one year and meeting the obligations of the State towards the holders of securities by re-borrowing for that purpose.

The pessimism was not warranted, but it was nevertheless characteristic of the race. The extreme reserve, the "nil admirari" attitude both in domestic and national matters, induces the Englishman to paint pictures in the most sombre tones. "The country is going to the dogs" has been the phrase that thousands of Britons have delighted in for many decades. Moreover, they express neither pride nor pleasure when their pessimism is confounded with such astounding figures as those now published by the British Treasury.

The significance of the British financial statement lies in the fact that while the revenue exceeds the estimate by only about four millions, the estimated expenditure has been cut down by close upon one hundred million pounds. This has been effected largely by drastic cuts in the Civil Service expenditure, although a substantial sum has been cut from the defence services estimates.

The critics of Lloyd George who charged him with extravagance of administration, and especially with the multiplication of bureaus, will do well to note that in a financial year during which he was at the head of affairs for nine out of the twelve months the national expenditures have been so pared that an estimated balance of less than a million has been transformed into an actual balance of over one hundred million pounds.

The income tax in Britain is now five shillings in the pound, which means that of every twenty dollars the average Englishman receives he pays out five dollars to the Government, for the defence of the Empire, the payment of his debt to America, the maintenance of the ordinary state services and for interest on the national debt. If the British Chancellor makes provision for paying all the interest and sinking fund due to the United States this year he will have to find about $170,000,000, and this high figure will probably prevent the Chancellor from cutting another shilling, or even sixpence, from the income tax.

If there is no such reduction there will be grumblings from the tax-payers, lamentations from the calamity howlers, and execrations from the politicians on the opposite side of the fence, but Britain will go on paying her debts and producing her amazing budgets.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Now that the Stanley Cup series has been decided the last excuse for winter lingering around has been removed.

With the Alberta product available, there does not seem any necessity of looking to Mexico for fuel.

Now a Texas woman has danced twenty-seven hours without a stop. She must be one of those "dancing fools" that some people talk about these days.

The number of people complaining about the bad walking shows how difficult it is to find a brand of weather that suits everybody. Only a few days ago the same people were growling because there were no signs of the snow going away.

It will be the duty of the Peterborough Baseball Association to see that so far as is possible all local sporting organizations receive the maximum benefit from the use of Riverside Park.

The grant made by the City Council to the Motor League to help entertain the Michigan Pikers on condition that the Motor League has a car advertising Peterborough accompany the Pikers during the Canadian portion of their tour, is justified in the publicity that will result for the city.

Unfortunately it was not only the skating season that broke a record this winter. Most citizens can show fuel bills that reached a new mark.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 3.—A pleasant event took place at the noon luncheon of the Cobourg Rotary Club on Friday, when Mrs. A. E. Wood, who has been hostess of the Club at the British Hotel since its organization and who has retired from the management of the hotel, was presented with a handsome bouquet of American Beauty roses. Mr. A. R. Willmott, barrister, made the presentation, accompanying it with an appropriate speech and Mrs. Wood made a happy reply. Mr. George Kingsley, the new proprietor of the British was introduced to the Club

Death of Former Resident.

Word has been received here of the death in Arnadale, Station Island, of Robert T. Huff, a former resident of Cobourg, at the age of 68 years. He is survived by his widow. The interment took place with Masonic honors.

Juvenile Ball League.

Not the least interesting by any means last summer of the different sports in the town, was the Juvenile Baseball League, which on Friday night, reorganized for the coming season. There are some promising young players in the league, who will perhaps be coming stars in Central Ontario ball circles a few years hence. Dr. F. R. Drury at the organization meeting bespoke the assistance of the Cobourg Rotary Club for the boys. Rev. Canon Sawers gave them words of good advice. The secretary was empowered to communicate with the secretary of the O.B.A.A. to ascertain upon what condition the Cobourg League could be admitted to that organization if desired. A delegate was appointed to attend the Town League meeting with reference to entering an all-star team in the town League. The officers elected are:

President—C. R. Gummow.
Vice-Pres.—Dr. F. R. Dreury.
Sec.-Treas.—Vincent Butler.
Executive committee—The officers from each team.

Cobourg Team Defeated.

At the C.C.I. gymnasium the Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. defeated Cobourg in a fast game in five minutes overtime which was required to reach a decision. Previous to that the score was a tie. Both teams put up a fine exhibition of basketball, and it was witnessed with much interest.

Service on Good Friday.

The Presbyterian, Methodist, Congregational and Baptist churches here united in holding a union service on Good Friday in the Methodist church. It proved to be a helpful and interesting service. Rev. I. P. McLennon, pastor of the Cobourg Baptist church, gave a very practical address. To the regret of his congregation and the people of Cobourg generally, Mr. McLennon is retiring from his pastorate here in a few weeks' time.

Blues Won Championship.

The final games in the Cobourg Carpetball League resulted in the S.O.E. Blues defeating St. Andrew's Giants, and the S.O.E. Whites defeated the Bowlers 56 to 53. The final results were as follows: S.O.E. Blues, first; St. Andrew's Giants, second; S.O.E. Whites, third; St. Andrew's Maple Leafs, fourth; S. O.E. Reds, fifth; Beatty Squares, sixth and Bowlers, seventh.

But Little Coal.

Although some cars of coal have come in the past day or two, the zero weather at the week-end found a number of householders without fuel of any kind. The wood pile is quite a common sight in the back yard of many a Cobourg home, and there are not a few, but many, will state that they will not return to the use of anthracite entirely, unless there is a marked decrease in price. Coal has been selling the past few days here all the way from $16.50 to $20.00 a ton.

Apples Bring Poor Returns.

Recently, it is stated, Mr. W. J. Oke, Port Hope, shipped one hundred and seventy-five barrels of apples from the storehouse to the English market. The cheque which he received for the same was less than $2.00 per barrel, which looks as if the bottom has fallen entirely out of the apple market. A year ago a shipment of the same proportion would have brought between $6.00 and $7.00.

GRANDMA AT 32.

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—(United Press).—Who is the youngest grandmother in your community?

Los Angeles recently thought it had discovered its youngest grandmother in Mrs. Gertrude Buckley, a grandmother at 36. She married when she was 16, and her son was born when she was 19. He eloped when he was only 17 and his bride, Mrs. Buckley became a grandmother.

Friends of slighted grandmothers hastened to take Mrs. Buckley's short-lived laurels away. Dozens of grandmothers under 36 were reported.

Mrs. Jessie Myers holds the record at the present writing. Mrs. Myers is a grandmother, and she only celebrated her thirty-second birthday on March 19. At the age when many women are caring for their own babies, Mrs. Myers is helping care for her three weeks' old grandchild.

The child's mother is Mrs. Bertha Blanche Hanuschild. She will be 16 years old on August 31 next. Mrs. Myers was 14 years old when she married, and 15 when Bertha was born.

Not only that, but the baby's great grandmother is living, and is only 47. She is Mrs. Vina Cunningham.

TOO LITTLE ATTENTION TO OUR ECONOMIC LIFE

TORONTO, April 4.— Canadian Press. — Too little attention is given to social and economic life of the Canadian people, said Professor D. McArthur of Queen's University, speaking this morning in connection with the Ontario Educational Association meeting. On the other hand, he argued, too great emphasis is placed in Ontario High Schools on political and constitutional issues.

Prof. McArthur contended that there was too great a tendency to make history purely an exercise in memory of facts and events. Such facts should be related to the students' own experience in life or they would remain unattractive and be speedily forgotten.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE FOR TORONTO HARBOR

TORONTO, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—Despite the fact that the Toronto harbor development scheme is running behind financially, the revenue in 1922 being $800,000 short of the expenditures, R. Home Smith, chairman of the Harbor Commission, to-day forecasted to the City Council a great future for the undertaing.

In 1922, he said, Toronto will have a harbor development worth between forty and forty-one million dollars, and a surplus of assets over liabilities exceeding fourteen million dollars. "The need of the hour," he said, "is courage and determination to complete the great project."

Mr. Smith, at the conclusion of his address, offered his resignation if the Council "wished to make more satisfactory arrangements as to the personnel of the Commission."

Margaret Scott Gets Presentation From Fellow Students—Bright and Cheerful Easter Services

OMEMEE April 4—The pupils of the Omemee High School bid farewell to one of their associates in the person of Miss Margaret Scott and as a token of ther esteem presented her with a Fountain pen accompanied by the following address:

Dear Margaret:—It is drawing near Easter and on this closing day of our school term we are sadly reminded that one of our best loved schoolfellows is leaving our O.H.S.

For three years we have known and loved you Margaret. You have entered whole-heartedly into our sports and if there was any mischief on foot Margaret was always there. But besides this, in the sterner more studious part of our school life, you have always carried your large share of the honours.

We can say each and every one of us that you are a true blue girl and no higher compliment can be paid to anyone.

We wish you every success and happiness in every sphere of your life in Cannington and as a token of the high regard the pupils of the O. H. S. hold you in we present to you this pen and with it goes the best wishes of your fellow students. (Signed on behalf of the pupils of the O.H.S.)

A Spring Wedding

A pretty spring wedding of interest to many in Omemee and vicinity took place on Thursday March 22. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Seymour Fairmount when their youngest daughter Sadie became the bride of Mr. Austin Poast of Bridge north. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rorke of Cavanville in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride wore a pretty brown travelling dress and was unattended. Fol lowing the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was enjoyed by all. The young couple left on the afternoon C.P.R. train from Cavanville for a brief honeymoon to be spent in Toronto and other Western towns after which they will be at home to their numerous friends on their farm near Bridgenoth.

The newly-weds were recipients of many beautiful and costly wedding gifts. The good wishes of their many friends in this locality will fol low the young couple who have ventured out on the sea of matrimony.

Easter Services

The sun shone brilliantly on Easter Sunday and although there was still plenty of snow on the ground spring was in the air and the birds sang forth their gladness of it. Large congregatons attended the three church services morning and evening

Communion was administered at the morning service in Christ Church. The announcement by the Rector Rev. E. R. James of his departure from this parish at an early date after nine years of service—was heard with general regret.

During the service which was most impressive throughout Mrs. Hume rendered in good voice a beautiful Easte solo entitled "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Rev. Mr. B. Greatrix of Peterborough delivered two eloquent Easter sermons at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the music was in keeping of the day. Mr. Hillier Williamson of Toronto having charge of the organ.

In the Methodist Church the Rev. Mr. Stillman occupied the pulpit and the choir sang a pretty carol "Blessed Bells of Easter Morning". "Ring Lily Bells Ring" was well rendered by four little girls and an anthem, "The Ressurrection Morn" by the choir followed by a quartette "Calvary" brought a pleasant Easter Service to a close.

The Women's Missionary Society held their annual thank-offering in the evening when the society occupied the centre front pews and the generous offering of $85 was received. The choir again excelled themselves when they rendered the following special music. A carol "Swing the Portals" by the choir and "Ye Bells of Easter Morning" by four little girls. An anthem entitled "Calvary" in which Miss Rita Johnson took the obligato solo and Mr. Cecil Correll the bass obligato was much much enjoyed. A duet "He Loves" was another number and accompanied by a special Easter sermon from the pastor proved a most helpful and interesting service.

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varnar of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

SCHOOL BOARD HAVELOCK MET

A Request For Increased Salary Turned Down—Projected High School Discussed--Miscellaneous Business.

HAVELOCK, April 4.—The regular March meeting of the School Board was held recently, when all the members were present except Trustee B. Haig.

To Pay Accounts.

The following accounts were ordered paid: P McAndrew, S. A. Officer, $5; D. Hogg, cartage, 25c; M. Isaac, cloth, $2.30; Mrs. Wright, relief teacher, $79.50; B. Crowe, relief teacher, $12; D. Armstrong, relief teacher, $64.50.

A communication was received from Miss O'Flaherty requesting an increase in salary from $900 to $1,100. On motion of Anderson and Carter, no increase was granted.

A communication was received from Miss Johnston, tending her resignation and requesting the position again in September next. On motion of Carter and Forde, the resignation was accepted, and the board decided to engage a Miss Huston to fill the vacancy later.

The Secretary reported that School Attendance Officer Evans had advised him that he would resign the position for personal reasons, and on motion of Forde and Anderson, Mr. Fred McAdams was appointed to the vacancy for the remainder of the term.

That High School.

A communication was received from the Minister of Education advising that the proper routine had been observed in requesting the Council to appeal to the County Council to establish a High School, and a report from Public School Inspector Lees was ordered filed.

The Secretary reported as to the desirability of procuring music for the school, and Messrs. Clarghead and Quinn addressed the board requesting the purchase of a Newcombe piano. After considerable discussion the matter was laid over until a later date, on motion of Carter and Anderson.

The Chairman requested the board to appoint a delegate to accompany him to the O.S.A. convention in Toronto, and on motion of Anderson and Carter, Trustees Forde and Roche were appointed for that purpose.

A Science Room.

As it is compulsory that provision be made for a science room during the summer holidays, the board examined the hall with a view of changing the stairway so that an extra room could be obtained. Carpenter T. Woods advised the board that it would cost about $200 to make the change. No action was taken.

The Chairman reported interviewing the Town Council and that a resolution would be presented at the June session asking for an establishment of a High School, and he requested that a deputation be appointed by the board to attend the County Council when Reeve Jones would present the resolution of the local Council

Trustees Carter and Anderson complained that they did not understand the motion to take steps to establish a High School in the same light as the other members of the board, believing it to mean that certain data should be secured. The Chairman stated that all possible data had been received and that in his opinion the matter had been well discussed.

No further action was taken, and the board adjourned.

Had Constipation For Six Months Was Relieved By MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

A free motion of the bowels daily, should be the rule of everyone, then there will be no constipation, sick or bilious spells, heartburn, foul breath, sour stomach, etc.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.

Mrs. R. C. Hunt, Port George, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled by being constipated for the last six months.

My tongue has been terribly coated, so much that it made my breath bad. I was talking to a friend about it, and she advised me to use Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, which I did, and now I am perfectly well. My tongue is as smooth as it was before I got that way, and I owe it all to your Pills, of which I only used two vials."

WILD SCENES AT FISHERMEN'S STRIKE.

LONDON, April 4. — (Canadian Press).—The fishermen's strike resulted in wild scenes in Aberdeen yesterday, when a crowd of strikers and sympathizers damaged German and other foreign trawlers in the harbor. The trawlers were unloading fish but fatense stoning from the crowd compelled them to put out to sea. The boats had to run the gauntlet of crowds assembled on both sides of the harbor mouth. The bombardment of the vessels was so intense that cries of pain and alarm were heard from the decks.

Once let constipation get a grip on you, and your system is wide open to 90% of human ailments. Statistics show that to be the proportion of illness that has constipation for a starting point. Pills and cathartics are as dangerous to the system as constipation!

Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran, because it is nature's own relief from constipation. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do what no other food can do! It will give every sufferer permanent relief if it is eaten regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases!

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its natural, positive action. It sweeps and cleanses and purifies the bowel tract; it scours out the dangerous toxin poisons; it puts you back on schedule time without irritation or discomfort!

Don't delay eating Kellogg's Bran each day in some form! Try it as a cereal sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal or cook it with hot cereals. In the latter case, add two tablespoonfuls for each person and mix with the regular cereal and cook as usual.

Kellogg's Bran is simply delicious made into muffins, popovers, raisin bread, macaroons, pancakes, etc. Recipes are on every package! For health's sake get some Kellogg's Bran immediately. All grocers.

First-class hotels and clubs serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. Ask for it at your restaurant.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

A Japanese Operetta Will Be Presented Two Days Next Week.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4.—The Japanese operetta in three acts, "Princess Chrysanthemum," will be presented in Cole's opera house on the evenings of April 12th and 13th. It will be given under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cowell and the public may rely upon it that it will be one of the best of the many musical and dramatic entertainments of the many which Mr. and Mrs. Cowell have put on since taking up their residence in Campbellford. There are upwards of 100 characters in the cast and all of these will be seen on the stage together at the end of the performance. Mr. and Mrs. Cowell have spent a busy winter drilling the various actors for their parts, in training the chorus of children and in arranging for the decorations and stage settings.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be turned over to the Daughters of the Empire fund for a soldiers' memorial and the entertainment is given under the auspices of the junior chapter of that organization. Miss Hazel Atkinson, who is regent of this branch, will take the title role in the operetta. The part will be well played by a young lady who possesses dramatic and musical talents of a high order. She will wear the gorgeous costume, imported from Toronto, for which Oriental royalty is so justly noted. The costumes of all the characters in the play will be representative national types.

The play is a stirring chapter from life in the Royal Court of the Flowery Kingdom, and the first scene shows the court yard, gaily decorated with lanterns and bright with chrysanthemums and eastern foliage. A fete to celebrate the coming of age of the Emperor's daughter is in progress. A charming love story runs through the plot. The princess is plighted to a member of the Royalty, but the latter has a rival who resorts to intrigue and carries off the princess, who is held a prisoner in a cave.

The villain in the play, the nemesis of the separated and despairing lovers, is a black cat endowed with magical talents for evil. His machinations prevail some time, but finally the fiance of the princess overcomes all obstacles and effects her rescue. There is the usual happy ending, which is brightened by the magnaminity of the princess, who intervenes on behalf of her captor and his magic ally and saves them from execution.

The principal atcors in the play are as follows:

Japanese Emperor, "What For Whi"—Ray Connor.

Princess Chrysanthemum —Miss Hazel Atkinson.

Top Nob, "Court Chamberlain"—H. Quible.

Prince So True—P. Gould.

Prince So Sli—Carl Maguire.

Fairy Moonbeam— Miss Cherrie Turner.

Saucer Eyes, "The Wizard Cat"—Miss Fay Ketchison.

Maidens, attendants on the Princess— Misses Lulu Gay, Margaret Dickson, Ruth Diamond, Florence Thomas.

Miss Atkinson is regent, Miss Diamond secretary, and Miss Irene Davidson is treasurer of the Junior Chapter I.O.D.E., under whose auspices the entertainment is given. The worthy object in view is certain to fill the opear house on both evenings. Tickets are now on sale and seats may be reserved at the drug store of Fred Wood. The play will be presented at Hastings on the evening of the 18th inst.

Special scenery has been secured and this with the striking costumes will make one of the brighest stage plays ever seen in Campbellford.

Veneer Factory Starts Operations at Port Hope.

PORT HOPE, April 4.—Notwithstanding the zero weather and snow Mr. A. R. Janes, Manager of the Port Hope Veneer Factory, is satisfied that the good old summer time will drop around again as usual and Mr. Janes is already busy preparing for the bountiful fruit crop that has been promised.

Material is piled high sky and it is of a very superior quality. This was all shipped in from Cavan, Carmel and Osaca and will be manufactured into baskets and cheese boxes. It is the intention of Mr. Janes to manufacture about three hundred thousand baskets here this summer while material for the assembling of a half million more will be shipped out.

Particular attention this summer will be given to the manufacture of cheese boxes which are to be made of a double ply veneer. This new box has been inspected by several prominent cheese manufacturers and all pronounce it to be the very best on the market. The new box can be placed on the market at the same figure as the old one and as it is much more durable and superior in every way there is sure to be a big demand. Mr. Janes has an order for one hundred thousand of these boxes and it promises to become the standard box with all the large associations.

Eight to ten men are at present engaged at the factory and it is expected that the staff will be increased to fifty when the season opens.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

RECORD OF THOMAS TOOMS, M.L.A.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—At the request of a number of people of West Peterborough, I am stating some of the bills I put through the Ontario Legislature; some I tried to put through and failed and other matters that I dealt with successfully, and some unsuccessfully. Anything mentioned in this record printed accounts of same may be seen at my residence. There are many things I did not keep a record of, so I won't mention them.

I was elected as member to the Ontario Legislature in 1919, and after a few adjustments in the Labour Group I was appointed secretary to that Group in the Legislature, an honorary post, but one which placed me in such a position that I was able to know much, and do much, toward instituting and helping to control such progressive legislation that the Labour Group desired to secure.

The following are Government measures handled by the Labour Group: The Mother Allowance Act (70 widowed mothers are receiving this allowance in Peterborough County and City). Minimum wage for Girls or Female Labour. This Act is now working admirably. An Act to raise the workmen's compensation from 55 per cent to 66 2-3 per cent of the rate of wages earned. Abolition of the property qualification for candidate seeking municipal honors.

Bills in House.

Bills I have fathered through the House are: Bill for an elected police commission. This bill was so amended as to submit the police estimates for consideration and approval of the city council, but dropped the election of the commission. I believe this bill has saved Toronto and Peterboro alone over $60,000 this year. A bill to run street cars on Sunday in cities of 15,000 population and over. Peterboro now has this privilege. Introduced an amendment to the Factory shop and office building act, forbidding the use of hoist belts unless safely guarded by a brake and other devices for instant stoppage. This passed. Introduced a bill to provide one day rest in seven for permanent fire departments; brought theatre employees under the factory act. Fathered three private bills for the City of Peterborough in the matter of issuing debentures, etc. Raised the question of immigration on the floor of the House; result all immigration restricted to farm help. I was instrumental in the introduction of an Act to pay Crown witnesses at preliminary hearing. This passed. Also an Act to pay witnesses at coroner's inquests, which passed. Advocated appropriation for teachers' trip to Northern Ontario, second year.

I was chairman of deputation of M.P.P. to Premier McKenzie King, Federal House with regard to calling a conference of the different provincial Governments to discuss social legislation, which was included in the peace treaty of Versailles. Introduced the delegates of 24 Ontario municipalities who wished to retain fines collected to help bear cost of administration of justice; result, 50 per cent of fines were returned. Took the matter up with the Attorney-General of the care for the unmarried mother, resulting in a bill for purative father to help pay towards the mother's expenses; this was also backed by the social service council, and passed. Introduced a bill for suburban residents to link up with City's Public Utilities by agreement, which also passed.

I introduced a bill to limit the speed of automobiles in cities, but the measure was lost. Suggested change in department of Game and Fisheries which placed game overseers on the permanent staff; this carried.

I was successful in having the waters of the County of Peterborough restocked with bass, speckled trout, pickerel (1,500,000 fingerlings), and partly responsible for a grant to Frontier College. Debated a bill on the two platoon system for firemen; this passed and I received letters of thanks from the firemen of Ontario and was a guest of Toronto Fire Department. I was instrumental in hurrying up Government grants for unemployed and also in securing relief for single men. Endeavoured to get a demonstration farm for Peterborough, but failed. Endeavoured to get a Fish Hatchery for Peterborough. Endeavoured to get increased grants for urban schools. Secured a provincial laboratory situated in Peterborough city building. This was through the co-operation of local medical men. Also brought the District M.O.H. from Belleville to Peterborough, Dr. Sutton, Peterborough, being appointed. Have secured the highest grants for West Peterborough; and always advocated better roads. In the expenditure on roads for Peterborough for 1921 for every dollar paid by the county to the province, the provincial government paid to the county and townships, $1.99.

I was instrumental in securing a soft concrete bridge erected at Welcome by co-operation of the local Chamber of Commerce; also highway between Welcome and Dale added to the Provincial Highway System.

I served on a special committee for proportional representation; on a special committee appointed by legislature to travel province and make intensive study of tourist traffic and hotel accommodation. Was one of special committee of three of the labor group to investigate the printers' contract and secure prevailing rates for government employees, with the result that new contracts were issued. Served on committee to try and avert a strike on Hydro projects.

I introduced a bill to amend the act in the administration of oaths, but this bill was lost.

Ministers' Visits.

Premier Drury, Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works; Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labour; Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary.

I have been a strong advocate of technical education. A Blue Book has been issued dealing with Peterborough alone and its technical requirements. This book may be had on application, free of charge.

The things that have been accomplished by co-operation with the different organizations and individuals are too numerous to state here.

Government Orders.

The government orders for canoes have come to Peterborough, and I understand from parties interested that orders for machinery were given to Peterborough firms at my request. I hope sir this will not take up too much space in your paper, but for further information to those desiring it, I would refer them to the Canadian Annual Review of 1920, in which I receive special mention, and for some of my activities on the various legislative committees to the journals of the Legislative Assembly on Public Accounts and Privilege and Elections. Standing orders and fish and game activities are not there recorded.

I have co-operated with the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations; anything introduced by me has been by request.

THOMAS TOOMS, M.L.A.

"My Hands Trembled and I Could Not Sleep"

Mr. Thomas Honey, Brantford, Ont., writes:—

"When I began taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I was so nervous that when I picked up a cup of tea my hand would tremble like a leaf. I could not sleep well, could not remember things, and there were neuralgic pains through my body. After taking seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am in perfect health."

DANCE WAS HELD LAKEFIELD HALL

LAKEFIELD, April 4.—The dance given by the Lakefield Agricultural Society on Easter Monday night was a grand success despite bad roads and inclement weather. The attendance was very large and in every way the directors have reason to be satisfied with their entertainment. Music for the round dances was provided by Miss Hunter and Wm. Hendren, who were relieved by G. G. Connell, who is always generous with his music. Music for the square dances was provided by G. G. Connell, T. Sullivan and J. McManus, while Thomas McManus acted as floor manager in his usual capabl manner.

The dance programme provided alternate round and square dances and catered to the varied tastes of the company. Card tables, which were very popular, were set out in the Council Chamber. Supper was served about 11.30 by a capable committee of ladies (wives of the directors) with Mrs. G. A. Graham (wife of the president) as convener. The bountiful repast which was served was done full justice by the crowd.

The directors of the Agricultural Society appreciated the patronage of their friends and feel that the success of the dance is a good omen for good weather for the 1923 Fair.

The president, G. A. Graham, and the secretary, T. Braden, are very optimistic over the prospect for the future of the orgnization.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Braden, Miss Edna Braden, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Garbutt, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Garbutt, Mrs. H. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. H. COLD ORANGE SOUFFLE.

Soak one tablespoon of gelatine in one-fourth cup of cold water for 15 minutes. In a saucepan place the unbeaten yokes of three eggs, one-half cup of sugar, a pinch of salt, and two tablespoons of lemon juice, and stir up uptil smooth. Place this over water and cook until thickened. Add the soaked gelatine and allow the mixture to cool.

When it begins to stiffen, add one cup of orange pulp, whites of three eggs, stiffly beaten, and a half-cup of cream, also stiffly beaten. Turn into a mould and chill for two hours, or until ready to serve.

Then turn from mould into serving dish and garnish with stiffly beaten cream, sweetened and flavoured.

Annual Meeting of the Canadian Club and Officers Elected — Personal and News Paragraphs of Interest.

BRIGHTON, April 4.—St. Andrew's Sunday School gave a very enjoyable concert on Easter Monday night in the basement of the church at which a beautiful pageant was presented.

The Eastertide here was further marked by the presentation of an Easter pageant in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening.

The services and music in local churches on Sunday were appropriate to Easter day.

Mr. Geo. Osmond and family of Aurora, have moved on the farm formerly occupied by Arthur Fulford.

Death At Hilton

The recent death at Hilton of Mr. Frank Montgomery, who passed away in his 45th year, was deeply regretted. The interment was at McPhail's cemetery.

Canadian Club Officers

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Club held in the Masonic Hall, following officers were elected:

President—A. K. McLeod.
Vice-President—O. L. Morrow and A. D. Bullock.
Treasurer—W. W. Porter.
Secretary—Rev. E. W. Pickford.
Committee—Alfred Gungo, Harry B. Phillips, Roy G. Bird and Geo. W. Peister.

The two next lecturers are Prof. H. Michell, who will speak on "The Population of the World," and Principal Hutton, who will take for his subject, "Greece and the Great War."

Local and Personal

Mr. Stanley MacNutt has sold his farm at Codrington to Mr. Corey Vallcon, Trenton.

The funeral of Mrs. Wm. Goodfellow, an old and highly respected resident of Mount Olivet, took place last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Goodfellow had been residing of late with her daughter, Mrs. Bert Armstrong of Warkworth.

Rev. Mr. Wolfram has been conducting revival smeetings at Consecon Lake.

Mr. Blake Cryderman, a son-in-law of Mr. D. C. Plumpton, died at Weyburn, Sask., from pneumonia which followed an attack of the flu.

An auction sale of household effects was held at the home of Mr. M. R. Daughters, Chapel Street, Brighton, on Friday afternoon.

The inter-schools sport committee have had a very successful season, and has been able to achieve the great success of turning the school arena over to the school board free of any encumbrance and with a lighting system installed. The total receipts for the year were $933.97, and the expenditure the same.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Armstrong are removing shortly from Selem to Brighton, and Mr. Masters and family, from Salem to Colborne.

Tapping the maples is in progress for those who are fortunate enough to own a sugar bush, but the prospects for a good flow of sap are not good.

The funeral of Mrs. J. Maybee took place in the Methodist church at Frankford on Saturday, and was conducted by Rev. I. Snell. A large number of friends and neighbours gathered to show their esteem. She is survived by her husband and by three daughters, Mrs. H. Patrick, Sidney; Mrs. J. Shannon and Miss Mina of Frankford. Mrs. Maybee had been in poor health for some time prior to her passing.

Rev. Mr. Merriam held special services at Stockdale during Passion Week and was assisted by Rev. Mr. Brick of Wooler and Rev. Mr. Snell of Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Collins, who have spent the winter season in the South, have returned to Trenton.

Mr. Algea of Trenton, who has been prospecting in Africa, has also returned coming by way of France and Belgium, where he met Mr. Don Fraser and Mr. Harold McClung while on their European tour.

A new Loyal True Blue Lodge has been organized at Frankford by Miss Mable Weekes, District Deputy Grand Mistress. The lodge has been named Frankford Beauty, No. 419.

It is reported that Mr. R. J. McMaster has purchased Mr. Geo. Bell's farm at Wooler.

Prof. Jolliffe of Queen's University addressed the meeting of the Canadian Club at Trenton last Friday evening.

On account of the regular meeting falling on Good Friday, Murray Township Council met last evening, when considerable routine business was transacted.

Messrs. Turley and Dunlop of Frankford, have purchased from Mr. L. O. Charlesworth, of Paisley, his fine standard bred racing mare, "South Dakota Maid," which he is said to have imported from Iowa in 1921.

A BUSY FAIR.

MOSCOW.—(By United Press).—Business amounting to 26 trillion roubles of the 1922 issue was done during the first two hours of the fair recently opened at Kiev. There were 200 Russian and forty-three foreign exhibitors of goods.

QUIZ CORNER

GEORGE BROWN.

Q—Who was George Brown?

A—Hon. Geo. Brown was a Scotchman who came to Canada from Edinburgh in 1843, where he founded the Toronto Globe, taking a prominent part in the discussion of public affairs and in Parliament. To George Brown belongs part of the credit for the formation of the scattered provinces into Confederation in 1867. Mr. Brown was shot on March 25, 1880, by a man crazed with drink.

CANADIAN RECLAMATION AERO SERVICE.

Q.—What is the Canadian Reclamation aero service?

A—The Reclamation service of the Canadian Government has made an aerial survey of nearly a million acres of territory which it is proposed to reclaim by drainage. Much of the area is flooded and it would have been difficult to survey it in the ordinary way.

TRANSPORT PROBLEMS TO BE CHIEF SUBJECT

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(United Press)—Plans now being made for the 11th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to be held in New York City, May 7 to 10, call for European affairs and transportation as the principal subjects of discussion, it was announced at headquarters here.

Representatives of railroads, waterway operators, the motor industry, producers and the shipping interests will join with the 4,000 or more delegates in attempting to work out a solution of the transportation problem of the country, Vice-President Elliot H. Goodwin, of the chamber stated.

"Business prosperity—and that means our greatness as a nation—depends on finding the right way to deal with the carriers of our commerce", explained Goodwin. "Our transportation tonnage is increasing railroad ton miles have trebled in the last twenty years. We cannot speculate on what they will be in twenty more."

Success in Harmony.

The solution of the problem lies in harmonizing the railroads, motor trucks and waterway carriers, in the opinion of the largest part of the business world, said Goodwin. It is with this in view that the transportation subject will be thrashed out at the New York meeting.

The European section of the meeting will be led by American delegates to the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce, who are now abroad. They are expected to return before the meeting in New York begins, and will bring with them fresh from the other side the problems of the Old World.

"Questions such as reparations, war debts and currency depreciation which have had such a vital effect on American business since the signing of the armisitice in 1918 will be taken up,' said Goodwin.

"It is not to be expected" the vice-president explained, "that this meeting of American business men can workout these problems overnight. We only intend to discuss them, and in so doing find what the general concensus of opinion of the thinking business men of the country is in these two items so important in our national life a this time.'

MAKE THE BACKYARD PAY

By W. R. BEATTIE.

Children are told to eat carrots if they want color in their cheeks and beets to be strong and able to romp and play. Just how much there is to this is hard to say, but all the root crops are rich in vitamines and the elements that aid digestion. Carrots are rich in the coloring matter known as "carrotin," which is also present in green grass and gives the rich color to the cow's milk during the early summer. Radishes are effective for warding off scurvy and similar disorders and are eaten more as a salad than a true vegetable.

Root crops such as carrots, beets, parsnips and salsify yield large quantities of actual food from a small space of ground and for this reason are adapted for growing in the small garden. Parsnips may be grown as an early spring crop in the south and used before the extremely hot weather of summer. In the north parsnips require the entire growing season for their development and may be left in the ground during the winter and to a certain degree improve with freezing.

The essentials for growing root crops are a deep, rich, well-drained soil, good seed, proper thinning and frequent shallow cultivation. None of the root crops, with the possible exception of beets, can be transplanted successfully as the breaking of the tap root in transplanting causes them to grow rough and distorted. The proper method is to spade and pulverize the soil 8 to 10 inches deep, working fine fertilizer to the full depth of spading, then sow the seeds where they are to grow and thin out the plants so that every plant left has room to develop. In the case of beets what appears to be a seed is really a seed "ball" containing one to three seeds, consequently beets usually come so much thicker than the gardener expects. Carrots and parsnip seeds lose their vitality or power to grow very quickly and seed of last year's production should always be used.

When it comes to planting the beets, carrots and other root crops the soil which has been spaded and fertilized should be raked smooth and the little rows or furrows formed by means of the hoe handle or a rounded stick drawn along a tight line. The distance between rows may be about 18 inches for beets and carrots and at least 24 inches for parsnips and salsify. The seeds should not be covered more than 1 inch deep on sandy land and less on heavy soils, and the soil used for covering them should always be fine and mellow. If the soil is in the least dry it should be firmed over the seeds by laying a board on top of the row after the seeds are covered, then walking on the board.

Thinning the plants is the important part in growing all root crops. Carrots should be thinned twice, the first time to about one and one-half inches and later when the roots are large enough for use as "baby" carrots every other one can be removed. The same plan may be followed in thinning beets, the thinnings being used as greens and as small table beets cooked and buttered.

Parsnips and salsify should be thinned to an even stand of three to four inches at one thinning. After thinning, the soil should be drawn around the remaining plants. Frequent shallow cultivation and irrigation during extremely dry weather are essential to the quick growth of all root crops.

To Mark Tins.

It is sometimes very difficult to fasten labels on tin holders and canisters. Add a little brown sugar to the paste and it will cause them to stick firmly.

Bon Ami

for cleaning mirrors and glass—

To make mirrors crystal-clear, there is nothing to equal Bon Ami. It is made in both cake and powder form.

Put it on in a thin soapy lather. It will dry in a minute to a soft light powder, absorbing the dust, smears and finger-marks as it dries.

Wipe off this powder with a soft cloth and the high polish of the mirror will be left, clear and shining, without a trace of fog or a speck of lint.

So it is with everything. Bon Ami brightens up windows, nickel, aluminum, bathtubs, etc.

MUSICAL TREAT EASTER SUNDAY

Song Service at Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook, of Excelling Nature—Excellent Programme by Young People's League.

MILLBROOK, April 4 — Impressive Easter services were held in Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday, the evening song service, under the direction of Miss Mabel Clarry as organist and choir leader, being one of the greatest musical treats which the people of Millbrook have been privileged to enjoy for some time. The anthem, "God So Loved the World," by Stainer, which was repeated from the morning service, was particularly appreciated, as was also the hymn-anthem, "Forth from Glory to Glory," sung in the vestry before the choir entered the organ loft. Other numbers were two anthems, "Awake Up, My Glory" and "As It Began to Dawn," Mrs. H. W. Johnston being soloist in the latter, a solo, "Alleluia," by Mrs. (Rev.) G. S. Gervan, and a duet, "Just as I Am," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed by the congregation.

The pastor, Rev. G. S. Gervan, gave an impressive discourse, having special reference to Paul's view of the importance of the resurrection as the basis of Christian faith and hope.

Easter Meeting.

The Easter meeting of the Young People's League, which was held in the Sunday School Hall of the Methodist Church on Monday evening, was under the auspices of the Wide Awakes group of the Canadian Girls In Training, who took entire charge of the meeting, providing the programme throughout.

An Easter scripture lesson was chosen from John 20, 1-18, and read responsively, the hymns also being suitable to the season, including "Long in the grave He lay," "Christ arose" and "Come, ye saints, look here and wonder," some of the C. G. I. T. girls leading in the opening prayer period.

Piano solos by Ewart Tucker were much enjoyed after which the girls presented the Bible story of "Ruth" in dramatised form, this method of impressing familiar characters from the Scripture being a part of the regular programme of C.G.I.T. work. Previous to the short drama, Miss Burnham gave a brief outline of "Ruth" in order to have the details fresh in the minds of the audience, explaining some of the customs incident to the harvest season in the East, with which this beautiful love story, which "lies like a pearl between the ermine of the Judges and and the purple of the Kings," is intimately concerned. The following were the characters taking part in the three acts:

Naomi, Elsie Weeks.
Orphan, Vera Weeks
Ruth, Marjorie Sayles.
Boaz, Gladys Tucker.
Head Reaper, Jean Burnham.
First Reaper, Eleanor Fallis.
Second Reaper, Hazel McMahon.
First Citizen, Wilma Fallis.
Kinsman, Elsie Spence.
Reapers, Flossie McMahon, Lillian Sanderson, Margaret Lang, Elizabeth Russell, Aileen Sanderson, Marguerite Sanderson.

The first scene represented the road from Moab to Judah with Orpah's farewell, and Naomi and Ruth returning to Bethlehem, and their reception by the citizens. The second act was in the barley field of Boaz, with reapers and gleaners singing their harvest song when the master enters, and notices Ruth, being favourably impressed with her modest bearing and patient industry. The last scene was laid in the city gate when when Boaz bargains with his kinsman for the purchase of Naomi's property, and also takes Ruth for his wife, ten citizens witnessing the transaction, according to the custom of the time.

A vote of thanks to the girls for their kindness in providing so interesting and instructive a programme was moved by Miss S. Hetherington, president of the League, seconded by Rev. Mr. Tucker, and heartily applauded.

The pastor closed the meeting with the benediction.

WONDERFUL AIR FEAT.

TOULOUSE, France, April 4 — (United Press.)—Barbot, the French ace, whose exploits with small powered airplanes and gliders have attracted the attention of the aeronautical experts throughout the world, to-day flew over Toulose for twenty-five minutes without using the motor of his plane. He remained at a height of 1500 feet.

FIGHT FOR LIFE.

CAIRO, April 4. — (Canadian Press).—The Earl of Carnarvon is making what is regarded by the attending physicians as a wonderful fight for life. Although he took a sudden change for the worse yesterday, and his condition was regarded as critical, he showed some improvement last night.

GERMANY INCREASES RELIEF

BERLIN, April 4.—The number of unemployed in receipt of relief in Germany, increased in January from 85,000 persons to 144,000, according to an official announcement.

TRUSTEES ELECTED.

KINGSTON, April 4.—(Canadian Press.) — Election of trustees for Queen's University by graduates held in March, has resulted in the return of two trustees, Prof. Adam Shortt, Ottawa ,and J. G. Macphail, Ottawa.

A PLAY GIVEN CAMPBELLFORD

News of Interest From Campbellford and District--Personal Mention

Campbellford, Apr 4.—The school room of the Methodist church was taxed to its capacity last evening, when the Young dies' Mission Circle presented the three act play, "Aunt Maggie's Will," with Mrs. W. H. Ashton presiding in her usual capable manner. As the name implies the play was full of humor and each girl took her part with much credit to herself and to Mrs. D. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Walter Lowe, who coached the girls. The cast was as follows:

Miss Gladys Plumpton — Bessie Thorn.
Miss Ruth Taylor—Minnie Wells.
Miss Myrtle Forde—Julia Watson.
Miss Eva Martin—Henrietta Clark
Miss Hattie Reddan—Priscilla Parson.
Miss Ethel Poupard—May Bell.
Mrs. J. Harnden—Jane.
Miss Jean Kenyon—Madeline.
Miss Verna Sanders—Mrs. Sims.
Mrs. S. A. Maquire—Freddie Randolph.
Miss Harriett otts—Delia (the Irish maid.)

The scene opens in a room in Bessie Thorn's home, where a kitchen shower for Madeline is in progress, and the girls have brought their gifts —a pink apron, a cushion, a flowering plant, a memoranda tablet, a bird cage and bird, and a frying pan.

Madeline enters excitedly and says that Freddie's aunt Maggie has died and left her entire fortune to him providing he marries a girl who knows how to keep house. Madeline decides to engage an apartment, and invite Aunt Maggie's old friend, Mrs. Sims (who is to be the judge of the housekeeping knowledge of Freddie's wife to be). Mrs. Sims arrives, and finds everything topsy turvy, and leaves in disgust, when Madeline is nearly heartbroken. Meanwhile the girls decide upon a new plan, Madeline taking lessons in cooking, and invites Mrs. Sims again. This time she finds things in better order but the new fangled names of the foods served at luncheon are not just to her liking. She leaves remarking that if Freddie can put up with Madeline's cooking he is is free to marry. Then enters Freddie and all is over but the wedding.

Mrs. A. L. Malcolm rendered during the evening a solo in a very pleasing voice which was much appreciated. Clegg's orchestra consisting of Leslie Clegg, Clarence McKeel and Frances Peckett, contributed much to the evening's success by their pleasing numbers. The meeting closd with the National Anthem.

Miscellaneous Shower.

After one hundred and thirty five of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Little, assembled at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Little, Seymour East, on Friday evening, and presented them with a miscellaneous shower. The evening was pleasantly spent in music, dancing and cards. Mr. and Mrs. Little will reside in Menie where Mr. Little has been engaged as cheesemaker.

Mr. John L. Hay has disposed of his farm which he recently purchased from Mr. Thomas Rowe, at Healey Falls, to Mr. E. T. Morton of town, Mr. Morton having sold his warehouse on George street to Mr. Hay.

BORN — In Campbellford, on Queen street, on Tuesday, April 3rd, to Mr. and Mrs. George S. Haig, a son.

Epworth League.

A very helpful and interesting meeting of the Epworth League was held on Monday eevning, Mrs. C. W. Turner very kindly presiding in the absence of the president. Rev. J. E. Glover, B.A., of the Seymour Circuit gave a most inspiring and helpful address on Browning's poem, "Saul." The speaker emphasized the soul's longing for God and the soothing value of music.

Mr. Glover urged his hearers to study Browning as his poems were deeply religious.

The league feels indebted to Mr. Glover for his excellent address.

On Monday evening, April 23, a treat is in store for all music lovers when Mr. R. T. Cowell, A.R.C.O., will give a night on Mozart, playing some of his compositions and giving an account of his life, etc.

"Better Than Ever Bazaar."

The Willing Workers of Christ Church are busy preparing for their annual bazaar and supper to be held Thursday afternoon and evening in the Parish Hall. The Willing Workers have in the past had most successful bazaars, but this promises to be the best yet. There will be an abundance of home cooking, candy, plain and fancy sewing, a fish pond, afternoon tea and an old-fashioned supper from 5.30 to 8 p.m. Those in charge are as follows:

Plain and fancy sewing—Mrs. E. J. Burling and Miss A. Martin.
Home Cooking — Mrs. Charles Benor and Mrs. M. Muffit.
Candy—Mrs. A. J. Jenkins and Mrs. R. A. Linton.
Tea Table—Mrs. A. E. Caddy and Mrs. S. H. Neale.
Supper—Mrs. C. W. Smith and Mrs. Marshall West.

The evening programme will be in charge of Miss Gertrude Maynard.

No admission to bazaar and all are cordially invited.

Personals.

Miss Mabel Anderson, eldest daughter of Reeve and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, stenographer in the North-West Territories Board of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa, spent the Easter holiday at her home here, returning to Ottawa on Monday.

Robert Johnston, former station agent here, has risen high in the service of the National railways, as was shown when he passed through Campbellford yesterday in his private car on an official tour over the system.

Rev. Father Muldoon, of St. Mary's College, Brodsville, assisted Rev. Father Phelan at the beautiful Easter services in St. Mary's Church.

Miss Mildred Cowell is receiving high praise for her taste and industry in preparing floral decorations for the play, "Princess Chrysanthemum," which will be put on in the Opera House under the direction of her parents.

Mrs. Warick and daughter, Miss Ilda, of Toronto, are spending the holidays with friends in town.

Real Estate Deals

T. L. Diamond reports the following recent deals in real estate:

Ernest Singer has bought the store, owned by Mr. Diamond, on Front street, next to the latter's office, and will move his stock of merchandise into it at once.

Seymour Waller of Rawdon has brought, through Mr. Diamond, the farm and outfit of Albert Green in the same township. The sale was made Saturday and on Monday Mr. Waller was in possession of his new home Mr. Green will sell his household effects at auction and will move to Peterborough.

E. T. Morton of town has bought a farm at Healey Falls from John L. Hay. This is the property which Mr. Hay recently purchased from Thomas H. Rowe who is now living in Campbellford. Mr. Hay has purchased from Mr. Morton the latter's storehouse and vacany lot on the west side of the river. Diamond and Riendeau will sell his farm stock and implements by auction oi Monday next.

Diamond and Riendeau conducted a successful auction sale for John Craghead of Rawdon. A good price was received for cattle.

At Christ Church

The scholars of Christ Church Sunday School raised over $70 in their Lenten season into boxes. This money will go to the mission fund of the church.

The young men of this church will present the play "Wanted, a confidential Clerk and Embalming Ebenezer," in the parish hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings next week.

Presbyterians Hold Debate

Clarence Massie presided at the weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church on Monday evening when the feature of the program was a debate on the subject: "Resolved that charitable organiations do more good than harm." The affirmative was taken by Miss Mary Watson and Gilbert Stephens and the negative by Miss Lillian Hay and Rev. C. F. McIntosh. The Judges, Misses Edna Connor, Beatrice Borland and Agnes McArthur, after carefully summing up the arguments used, gave the victory to the affirmative side by two points.

Strikes Fire

Deputy Reeve Anderson of Seymour township, tells of a stranger who has been in that district for some days looking for a job on a farm. Although farm labor is scarce and the stranger claims to have had experience, he has so far been unsuccessful in his quest as he has already earned a reputation as a physiologic-al freak. When he lights his pipe he strikes the match, without any apparent physical discomfort upon the palm of his left hand. Farmers so far have declined to engage him perhaps fearing that maintaining on their premises such a human fire-bird, might lead to an increase in insurance rates.

"Musical Recital

An event of interest to a number was the musical recital given by a few of Miss Hawley's pupils on Easter Monday afternoon. The programme consisted of piano solos, duetts and one special feature, a trio, which is quite a novelty now-a-days. The pupils played their various selections in a pleasing manner some displaying very marked ability and one or two surprising the listeners with the verve and grace of their renditions.

Miss Helen Wood who is home from Whitby College, for the holidays, kindly contributed a vocal solo, which added to the enjoyment of those present. Miss Wood has a pleasing soprano voice which we all hope to hear often in the future.

The programme concluded with a song played by one of the pupils and sung by all, after which a hearty vote of thanks was given Miss Hawley for the splendid entertainment provided. Refreshments were then served and a social time enjoyed by both the pupils and their friends.

Miss Hawley plans to have another recital later on for more of her pupils who were unable to assist at this time. More of these musicals would contribute to the better appreciation of one of our choicest forms of entertainment.

EASTER DANCE BY MILLBROOK VETS.

First-class Music Encouraged Tripping the Light Fantastic — A Dainty Supper.

MILLBROOK, April 4. — The Easter dance, under the auspices of the G.W.V.A., which was held in the Armouries on Monday evening, drew a fairly large attendance, the fact that similar social events were being held in nearby towns the same evening, combined with the unfavorable state of the roads, undoubtedly preventing many from outside points from being present. Good music was provided by Follis' four-piece orchestra, and the evening proved a thoroughly enjoyable and successful occasion. As usual a dainty and abundant supper was served about midnight and dancing resumed for some time afterwards before the gathering was finally brought to a close. Amongst those present were: Misses Audrey Lacheur, Grace Stewart, Eva Thorne, of Peterborough; Hazel Wilson, Port Hope; Marjorie Fallis, Beryl Johnston, Toronto; Clara Reynolds, M. and I. Fallis, Bethany; Hilda Spencer, Misses Trew, Osahwa; Fern Sproule, Odessa; Gertrude Harkness, Phyllis Richards, Amy Brock, Irene Francey; Theo McBride, Bonna Robinson, Roma Roberts, Lillian Clarke, Edna Lowery, Zeta Kenyon, Marjorie Sayles, Kathleen Freelove, M. O'Brien, Muriel and Gladys Smith, Janet and Alice Needler, Annie McConnachie, Marguerite Russell, Olive and Ella Elson, Dorothy Armstrong, Myrtle Russell, Elsie Weeks, Luella Shaw, Alixe Johnston, Kathleen Isbister, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. McGill, Mrs. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. James Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hunter, Messrs. L. McGill, H. Fallis, H. Collins, W. Howden, A. STORMY MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS

Canadians Affected Demand Re-organization of the L. R. Steel Chain Stores.

TORONTO, April 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Re-organization of L. R. Steel chain stores was demanded at a storm meeting of Ontario shareholders here last night. A large proportion of the gathering was composed of women. The final outcome of the meeting was the appointment of a committee to confer with the liquidators and take steps looking to re-organization of the chain of stores with Canadian stores as a separate enterprise if possible.

To Save Concern.

BUFFALO, April 4.— (Canadian Press.)— With the resignation announced yesterday of Walter M. Wilkins, as general counsel of L. R. Steel Corporation a serious attempt supported by New York bankers, will be made to re-organize and save the concern from liquidation.

We are willing to put up $1,000,000 provided you persuade your stockholders to re-organize, said C. A. Van Raensslaer, a New York broker ,told Charles Dougherty, secretary of the Stockholders' Protective Association. This offer will be considered.

A MULTITUDE OF WOMEN RECOMMEND IT

The strongest recommendation possible for any medicine to have is the sound testimony borne by the vast multitudes of women who have used it. It has been proved that 98 out of every 100 women once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair have been restored to the joys of health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This marvelous record shows its power over the ills of women, and the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper should induce every ailing woman to try it.

PEASANT REBELLION.

BERNE, Switzerland, April 4 (Canadian Press). — A serious peasant rebellion against the Soviet Government has broken out in South Russia, according to advices received by the Ukraine representatives here.

GERMANS PROTEST

ESSEN, April 4 (Canadian Press). —A protest against the French troops firing on German workmen has been filed with General Degoutte by the Krupp officials and the Essen Chamber of Commerce and other German organisations.

Th protests assert that the troops were never endangered, and point out that none of the French was injured.

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would 'send me up in the air.' If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into a decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was as completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is willing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ill."

Mr. J. H. Mc. C.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money 1-629

COLORADO MINERS STILL HOPING FOR PROSPERITY

DENVER, Colo., April 44.—(United Press)—The "hope that springs eternal" is nowhere more apparent than in the silver camps of the Colorado Rockies. Those who now live in these former booming mining town confidently look forward to that day when the metal mining industry will come back into its own and bring with it the prosperous days of yore.

Many of these silver "boom" towns have dwindled from a population of several thousand to a few hundred. Leadville, Aspen, Cripple Creek, Central City and others, while, for the most part, enterprising and thriving, have undoubtedly felt the effects of the decline in the silver mining industry.

Should the silver market "come back" to the point where mining would be highly profitable, these places would witness something akin to the old days, say the prospectors and mining men, who still have faith in the underground treasures of the mountains.

That silver and gold still exists in large quantities in many of the mountain districts, there is no question. But the expense of getting it out of the ground; of transporting it through the mill process is great to make it a profitable business the way the silver market stands today.

But the veteran prospectors never doubt but that there will be a big revival some day and they can once more dig a comfortable fortune from Mother Earth. Theirs is an optimism that might be pathetic if it were not for the very fact that one of these days, the metal mining industry might actually stage a "comeback."

This is the day that Colorado is interested in. Not that the state depends on the mining business. It has demonstrated fully that it can thrive prosperously on its other enterprises—farming, stock raising and fruit and vegetable growing.

But should mining take an upward shoot, it is not at all improbable that the mountain mining towns would witness a return engagement of the "good old days." And the whole state would benefit.

Every Day Drink SAFE MILK

From the Peterboro Creamery

Because it is Pasteurized and Clarified

Milk thus protected is a safe diet and a complete and sufficient food, though other foods may be used sparingly. Most of us eat considerably more than we require and surfeit the system with food. The surplus food causes an acid condition, which must be corrected and prevented thereafter before permanent relief can be expected.

The man who relies mainly on protected milk for his sugar, for his protein, for his lime and minerals, for his vitamines and for his carbo-hydrates is certainly embracing an all-round food the like of which can never be imitated by a dozen competitors.

Be sure to order an extra quart today. Wise mothers are now rightly insisting as never before that their children consume their daily milk ration whether room is left for rich cakes and pastries or not.

8 JUDGES SCORED PEEP HOLE SLEUTHS

Dealing With Divorce Cases They Declare Against Hired Spies' Evidence.

Is the "profession" an instrument of good or evil?

Heads of private detective agencies engaging or specializing in divorce work will tell you that they deplore the necessity for existence of their business, but that is as essential a social safeguard as are the police and fire departments.

Moralists and sociologists, studying the divorce evil, will tell you that the "scandal-sniffing" private detective agencies aggravate it. They point out that their aim is not to protect homes and to reunite estrangled couples, but to obtain evidence which will make home-wrecking swift and certain.

Attitude of Judges.

The question of importance to be attached to evidence gathered and introduced by divorce detectives enters into every trial in which they figure. How great should this be? The Examiner, through NEA Service, today put this question to eight nationally known divorce judges.

Judge George A. Bartlett, who has presided over the greater number of the 742 divorce proceedings in which decisions were rendered at Reno last year, says testimony of peep-hole detectives is not welcome in his court, though under the laws of Nevada he is compelled to consider it if it is introduced.

During his time on the bench, he says, only one such detective has testified in his court. This is because divorce action in Reno usually is based on cruelty, desertion, failure to provide or other grounds with which the activities of private detectives are not connected.

Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser, trial judge in Westchester County, probably has heard more divorce cases than any other judge in New York State.

"My experience is that juries place little value on the evidence of such detectives," Justice Morschauser says, "unless the evidence is most thoroughly corroborated from other sources.

"If I had my own way I would not grant a divorce for any cause—a separation, yes, for certain reasons, but a divorce never. The nation would be better off."

Detective testimony is always to be taken with a grain of salt, says Judge Timothy N. Hurley, who presides over the domestic relations branch of the Cook County Superior Court at Chicago.

"In a majority of cases where they have come before me, I have kicked such detectives out of court," he says.

"There is something repulsive to my mind about any person who tries to salvage a few paltry dollars from the wreck of a home."

Work Against Court.

"The peep-hole detective is in the business of getting evidence that will break up homes.

"The humanitarian judge seeks to find in the evidence presented at a divorce hearing something that will lead to bring together again the estranged souls.

"So peep-hole evidence must be taken in court with a grain of salt."

Other Opinions.

JUDGE CHARLES M. BRUCE, Boston—"Evidence testified to by divorce detectives and spotters should have no standing in any court procedure."

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE FREDERICK L. SIDDONS, District of Columbia—"Men who engage in the business of spying on women for hire in order to catch them in compromising situations are deservedly regarded with distrust. Their testimony, like that of all questionable witnesses, should be most carefully scrutinized. I would grant no divorce on their uncorroborated testimony."

JUDGE EUGENE B. THOMAS, Superior Court, Atlanta, Ga.—"In my estimation a man can sink no lower than to become a peep-hole detective and the day is coming when men of this type surely will not be tolerated. I have observed that the testimony of these persons is regarded lightly in the courts of this state and I am glad of it."

JUDGE PERCY SAINT, Civil District Court, New Orleans—"Use of evidence obtained by 'peep-hole Toms' continually is on the increase and should be curbed by legislative action. The testimony of such detectives surely should not be accepted on the same basis as that of unbiased and unpaid witnesses."

HOPE.

With all its sails unfurled.
The winds torment, the currents meet,
To terrify the world.

But in the thunder, crash and boom,
A still, small voice is born,
"Peace, Peace, be still!" And lo, the stars,
And after that the dawn.

The blizzard, burdened with its Snow,
Has avalanched the hills;
Its breath of icy, killing frost
Has silenced woods and rills.

(But list!) Beneath it all, a force
Is pulsing in the sod,
The germ of Life in root and flower
Is reaching up to God.

Then hope, though night is dark with storm,
Peace cometh with the day,
Then hope though all seems still in death,
Life bursts all bands away.

NATIONS LEAGUE PLAN TO EXTEND PEACE EFFORTS

World to Be Invited to Join Nations Who Met at Washington Conference.

By HENRY WOOD.

GENEVA, April 4. — (United Press)—During the coming year half a dozen great international conferences will be held under the auspices of the League of Nations in the general effort towards international peace and the improvement of international humanitarian and economic conditions.

In full accordance with what is now the recognized role of the League in world affairs, no effort will be made to impose anything on anybody. The conferences will endeavor to work out the best possible solutions of the problems, but when these solutions are finally embodied in international treaties every state will be left free to accept or reject them according to its best interests.

One of the first of these international conferences will be for the purpose of extending the principles of the Washington naval disarmament pact to all of the other nations of the world.

This conference will not be held until after the Conference of the Pan-American union, at Santiago, this month, so that the League can co-ordinate its work as much as possible with that of the Pan-American union.

Still another conference which the League will hold this year in the interest of peace is for suppressing the private manufacture of war material and the international traffic therein.

The United States will be asked either to participate in the conference or else to signify how far she would be willing to go along with the rest of the world in solving this end of the problem.

Germany Invited.

While the participation of Germany would ordinarily have been an important element in the solution of the problem, the prohibition under the Versailles treaty of the manufacture of war material does not make her participation so important. Nevertheless she will be invited to take part in the conference.

The League has also fixed October 15 as the date for an international customs conference to see what can be done about breaking down customs barriers that are now proving most serious obstacles to the resumption of international trade and commerce. All states, whether members of the League or not will be invited to participate.

The League will also hold during the years its second International Conference on Communications and Transit at Genoa. The first one was held at Barcelona two years ago and the second will tackle a number of new questions such as providing a common sanitary regime for international waterways.

As a result of the "new map of Europe" a number of big rivers which were previously largely domestic in their activities have now become international waterways. The lack of a common sanitary regime in all adjacent states has resulted in their becoming a source for the spread of epidemics. The conference will endeavour to take care of this problem. Finally this conference will have to deal with an international treaty covering railway traffic generally.

Finally during the year the League will hold other international conferences having to do largely with humanitarian questions such as the white slave traffic and opium. An effort is also being made to induce the League to summon an international conference on the question of emigration, as the restrictions placed on the latter by both North and South America have suddenly caused this question to become one of the greatest possible economic importance.

A GIRL AND 7 CATS IN GHOST MYSTERY

Experts Cannot Agree About the Scrimshaw Spook—Weird and Uncanny Happenings.

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, April 4.—Ghost experts are at loggerheads. They can't agree about the Scrimshaw spook. Weird and uncanny happenings in Joseph Scrimshaw's farmhouse in Cambridgeshire, paralleling the famous Nova Scotia case that stirred America a year ago, still remain a mystery.

Night after night, always after 12, these things happened:

Chairs toppled over. Tables moved. Crockery fell and broke. Pictures fell from their pegs. The 400-pound piano did a jaxx from one side of the room to the other. Chests of drawers fell and spilled the contents. A clock that had not run for years suddenly ticked and tolled seven.

Spiritualists, experts in witchcraft and representatives of the London Physical Research Society descended upon the farmhouse. They held seances, kept all-night vigils, and questioned Scrimshaw, his aged mother, and his 16-year-old daughter Olive.

Still the mystery of the haunted farm remains unsolved. The uncanny antics stop for a while and then begin again.

A little old man with white hair carrying a brown jug.

A tall, dark young man, supposed to be a dead relative of Scrimshaw.

"Never had such a relative" said Scrimshaw. "I'm a churchman and I don't take stock in ghosts and seances."

The farmer takes the entire affair phlegmatically and refused to consider seriously a letter signed Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous novelist and lecturer on spiritualism, suggesting that the daughter, Olive, might be the unconscious agent of vapory forces described as "mischievous children of the phychic world."

Olive, who owns seven cats, was heard by investigators to utter a sharp cry at the same moment that heavy rumbling was heard in another bedroom. But she declared she had slept soundly.

Neighbors are keeping clear of the haunted house. Sightseers from London call the weird pranks a hoax, and point to the statement of a woman spiritualist who declared the ghost of her little man with the brown jug came to her kitchen window next door, said "Boo!" and promptly vanished.

GETTING LABOR WHEN LABOR IS SCARCE.

(By John T. Bartlett)

From many of the large centres comes the same report: common labor is getting scarce. Farmers are going to be pinched, in a great many places, to get the help they need. General contractors, if they are not energetic, will be "put to it" to properly man jobs. The shortage will extend, too, beyond any doubt, to many factory trades.

Employers remember well all the difficulties a labor shortage can bring on, from experience during the war boom. It is time now to begin to prepare for any shortage which may come in the next few months.

Happily, we can draw on that same experience to which we made reference above—the war boom period. Valiantly in those days Want Ads saved the day innumerable times for employers. Here are les-

Use plenty of words, and tell in your Want Ads how good a job you offer. The old theory, that a small job is worthy of a small Want Ad, doesn't go. "Men wanted—Jones & Jones," has sufficed many times, but when labor is not plentiful, but scarce, other methods are called for. A Want Ad which tells the wages paid, the hours, the excellence of the board furnished and the reasonable charge for it, the length the job is likely to last, and so on, will work well. Another hint—tell in your Want Ad just how to get to the office to apply for work.

Decide the feature about the job which will appeal most, and give it emphasis. The farmer looking for a hired man can always get interest by saying, "Real home cooking, always plenty of second-helpings, clean pleasant room." That'll interest hired men.

Here are some phrases which have worked well in "Help Wanted" messages: "Real workers are appreciated here, and rewarded," "permanent work for satisfactory men", "best going wages", "apply on job ready for work."

Much of the secret of getting labor when labor is scarce, is in the simple injunction, "Take plenty of words." Show how good a job you offer. It's simple.

at School, Chairman A. A. Fowler emphasized that he was not personally in sympathy with the recommendations. The people are taxed to death now, he said, without adding another half million dollars and increasing the city's debenture debt 15 per cent. For a combined school the property to the west of the P.C.I. would have to be acquired at an approximate cost of -30,000 or $40,000, and even then he did not think there would be room for expansion; nor that the two schools combined would work in harmony. His idea was to provide a technical building later when actually imperative.

In conclusion Mr. Fowler, stressing the point that three members of the board had expressed their intention of retiring at the end of the year, he did not think it would be fair of them to be parties to saddling people with such a heavy debt as this combined project would entail when they would not be in offce next year to shoulder their share of the responsibility for taking care of the project.

Mr. Worth's Views

Mr. Worth pointed out that were the combined proposition voted down those who had fought years for a technical school would not get it, whereas if the project materialized those who leaned toward immediate increased provision for academic education only would be satisfied. By expropriating the properties to the west of the Collegiate a site would be secured suffiently large to take care of a combined building and for expansion; the houses, he said, are old, and anyway the school would present a better appearance were they removed. The Board had a right to provide for the needs of all citizens alike—vocationally and academically.

As for those members of the board who think of retiring this year, Mr. Worth did not see that such intention should retard their activities now on the question at stake. "I shall have to go to the people next January," he said; "but at present I'm elected to do my duty by the ratepapers till my term of office expires; and to vote in the best interests of the community generally. And I intend to so function following the line of duty as I see it just so long as I am a member of this board hoping always that all members will do likewise."

Going into figures, Mr. Worth here contended that an eight-classroom addition to the present Institute would cost $215,000, accordto Architect Blackwell's estimates last year, allowing also far rooms for household science, manual training, gymnasium and other accessories. This might not take care of future requirements, which probably would call for thirteen additional class-rooms.

Taking Mr. Blackwells figure of $15,000 for each class room, the five additional class rooms to the opposition's projected eight at $215,000 would run into $75,000, making a total of $290,000 for increased academic accommodation without considering vocational training. And here Mr. Worth declared that a combination school, supplying both academic and vocational training could be erected for $310,000. The difference between the two propositions was only $20,000, he pointed out, a saving not warranted at the expense of vocational training. "If," he concluded, "we can get a combined school serving all ends for an additional $20,000, it is our duty to do so—in the interests of economy, of academic and vocational education, and of night classes for study."

Doubts the People.

While concurring heartily with Mr. Worth's views, Mr. Wearing frankly did not believe the people wanted to face a building proposition at all, although such project is imperative. He did not approve of building a one-sided school for academic purposes only, when we have to educate boys and girls in their 'teens preparatory to entering varied walks of life—mechanical and otherwise. The Board, he stressed, must not be blind to the educational demands of all classes, and must make suitable provision for adolescents. He was inclined to think that hitherto perhaps too much attention had been paid to needs of the more fortunate classes, to which the working people have to contribute. "If we are to have a contented and prosperous working class they must be provided with that education their situation in life calls for," he added.

Reasons For Opposition.

Mr. Greene declared he had adhered tenaciously to one thought regarding this issue for the last 18 months ,and his reasons for opposing the projected combined schools were as follows:

1st—The Department of Education will not approve of a combination school on the present Collegiate site unless the property adjoining to the west is taken in.

This property has a fronfage of approximately 195 feet on Aylmer street by a depth of 114 feet on McDonnel street and on which there is erected seven houses.

To acquire this property means an expenditure of from thirty to forty thousand dollars, and as the Government will not pay anything towards the cost of a site, the whole amount will have to be borne by the ratepayers.

In my opinion this is a ridiculous price to pay for a school site in a place the size of Peterborough, and I would not ask the ratepayers to support it; and besides, the site does not allow for future expansion. On our present site there is ample room for an extension to the present building for academic purposes without any further outlay for a site.

and—A combination building containing the number of rooms and workshops as required by the Department of Education, together with the additional number of rooms required for academic purposes (over 40 in all) is too large and impracticable, in other words, it would be twice the size of the Prince of Wales school.

3rd—The cost of maintenance of the combination building as proposed, would be enormous, and in my opinion the ratepayers would have a "white elephant" on their hands for some years to come, or until the population of Peterborough has increased to an extent that would warrant the expenditure on a building of this kind.

4th.—In view of the present uncertain attitude of the Government in regard to the enforcement of the Adolescent Act (as intimated by the Department Representative when here a short time ago as well as through the press) we should proceed very cautiously. It is a recognized fact that the present Collegiate accommodation is inadequate, and while it is regretted that it is absolutely necessary to ask the ratepayers for an additional outlay for educational purposes under the present business conditions, it is imperative that the Collegiate facilities receive immediate attention.

I therefore recommend an etxen-

I therefore recommend an extenI believe can be accomplished by an increase in tae debenture debt of approximately only $200,000.00 while a combination school, as proposed, will increase the debenture debt by nearly half a million dollars.

Go Cautiously.

Mr. Denne's idea was that if, after an extension to the Collegiate was completed and a vocational school was found necessary, in his opinion $25,000.00 spent on the South Central school (a property already owned by the ratepayers) to remodel the present building for administrative purposes, with cheaper factory construction for the workshops, for which there is ample land, it would be the most economical solution of the educatttional demands of a city of this size.

"Moreover, with an addition to the present Collegiate, with provision for manual training and household science (which is now carried on in a Public school) he said our evening industrial classes can be conducted in this building, where they properly belong instead of in two Public school buildings as at present. In this way the vocational classes can be developed and when found necessary separate accommodation can then be considered."

Matter of $20,000.

Mr. Wearing did not find agreement with Mr. Greene's figures that with the two propositions the debenture debt would be increased $200,000 on the one hand and half a million in the other. In rebuttal, he recited Mr. Worth's declaration that there was only $20,000 difference between the maximum increased accommodation requirements of the Collegiate and the erection of a combined school.

Mr. Worth here questioned that acquisition of the properties to the west of the Institute would cost $40,000, characterized as a ridiculous figure by Mr. Greene. They could be bought at a reasonable figure set by expropriation valuators, he said. He also emphasized that should the combined schools cost $450,000, or more as contended by some of the opposition, the two governments would contribute $140,000.

In a prolonged discussion as to figures on which to base an estimate Mrs. Morris asserted that Architect Blackwell had set $15,000 as the cost of a high school class room.

Business Proposition.

Dr. Neal favored a combined school as the best business proposition. The board, he contended,should provide accommodation for all classes and children are entitled to technical education if they wish it.

Should he retire at the end of the year, he would, he pointed out, be a ratepayer and still share with others the burden of the additional taxation accruing from either of the projects.

A Minimum Extension.

Mr. E. B. Fowler said in part:

"I think the Board knows fairly well where I stand on the matter now under discussion. I have given the subject very serious consideration for the past two years and I have made considerable enquiry into the whole question, and I cannot ask the ratepapers, at the present time, to assume a burden such as a combination school, as proposed, would entail.

"We must approach the whole matter from the standpoint of our ability and facilities to pay as well as from the standpoint of the demand or the necessity for the additional educational facilities. The people—merchants, working men and manufacturers—have had difficulty in the past two years to make ends meet. They are not to-day getting ahead very fast, and the readjustment of business generally will be so gradual that we should endeavor to adjust our present educational difficulties on a basis that will necessitate the smallest outlay of money on the part of the ratepayer.

"An extension to our present Collegiate is absolutely essential and this I think is generally conceded by the ratepayers. This I am satisfied can be done for around $200,000, while a combination school will run up to at least $450,000. True the government will give us a portion of the cost of building and equipment, for the Technical part only, at present estimated at about $140,000; but we must provide for the total debenture issue, and the government pays only each year their portion of the interest and sinking fund. The total issue stands against our debenture debt, which is already high, and furthermore, if at any time during the term of the debentures issued, it is found that our combined building is inadequate, and a second Technical school is necessary, the unpaid balance of the government's proportion of the cost must be borne by the ratepayers, and the total cost of the new Technical school must be provided.

"I am not satisfied that the best results can be obtained for either Academic or Technical training, by combining the two. There are many difficulties to which I will not refer but which are apparent. Considerable has been said as to our not giving the working man what he requires in our Academic schools, but I am of the opinion that the so-called working man (and we are all working men) is just as anxious as anyone else to have his boy or girl given an education that will fit them to enter any walk in life and our present Academic system is just as free to him as to anyone. Our best mechanics, professional and business men to-day have come from the so-called working people, through the Academic schools, apprenticeship, and night school route. Furthermore the whole project of technical education is so extensive that it is difficult to distribute the cost where it rightly belongs. The government recognizes this and are to-day assuming a portion of the cost. In my opinion in a few years the technical training system will be developed by the government along lines similar to our present Normal School, financed entirely by the government. These schools could be located to cover certain sections, and through which our children could enter commercial life with something that will give them a standing.

"I shall therefore favor a minimum extension to our present Collegiate, which will include manual training, domestic science and the development of our night classes in this building, until such time as the demand for further technical facilities are apparent."

Mr. McKone strongly supported a combination institute and vocational school, and contended with Mr. Worth that the difference in cost between the two propositions is not so large when sifted out as some members of the board imagine.

Mrs. W. R Morris, citing her experience at the meeting of the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association in Toronto yesterday, said the Adolescent Act was generally endorsed by the delegates, who, now that young folks of 16 to 18 years are not compulsarily affected, expressed their opinion that rural communities will fall in line within a year or two. She did not hear one trustee speak in Toronto who was not in favor of technical education. Giving Architect Blackwell's figures for the two school projects under debate, she saw only $95,000 difference between the two propositions—a minimum extension to the Collegiate and the larger combined project—including $45,000 for vocational equipment, which the board is strongly advised to buy only as required. Supposing, for instance, a start is made with equipment valued at $15,000 and another $10,000 worth added the next year, of which amount, when functioning, the Government will return $5,000; and so on, adding equipment as needed. Touching lightly on the fact that two high school inspectors had insisted on Collegiate extension and advised a combined institute and vocational school, Mrs. Morris regretted that the board at present is ignoring expert opinion and what other municipalities are doing for their adolescents.

There were present Chairman A. A. Fowler, E. B. Fowler, J. M. Greene, Roland Denne, J. W. Worth, Joseph Wearing, J. A. McKone, Mrs. W. R. Morris and Dr. F. C. Neal.

LINIMENT FOUND TO BE POWERFUL GERMICIDE

Originally, Absorbine Jr. was sold only as a pain reliever and an embrocation. It was quickly discovered that the liniment was positive death to all forms of germ life, and it is now used as a mouth wash, for wound dressing and for all disinfecting purposes.

Another surprise was yet in store. A Wm. Pratt of Springfield, Mass., applied Absorbine Jr. to a varicose vein to relieve the intense pain. Not only did the pain leave, but he noticed every day the swollen vein becoming smaller. The treatment was kept up and, today, Mr. Pratt's legs, though he has never used anything else on them, are as smooth as when he was a boy. It has now been proved that Absorbine Jr. is an actual specific for varicose veins, leg ulcers, boils, pyorrhoea and a number of other ailments and injuries besides that for which it was first prepared. Nothing serves so many every day purposes and nothing is better entitled to its place in every home. When it is needed, it will be needed in a hurry. Don't wait for someone to be hurt. SAUNDERS STARTED AS A GROCER'S BOY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 3—Since Clarence Saunders, president of the Piggy Wigguy Stores, Inc., beat Wall Street single-handed and accomplished the coup that sent stock in his company soaring, old residents herabouts are recalling is early life and saying, "I told you so."

Saunders was born in a small Tennessee country village near here His parents were poor. He started his business career as a grocery clerk at a salary of $4 a week.

Even from this pittance, Saunders managed to save money. He started his first Piggly Wiggly store—a kind of serve-self grocery —in 1916. Since then stores have been opened all over the country.

Saunders' remarkable coup in Wall street, in which he sent Piggly Wiggly stock skyrocketing and squeezed shorts, has become the talk of the nation and has started financiers.

City League to Organize Teams--Soft Ball Games--Sport News

CITY LEAGUE WILL ORGANIZE TEAMS FOR THIS SEASON

ON APRIL 11.

At a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce last night to discuss the organization of the City League for the year's activities, only four teams were represented in an attendance of about 20. L. LeBarr, vice-president, was chairman.

Owing to some uncertainty as to the date of the meeting it was found that many teams were unprepared to state their plans. Raybestos have not decided whether they will have a team or not, but the decision is to be made at a meeting to-night. The Rotarians and Kiwanis are putting junior teams in the field, and the U. F.O League is to organize. Some of the business places are endeavoring to organize a mercantile league confined strictly to employees in the factories concerned. It is understood that six factories have intimated their intention to join in this league. They include the Canadian Packing Co., Quaker Oats Co., Canadian Woollens, De Laval and the Brinton Carpet Co.

Ward Patterson received many bouquets in reference to the splendid organization of the League under his presidency, and in his reply passed on the compliments to the players and those who backed him in his work. He suggested a meeting of all the intermediates and juniors interested, and that those who attended that meeting should appoint their officers and really organize. "There are enough sports in the city," he said, "that if they see the youngsters want to play ball they can back four teams in each of the series."

Acting on Mr. Patterson's suggestion, V. O'Connell was appointed secretary pro tem He was instructed to write the heads of the firms in the city inviting them to attend the meeting to be held on Wednesday, April 11, and also to the baseball men in the firms urging them to attend. A committee of four was appointed to assist him in this work, consisting of E. Wright, F. Convery, N. Van Pere and J. Begley.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Peterborough Baseball Association for their offer of Riverside park for the use of the League for the Intermediate, Junior, Juvenile and Midget games.

J. Solomon announced his presence by making several very valuable suggestions.

The outlook at the meeting was optimistic, and the general opinion was that a little co-operation and work on the part of the officers would lead to good results.

MANY WOMEN IN ATHLETIC MEET

The International Games Opened Yesterday at Monte Carlo.

MONTE CARLO, April 4. Canadian Press. — Ninety-five women athletes, representing six European countries, are entered for the international women's games opening here yesterday.

Belgium has sent nine athletes, Great Britain 12, Italy 9; Switzerland 7; Czecho-Slovakia, 22, and France 36, for this, the most important feminine sporting event since that held in Pershing Stadium last August.

The games were arranged under the auspices of the International Federation of Feminine Athletes and all the holders of the world's records established at the Pershing Stadium will compete, with the exception of those from the United States. The programme includes the 60 meter sprint, 65 meter hurdles, 250, 800 and 1000 meter races; running and standing broad and high jumps, shot put and javelin throws.

The meet ends Saturday.

THE RAILWAY GANG LOST TO QUAKERS

C. N. R. Got One Run, While the Quakers Grabbed Twelve.

The Quakers defeated the C.N.R. b ythe score of 12-1 in a poor exhibition of ball in the second softball game last evening. The C.N.R. players missed many and that often. The Quaker crew collected many long hits of the ticket office boys' twirlers.

The C.N.R. got their single counter in the first innings. The Quakers had their big helping in the fourth, when they got seven.

The players were:

PRES. HARDING SAW THE LEAFS PLAY DETROIT

Surprised the Fans By Slipping in Unexpectedly to Watch Exhibition Game at Augusta.

GUEST OF LANDIS.

AUGUSTA, Go., April 3. — President Harding put one over on most of the other baseball fans of Canada and the United States yesterday by slipping out to Warren Park here to see an exhibition game between the Detroit Americans and the Toronto club of the International League.

The Chief Executive was accompanied by Mrs. Harding, who seemed to enjoy the game as much as her husband, who is quite a baseball fan, and used to own stock in a club at Marion, Ohio. They were guests of former Judge Landis, High Commissioner of Baseball.

Arriving at the park just a few minutes before game time, the president took a seat in a lower row in the grandstand, asked for a score card, listed the line up, and got set for the game. Before the game began Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Club, and Dan Howley, manager of the Toronto club, came into the stand and shook hands with the President and Mrs. Harding.

During the early innings, it looked as if the President would be cheated out of seeing a full game by an April shower, but the rain stopped in time to save the game. The president kept score as carefully as any of the fans and he and Mrs. Harding joined in the cheering when Dell Pratt, the Detroit second baseman, knocked a home run over the left field fence in the 4th inning.

The game resulted in a 9 to 2 victory for Detroit.

SISLER MAY BE OUT FOR GOOD

Ty Cobb's Greatest Rival Is Suffering From a Bad Arm.

NEW YORK, April 4. — The case of Sisler is being discussed in grave tones in the American League all the way from Hot Springs to Florida. In the underground news courses of baseball it is generally agreed that Sisler will not start the season with the Browns, and that he may not play until the season is well under way.

The great batsman is supposed to have a bad arm, a leftover from a case of "flu," and there may be two or three other complications, all of which combined are sufficient to put a player on his back, and any one of which is enough to keep him out of the game. Some think it is neuritis which has struck in behind his shoulder. If that is so, Sisler will have a hard time to get back. If he don't get back, fans from one coast to the other are going to mourn for George Sisler is worth having back.

Not only is he one of the best ball players of the American League now, but he is one of the greatest ball players of all time. If he is not going to be able to enter competition for the pennant of 1923, it is going to take a huge slice of enjoyment out of the season. There is reason to believe the Browns are still strong enough to remain in the race, but, oh, how they will miss the only little Hamlet they have in their troupe.

RUSSIA TO HAVE OLYMPIC ENTRIES

Prince Olouzoff Will Again Head Russian Team For 1924 Games.

PARIS, April 4. Canadian Press. — Athletes representing Russia as a country will be allowed to compete in the 1924 Olympic Games to be held in Paris.

This decision has been reached by a majority of the International Olympic Committee, and will be ratified at Rome by the Olympic Congress, which begins its sessions next Saturday.

There has been much discussion among the French Committee which is preparing for the games as to the advisability of permitting Russians to participate. Those opposed argued that the present Russian government is not composed of Russians, but "usurpers." The Olympic Committee, however, ruled that it was not dealing with the Soviet but with the Russian Olympic Committee, which has been represented on the international committee since its creation.

Prince Ofouzoff, Russia's delegate prior to the war, who has been residing in Paris since the Bolshevik revolution, will continue in the same capacity and will endeavor to get a Russian team together for the 1924 game.

It has been definitely decided that the participation of women in the Olympic games will be confined to tennis and swimming, as heretofore. There will be no athletic competition between the women.

COME DOWN FOR EDDIE.

LANSING, April 4.— (Canadian Press.)—Eddie Cicotte, of Detroit, former Chicago White Sox pitcher, who left organized baseball following the world's series expose of 1919, has accepted appointment as Michigan game warden.

Cicotte's salary will be $3.50 a day. With the White Sox he was reputed to have drawn $12,000 a year.

A HUGE MAJORITY FOR MAYORALTY CANDIDATE.

CHICAGO, April 4. — (Canadian Press). — The plurality of William Emmett Dever, Democrat Mayoralty candidate, will be about 106,000, practically unofficial but complete returns indicated late last night.

Dever's plurality is the largest ever given a Mayoralty candidate, except Mayor Thompson, who won his first victory in 1915 by a margin of 147,477. Mayor Dever will have the support of a Democratic council, the changes in that body giving the Democrats about a four-to-one advantage.

WOOLLENS TURNED BACK SEPARATORS

TThTe Woollens rang up a 12-2 victory over the De Laval Greys in a smart game of ball played at the Armouries last evening. The Greys played loose ball all during the game and were never dangerous. The Woollens hoisted their stock right from the start when they got 9 runs in the first two innings. In the last frame they got three more.

McLean, pitching for the Woollens, didn't exert himself very much, because he didn't need to.

Murray, the De Laval twirler, did well when he received the necessary support, which often failed him.

The line-ups:

De Laval Greys — Ward, c; Cutmore, rf; Kennedy, 1b; Cooper, lf; Elliott, 3b; McIntyre, ss; Miller, ss; Feeley, 2b; Murray, p.

FAST BALL EXPECTED FROM THE BIG FOUR

The Eastern Section of Central League Race as Viewed by Belleville Sport Writer

The Belleville Intelligencer says: Down around Kingston way the baseball enthusiasts are highly elated over the successful effort to place the Limestone City on the baseball map once again.

The newly formed Hillcrest-Osler circuit in the Queen City have nothing on "B" section of the C.O.B.L. Every team has always been regarded as a high-class aggregation.

Peterborough, with Jake Solomon at the helm, can be depended to trot out a first-class team. Max Swanston, Al. McCaffery and Al. Heckman form the nucleus of their squad. Cobourg has a team of unknown quantity, but you may rest assured that old Dick Turpin has something up his sleeve.

The G.T.R. will be as strong as ever and with the addition of Jack Oulette and Harold Brownscombe, will be capable of putting up a grand little argument. Last year's champs have been disporting themselves on the Armouries floor at the indoor game. Financially speaking, Belleville have the advantage over the remaining three teams. Belleville is situated in an excellent position, with Kingston to the east and Cobourg and Peterboro to the west.

Kingston have Teddy Gallagher, Johnny Evans and Twigg, last year with Oshawa. Teddy Saunders, the versatile ball player, is also in all probability ready for active service.

In Peterboro the P.A.A.A. and the ball club are both angling to acquire Riverside Park. However, the Petes may make the Exhibition Grounds their home during the coming summer. At any rate baseball fans in these parts will be treated to the best brand of ball dished up in many a moon.

Harmony exists between the teams in the "Big Four" group. The schedule seems to suit every club.

Kingston officials are loud in their praise for Belleville officials, who were chiefly responsible for Kingston's entry in the C.O.B.L.

The Kingston team are having difficulty in obtaining playing grounds. The old cricket field and Ontario Park may both be put in shape to accommodate the team. The easterners are very optimistic about their chances in the Central League. The fans are all pulling together and with this spirit behind the club they should do well. The team will probably be known as the Kingston Ponies.

Another month will probably see the Grand Trunks on the diamond. Belleville have always proved a serious contender and it is to be hoped that this season will not be an exception. With Jackie Williams pitching ball as he did last year, G.T.R.'s are bound to be strong. The addition of Jack Oulette to the pitching staff will aid matters greatly. Williams will then not be forced to bear the burden alone. "Peeny", Mills will be back at his station behind the bat, and the best amateur receiver in Ontario says he was never in better shape.

Harry Mills will again look after the keystone sack, while Jack ("Crock") Williams will cavort around third. The two remaining infield positions are uncertain. With Weir, Harry Brownscombe and Allen Meagher left it will be a merry battle to see who grabs a place. Weir was one of the best shortstops in the circuit. Brownscombe may play either second or short. Allen Meagher was always a classy boy and is the versatile player of the team. Casey, "Wicky" Ross and Hagerman will be the outfield aspirants, with any new arrivals.

ENGINEERS PUT IT OVER LOCK WORKS

C.G.E. Nine Victorious in the Best Game of the Evening.

The Engineers hoisted their chances in the race for industrial honours in softball when they turned back the Lockworks by the score of 9-7. This game was the best of the three battles of last evening.

The game was close all the way, with the Lockmakers always dangerous and especially so in the last couple of frames, when they made determined, nd sometimes fruitful, efforts to get runs nd so pull out determined, and sometimes fruitful, efforts to get runs and so pull out with a win.

Everything looked rosy for the Lockmakers during the first four frames. Up till tse fifth the score was 4-3 in their favour. But the Engineers caught the "anti-house-breaker crew" napping in the fifth, and sent across six runs, practically cinching the game.

The Lockmakers made determined efforts to retrieve their lead and almost succeeded sending across their runs in the last few frames. Over-eagerness in base-running proved their downfall many being caught stealing.

The line-ups:

Lock Works — Connors, 2b; Huffman, lf; MacDougall, ss; Mason, p; Taylor, c; Murray, ss; Westbrook, rf; Black, 1b; J. Guerin, 3b.

Score by innings:

Lock Works	22000120—7
Engineers	1101600x—9

STRIKE-OUT WONDER WILL HAVE A CHANCE

BRADENTOWN, Fla., April 4.— "The experts in discussing my club are overlooking one of the best bets among my recruits, Pitcher Fred Wigington," says Branch Rickey, the manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

With a club that finished third in the first half of the pennant race, with an even .500 mark, and fifth in the second half with a percentage of .377, Wigington managed to win 18 and lose 11, for an average of .621, far in advance of his club's record.

However, the most remarkable feature of Wigington's work was his strike-out record. Working in 254 innings, he struck out 260 men, an average of better than a man an inning, a truly remarkable performance, that stands out as the banner feat of the year in that respect in organised ball.

While Wigington lacks experience, and may not prove to be of any great value to the Cardinals this year, he looks like a great prospect.

Manager Rickey has turned Wigington over to the great catcher, Joe Sugden, who, like Rickey, expects great things of the husky youngster as soon as the rough spots are polished off.

It is the intention of Rickey to work Wigington in the spring exhibition games so that he can get a good line on the big fellow. He looks so good that he is almost certain to be carried among the select twenty-five.

SHIPPING COMPANY HAD GREAT POWER

Symington Asserts Standard Shipping Company Had All the Machinery For a Combine.

OTTAWA, April 4 (Canadian Press). — "The whole machinery lends itself to control, centralisation, and combine," asserted H. J. Symington, K.C., counsel for the Crown, who continued his argument before the grain rates commission at the board room of the Railway Commission yesterday afternoon.

Dealing at length with the Standard Shipping Company which, he declared, controlled space on the Canada Steamship Lines, he said that this company could grant space to shippers or refuse it, could divert it to a particular port, could hold space for a shipper, could even create a congestion should it so desire. This company, he claimed, had all the machinery necessary for a combine. There was discrimination in favour of American shippers against Canadian shippers and ports, Mr. Symington asserted. Lower rates were given to American shippers last summer as compared with those granted to Canadians, he insisted.

Discussing rates, he said that Jas. Stewart of the Maple Leaf Milling Company had told the Commission that "lake rates were in the hands of two brokers, so that there was no competition.' The control of insurance, he argued, was "clinched" by the contract between the brokers and the Canada Steamship Lines.

Mr. Symington will continue his argument this morning.

TWO STATE MINES SEIZED BY FRENCH

Now Control Twelve Mines --Essen Plans Big Funeral For Krupp Victims.

DUSSELDORF, April 4 (Canadian Press), — Dr. Zachlin, representative of the Berlin Foreign Office, who has been holding daily conferences for the newspaper men, was arrested yesterday by the French authorities, who asserted that his papers were not in order.

Two additional mines owned by the State, the Konig Ludwig and the Bergmangluk, in the Recglinghausen district, have been seized by the French.

This makes six State mines controlled by the French, as well as the same number of private mines.

A messenger from Elberfeld was stopped at the frontier, but when it was learned that he bore a protest, he was allowed to proceed to Dusseldorf.

The Essen population is planning a great funeral for the eleven victims of Saturday's clash at the Krupp Works; it has been decided to hold the funeral to-day, instead of Thursday.

The Krupp plant is closed, and it is expected that most of the 54,000 emoloyees will be in line.

The French announce that they will not interfere if order is maintained, and the Essen authories have cautioned the population against demonstrations.

COMPETITION WAS HELD BY SCHOLARS

Omemee School Had a Bird-House Contest Lasting Two Weeks.

OMEMEE, April 4.—A great deal of interest was displayed among the scholars of the junior room before the Easter vacation commenced when the teacher, Miss Hart, put on a Bird House competition, which lasted two weeks. There was a great array of houses, many of which were very artistically designed and a credit to such small builders. The following boys were awarded the prizes: 1st, Gordon Parsons; 2nd, Arthur Williamson; 3rd, Walter Lloyd; 4th, Willie Fisher.

Mr. Meritt Bradburn has secured a position in the local Branch of the Bank of Toronto and commenced his duties on Tuesday.

Rev. R. S. Scott, with his wife and family, left for their new home at Cannington on Monday, and were given a royal send-off at the Omemee station by their many friends here.

Rev. R. F. Stillman assisted in the Passion Week services at George Street Methodist church, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Allan Irvine, of Janetville, was a business visitor in town, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Davis were visitors to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. James Bruce of Woodville, a representative of the K. & S. Tire Co., was a business visitor in town last week.

Mr. Jermyn Palmer spent a few days in Belleville last week.

Mr. Alex. Ross of Lindsay, was in town on business Wednesday.

Miss Bertie Lamb of Toronto, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lamb, over the holiday.

Mrs. O. G. Williamson was a visitor to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. Bert Henderson of Toronto, spent a couple of days in town last week renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Stanley Laidley of Toronto, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Laidley over the holiday.

Mr. I. P. McNabb of Peterborough, was a business visitor in town on Thursday.

Mrs. T. A. MacPherson was a visitor to Peterborough on Saturday.

AT HASTINGS AND DISTRICT

Mrs. Michael Shaughnessy, One of Percy's Oldest Residents, Passes Away-News Paragraphs

HASTINGS, April 4.—Mrs. Michael Shaughnessy, one of Percy's oldest and most respected residents, passed away on Tuesday. She was a native of Percy and had resided on the property where she died, for many years, and although of a quiet and unassuming nature, she was favorably known to most residents of this vicinity, particularly the older generation. She leaves to mourn her loss three sons and two daughters. They are: Leo of Grand Rapids, Mich., James and Thomas at home, and Mrs. R. Mahoney of Campbellford and Mrs. M. Clancy, of Percy. The funeral will be held from her late residence in Percy on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock to the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, interment taking place in the R.C. cemetery.

Mr. J. G. Staples of Lindsay, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Tate.

Miss Marie Keogan left on Thursday for Windsor, where she has entered as nurse-in-training at the Hotel Dieu.

Mr. R. Walsh spent Tuesday in Peterborough.

Mr. Earl Hinton spent Tuesday in Campbellford.

Mr. W. Sym of Toronto, spent Wednesday in town

Mr. Harry Noonan was a visitor to Campbellford Tuesday.

Buy Proven Tire Performance

When you equip your car with Dominion Tires you know that the type of tire you buy has been tried and proven on the type and weight of car you drive.

That extra dependability and super-service which you get in Dominion Tires is the combined result of years of the best manufacturing experience and of thorough testing on a fleet of cars, maintained for that purpose by the Dominion Tire factory.

These cars, all different in type and weight, travel fully loaded, practically every day in the year, in all weathers over every kind of road — 75 per cent of them gravel roads. These tests accurately prove what a tire will do or not do. They are a sure guide to correct construction and materials.

FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL WILL ANALYZE EUROPE

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—European conditions as relating to world trade will be the theme around which the National Foreign Trade Councils tenth annual convention here on May 2, 3 and 4 will concentrate, according to an announcement made by O. K. Davis, secretary of the council.

"This subject is by all odds the overshadowing factor in our foreign trade and domestic prosperity today' said Mr. Davis. "In spite of all that has been said on the subject, there does not yet seem to be a clear understanding on the part which Europe plays in our daily life. More than one-half our exports are sent to Europe; more than one-third our exports come from Europe. Under such circumstances every man, woman and child in the United States is vitally interested in present European developments."

The first session on May 2 will be devoted almost exclusively to reports on the European situation and conditions, trade barriers and trading in the face of depressed exchange.

The May 3 session will take the farmers' interest in foreign trade, the need of foreign trade zones, and foreign trade facilities of the Federal Reserve System.

The inland waterway transportation, railroad service and the general shipping situation throughout the world will be subjects before the convention on May 4.

THE KEY.

"The haughty eye shall seek in vain
What innocence beholds;
No cunning finds the key of heaven,
No strength its gate unfolds.

"Alone to guilelessness and love
That gate shall open fall;
The mind of pride is nothingness,
The childlike heart is all."
—John G. Whittier.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"In what way?" he demanded, and pulled his horse up abruptly. He was vaguely distressed at her blunt statement, apprehensive as to the reason for her flushed face and flashing eye, the slightly strident note in her voice.

"I have regarded you as a true blue American—a super-patriot. And now you calmly plan to betray your state to the enemy for the paltry sum of half a million dollars!"

He stared at her, a variety of emotions in his glance. "Well," he replied, presently, "I suppose I shall deserve that, if I succeed with my plan. However, as a traitor, I'm not even a runner-up with your father. He's going to get a couple of million dollars as the price of his shame! And he doesn't even need the money. On the other hand, I am a desperate, mighty unhappy ex-soldier experiencing all of the delights of a bankrupt, with the exception of an introduction to the referee in bankruptcy. I'm whipped. Who cares what becomes of me? Not a soul on earth except Pablo and Carolina and they, poor creatures, are dependent upon me. Why should I sacrifice my last chance for happiness in a vain effort to stem a yellow tide that cannot be stemmed? Why do you taunt me with my aversion to sacrifice for my country—I who have sacrificed two years of my life and some of my blood and much of my happiness?"

Suddenly she put her little gauntleted hand up to her face and commenced to weep. "Oh, Don Mike, please forgive me! I'm sorry. I—I—have no right to demand such a sacrifice, but oh, I thought—perhaps—you were different from all the others—that you'd be a true—knight and die—sword in—hand—oh, dear, I'm such a—little ninny—" He bit his lower lip but could not quite conceal a smile.

"You mean you didn't think I was a quitter!" His voice was grim and crisp. "Well, in the dirty battle for bread and butter there are no decorations for gallantry in action; in that conflict I do not have to live up to the one that Congress gave me. And why shouldn't I quit? I come from a long line of combination fighter-quitters. We were never afraid of hardship or physical pain, danger or death, but—we couldn't face conditions; we walked and quit in the face of circumstance; we retired always before the economic onslaught of the Anglo-Saxon."

"Ah, but you're Anglo-Saxon," she sobbed. "You belong to the race that doesn't quit—that somehow muddles through."

"If I but possessed blue eyes and flaxin hair—if I but possessed the guerdon of a noble lady's love—I might not have disappointed you, Kay. I might still have been a true knight and died sword in hand. Unfortunately, however, I possess sufficient Latin blood to make me a little bit lazy—to counsel quitting while the quitting is good."

"I'm terribly disappointed," she protested. "Terribly."

"So am I. I'm ashamed of myself, but—a contrite heart is not hockable at the only pawnshop in El Toro. Buck up, Miss Parker!"

"You have called me Kay three times this afternoon, Miguel——"

He rode close to her, reached over and gently drew one little hand from her crimson face. "You're a dear girl, Kay," he murmured, huskily. "Please cease weeping. You haven't insulted me or even remotely hurt my little feelings. God bless your sweet soul. If you'll only stop crying, I'll give you Panchito. He's yours from this minute. Saddle and bridle, too. Take him. Do what you please with him, but for heaven's sake don't let your good mother think we've been quarreling—and on the very second day of our acquaintance."

She dashed the tears away and beamed up at him. "You give Panchito to me! You don't mean it!"

AN APPRECIATION OF REV. MACKENZIE

Presentation and Address in Knox Church Last Evening.

At the regular meeting of the officers and teachers of Knox Church Sunday School held in the church last evening, notice was taken of the departure of Rev. James A. MacKenzie to Guelph, and an address was presented on behalf of the Sunday School.

The address was as follows:

Dear Mr. MacKenzie: As this is the last regular meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday School before your departure from amongst us, we wish to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your work as one of us and as our leader. In considering the loss we are about to sustain in your departure to the field where you you believe you are being called to a greater sphere of service we do not think there is any department where you will be missed so much as in the Sunday School. We feel that teachers and scholars are suffering an almost irreparable loss.

In the Sunday School your great asset was a ready sympathy with the work of the teachers coming out of the heart of a boy. You understood the problems that beset the teacher, but you knew also the desires and ways of the children. Loved by the teachers and adored by the pupils, it is difficult for us to acknowledge that we must let you go.

Since, however, the command from Him whom you serve calls you to enter another field, we rejoice that we have had the benefit of your presence and work for the past eight happy and successful years. And in leaving us you are not forsaking us. The work to which you gave such an impetus cannot stop. It is said that the richest bequest which any man can leave to the youth of his land, is that of a shining, spotless example. This you have left with the children of our Sunday School, and it is a light which shall never be obscured.

The teachers of the school have benefitted to a wonderful extent through your ministry. With your example, who could refuse to put forward an endeavour to capture the young people? With the high standard of hard work set before us by you, how could we hang back? We have felt very often our inability to follow in the very high plane you set up, but in all our failures we knew that we had a sympathetic leader.

The Officers and Teachers of Knox Sunday School unite in offering you this small memento of a band of men and women who have benefitted immeasurably by your faithful ministry to the teachings of Christ and your example of the life He expects of those who take upon them the work of spreading His gospel. We wish you continued success in the great task to which you are addressed, and our prayers for you will be that your arm may be strengthened and your spirit upheld that you may be abundantly used in bringing many souls within the understanding of the love of God. We would extend our good wishes to your family, and pray that your own children may prove a blessing to you, who have done so much for ours."

The address was read by Miss Margaret McIntyre; and Mrs. Robert Cruickshanks, on behalf of the teachers and officers presented Mr. MacKenzie with a writing desk set. The address was signed by Mable Crocker, H. J. McCannon and Harry Hobson ant Sanderson. Any alleged conversations or admissions made by the plaintiff later are not sufficiently proved, or in any case sufficient to lead me to change my conclusion. All the circumstances and action of the parties are more in harmony with the plaintiff's theory than that of the defendant, although the contract as alleged by either party was hopelessly incomplete and improvident.

The presentation came as a great suprise to Mr. MacKenzie but in his usual happy way he thanked the teachers and officers, and conveyed his good wishes for the continued success of the Sunday School.

Judgment must therefore go for the plaintiff, directing the car that has been under seizure since the 9th of November, 1922, to be delivered over to him at such time and place as he may indicate, and in as good condition as it was when seized. If any question arises as to this last matter, it may be spoken to again.

Now as to damages. There is no doubt that the mere fact of seizure of the plaintiff's car implies some damage. The plaintiff and his witnesses have put up a strong case and have claimed very serious and extensive damages. I think part of the damage claim is to oremote to be considered by me ,and other parts of the claim extravagant. The plaintiff has not been without damage in the matter, but I do not think he is entitled to nearly as much as claimed. I fixe the damages at $100.00, and judgment will therefore go for the plaintiff for the re-delivery of the car as above mentioned and the sum of $100.00 damages, with costs of the action.

The judgment will be against both the defendants, but the defendant Pearson, being the agent or employee of Sanderson, will be entitled to indemnity from Sanderson, and this may be so specifically declared if necessary or considered advisable."

(Sgd.) E .C. HUYCKE,
Judge.

A SOCIAL EVENING.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 4. — (Canadian Press).—The egg market is quiet after the holiday season and practically unchanged. United States eggs are now well cleared and the trade is depending entirely upon the home product. Immediate consumption demand is heavy and production at present is not much more than is required to meet this demand. Ontario country shippers report paying stores and producers 22 to 25, and making sales at 26 to 28 f.o.b.

Toronto jobbing specials 35, extras 33 to 34, firsts 30 to 32.

Montreal local fresh 31 to 32, States fresh 30.

Winnipeg quotations to producers and shippers 21 to 23 delivered, jobbing extras 28, firsts 26, seconds 24.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—The trade in grain in the domestic cash market was quiet yesterday. The condition of the flour market was unchanged. Demands for most lines of millfeed continues good, but the rolled oats market was slow. Prices remain steady in the baled hay market. A steady feeling prevails in eggs. A more favorable trade prevails in potatoes. The undertone to the butter market is firmer but there is almost no business in cheese.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 4.—(Canadian Press).—Receipts 370 cattle and calves and 330 hogs.

There was considerable activity on the cattle market yesterday morning and the moderate offerings available were well cleaned up at prices generally steady to strong over the close of Monday.

The hog market was unsettled. Early bidding opened steady at 10.25, but indications are that prices will again strengthen before the close of the market.

THRILLING SCENES IN COMING PHOTOPLAY

A film version of one of the most exciting sea stories of recent years is Metro's production, "All the Brothers Were Valiant," based on the story of the same name by Ben Ames Williams. In its screen form it comes to the Capitol Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Those who have read Mr. Williams' powerful whaling story cannot but remember it as an unusually vivid and thrilling tale. It has all the elements which go to make a thoroughly entertaining photoplay. It should be one of the season's biggest pictures.

There is a thrilling whale hunt, shown with remarkable fidelity; a bitter battle aboard ship, with two brothers temporarily on opposing sides; a search for pearls under adventurous circumstances; as well as many other episodes which should keep any audience constantly thrilled.

In the cast are several players whose abilities should make the leading characterizations especially vivid. Lou Chaney is seen in the role of Mark Shore, a scheming, crafty seaman, whose sudden disappearance from his ship is for a long time an unsolved mystery; Joel Shore is his brother, captain of the schooner which Mark himself once commanded. As played by Malcolm McGregor, this part is acted with genuine skill and power. This delightful actress, Billie Dove, is the only feminine player of any importance in the cast. She appears as Priscilla, the wife of Joel, and she takes part in the adventurous proceedings which form the main part of the story.

RETRIAL OF MOTOR CASE

Former Automobile Agents Demand Payment of Robert Biglow's Note Given for a Car

The re-trial of the action of Mahood and Havery, former automobile dealers, Peterboro, against Robert Biglow, of Cavan, for $1,300 given under a lien agreement in the purchase of a car was begun in the County Court before Judge Huycke late Tuesday afternoon.

C. R. Widdifield appeared as solicitor for the plaintiffs, with R. R. Hall, K.C., as counsel and G. N. Gordon, K.C., represented the defendant.

Mahood and Havery, whose salesrooms were on Simcoe Street, made an assignment to creditors in August, 1921. In the spring Biglow had discussed an automobile deal, and negotiations culminated with his purchase from the plaintiffs of an extra special Columbia "Six" for $3,050. He paid $550 in cash and traded in an Overland at $900 and a Mitchell at $900, giving a promissory note for the balance of $1,300. Biglow had subsequently refused to pay the note, claiming that the condition of the extra special Columbia had been misrepresented to him. He had understood that it had been used as a demonstration car and had been run 2,500 miles. He bought it in Toronto and had the original speedometer removed in order that it would appear an entirely new car to his neighbors.

Mr. Biglow said he thought the car was all right and none the worse for its use in demonstrations. He relied on the assurances that the car was as represented to him. Some time after his return home the car came under the observation of Mr. Urry, former garage man and automobile dealer at Millbrook, who told the defendant that the car had been re-varnished.

Mr. Hall suggested that from the outset Mr. Urry had disparaged the Columbia car, which Mr. Biglow finally traded to him last year for a Ford Sedan. It is now in the possession of Mr. McGill, town clerk, Millbrook. It was intimated that the Mitchell automobile for which the defendant was allowed $300 by Mahood and Havery sold later for $50, and the Overland which accounted for $900 in the Columbia deal was knocked down for $250 in Toronto.

When the Mitchell was accepted at Biglow's home in Cavan by Mr. Havery he was unable to start it and had to tow it into Peterboro.

Biglow claimed that in the original transaction he was promised the privilege of turning in the Columbia special, if he was not satisfied with it, for a coupe or a sedan, allowing him the amount he had paid on the special. Within three weeks, he said, he applied for an exchange but was unable to obtain it. Biglow said the car seemed to run satisfactorily but he did not use it last year.

Leo Ackford and O. Urry, Millbrook, were called as automobile experts by Mr. Gordon. The former acknowledged that his examination of the car had been superficial, but his observations led him to believe that it had travelled farther than 2,500 miles.

Mr. Urry estimated the value of the car at from $1,000 to $1,200 at the time of the former trial. Since then he had "taken down" the car. He gave in detail the finding of his vivisection or post-mortem, and summed it up with the opinion that the car had run about 20,000 miles when he saw it.

Mr. Urry is now the Ford representative at Beaverton. He said the Columbia had been re-sold to Mr. McGill for $850 after it had been overhauled.

Witness said that Mr. M. J. Duffus of the Duffus Motor Sales had put through the deal by which Mr. Biglow acquired a Ford sedan. To Mr. Hall he said he did not depreciate the car to Mr. Biglow, but he did wish to make the best bargain he could.

The case is continuing this afternoon.

Conditions could be worse. There are always more troubles we haven't than troubles we have.

GHOULS ROB GRAVES OF DONS OF JEWELS

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—(United Press).—Activities of grave robbers in past centuries, who looted the pyramids of the Nile of their rich ornaments buried with the Pharoahs, have been duplicated here with the tombs of the Spanish dons and senoritas of early California history.

Ghouls have robbed over fifty tombs in the old Spanish cemetery on Mission Road, a recent investigation revealed.

The old cemetery, now abandoned, is one of the garden spots of the city. Within are groves of eucalyptus, acacia and pepper trees. The vegetation, long untrimmed, has given the burial ground a forlorn but still beautiful appearance.

It was the custom to bury the jewels and personal belongings of the dead in early California and the graveyard, containing the remains of hundreds of the wealthy old Spanish families, has become the treasure trove for ghouls. Authorities, who were notified recently of the robbery of the grave of a senorita, member of the old Dominguez family, have bent every effort to jail the perpetrators of the grisly robberies, but so far their efforts have been unavailing.

So many of the graves were opened and robbed that the Spanish colony appropriated a sum of money to employ a night watchman. A checkup revealed fifty graves have been opened in the past 20 years and old residents estimate the loot stolen at $200,000.

The graveyard contains 2,000 dead, all of whom were more or less prominent during the Spanish regime in California.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

On account of several people wanting to know why Louis' Cafe was closed, I am making the following explanations:

Those two young men bought the business and did their very best to make it a success, but on account of the hard times at present they found it impossible to do so. The overhead expense was very heavy. They employed seven persons, three Canadians and four Greeks, and whether busy or not, this help had to be paid. Other restaurants may do with less help, but they have been trained to work longer hours than our people. Mr. Yeotes, on account of his spending $10,000 on the place, will give the opportunity to any Peterborough man or lady to rent the place for a confectionery or bake shop, all the outfit being suitable for that business. Some fixtures which are not required will be taken out and sold, also Mr. Yeotes will give all possible help. The rent is very reasonable. Further particulars, see Mr. Louis Yeotes.

BUILD WORLD'S TALLEST DAM.

MODESTO, Calif., April 4.—The tallest dam in the world has just been built here by the farmers of two California irrigation districts.

Where walk the ghosts of the old gold-diggers of Bret Harte tales a crew of 500 engineers and laborers under the direction of D. H. Duncanson now are completing this monument to "white gold."

How did the farmers do it?

The landowners of Turlock and Modesto counties got together and voted. They bonded themselves for $5,000,000. And a year ago they started pouring concrete.

The result is a dam 32 feet high, 1080 feet across and 170 feet through at the base.

In this feat farmers the nation over have a lesson in how they may co-operatively band together to free themselves from the private water-supply magnates.

"Public ownership of water? We'll say so," shout the California farmers who doubtless will be known as America's greatest pioneers of self-owned energy.

The Don Pedro project, as this undertaking is called, means the impounding of 300,000 acre feet of water to feed the alfalfa fields and melon patches when the dry days of late summer come.

And it also will mean 50,000 acres of reclaimed land in the prosperous Turlock district.

Electric Power, Too.

And farmers will gain from it not only water for their lands but also their own electric energy—poled down to their power-houses, lighting their homes and dairies, turning their churns and putting back into their pockets the money expended on the dam.

Down through a power-house developing 16,000 horsepower of electricity the chained waters will flow and then will go on to turn valley sand into the richest dairy and melon land of the country.

For several weeks the big power-house at the foot of the dam, developing 16,000 horsepower of electricity, has been completed and "juice" is being delivered to the districts in competition with the power companies.

Enthusiasts see at no distant date the delivery of cheap power that will aid the farmer in solving the drainage problem and be an incentive to manufacturers to locate here.

Don Pedro dam is the greatest impounding bulwark ever built. It is greater than the famous Roosevelt dam, although it has never received an iota of the advertising given that big structure. Practically unknown, still it stands ready to insure its district against loss of crops.

INDIANS APPEAR FOR TRIAL TODAY

An Array of Redskins in Magistrate Langley's Court-Well Represented

Indians from the Curve Lake and Alderville reserves crowded the county police court this afternoon for the trial of twelve braves charged with offences against the Game and Fisheries Act involving the Indians' claim that they are exempt from the effects of that statute.

On another charge John Knott was accused of having on March 14, assaulted Ira Toole, Lindsay, game overseer, in the prosecution of his duty. The Indians were represented by F. D. Kerr, K.C., J. F. Strickland and Joseph Wearing and G. W. Hatton K.C. for the Crown.

Stating the position of the Indian tribes, Mr. Kerr said they believed they had the right to fish and were not bound by the provisions of the Fish and Game Act.

"They say they never surrendered their fishing rights, and that the same never became subject to governmental execution of authority, so far as they are concerned. They are engaged in trying to procure full information regarding the treaties between His Majesty's government and Indians in days gone by.

"The late war was fought for the exact honoring of treaties and as the Indians have proved themselves loyal subjects they feel that the treaties should be loyally observed."

Mr. Wearing expressed the view that the Indians' rights had been gradually infringed until they might be eliminated altogether. He believed it was a matter that should go before the Privy Council.

Mr. Hatton referred to the judgment of Mr. Justice Riddell in the case of Sero vs. Galt of the Brant Reserve which he contended virtually decided that the Indians were subject to all the laws of this country, the same as other citizens.

Magistrate Langley agreed to an adjournment of fifteen minutes to permit the solicitors for the Indians to consult together and read authorities on the issue.

The Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries was represented by H. G. Cox, inspector, of Toronto, and District Inspector R. W. Carson of Peterboro and I. Toole of Lindsay.

Mr. Kerr suggested an adjournment of the cases in order that the precedents might be fully investigated and thereby that the Indians would be assured that the question was decided upon ample study.

"We might have to advise our clients contrary to what they would want us to advise them", Mr. Kerr said. "I want to be in the position to tell my clients whether or not I saw any redress for them in what to them is a very important matter. The hunting of game and fishing of fish is as important to the Indians as plowing and tilling the ground are important to the white people.

Mr. Wearing: in a measure this is a test case, and on that ground a very important case.

Mr. Langley: If I find this case on all fours with that of Sero vs. Galt, you don't think I'd reverse Mr. Justice Riddell's judgment?

Mr. Wearing: No. I don't think so; but I don't think the cases are on all fours.

Mr. Wearing read the following letter from Mr. Dodson, missionary at the Alderville Reserve:

Alderville, Ont., April 3, 1923.

The Presiding Judge or Magistrate, Peterboro, Ont.:

Re Alleged Violations of Game Laws:

Sir: I beg to state the case of certain Indians that have been summoned to appear before you for alleged violations of the Provincial Game laws.

The Indians of Alderville have been hard put this winter because of the epidemic of flu that has been in the village for several weeks. One man whose wife has been in bed since Christmas has not been able to get out to earn money. Another has been confined to his house for a month or so on account of illness in his home. Another has had flu in his home besides the illness of his wife. With so much sickness in the village among the people these men could not get out to work. They were working before the epidemic broke out.

Now, when they were down on the lake fishing to provide food for their tables they were apprehended. Is it not the right by treaty that the Indian people may fish where and whenever they wish for their own table. This is how I understand the treaty rights.

Trusting that this statement may help you in the summing up of the matter, I am, respectfully yours,

FRED J. DODSON,
Missionary-Teacher.

Mr. Wearing contended that the Alderville Indians were catching fish on their reservation and to supply the needs of their table. He said that this was an inviolable right.

Magistrate Langley decided to proceed with the hearing and arraigned Alex. Knott, of the Curve Lake Reserve, on a charge of having black bass in his possession during the closed season.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(Special.)—Stocks generally continued to-day the upward trend that developed in the market in the late trading yesterday, but the advances were in no case remarkable. Speculative sentiment showed a decided reversal as a result of the recovery in both industrial and railroad average in yesterday's session and prices were steady at the start of trading.

No new developments occurred over night to give impetus to trading which was quiet in the fifteen minutes.

Prices in main body of stocks continued to display a steady tone in the first hour and fresh forward movements were started in individual issues.

Persistent strength in General Motors, which held in a half point range throughout the recent break furnished the basis for an outburst of buying in Dupont, which spurted to 122 3-8 against Tuesday's low of 117 1-4. Maxwell Motors reached a new high on the movement at 6z 3-8 and the B. stock at 20 3-4.

Professional operators have favoured the short side over the last two or three weeks.

It has been the kind of a market that attracted short selling with the result that a larger short interest is apparent.

Several pools of long standing are preparing for an active campaign in their respective stocks and several new bull pools recently were formed.

Trading was relatively quiet in the second hour. Stocks appeared to be adjusting themselves following the sharp decline earlier in the week and few developments of speculative interest took place before noon.

One was a three point break in Westinghouse Electric, which dropped to 58 5-8 on the announcement of the offering of $14,960,530 additional common stock at 53.

A recovery of more than a point ensued when Chairman Trypp explained that the proceeds of the issues were needed to handle the company's volume of orders.

With the stock at 60 rights connected with the offering are about $1.13.

Willis Overland Preferred was a feature of strength, advancing to a new high for the year at 66 7-8 against Tuesday's low of 60 1-2.

FIGHT ON THE ICE RECALLED BY WITNESSES

A Frying Pan Said to Have Been Used to Subdue the Defendant—The Evidence.

INDIAN TESTIFIES

On examination by Crown Attorney E. W. Hatton, Carl Hill, liveryman of Bobcaygeon testified that on the 14th March last he drove Mr. Ira Toole on the ice on Pigeon Lake, and knew that he was a Game and Fishery Inspector.

Q.—Did you see the row between two men?

A.—Yes. Mr. Toole got out of the cutter and grabbed the rope of a hand sled that Mr. Knott, the defendant, had and asked him how his luck was. He then told Knott he wanted to see what was on the sled.

Q.—What did Knott do?

A.—He gave the rope a jerk and jerked it out of Mr. Toole's hand. Knott said Mr. Toole was not going to see what was on the sled.

Q.—Describe what happened after this.

A.—Mr. Toole caught the sled again and said leave it there, that was what he was there for. Knott hit Mr. Toole with a stick, and Mr. Toole warded off the blow with his arm. Mr. Toole reached down and got a frying pan that was on Knott's sled and hit Knott on the head with it. Knott then grabbed the shovel from the sled and raised it up when Toole went in and took it from him Knott then took a chisel that was on the sled, and told Toole he wanted the shovel. He brought the chisel back over his shoulder in a threatening way. It was 5 or 6 feet long, and the metal part was 6 or 7 inches long and was sharp. Mr. Toole gave up the shovel and John Knott and D'Arcy Knott, who was with him went away. When John Knott lifted up the chisel D'Arcy Knott was behind Mr. Toole with a club and said to "get out of there." The Knotts took their sled and all the implements straight across to the East shore. The whole thing lasted about 10 minutes.

Q—What did you do then?

A.—We went to see other Indians.

Cross-examined by Mr. F. D. Kerr, the witness gave the following answers:

Q.—You knew Mr. Toole was going to lay a complaint?

A.—Yes.

Q.—He told you what he remembered about the event on the way back?

A.—Yes.

Q.—You mentioned the trial when you met him yesterday.

TREATY TO REPLACE THAT OF VERSAILES IN VIEW

Said President Harding Will Ask That an International Congress Be Called at Washington in Co-operation With U.S. Senate—Form New Association of Nations.

LONDON, April 5. — (United Press.) — President Harding will soon announce that his campaign for re-election is based upon Lord Robert Cecil's plan for world peace, the Daily Sketches' Washington correspondent states he has been informed by an official of the White House.

The correspondent says Mr. Harding will ask that an international congress be called at Washington for the purpose of drawing up, in co-operation with the United States' Senate, a treaty to replace that of Versailles, the correspondent declared.

The Sketch says a new Association of Nations in which the United States will participate full be formed.

TEN INDIANS CLAIMED SPECIAL PRIVILEGES IN HUNTING AND FISHING

Arraigned in County Police Court, They Took the Position That Under Old Treaties With the British Crown They Were Granted Certain Rights, Superseding the Country's Statutes.

CASE IS ENLARGED FOR THREE WEEKS

Six Indians from the Alderville reserve and four from Chemong declined to plead when arraigned in the county police court before Magistrate Langley on Wednesday afternoon for catching fish out of season contrary to the game and fish laws of Ontario.

On the advice of their solicitors they took the position that under old treaties with the British Crown they were granted certain rights to hunt and fish, which they regarded as traditional privileges superseding the statutes of this country. In a sense they denied by silence the jurisdiction of the court on this question and, when the evidence was put in, the hearing was adjourned until Wednesday, April 25th, when the law pertaining to the issue will be argued. The enlargement for three weeks was assented to by Magistrate Langley to enable the Indians and their agents and solicitors to prepare their case by obtaining all the available revelant information from the Dominion Government and other sources.

The accused Indians were charged in two groups. The men from Chemong, John Tobico, David Jacobs, Amos Johnston and Thomas Taylor, were charged with having caught fish in Chemong Lake on March 14th during the closed season, and the Alderville section, George Gray, John Simpson, Alfred Simpson, Isaac Beaver, Willard Smoke and Noah Smoke, with having taken fish from Rice Lake on March 2nd.

Joseph Wearing defended the Aldervile braves, J. F. Strickland those from Chemong, and F. D. Kerr, K. C., appeared for Alex. Knott, who was accused of having black bass in his possession, and John Knott, who was alleged to have assaulted Fish Inspector Ira Toole, of Lindsay, on March 14th on Pigeon Lake.

The case against Alex. Knott was first tried and was dismissed for lack of evidence; and the hearing of John Knott was adjourned until this morning after the evidence of Inspector Toole was put in.

The proceedings of the afternoon were interrupted several times to permit of conferences between counsel for the purposes of agreeing upon certain expeditious details by which the repetition of evidence was obviated. In the Chemong case the evidence against Thomas Taylor was taken first and then accepted against the other three men from that reserve without the tedium of hearing the witnesses called by Crown Attorney Hatton, K.C.

Similiar dispatch shortened the procedure in dealing with the Aldervile sextette, Mr. Wearing admitting the charge that they had caught fish in Rice Lake and resting the case upon the argument which he expected to be able to present when the trail is resumed on April 25th.

Upon the unsupported statement of Wm. Henthorn that he had found two parcels of cleaned fish which looked like bass in the possession of Alex Knott in front of the Windsor hotel, Magistrate Langley promptly dismissed that charge. The court then turned its attention to Thomas Taylor, the Indian who was credited with having pulled a 16 1-2

Man Cut His Throat With a Razor While He Was Fast Asleep

LONDON, April 5.—(United Press.)—The first instance of a man committing suicide while asleep, was revealed Wednesday at a coroner's inquest over the death of William Bond, a painter.

Bond's sister testified that while walking in his sleep he hammered her on the head with a club and later slashed his throat with a razor while dozing in a chair.

"It is possible," said the coroner, "that a man in the state of somnambulism is guided by some sixth sense."

WHAT J. W. WORTH SAID AT MEETING

Mr. Worth Considers Peterboro Will Get Greater Value From Combined School.

The following letter from J. W. Worth, of the Board of Education speaks for itself.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In your report on the Board of Education proceedings you have misquoted me in the discussion of the proposed extension to the Collegiate Institute.

You say in a couple of places that I claim that the combined extension could be built for $310,000. This I did not say, but I did say that the combined extension could be built at a cost to the citizens of $310,000. In saying this I was taking into consideration the government grant of $140,000. There is a vast difference between saying that the building could be built for $310,000, and that it could be built at a cost to the citizens of $310,000. The actual cost of the combined school including expropriated land was really being figured by me at a cost of $450,000, minus the government grant of $140,000, which would be $310,000. Whatever proposition in purely Collegiate extension is taken into Consideration, that is the eight room extension at $215,000 which would only take care of the present needs, or the thirteen room extension at $290,000 which will take care of future needs in purely academic education, the citizens will have to pay the full amount.

Therefore, I claim that if purely academic extension had been passed by the Board, allowing for future growth the cost of $290,000, would have been involved for the citizens with only $290,000, worth of value in buildings and lands whereas in the accepted proposition of the combined school only $310,000 will be involved for the citizens for $450,000 worth of value in lands and buildings. You can, therefore, easily see upon what I based my claim, that there is only a difference of $20,000 between the two propositions, for both propositions are made to allow for future growth.

As the ratepayers were given a wrong impression of my argument in you report of the proceedings, I hope you will give this letter the same prominence that was given to the report.

Yours truly,
J. W. WORTH.

THE ARMENIAN RELIEF NEEDS ARE REVEALED

Address Last Evening in Trinity Church by Rev. A. J. Vining, D.D.—Officers Named.

WANT A PRESIDENT

Rev. A. J. Vining, D.D., secretary of the Armenian Relief Association in Canada, in an address to between a hundred and fifty and two hundred people at Trinity Church last evening, gave a stirring and forceful address on the sufferings of Armenian people at the hands of "the unspeakable Turk." In forceful, vivid language, with an authoritative, rapid delivery, the speaker told of the miseries of those of whom he said: "No nation in history has suffered like the Armenians. It has been a martyr nation for almost three thousand years. The woes and sorrows and pains of a million years seem to have been poured into the heart of Armenia during the last half century."

Persecuted For Generations.

"In 1895 and 1896, well within the recollection of many here, the Turks put to death 200,000 Armenians. Mr. Gladstone, in his 86th year, denounced this ruthlessness, and made an appeal to humanity in rhetoric which stirred the world. But nations in their mad rush for military supremacy forgot the Armenians, and the Sultan laughed in contempt. In the next thirteen years, there was not a day the Armenians were not done to death.

"In 1908 an optimistic note was sounded by the writers of two continents. The young Turks, great reformers, had arisen, and put away the Sultan. They acclaimed the Armenians brothers. They went to the graveyards and professed to shed tears for the Armenians that had been murdered. They went into the Christian churches and professed to pay a tribute to the Armenians' religion and the Armenians' Christ. The sword next year at Adana revealed the devilish camouflage when 30,000 Armenians were done to death. The Armenians cried to heaven that there had a new master more to be dreaded than the former one."

Continuing, Dr. Vining recalled that the other nations had been roused to the point of insisting that two representatives of these should go to Turkey to see that the Armenians were spared atrocities and accorded justice. Scarcely were the two appointed, from Holland and Sweden, when the World War gave the Turks the occasion they had been awaiting through the centuries, the opportunity to exterminate the Armenians. The representatives from the other nations were ordered out of Constantinople, and the Turk, uncurbed, had his way.

Killed All in Sight.

"Deliberately, systematically," said Dr. Vining, "the Turks set about answering their own Mahommedan prayer, 'Oh, Allah, destroy the infidels; oh, Allah, make their children orphans.' They destroyed regardless of age and sex. They called in the Armenian soldiers and sent them into labor battalions. They compelled them to dig pits, then slew them. They killed them first with bullets, then with clubs, spades, pickaxes, because this method was cheaper. The strong men who would have defended families were soon wiped out.

"All through the spring of 1915 deportations took place. People were obliged to leave the homes that had belonged to their families 2,500 years. They started on the long, weary, desolate march to the Arabian desert. Death haunted them all the way and laughed at their misery, mocked at their pain. Then Death took a million in his arms.

"When they reached the mountains they were attacked by criminals released from prisons for the purpose.

"The infamous order of Talaat Bey, Minister of the Interior, issued on September 16, 1915, that the entire Armenian population was to be exterminated, was carried out deliberately and systematically. For a whole month bodies of Armenians floated down the Euphrates River to the Persian Gulf; they were put in wooden buildings, which were soaked with oil and the torch applied; thousands were robbed of clothing and shoes and sent, without food or water, to madness in the desert; their beautiful women were outraged and sent to Turkish harems, that fate which is a living death."

Association For Relief.

In 1917, a Canadian Armenian Relief Association was formed; which has since secured a Dominion charter. Its aim is to help the 250,000 Armenian orphans to snatch them from the hands of the Turk and to turn them into good Canadian citizens.

Mention was made of the fact that Mr. John G. Kent, manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, is chairman of the Canadian Executive Committee.

With permission of the Dominion Government, the plan of the Armenian Relief Committee of Canada is to bring a limited number of Armenian children, all orphans, to Canada and train them to be agriculturists. The condition of the Government is that they shall all be

BY THE POUND HERE INSTEAD OF A MEASURE

New Act Relating to Vegetables is Now in Force Here—May be Applied to Eggs.

HOW IT WORKS

The gentleman who edits "Wise and Otherwise" remarked recently that it was probably the crookedness of the corkscrew which resulted in its banishment. Having been intimately connected with certain liquid refreshment for many years, perhaps this was so. But how then is one to explain the sentence just passed on the "dry" measure; rapidly sinking into oblivion?

Nowadays, one doesn't if one wishes to be quite up-to-date, ask for a peck of potatoes or a head of cabbage or a bunch of carrots. One asks for so many pounds of these excellent things, and the yearning to standardize measurements has extended as far as fruits and is spreading also in the direction of eggs. Hereafter, the barnyard cacklers' activities will not be measured by the number of eggs they lay in a given time, but by the weight of their product. A recent experiment in comparative weights of eggs in different sizes revealed the fact that one dozen weighed two pounds, two ounces, while the second twelve tipped the scale at four pounds and six ounces.

The new legislation embodied in the Roots and Vegetables Act which has recently come into effect in Peterboro and elsewhere, is not meeting with any apparent opposition from those stores which are most concerned with its ruling that vegetables shall be sold only by the pound weight in future, instead of by dry measurement. Several of the local stores have been selling in this way for months past, and one local street grocer has applied the same principle to bananas. A great source of complaint at any time was the inequality of the bananas sold in the past, a buyer, unless particularly watchful, being open to receiving several runty specimens in a purchase of a dozen. One way of getting around the difficulty adopted by some merchants was to sell the larger fruit at the bottom of the stalk for a different price than that charged for the small sizes, but the practise of selling them by the pound seems fairer all 'round. It may lead in time even to experimenting as in the case of grape-fruit, in a thin-skinned variety, to meet the demand for more fruit and less covering.

A difficulty that confronts some feminine purchasers is that of quantity. They know well enough just how many carrits or potatoes they will get out of peck measure, but they are not sure just how many pounds of either would be necessary for a dinner for the family, and they don't quite understand, either, the reason why a pound of carrots should be two or three cents different in cost to a pound of parsnips, nor just why there are varying weights, such as parsnips, which come twelve pounds to the peck; beets, carrots, turnips and onions, which average twelve and a half pounds, and potatoes, which are fifteen pounds to the peck. By the old system of dry measure, the public might be easily mulcted for a level peck measure of potatoes would often weight only twelve pounds.

Grading of potatoes is another innovation under way, by which these vegetables will be tagged to show name, weight and quality.

Bought and sold by the pound weight, the wart on the potato will now be powerless to increase the air space for which the buyer paid in former days.

GRENFELL APPEALS TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

"Things are in a worse condition this year on this part of the Coast than ever they were, and I dread the coming winter with its poverty. Few families have caught any fish, east of Fortean, and some have no flou even!!! I am up against a brick wall."

The poverty of the people of Labrador throughout the past winter, which is depicted in the foregoing lines, is the cause of much more sickness than usual, and the hospitals will be filled to their utmost capacity. Will the children of the Sunday School please remember the orphans, who are more numerous this year? The Grenfell Mission is taking the entire responsibility of the Cartwright School Orphange, which means 43 more children to provide for this year.

REPORT ORIGIN OF FIRE IN TURNBULL BUILDING

Fire Marshall Jordan and Fire Chief Satisfied That Blaze Had Been in Incipient State for Two Months and Was Subsequently Fanned by Fortuitous Atmospheric Conditions.

That the fire which partially destroyed the J. C. Turnbull Co. departmental store on Saturday last had been burning in an incipient state for two months and was awakened to the destructive nature it assumed by fortuitous conditions, was the finding of the Deputy Fire Marshal and Fire Chief George Gimblett yesterday.

The smoke pipe from the boilers passed within a few inches of a massive beam, and the continual heat charred this beam until it was in just the right condition to take fire. This it did on Saturday morning, and the blaze worked along the beam to the window and to the interior of the store, being confined to the beam by the mill construction and wire which encased the wood. This explains why more damage was not done in the basement.

Answering the question as to why the fire broke out at this particular time, the Deputy Fire Marshal explained that conditions were just right for it to do so. The boiler fire had been let out on Thursday and the building had gradually chilled until the atmospheric conditions were such as to cause the smouldering beam to blaze.

As to the fire on the second floor, which appeared to have no connection with the first floor fire, the investigators found that in the millinery department on the second floor there were several boxes of hat shapes covered with a glue-like shellac. The intense heat from the fire below melted this shellac and there was spontaneous combustion. This fire rapidly spread in the fragile goods in that section of the store.

PRACTICAL EFFECTS CANADIAN LAW ON EVERY-DAY AFFAIRS

Clever Sketch by F. D. Kerr, K. C., Outlining Legal Influences That May Not Be Seen and Recognized by Men Whose Business Orbits Seldom Touch the Beaten Paths of Lawyers.

A CONCISE ADDRESS TO CITY'S YOUNG MEN

One of the high lights in the first season's meetings of the Young Men's Section of the Chamber of Commerce, was the address last night by Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., on the subject of the Canadian system of courts of justice. Ranging cursorily from ancient times to the present, Mr. Kerr sketched the evolution of law courts, and dwelt at some length upon the various branches and their jurisdictions. His treatment was concise and lucid with pointed observations upon the practical effects of the law on every day affairs, influences that may not be perceived and recognized by men whose business orbits perhaps seldom touch the beaten paths of lawyers. The clear and simple presentation followed by Mr. Kerr made a deep impression upon the new members and delighted the regulars who are endeavoring to establish the Junior Chamber as an asset for the young men of the city, who have latent civic interests, and as an organization that will develop the members and at the same time become a helpful and constructive factor in Peterboro.

Mr. F. J. Overend presided, and following the policy of enlisting the abilities of the members, Mr. T. H. Taylor gave an interesting talk on the history of life insurance, and Mr. J. K. Sheehy spoke on the building and construction industry.

The nominating committee reported the election of the following executive: Messrs. M. A. Fitzgerald, L. Frazer, D. Loucks, G. D. McClelland A. H. Munro, F. J. Overend, J. K. Sheehy, and C. M. Thornton.

The King's Court.

With a prefatory remark that law protects life and property and enables the great systems of commerce to be carried on, Mr. Kerr said that in olden times, the King sat in his royal court to administer justice, and the people assembled in the King's Court to receive law. Gradually as the nation expanded the King had to appoint representatives who were his judges. One of these judges was the Chancellor, the keeper of the King's conscience, who was instructed to see that things were done along equitable lines where the hard policy of settled law might cause injustice.

Three branches of law, Mr. Kerr continued, were civil, criminal and also the municipal statutes or police regulations.

In the civil category might be a matter of a line fence or a question of money in which no crime or sense of wrong doing was involved. And in the municipal list were such regulations as the direction of traffic. The courts were like large well organized factories or departmental stores. Certain courts dealt with certain problems and principles. If a man goes to his lawyer with a claim for $200 he is told he will have to go into the Division Court, but if he says that he was run down by some one and claims more than $120 he will have to go into the County Court.

New German Order To Resist French By Armed Measures

ESSEN, April 5.— (Canadian Press.)— A German secret organization, known as "Steel Helmet," is becoming increasingly active in various parts of the Ruhr, according to the French intelligence service.

The organization's headquarters are said to be in this city, and the French claim that its object is to prepare for armed measures against the French. Nationalists are said to be financing the organization.

Couldn't Bribe Court Officers

F. D. Kerr's Experience With American Friends of Prisoner Who Thought They Were at Home.

Calling up from his practice of law an experience which he had remembered as an unwitting but emphatic tribute to the administration of justice in this country, Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., in his address to the Young Men's Section of the Chamber of Commerce, related the incident to point his assertion that, in law courts as in business, capacity without honesty leads to destruction.

"I was called upon to defend an American on trial. Some friends of his came over from Buffalo. One represented herself as his wife and the other as his mother-in-law. They thought that he had fallen in with evil companions wo had led him astray, and were anxious that he should get off. One of them suggested that perhaps the Magistrate could be bought. I intimated that if they tried anything like that they'd be in Kingston quicker than their friend. The older woman asked me how about the Chief of Police. If some money was put in the way of the Chief when the prisoner was being brought down for trial, it would be an easy matter to arrange a chance of escape, she thought. I told them that Chief Roszel was built on the same lines as the Magistrate.

At last with a certain air of confidence the older woman said "Well, surely we can get the District Attorney?" (The District Attorney holds much the same position as our Crown Attorney.)

I said, "No! The Crown Attorney is perhaps as bad as the Magistrate and the Chief of Police rolled into one."

They stared at me for a moment, and the mother-in-law exclaimed—"Well, ain't this a hell of a country!"

"That was a tribute to the law and its enforcement in this country from a person who didn't know she was paying one," Mr. Kerr concluded.

"Every lawyer, every magistrate, every judge and chief constable, every citizen, has the right to take some degree of satisfaction and pride in the fact that that is the way criminals across the line regard our courts and the administration of justice as compared with their own."

A CONFERENCE NURSES OPENS THIS MORNING

One Hundred and Fifty Delegates From All Parts of Ontario—The President Ill.

KEY OF CITY

The 20th annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario, held for the first time in Peterborough, opened this morning at St. John's church parish hall, with an attendance approximating nearly one hundred and fifty members of the Association from all parts of Ontario. Owing to the illness of the president, Miss Ella Jamieson of Toronto, the meetings will be presided over by Mrs. A. C. Joseph, of London, first vice-president of the society. Miss B. L. Ellis of Toronto, is the efficient secretary-treasurer.

An invocation by Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., and an address of welcome by Mayor W. H. Taylor, opened the proceedings, followed by a brief tak from Dr. G. S. Cameron, taking the place of Dr. T. N. Greer. Dr. Cameron expressed his gratification at the holding by the nurses of their meetings in the smaller centres in the province, getting away from the idea that only large cities were proper meeting places for such conventions. Referring to the question of training schools, the doctor asserted his opinion, at the risk of being considered a "Bolshevist," that there was a tendency to over-train in some instances, and that the proper method was a high degree of training in practical work, with sufficient technical knowledge to round it out.

Mrs. Joseph acknowledged the kindness expressed in the speeches of the Mayor and Dr. Cameron, and Miss F. Dixon, president of the Peterborough chapter of the G.N.A.O., gave a brief address, extending a hearty welcome to the delegates, giving an idea of the preparations made for their reception, and extending an invitation from St. Joseph's and Nicholls Hospital for inspection of their premises. Allusion was also made to the excellence of the building and equipment at the Isolation Hospital.

Well Disciplined.

In the absence in Toronto of His Lordship, Bishop O'Brien, who was scheduled to speak to the nurses, Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl gave a characteristic address to the delegates, humorous and interesting, expressing his pleasure at their presence in Peterborough, and doing his utmost to 'boost' his city for their benefit. "I think that our graduate nurses are the best disciplined women in the country," said the Monsignor. "I think that the great lack in modern society is a lack of discipline and respect for authority. We must have discipline to have efficiency, and the nurses are the best trained and the best disciplined of women in the professions to-day."

That Peterborough was the best city in the province and that it possessed some of the best hospitals and best doctors were further assertions mkade by the speaker, who commended Dr. Cameron for his excellent work in connection with the Peterborough Health Association.

The Monsignor referred to some of his own experiences with nurses while he was ill, and recorded his determination at that time to submit to the authority of the nurse, "because I believe in obeying those who know their business," although the Monsignor asserted, "priests are a difficult class to handle when sick, because when they are well, they are absolute masters of their own households."

Mrs. Joseph, in replying to the speech, regretted in a humorous sentence that the Monsignor should at any time have been compelled to submit to a woman who "woud take advantage of a good man when he was down."

Minutes Last Meeting.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were taken as read, and the secretary-treasurer, Miss B. L. Ellis, of Toronto, gave concise reviews of the

Had Bad Pains In Her Heart

Nerves Were Very Bad

Mrs. John Case, R. R. No. 4, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nerves. I doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not lie still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out. My stomach was also very bad and I could not eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress which always made my heart worse.

I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. I have now taken five boxes and am feeling so much better, I am able to do my own work, and can eat anything I wish. I cannot praise

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 5 (Special to The Examiner). — The stock market saw a burst of extremely active early trading to-day that took the price of many of the favourites in the industrial group upward rapidly.

Later the pace subsided slightly, but the sales up to noon showed the market still running considerably better than the million share a day rate. Yesterday the averages showed the rails advancing slightly, while the industrials lost, early to-day the opposite tendency was evident, the market apparently readjusting the relations between the two groups, and Steel Common scored fractional gains on the initial transactions. Dupont was a feature of special strength, advancing more than a point to 122 1-4. Resumption of operations for the rise took place in many sections before 11 a.m. American Can made a new high on the recovery at 97 against the recent low of 93 1-2, while Baldwin gained 1 1-2 to 138, American Locomotive a point to 133, and Woollen moved up fractionally at 103, Auto Knitter reached a new 1923 high at 26 in response to the expectation of early establishment of a $3.00 dividend rate. Maxwell issues were active at the year's best reflecting earnings for the first quarter of 1923, well in excess of the total amount lost in the same period of 1922 when a $600,000 deficit was shown, the company has been producing considerable ahead of schedule with the March output around 6,000 cars against the combined January and February production of 7,635. Maxwell now has 2,500 dealers throughout the country, compared with 1,000 a year ago. A recent survey shows an average of only two cars per dealer in stock, indicting that the output of the Maxwell Company, like that of a majority of automobile manufacturers, is passing directly from the factory to the consumer, despite the price reductions. Many commission houses that have been advising profit-taking are now instructing their customers to buy on the breaks. This change of attitude brought considerable buying into the market in the first two hours, and active industrials showed further gains in the late morning despite another outbreak of selling in.

The Emigration of British Subjects to United States Greater Than to All the Colonies Combined.

WHY NOT CANADA?

LONDON, April 5. — Canadian Press. — The North Atlantic Passenger Conference Lines have issued a statemen announcing that 57,947 British and Irish born passengers were admitted into th ited States from July 1 to 31 h 31 last, leaving a balance of 19,395 for admission prior t June 30 of this year, in accordance with the United States three per cent. restriction act.

This number is already absorbed by bookings for April and May, plus the estimate arrivals in the United States by other than Atlantic ports. Therefore the lines will be unable to accept further bookings for the current fiscal year.

Recent London items declare that if the flood of British emigration to the United States continued at the present rate that Britain's quota under the United States law would be reached long before July 1, the end of the fiscal emigration year. British subject were emigrating to the United States at a rate almost never equalled and more of them were proceeding to the United States than to all the British Colonies combined.

WILL TAKE STAND IN OWN DEFENCE

Line of Defence in McKee Murder Trial is Not Yet Indicated.

SUDBURY, On., April 5 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Sadie Connaughton will take the witness stand in her own defence of the killing of John McKee when the Court resumes this morning.

No indication of the line of defence could be gathered from yesterday's evidence. The Crown rested its case at four o'clock yesterday afternoon upon proof of the death and the admissions of Mrs. Connaughton to others following the tragedy.

The defence has called the husband and son of the accused, the parish priest, and several neighbours in Chapleau, all of whom have given the highest character evidence.

The presence of eminent medical men forecasts expert medical testimony will be introduced both for and against the accused.

Mrs Connaughton's husband, Wm. John Connaughton, was the first witness for the defence yesterday afternoon. He frankly admitted that McKee was a frequent visitor at the Connaughton home, both when he was present and when he was away from home, but he did not object. "I had such faith in my wife that I didn't think of objecting," he said. "My wife had my fullest confidence."

"And she has still?" asked Mr. Dewart.

"She still has, and she always will," replied the husband.

Cross-examined by Crown Attorney McKessock, the husband said McKee came to his home at will and with his entire approval. He denied that he had ever quarrelled with his wife over McKee or twisted his wife's wrists during an argument over McKee's visits.

"Isn't it true that there was a beaten path between the Connaughton home and the McKee house at the Crown.

Witness admitted this was true, but said he had a dog which went back and forth.

WILL REMAIN IN CHARGE OF KLAN

Sheriff Lowry Occupies the Imperial Palace of Ku Klux Klan.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5 (Canadian Press). — Sheriff Lowry, of Fulton County, will remain in charge of the Imperial Palace, the General Headquarters of the Ku Klux Klan, until Judge E. D. Thomas decides this afternoon who was in possession of the headquarters at the time Emperor Simmons filed his petition for an injunction against Imperial Wizard Evans and his staff.

Warrants were issued late yesterday for N. N. Furney, cashier of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, charging him with embezzlement of $80,000, and for T. J. McKinnon, Chief of the Investigating Department, charging embezzlement of $20,000, according to the Sheriff's Office. The warrants were sworn to by E. J. Jones, an associate of Emperor William J. Simmons.

Associates of Simmons said other warrants might be taken out and that the charges against the two officials followed a day of investigation at the Imperial Palace, official headquarters of the Klan, while Simmons was temporarily in charge yesterday. Simmons was ousted early yesterday by Court order and Sheriff J. I. Lowry placed in charge.

Captain J. K. Skipwith, Exalted Cyclops, of the Morehouse Parish, Louisiana, Ku Klux Klan, arrived in Atlanta late yesterday to rally round the standard of Emperor William J. Simmons, it was announced at Simmons headquarters.

The Exalted Cyclops was accompanied by 75 klansmen from Bastrop, Louisiana.

CAVAN BURGLARS ARE UNDER ARREST

Trial on Thursday of Parties Who Broke Into Millbrook Stores.

MILLBROOK, April 5. — The burglars who broke into three stores here after one o'clock on Sunday morning were arrested yesterday by Police Constable H. Nattrass, Provincial Detective Boyd accompanying him. George and Arthur Lane, two boys who were raised in this township, are the guilty parties; one was arrested at Arthur Armstrong's, of Coe's Corners, and the other at Archie Kennedy's, also of Cavan. Both have confessed their guilt, the stolen property, including about $90 in cash, a revolver, flash-light, pocket knives, etc., which was taken from P. I. Bentley's store, being found in their possession. The prisoners are in the local jail awaiting their trial on Thursday.

PREDICT ICE BREAK IN ABOUT TWO WEEKS

MONTREAL, April 15.—(Canadian Press)—Those familiar with the St. Lawrence predict that the ice on the river will break up in about two weeks time which while later than usual will not have any bearing on the first ship arrivals at this port. The earliest of these are not due until the end of the month and there should thus be a week or ten days of clear water before they sail up the St. Lawrence.

The earliest opening of the river on record was in 1921, when on March 29 the river was clear of ice from Montreal to the sea.

A COUPLE KIDNAPPED ON A COUNTRY ROAD

MACONGA, April 5.—(Canadian Press.) — Mrs. Frederica Pace, of New York, and Lynwood L. Bright were horse-whipped by kidnappers, believed by the police to be members of the Ku Klux Klan, on a country road near here last night. They were picked up by sheriff's deputies, who were scouring the roads. On Tuesday Bright was awarded divorce. His wife contested the proceedings, naming Mrs. Pace as correspondent. They were to get her when kidnapped.

CARNARVON IS DEAD OF POISON AT KING'S TOMB

DIED PEACEFULLY.

CAIRO, April 5. Canadian Press. — The Earl of Carnarvon died peacefully at two o'clock this morning. He was conscious almost to the end. His death was due to blood poisoning through the bite of an insect, with the later development of pneumonia.

The death of the Earl of Carnarvon came shortly after the culmination of the exploit that brought him chiefly into public notice the discovery of the rich tomb of the Pharaoh Tutankhamen in the Valley of the Kings in Egypt by the archaeological expedition which he headed.

While the press of the world was still devoting no small amount of its space to the notable contributions to the world's art and history, which Lord Carnarvon and his fellow-explorers had uncovered, came the news that he had been suddenly stricken down and was lying seriously ill in Cairo from the bite of an insect.

By the public at large, the misfortune which the Earl had met was regarded as a lamentable incident of what might happen in a tropical clime such as that of Egypt. But to the credulous students of Egyptian mysticism the news did not come as a surprise. Even before Lord Carnarvon was stricken with blood poisoning, announced as due to an insect bite, there had been talk of the curses laid by the ancient Egyptians with mystic incantations, on any who dared disturb the sleep of a pharaoh. After he was stricken, the old legends spread, and hundreds were to be found, not before superstitious, who were ready to believe that the old Egyptian curse had fallen on the rich and famous Englishman.

There were some who even questioned whether it was an insect that had dealt him the poisonous stroke. It was suggested that he might have touched some poisoned object in the tomb itself, yet thirty centuries ago to revenge the dead king on any who might disturb his rest.

Marie Corelli (the noted writer) recently declared that she called the attention of Lord Carnarvon to the beliefs of Egyptian mysticism and also expressed herself as not surprised at an accident occurring to "those daring explorers who rifle the tombs of dead monarchs." She cited from an ancient book on Egyptian history which gave long lists of treasures buried with some of the kings, among them "divers secret potions enclosed in boxes in such wise that they who touch them shall not know how they come to suffer."

Lord Carnarvon was first reported ill on March 19. His wife started by airplane from London to his bedside in Cairo, but was brought down at Paris by a sudden illness that seized her in midair. She finished the trip by boat and rail, arriving to find her husband somewhat better. He was unable to fight off the poison however and soon suffered a relapse. This was followed by pneumonia.

The fifth Earl of Carnarvon was born June 26, 1866, and succeeded his father to the Earldom in 1890. His mother was a descendant of the famous Lord Chesterfield, author, statesman and man of affairs.

His father, the fourth Earl of Carnarvon, was the British Colonial Secretary under Lord Derby, and while holding this position moved the second reading of the bill for the confederation of the British North American colonies. Resigning upon the passage of the Reform Bill in 1867, he again became Colonial Secretary under Disraeli, in 1874, serving until 1878. Later he served for two years as Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland.

He was reputed to have spent more than $100,000 maintaining the expedition which finally uncovered the Pharaoh's tomb last December, after seven years of fruitless excavation.

The tomb, which contained an unprecedented quantity of objects of the greatest historical value, as well as the undisturbed sorcophagus of the Pharaoh, is said to have been the richest find ever unearthed in Egypt.

CHARGES CORRUPTION.

OTTAWA, April 5. — (Canadian Press.)— Under date of April 3, Taylor McVeity, ex-Mayor of Ottawa, acting on behalf of Tom Clarey, a former controller of the city, has written the Mayor and Council making charges against certain members of the council of 1921, some of whom are in the present council, of corrupt practices in connection with the purchase of the civic garage in June, 1921.

The letter states that Mr. Clarey charges, the purchase price of $50,000 was grossly in excess of the value of the property and that the purchase was secured by corrupt methods.

"Die Hards" Claim A Packed Meeting

MONTREAL, April 5.—(Canadian Press)—Deliberate and systematic attempts to "pack" the forthcoming general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada with unionist supporters so that there will be no possibility of the proposed scheme failing to go through, are being made throughout Canada, according to the statement of Rev. Malcolm Campbell here yesterday.

LABOR PARTY RAPS SIR GEORGE PERLEY

Accused of Painting Rosy Picture of Conditions in Canada.

LONDON, April 5 (Canadian Press Cable). — The London Daily Herald, mouthpiece of the Labour Party, raps Sir George Perley, former Canadian High Commissioner in London, for having, on landing at Liverpool this week from Canada, declared that "no country is getting along better than Canada"; that "very few are out of work there," and that "there is room and work for millions on the land."

Sir George made these remarks in a casual way to reporters on landing. The Herald, however, divines that Perley "evidently means to push with all his energy the scheme for sending people from the British Isles to Canada." The paper proceeds to give extracts of a recent debate in the Canadian Federal House showing considerable opposition to the overseas settlement scheme.

Finally the Herald "expects the representative of the Dominion to hold the balance evenly instead of taking rosy views which are not justified."

Several other papers publish without comment reports of the Ottawa debate, in which the immigration scheme was subjected to criticism.

All Fat People Should Know This
All fat people owe a debt of gratitude to the author of the new famous Marmola Prescription, and are still more indebted for the reduction of this harmless, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores the world over at the reasonable price of one dollar for a case, or you can secure them direct on receipt of price from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Michigan. This now leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercises for the reduction of the overfat body to normal.

DEATH FOLLOWS IN WAKE OF TORNADO

Seven Known Dead and Many Others Injured in Southern States.

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 5. — (Canadian Press), — Seven persons are known to have been killed and at least a score were injured in Pineville, across the Red River from this city, by a tornado which swept through Alexandria and Pineville late yesterday.

RALEIGH, N.C., April 5.—(Canadian Press).—A dozen or more persons were injured by a tornado which cut a swath one mile wide and ten miles long south of Wendell, in Wake County, yesterday afternoon, wrecking a hundred or more houses and doing damage to the amount of more than $100,000, according to reports here. Some of those most seriously injured were ordered removed to a Raleigh hospital.

TEXARKANA, Texas, April 5. — (Canadian Press).—A tornado swept through Cass County, in the northeast corner of Texas, late yesterday, leaving a trail 15 miles long, on which were scattered the wreckage of 35 or more homes. The heaviest damage was said to be in Laws Chapel and Alaman communities, and at a point two and a half miles south-west of Atlanta, Texas.

No casualties have been reported.

MOHAMMEDANS ARE PERSECUTING JEWS.

JERUSALEM, April 5.—(Canadian Press)—Scores of Jews are alleged to have been killed in almost uninterrupted warfare launched on them by the Moslems at Yemen, southwestern Arabia, according to reports received here. The reports add that many Jews in order to escape death have nominally accepted Mohammedanism; that numerous Jewish children have been seized and given the alternative of death or conversion.

The reports say that hundreds of Jews are in flight from town to town in an effort to escape their oppressors. Representatives of the Yemenites in Palestine have appealed to the Jewish organizations to provide aid with which the Yemenite Jews may be able to escape to Palestine.

CAN A COMBINE BE A BREACH OF CRIMINAL CODE?

NO COMPETITION.

OTTAWA, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—The question of whether or not the formation of a combine among the great lake shipping interests would constitute a breach of the Criminal Code, was raised by Dr. S. J. McLean, charman of the Royal Commission on Lake Grain Rates, yesterday afternoon. T. J. Murray, K. C. representing the unorganized farmers of Saskatchewan was nearing the conclusion of his argument when the point was raised. He had just stated that there was proof that in May last an active, open combination had been formed among the lake carriers which resulted in increased rates, when Dr. McLean interjected his question.

"Would such a combination constitute a breach of the Criminal Code in your opinion," asked the chairman.

"Yes", replied Mr. Murray.

Aime Geoffrian, representing shipping interests asserted that the formation of a combine was not a violaton of the Criminal Code unless the effect of such formation was to increase rates unfairly. There was no further discussion on the point.

Mr. Murray's argument continued throughout the afternoon, but was concluded before the commission rose at five thirty. He stressed the point that the business of grain carry ing should be carried on on a competitive basis as part of the national industry of agriculture. The grain carriers were not entitled to a guaranteed return on his investment. He was entitled only to what he could earn in fair competition with other carriers. Those were the conditions under which the farmer was required to produce and market his grain.

The commission will sit again on Friday morning.

SMALL SEAL CATCH.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 5. — (Canadian Press.)—The steamer Sagona, the first of the Newfoundland sealing to return from the ice fields, arrived yesterday with 11,367 pelts. She had been absent just four weeks. The Sagona reported that she made her catch 115 miles off Cape Race and that the other vessels of the fleet now are working there. Unless conditions improve the Sagona's will be the only paying catch among the fleet and she is the smallest vessel and least expensive to operate. The total kill of the entire fleet up to yesterday was 73,500.

Canadian Cattle To Be Shipped Soon

WINNIPEG, April 5.—(Canadian Press) — Having made arrangements for ocean tonnage Colonel H. A. Mullins of Winnipeg, who is acting in conjunction with Hill Forster of Norfolk, England, commenced purchasing cattle yesterday for export to Great Britain. The first purchases made at the St. Boniface stock yards at a price which Mr. Forster, declared, was satisfactory to him.

Mr. Forster came to Canada with financial arrangements completed whereby he will purchase cattle in lots of 20,000 and upwards.

RELATE STORY THE SHOOTING

Two Will Hang Unless the Supreme Court Decides in Favor of Prisoners.

OTTAWA, April 5 (Canadian Press).—That there was no provocation for the shooting of Constable Lawson of the Alberta Provincial Police, for which crime Emilio Picarillo and Florence Lassandra have been sentenced to hang, was further argued in the Supreme Court of Canada yesterday afternoon by A. A. McGillivray, counsel for the Crown.

Dealing with the incidents outside of the Police Barracks at Coleman, Alta., prior to the shooting of Constable Lawson, Mr. McGillivray declared that "neither by word or act" had Lawson done anything to provoke the shooting. Mr. McGillivray maintained that there was room for doubt whether Mrs. Lasandra had actually shot Lawson. Picarillo had owned two guns of the sizes used in the tragedy and 38-calibre cartridges found in Mrs. Lassanda's room fitted the revolvel of the male prisoner.

Counsel for the Crown held that the evidence clearly showed the two accused equally guilty under the law, regardless of who had actually fired the fatal shot, since there was no doubt of common intention and design as construed by the criminal code.

The evidence showed that a cruel murder had been perpetrated when Lawson was shot down in the sight of his nine-year-old daughter, and that there had been premeditation, Mr. McGillivray concluded.

In the evidence put forward guilt was established beyond room for doubt, and it could not be argued that the case had not been properly presented to the jury. The conviction should stand, he urged.

J. McK. Cameron, K.C., of Calgary, will continue the argument for the accused when the Court resumes this morning, and will finish the presentation of the appeal before the noon adjournment.

1923 EXPECTED TO BE BIG YEAR FOR RAILROADS

U.S. Officials Making Preparations to Handle the Biggest Traffic in History —Good Rolling Stock.

MANY CARS ORDERED.

NEW YORK, April 5.— (Canadian Press.)— The Executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives yesterday approved a programme outlined by Board of Directors of the American Railway Association for meeting in 1923 what is expected to be the greatest traffic in the railroading history of the United States.

In approving the programme, which will be submitted to-day to a meeting of representatives of member roads, the Executive committee endorsed plans calling for "the largest budget of new facilities, power and equipment for many years, if not in the history of the roads.

The report of the Executive Body pointed out that the session of officials of the railroads, including all clauses and subsidiary terminal systems, was called "to take account early of the prospects for the heaviest traffic to be moved over the railroads of the country in their history."

Contrary to the general impression, said the rail men, equipment of the nation's roads, including locomotives, rolling stock and repair units, is in better condition now than it has been for years.

Despite the shopmen's strike of last fall and the unusual severity of the winter, there are now more locomotives in good repair and a smaller percentage in bad order than ever has been reported by all the roads at any period.

The car situation is correspondingly good, it was reported, with more available for traffic and more new ones on order than there have been in the spring for two years.

LIVE STOCK TRAIN DRAWS THE CROWDS.

NORWOOD, Ont., April 5. — (Canadian Press.)—The better live stock train still continues to draw large crowds despite the inclement weather and bad roads. At Omemee Tuesdyay and Norwood yesterday, over eleve nhundred farmers looked over the exhibits and demonstrations. The lecture car was filled at both places and instructive addresses were given by those in charge on various live stock topics. Six bacon hogs and two bulls were sold to farmers from the surrounding districts. The interest shown by farmers of Eastern Ontario is extremely gratifying and indications so far point to even greater success in the east than has already been attained in the western part of the province.

STILL TALKING.

The Budget debate in the Legislature flows on and on in an endless stream of words wise and otherwise.

The end is not yet in sight, although three dozen members have already made their contribution of oratory and discussed every possible subject under the sun.

Not even an amendment has been offered, but the talk goes on.

The gush of words week after week offers a striking indictment of the great lack of business methods that seems to be a distinguishing feature of our governing bodies.

Why should there be any necessity of a session lasting four or five months?

Great as the volume of business that must be transacted undoubtedly is, it could be handled in one-fourth of the time if some way could be found of shortening the debate on the Speech from the Throne and on the Budget.

PROTECTING THE PUBLIC.

Opposition has been expressed in the Legislature to the proposed "blue sky" bill on the ground that under its operations people are liable to imagine that any business venture, the sale of the stock of which is allowed in the Province, is bound to succeed.

In other words, the impression might be created that all stock allowed to be sold in Ontario was guaranteed by the Province.

That danger, of course, exists, but it is not nearly so serious as the present condition of affairs which, as the result of "blue sky" legislation adopted by many States across the line, has turned Ontario into a happy hunting ground for dubious stock-selling schemes and high-pressure salesmen.

Some measure of protection for the public is urgently needed, and the Attorney-General's bill should go a long way towards restraining the activities of the pirates who have been preying upon the people of the Province.

The fact cannot be ignored that Saskatchewan by reason of its "blue sky" legislation was able to keep the I. R. Steel salesmen out of the Province and doubtless to save hundreds of citizens from investing in a doubtful proposition.

It is to be hoped that before the present session of the Legislature is concluded the "blue sky" bill will be placed upon the statute books.

TEACHING CITIZENSHIP.

The argument of J. G. Elliott of Kingston, retiring President of the Ontario Educational Association, that true citizenship should be developed in the schools of Canada has the right ring.

The opportunity of molding alert, active and aggressive Canadians rests with the schools.

Citizenship should be instilled into the boys and girls of Canada as part of their process of education, and if the training in this respect is falling down it must be admitted that the schools are losing their greatest chance of serving the country.

That there is need for education in the duties and responsibilities of citizenship is a fact that cannot be gainsaid.

Study any average municipality in Ontario and you must come to the conclusion that a very large percentage of the people are dead to the call of civic responsibility.

There is apathy about civic affairs, lack of interest in municipal elections, an utter failure on the part of many citizens even to register their votes, a reluctance to offer for civic service.

Why?

Partially at least because our schools have failed to inculcate into the minds of the rising generation a proper appreciation of the fact that citizenship carries with it certain responsibilites that must be fulfilled if the title citizen is not to be a misnomer.

Until the training in Canada's schools places the proper emphasis upon this question our educational system cannot be hailed as approaching perfection.

A NOTABLE BY-ELECTION.

The Moose Jaw by-election for the House of Commons will furnish unusual interest to the people of Ontario, says the Border Cities Star. The seat was thrown vacant by the unseating of the elected member, Mr. R. M. Johnson, Progressive, on a species of technicality. The principal count against him was the hiring of a band to play on election night. The peculiar workings of the election law also caused his disqualification. In the constituency, it is said, the people are inclined to be indignant over the protest, because no corruption was intended.

The Liberals, however, are desirous of capturing the seat. If they wrest it from the Progressives, it will be proclaimed as the turning of the western tide against the new party, and a token of the public desire to return to their former political allegiances. The Conservatives will be interested for signs of the pendulum swinging back to old political affiliations.

The Progressives are not taking undue risks, and are entering the fray with horse, foot and artillery. Mr. Forke, their leader, will fire the heavy pieces. The Liberals are leaving the management of the contest to the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, an old campaigner. They are also making extraordinary exertions. They realize that their tenure of power in the next Parliament will probably depend on their ability to shake the virtually solid progressivism of the Prairie Provinces. They have in their present favor the tendency of by-elections to go in favor of a new Government, so notable in this country, as contrasted with the contrary practice of electors in British constituencies.

SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION.

Although the majority in favour of the course was the smallest possible, the Board of Education has at last reached a definite conclusion as to the problem of school accommodation.

It has been decided that with the consent of the City Council, or of the ratepayers if the Council decide to pass the proposition on to the people, a combined collegiate institute and technical school shall be built.

The matter has been under consideration for many months.

It has been realized that additional Collegiate Institute accommodation is an absolute necessity, and the members of the board have been unanimous in the opinion that this would have to be provided.

The difference that split the board into two groups was over the question of facilities for technical education.

One section has held to the view that it was as necessary to provide opportunities for technical training as for academic work, and that therefore the most economic course when building operations were being undertaken was to combine the two by making an extension to the present Collegiate Institute that would not only provide all the accommodation required for academic training, but would at the same time take care of those pupils who desired vocational education.

The other group, while admitting the value of technical training, has maintained that the first duty of the board was to furnish the Collegiate Institute accommodation, leaving a technical school to be built later.

The combination school policy has finally been adopted.

The situation is a serious one.

There is no doubt of the necessity of more accommodation, and the Board of Education would have been guilty of neglecting the duty for which it was elected were it to have failed to recommend a building programme made necessary by the educational requirements of the city.

Yet the people of Peterborough are pressing for relief from the burden of taxation.

They are urging economy in civic expenditure, and are not likely to hail with rejoicing any proposition that will involve a material increase in the city's already heavy debenture debt.

On top of this the prediction from those in touch with the building industry that the cost of building will not only fail to show a reduction this year, but that there is very likely to be an increase in prices all along the line, will not add warmth to the reception of the board's proposal by the ratepayers.

SELLING FARM PRODUCE.

A farmer may bring in a load of oats to the market. The first thing he does is to find out what the market price is for the day. That is the price he has to take for his produce, and he has nothing to do with his receipts, for the price is all set for him.

For the sake of argument, let the farmer be the same as a manufacturer making a chair or a plow, or any one of the numerous things a farmer might buy during the course of a year. The manufacturer has in his plant a cost system. He knows what his chair has cost him to make, he has it all down by operations and by material, and his final figure has taken in its due allowance of the overhead charges in the plant. He knows what profit he must make in order to get along, and he adds that to his cost price, and finds his selling figure. He does not send in a load and then find out how much chairs are selling for. Were he to try this he would get out of business faster than he came in.

The man who grows oats can know also what each bushel has cost him. He can tell to a cent what his outlay has been, and he might be able to demonstrate that his oats cost him 62 cents per bushel to grow. He might have a wet season on a low field, or be struck by rust or hail. His costs do not come down because his crop is poor. The poor crop sends his per bushel costs away up. He is constantly dealing with unknown quantities in the shape of weather conditions. But all this knowledge so far has played no part in the setting of the price at which the farmer sells.

To make this plain: Here are two farmers who put in a ten-acre field of oats. The things that enter into the cost of seeding are bound to be almost the same. One has a good crop, running around 45 bushels to the acre, while the other man has a poor crop that does not show over 25 bushels. It cost the one man just as much to get his 25 bushels as it did the other man to get his 45, with the possible exception of a little difference in twine and threshing charges. Yet they both sell for the same. Their individual costs have nothing to do with the selling price, nor is the high cost man to blame because his figures are away up.

It may be argued that he feeds nearly all his oats, and in this way gets market prices or more from stock or through a dairy herd. But here again the market into which he sells is a fixed quantity before he goes into it. He must, regardless of his costs, accept the ruling quotations. In this way he sells at a disadvantage when compared with the manufacturer.

The movement that is well under way now of studying and knowing farm costs may bring some pressure to bear on this question, but it will have to be more generally followed than it is now. There are many farmers who sell below cost of production, and do so without their knowledge. They do not know what their produce has cost them in many cases, and therefore cannot say definitely if they are breaking even or making money on certain lines. When farm bookkeeping becomes much more general and much more thorough than it is now the agriculturist or the stock or dairy man is going to have a fairly powerful weapon in his hand. There is nothing that goes much farther than a positive "I know."—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It will not be long before the first letter complaining about the dust nuisances reaches the Examiner. Then it will be safe to say that winter has gone.

The trouble about the Ruhr invasion is that France is reaping more hate than coal.

With the contention that the National Railways should not be asked to carry coal below cost, there will be general agreement.

Investigations by the Bureau of Social Hygiene in the United States as to the prevelence of "spooning" have furnished some interesting figures. Some of the replies to the questionnaire are easier to believe than others.

Quebec retailers would like to see the Federal income tax abolished. So would everybody else for that matter, but the simple fact is that Canada needs the money and the income tax is one effective way of securing the necessary funds.

The action of the Guelph Council in petitioning the Dominion Government to take steps to ensure an adequate supply of fuel next winter is one that should be copied by municipalities everywhere. Too much pressure cannot be exerted along this line if the experience of this winter is to be avoided.

IRISH GOVERNMENT IS AFTER MAN IN STATES

CLEVELAND, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Claiming that deportation might result in his execution for treason by Free State court-martial, friends of Martin Lavan, said to have been wounded by a bayonet thrust when leading Irregulars against Free State troops in County Mayo, Ireland, were today preparing to contest proceedings to deport him. Deportation depends on the result of an investigation surrounding his entrance to United States. He reached United States four months ago and is now in hospital under guard. Investigation by Free State sympathizers traced him to hospital.

DISCUSS PROHIBITION NEW BRUNSWICK HOUSE

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 5.—(Canadian Press)—Declaring that province had gone into wholesailing of liquor at instance of New Brunswick Temperance Alliance Hon. Walter Foster declared during discussion of administration of prohibition act in legislature yesterday that other provinces and federal government received heavy revenue from liquor seizures. He pointed to Ontario which he said had been spoken of as a place "through which one must pass in order to get to heaven" and asserted that Ontario capitalized its vices for it augmented its revenues from liquor sources as well as from rake off from gambling at race tracks "and prohibition is no better and no worse here than it is elsewhere," he declared.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 4.—Easter Day was observed by special sermons and addresses in the various local churches. At St. Peters Anglican church, Rev. Canon Sawers preached in the morning service, and Rev. S. B. Rogers of Toronto at night. There were large congregations and excellent music with Miss K. Warner presiding at the organ.

At the Methodist church, Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, B.A. B.D. took for his subjects, "The Resurrection" in the morning, and a night the age-long theme, "How are the dead raised up, and with what body do they come?" Mr. Frank Parkinson, organist and his choir rendered timely anthems, solos and quartettes and a children's choir sang Easter hymns at both the morning and the evening services.

At the Congregational church, Rev. H. A. Carson, B.A., took as his morning theme, "Removing Obstacles" and in the evening spoke on "The modern significance of the resurrection." The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper fittingly closed a helpful service in the morning. Mr. J. Edward Fisher, a former Peterborough organist, had charge of the music. Several antehms were rendered, and Miss L. Fisher sang solos

At St. Andrews Presbyterian church, Rev. W. A. Bremner conducted a helpful Easter service in the morning, and at night preached on "Immortality" answering the query that concerns every mortal, "Is there a life after Death?" The music which was of a special character, was under the direction of Mr. Roy Brignall.

Rev. J. P. McLennan conducted helpful Easter services at the Baptist church.

The Salvation Army had a meeting on Good Friday evening. "Two hours at the Cross" and services of a special character on Easter Day. Capt. and Mrs. Godden are the officers in charge.

A special feature of the week preceding Easter was that several of the churches at their mid-week services showed pictures depicting scenes of Passion week and other religious themes, thus exemplifying the good to which the movie films may be put in the way of religious thought and education

Service at Baltimore.

At Baltimore Methodist church yesterday, Rev. C. C. Washington, B.A., pastor, spoke on the work and aims of the W.M.S. giving a good address. The Methodist church choir, and that of St. Andrews Presbyterian church, Rev. J. E. Ferguson pastor, gave special music for Easter Day.

Birthday Party.

The Baltimore Methodist Mission Band put on a unique feature tonight in the form of a birthday party. Everyone present was asked to contribute as many cents as their age called for. The birthday idea was further carried out, by having a table for each month in the year, and to these the guests were asked to congregate according to the month in which their birthday occurred. It proved to be a happy suggestion and was admirably carried out. The young folk also contributed an excellent program.

Unfortunate Accident.

Last week Mrs. James F. Elliott, Baltimore, slipped on some ice just outside the front gate of her home and sustained a bad fall. A physician was immediately summoned to attend her, and it is feared that her injuries will confine her to her home for some time. A host of friends regret Mrs. Elliotts accident and hope for her speedy recovery.

Spoke at Camborne.

A unique feature at the morning service in the Methodist church at Camborne, was that Mrs. Washington, wife of Rev. C. C. Washington, Baltimore, gave the address, the meeting being under auspices of the Womens Missionary Society, with Mrs. R. Palmateer, president, presiding. Rev. F. J. Horwood, M.B., is pastor of the Camborne circuit.

Tuxis Boys Entertained.

An interesting and very enjoyable even took place at Camborne on Monday evening, when the Tuxis boys invited the young ladies of the community to a progressive crokinole game. This was followed by an oyster supper to which forty people sat down.

Interesting Debate.

The Camborne District is happy in having a number of excellent debaters, and some of these a few nights ago threshed out the momentous question, as to which was the most value to the individual, "brains or money.' Miss Moris Sandercock, Miss Norah Harper and Miss Rita Brown supported the affirmative, and Mr. W. Wildy, Mr. R. Spry and Mr. Melville Sandercock, the negative. It was a neat contest between the young ladies and the young men, and all did well. The judges, Mr. F. Ford, Mrs. R. Palmateer and Mr. Carter decided that the negative had the best of the argument by one point.

Moving and Business Changes.

The Dominion Stores moved from Division to their new premises on King street. A new shoe store is being opened up on Division street in the premises just vacated by the Dominion Stores.

The Thompson Shoe store has been re-decorated and has put in new lines.

Mr. C. P. Rolls has assumed proprietorship of the store which he formerly conducted for the Farmers Co-operative Company and is making changes.

Gen. Phipps of New York, has rented Miss Lajoies residence on Henry street here and will come to Cobourg with his family in June to spend the summer season. Mrs. Lajoie is here from Long Island, visiting her son, Dr. Lajoie. Both were formerly of Haldimand township.

Mr. N. J. Ash of Regina is visiting his uncle, Mr. James Stewart, formerly clerk of Hamilton township.

Mrs. Warren Atkinson gave the address at the special Thankoffering meeting of the Roseneath W.M.S. Sunday evening, and it proved a very attractive service to close Easter Day.

Local and Personal.

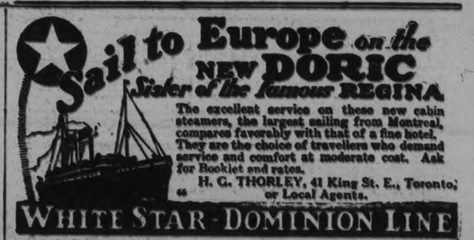
Port Hope Public School Board, it is stated, has decided to not allow children under six years of age to attend school owing to the present crowded condition of the rooms.

Mrs. John V. Herns who was visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Parker, has returned to Lunderville, N.Y.

Miss L. W. Brooking, superintendent of Alexandra Industrial school, East Toronto, spent a few days with old friends here, where she was a former resident. The tendency of the times is leading to schools of this character being more crowded than ever before and their necessity is apparent to all.

FORTY-SIX THOUSAND MINERS STRIKE TO-DAY

CARDIFF, Wales, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Forty-six thousand miners in Rhonddas coal fields went on strike today. Not a pit in the district is working. Strike was called for the purpose of forcing five thousand non-unionist miners to join the Miners' Federation.



YOUNG STATESMEN'S CABINET MEETING

Millbrook and District Represented--Many Holiday Visitors in Town.

MILLBROOK, April 5.—The young statesmen of Ontario, as represented by the Older Boys' "Parliament," are holding a meeting of their "Cabinet Ministers" in Toronto this week at the call of their "Premier," Milton A. Walker, of Loudon. The business to be discussed includes the following subjects affecting boys' work in this Province: Provincial athletic meets for all Trail Rangers' Camps and Tuxis Squares; district and community C.S.E.T. camps; the report of the "Minister of Finance" on the sale of shares; plans for the Provincial election in November; completion of organization of county councils; badge work and initiation ceremony, and grand camp meetings and Tuxis boys conclaves. Local Tuxis Squares and Trail Rangers organizations will be interested in what is done at this gathering as they will be affected by the legislation enacted. Albert Tucker of Brighton, a nephew of Rev. S. T. Tucker, Millbrook, and Donald McCullough of Cobourg are representatives from this district in the "Parliament." Since the latter met in Toronto at Christmas time, the "Minister of Finance" reports that more than $1,000 has been raised by the boys for co-operative work throughout the Province.

Personal Paragraphs.

Miss Isabel Handley, Principal of the Public School staff, is spending the Easter holidays with friends in Toronto, and attending the meetings of the Ontario Educational Council which is in session there this week.

Miss Gladys Smith of Toronto spent the Easter week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF MURDRING JACK McKEE

SUDBUY, April 5.—(Canadian Press)—Appearing before Mr. Justice Mason at the Assizes here today, Mrs. Connaughton pleaded not guilty to the charge of murdering Jack Mcee of Chapleau last December. She was wrapped in a long black cak and wore a dark hat with a fringe which served as a veil, whid her face almost entirely from vw.

Mr. Catherine Downey was the first witness and she related how Mrs. Connaughton ran to her house and exclaimed.

"M. Downey, I am a murderer. I've killed a man. I've killed Jack McKee. I did it because there was another woman there. Do you want to kw who she is. It was Mrs. Gibbon."

NEWS WARSAW AND DISTRICT.

WARSAW, April 5.—The storms last week made the roads in a worse condition thatn they have been all winter. The shops closed early there being but little business.

The Warsaw mail carriers made their trips on Wednesday. The stage did not get very far towards Peterboro before turning back. Some of the mail in transit was quite important, and in at least one case mail not going that morning caused some anxiety and necessitated long distance phoning.

The Womans Institute will meet on Thursday of next week. Dr. Munro will give a talk on health, and A. P. Choate will explain some post office matters.

The milder weather will encourage the tapping of maples for syrup.

A TIMELY RESCUE AT CAMPBELLFORD

Boy Nearly Lost His Life in Trout Creek-Rescuer Nearly Lost.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. — Charles, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Collard, of Inkerman street, had a narrow escape from death by drowning in Trout Creek yesterday, being rescued by the united efforts of Mrs. David McCook and Ed. Woodcock, who came here recently from Peterboro. Eye-witnesses of the near-tragedy say that but for Mrs. McCook the boy would beyond all question have lost his life, and that Woodcock, too, would scarcely have been able to save himself. As it was Mrs. McCook, standing in water up to her neck, dragged the man and boy to the bank.

The creek is at present badly swollen on account of the thaw and the recent rains, and the current is quite swift. Near the Collard home, which stands on the bank of the creek, the only means of crossing the stream is a narrow plank. Young Collard was walking on this plank with two or three young companions, when he slipped and fell into the water. The current swept him down stream for over one hundred yards, when his progress was arrested by broken ice. His chin rested on one of the pieces and this kept his head above water.

When the alarm was given, Woodcock, who is employed in the McCook and McKelvie sawmill near by, ran down to the creek and seeing the boy, plunged into the water, which at that point was about six feet deep. The current was so strong that Woodcock, who had seized the hand of the little fellow, was unable to stand.

Mrs. McCook, who has a boy about the same age as young Collard, feared, she says, that it was her own son who was in the water. She rushed to the bank and without a moment's hesitation, jumped into the water. She was just able to catch Woodcock by the hand, and was able to drag man and boy to safety.

Dr. Richardson was called to attend the boy and his rescuer, but all are little the worse for their experience. Those who witnessed the affair say that while Woodcock did all that he possibly could under the circumstances, Mrs. McCook was the real heroine of the rescuers. She is well known here being the wife of David McCook, senior partner in the firm of McCook and McKelvie, sawmill owners. Woodcock came here from Peterboro about a week ago to work in the mill. The affair will be reported to the Royal Humane Society at Hamilton, as everybody feels that both Mrs. McCook and Woodcock are entitled to medals for the saving of life at risk to themselves.

Mrs. McCook's friends say that the fact that she was under the impression that the drowning boy was her own son really made no difference as she would have done as much for any fellow creature in danger.

A cloth, moistened with gasoline, used once a twice a week, to remove mud from tires, will really lengthen the life of the rubber.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

A Valuable Addition to Campbellford Library From Peterboro Home—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5.—One of the most valuable donations ever made to the Carnegie Public Library here, has been received from Miss F. Hatton, 480 Charlotte Street, Peterborough. It consists of upwards of 200 volumes, all substantially bound, and includes numbers of Chambers' Journal, the Canadian Monthly, the Argosy, Appleton's Journal, London Society, Belford's Magazine, Blackwood's Magazine, the works of Josephus, the works of N. P. Willis, and the Life of Lord Macauley, the poems of Sir Walter Scott and works of modern fiction, among the latter being stories by Sir Philip Gibbs.

Miss Hatton's gift, which is highly appreciated by the members of the Board, will make a valuable addition to the already long catalogue of up-to-date literature in the Library.

Returns to Alberta.

A. B. Fraser, who has been visiting his brother, Walter G. Fraser, after an absence of over 27 years from this district, has returned to his home at Penoka, Alberta. While here he also visited his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, of Havelock, and his brother, G. B. Fraser, at Smithfield.

At his home in Alberta Mr. Fraser is Game and Fish Warden, and is also overseer of highways. He has held the former position for the past 17 years. Before coming east last fall he sold a large farm which he owned and will retire from the business, although he still has a quarter section of partially improved land some distance from Penoka.

Daughters of Empire Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the Daughters of the Empire was held yesterday afternoon, the Regent, Mrs. William Ashton, presiding. There was a good attendance of members, and many matters of public interest were discussed, including a programme for the summer months.

The matter of a soldiers' memorial again came up for consideration. The society has up to date raised a total of $760.95 for this purpose, aside from the $500 made by the Town Council at the close of last year. One of the phases of the question considered was what form this memorial should take. The one which was most favored, apparently, by the members, although no definite action was taken, was a town clock in the tower of the new Post Office, for hope that such a structure will eventually be put up, has not yet been abandoned. It was felt that the Government might be induced to take some action if convinced that the citizens of Campbellford were prepared to equip the new building with a suitable memorial for the defenders of the Empire.

Personals.

Mr. T. B. Robertson of Kitchener spent Easter in Campbellford, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Peeling, Centre Street.

Mr. Oliver Stephens, of Peterborough, and Mr. Erle Stephens, B.A., of Toronto, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Stephens, of Campbellford.

BUTCHKAVITCH WAS SHOT LAST SATURDAY

WARSAW, April 5.—(Canadian Press) — Monsignor Butchkavitch, whose death was ordered by the Russian Soviet Government was executed t 4 o'clock Saturday morning. He was taken to the cellar beneath the Cheka Building according to advices reaching here, and made to stand with his executioner behind him. He was shot with a revolver through the back of the head.

While efforts are being made to ascertain what happened after the execution, the only information thus far vouchsafed is that the body was removed to an unknown spot.

DISCUSS PROBLEMS AT A CONFERENCE

Education and Citizenship Convention in Massey Hall, Toronto.

TORONTO, April 5. Canadian Press. — Educational problems of to-day are of world-wide importance and relation and no part of the British Empire can offord to ignore any other part of the Empire or of the world, if the British people are to do their duty to humanity, according to the viewpoint of Sir Michael Sadler, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Leeds, who was the leading speaker at the inaugural session of the national conference on education and citizenship, which opened at Massey Hall last night.

From the standpoint of educational advance, the national conference represents one of the most forward moves in Canada.

It was a fact, said Sir Michael, that the educational system of America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Antipodes, had diverse aims and diverse origins. They ranged from ancient to ultra-modern but at the same time they were all so closely interwoven in thought and progress that Canaad would be making a mistake if she neglected to take any of them into consideration when it came to an evolution of heroine educational advancement. We are n the midst of a critical phrase of one of the most momentous expansions of educational effort of the world's history. Sir Michael remarked, and he went on to point out that educational conditions in Europe were extremely interesting because of after the war problems. As to France, Sir Michael's declaration was that "we are all under an unforgettable obligation to educational traditions of that country."

"And we in England must not rest content until we have popular education which has won its way to some fine traditions of scholarship, which make for acuracy, which builds character, and which gives depths of wisdom to the people."

CANADIAN SCIENTIST MEMBER OF COUNCIL.

OTTAWA, April 5. — (Canadian Press).—Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the University of Alberta, has been appointed a member of the Honorary Advisory Council for Scientific and Industrial Research.

Dr Jory is known not only through out Canada, but internationally, as one of the outstanding men in the world of education and of science. During the years 1917 to 1919, he served as director of educational services of the Khaki University of Canada, and in this capacity came into personal contact with thousands of Canadians overseas. He is a member of the Imperial Educational Committee, a member of the executive of the Universities Bureau of the British Empire and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. His interest in scientific matters and in research has been demonstrated through his achievements in this field, not only as President of the University of Alberta, but also as a member of the Provincial Research Council, which was established some time ago by the Government of Alberta.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

WHO WILL GET THE FORTUNE OF GOLD?

Children of Two Wives Face Tangle in Which $50,000,000 Are at Stake

NEW YORK, April 5.—What is to become of the $50,000,000 fortune of George Jay Gould if Gould dies? He is now dangerously ill at his villa in France.

Will the capitalist's last bequests show he has taken the obviously easy course of dividing his fortune equally among the seven children of himself and his first wife, Edith Kingdon Gould, or will there be complications?

When Marjorie, eldest daughter of the Goulds, made her debut in 1919, society was overwhelmed at the display. Covers for the 250 guests were said to have cost $100 each, while the decorations tallied up the neat little sum of $7500. Expensive favors ran the affair up to several thousand dollars more.

Marriages Disrupt Family.

The year following Marjorie was married to Anthony J. Drexel and within a 12-month two more marriages had thinned the ranks. Vivian, the second daughter, was married to Major John Graham Hope Horsley Beresford, fifth Baron Decies, and became Lady Decies while Jay Gould married Anne Douglas Graham, in whose veins flowed the blood of the Hawaiian Princess Kailkailani.

With all of these the family was obviously pleased. But when, in 1917, Kingdon Gould announced his marriage to Miss Annunziata Camilla Maria Lucci, an Italian artist who had been a governess in the Gould household, the family was, to say the least, surprised, and when, five days later, George Jay Gould, Jr., made known that he had married Miss Laura Carter, George Gould, Sr., promptly disinherited him.

His displeasure was no less manifest when, in 1920, his third daughter, Edith, eloped with Carol Wainwright. She was 18, young Wainwright was 21. The young couple had no place to turn until Stuyvesant Wainwright, father of the bridegroom and descendant of Peter Stuyvesant, provided them with an apartment. The Gould family promptly sent Edith's trunks after her.

She is in many ways the most precocious of the Gould family. At 10 she wrote and directed a play called "The Lost Child" as a benefit for the Red Cross. The Drexel children were members of the cast. Youthful Gloria recited poems written by herself in French, German, Italian and English.

Like other members of her family she has perfected herself in outdoor sports and she has lately been an industrious student of domestic science.

Father Marries Again.

But the elder Gould further alienated himself from his family when, last May, he secretly married Mrs. Vera Sinclair, six months after the death of his first wife, Edith Kingdon Gould. The feelings manifested by the children are supposed to have been responsible for Gould's determination to spend the rest of his life in Europe.

The present Mrs. Gould is the mother of three children, who may also share in the Gould fortune if Gould dies.

It is a fortune which has grown tremendously. When Jay Gould, founder of it, died in 1893, he left $74,500,000 to be divided equally between his six children, George, Helen, Edwin, Anna, Howard and Frank. This gave each of the six something in excess of $12,000,000.

To George was given an additional gift of $5,000,000 for business services he had rendered his father.

The entire Gould estate is now estimated to be worth $150,000,000, while George Gould is supposed to have increased his original holdings of $17,000,000 to something in excess of $50,000,000.

In 1919 he was removed as one of the trustees of the Gould estate, following action started by his sister, Anna, Princess de Sagan, protesting against the methods he was using in administering the affairs.

BEACH COMBERS RETURN TO FAR EASTERN SHORES

KOBE, Japan, April 5.— The beach comber, the hero or otherwise of many stories about the Far East, is returning to the ports of Japan after an absence of 8 years. With the outbreak of the war, the beachcombers disappeared entirely.

Most of them went home to fight for their respective countries; or if their own country was not involved, attracted by adventure, joined a foreign legion. The few remaining found that with jobs opened to all, it was difficult to live on the bounty of the foreign communities of the ports. Now they are drifting back and foreign communities are discussing how to deal with them.

The American consular service is provided with sufficient funds for the relief and repatriation of destitute relief and tute American seamen. These funds are administered under regulations drawn up by the Department of State, but a considerable amount of discretionary power is placed in the hands of the consuls. Each case is investigated individually, and relief is administered, even though the seaman is a deserter or has missed his vessel through negligence, if he appears to be a confirmed "marine hobo". Board and lodging is provided for these cases and they are repatriated by the first available vessel, at the expense of the American government.

WEAK AND MISERABLE

Describes the Condition of People With Thin, Watery Blood.

Thin-blooded people experience a form of fatigue which robs them of strength to get about and deprives them of restful sleep. This fatigue is not to be confused with the healthy reaction which follows a day of work and is relieved by sound slumber.

The fatigue which accompanies an anemic of thin-blooded condition robs women of beauty, for it causes their color to fade and leaves the face haggard and drawn. In addition to a feeling of exhaustion there is generally nervousness, headache, a loss of appetite and dizziness. These symptons indicate the need of a tonic, and the best tonic for enriching the blood is one taken by Mrs. C. R. Taylor, Bass River, N.S. who says: "I was so run down and miserable that I was completely discouraged. I was short of breath that at the least exertion I would have to sit down and rest. I often had headaches, and my appetite was poor and sleep disturbed. A friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I have reason to be grateful that I followed the advice. I continued using the pills until I had taken ten or twelve boxes, and I can truthfully say they have made me feel like a new woman and I know in my case they have done all that is claimed for them."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A CLASH TOOK PLACE WITH THE COMMUNISTS

MOSCOW, April 5 (Canadian Press). — A clash occurred at the anti-Passover carnival of the Jewish Communists at Krementshug, when a number of the more pious Jews attacked the Communist burlesque of the Passover festival.

A free-for-all fight followed.

Anti-religious demonstrations were held throughout White Russia and the Ukraine.

In addition to the carnival's caricaturing festival, the Jewish Communists appealed to the other Jews to go to work on the holidays and donate the wages of the first day of the festival to the labour movement and the proceeds of the second day to the Red Army.

PRESENTATION FOR FRAZERVILLE GIRL

Miss Gertrude Holden Gets Handsome Bar Pin and Address.

FRASERVILLE, April 5.— The members of the C.G.I.T. Club and their president, Mrs. Rev. Patterson, met at the home of Mr. Robt. Holden on Tuesday evening to bid farewell to Miss Gertrude Holden, who is going to Bracebridge to take a course in the Business College. As a token of their esteem they presented her with a beautiful bar pin, accompanied by the following address, read by Thelma Wood, while Miss Viola Carl made the presentation:

Dear Gertrude,— Having learned of your intended departure from our midst, and feeling a deep sense of regret we thought we could not let you go without giving you some tangible evidence of the esteem in which you are held by us all.

You have talents which are worthy of our highest admiration and we have learned to love you as a very near friend and companion. We find some consolation in the fact that your purpose in leaving here is, that you may through training, bring your qualities and talents up to a higher standard of efficiency. To this end we wish you unbounded success. We will miss you from our meetings, but even though we may be separated by distance, we will still regard you as one of us, striving to gain the approavl of the king and be worthy of his smile and expression. "She hath done what she could." We ask you to accept this pin as a slight token of our esteem and hope that each time you look upon it you will be reminded of happy days and rest assured of our earnest prayers for happier days to come.

STOP DOG FIGHTING.

CHICAGO, April 5.—An intensive campaign against the business of dog fighting has been in progress for the last two months by the humane associations of this country, according to a statement issued by officials of the Illinois Humane Society.

"The movement was started by the National Humane Society and is being taken up generally throughout the country, according to our reports," said George A. Scott, secretary of the Illinois society. "The campaign had its incepsive in the repeated challenges from one handler of fighting dogs to another published in a magazine that circulates rather freely among dog lovers. It appeared from published accounts of the pedigrees of these bull terriers that the dog fighting business was flourishing all over the country, despite the watchfulness of the humane societies, assisted by the laws of every state and the police.

"One advertisement recently appeared in a magazine offering to pit a dog against another for $1,000 a side. The advertisements indicate that these pit dog breeders exist in all sections of the country, but especially in Massachusetts and the central and southern states.

"Reports reaching here indicate that a real interest is being taken in stamping out this evil and that the organized campaign is showing its effect."

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"I do. I told you I might give him away to somebody worth while."

"You haven't known me long enough to give me valuable presents, Miguel," she demurred. "You're a dear to want to give him to me and I'm positively mad to own him, but Mother and Dad might think—well, that is, they might not understand. Of course we understand perfectly, but—well—you understand, don't you, Miguel?"

"I understand that I cannot afford to have your father suspect that I am unmindful of—certain conditions," he answered her, and flushed with embarrassment. "If you do not want Panchito as a gift I shall not insist——"

"I think it would be a good idea for you to permit Dad to buy him for me. He's worth every cent of five thousand dollars——"

"I'll never sell him. I told you this afternoon I love him. I never sell a horse or a dog that I love or that loves me. I shall have to take him back, Kay—for the present."

"I think that would be the better way, Miguel." She bent upon him an inscrutable smile but in the depths of her brown eyes he thought he detected laughter.

"You'll buck up now?" he pleaded.

"I'm already bucked up."

As they rode up to the great barn, Kay dismounted. "Leave the old trifle at the door, Kay," Farrel told her. "Pablo will get him home. Excuse me, please, while I take this calf over to Carolina. She'll make a man out of him. She's a wonder at inducing little mavericks like this fellow to drink milk from a bucket."

He jogged away, while Panchito, satisfied that he had performed throughout the day like a perfect gentleman, bent his head and rubbed his forehead against Kay's cheek, seeking some evidence of growing popularity with the girl. To his profound satisfaction she scratched him under the jawbone and murmured audibly:

"Never mind, old dear. Some day you'll be my Panchito. He loves you and didn't he say he could only give you away for love?"

CHAPTER XXII.

Dinner that night was singularly free from conversation. Nobody present felt inclined to be chatty. John Parker was wondering what Miguel Farril's next move would be, and was formulating means to checkmate it; Kay, knowing what Don Mike's next move would be and knowing further that she was about to checkmate it, was silent through a sense of guilt; Mrs. Parker's eight miles in the saddle that afternoon had fatigued her to the point of dissipating her buoyant spirits, and Farrel had fallen into a mood of deep abstraction.

"Are we to listen to naught but the champing of food?" Mrs. Parker inquired presently.

"Hello!" her husband declared. "So you've come up for air, eh, Katie?"

"Oh, I'm feeling far from chatty, John. But the silence is oppressive. Miguel, are you plotting against the whites?"

He looked up with a smiling nod. "I'm making big medicine, Mrs. Parker. So big, in fact," he continued, as he folded his napkin and thrust it carefully into the ring, "that I am going to ask your permission to withdraw. I have been very remiss in my social duties. I have been home twenty-four hours and I have passed the Mission de la Madre Dolorosa three times, yet I have not been inside to pay my respects to my old friends there. I shall be in disgrace if I fail to call this evening for Father Domigic's blessing. They'll be wondering why I neglect them."

"How do you know they know you're home?" Parker demanded, suspiciously. He was wondering if Don Miguel's excuse to leave the table might have some connection with Bill Conway and the impending imbroglio.

"Brother Flavio told me so to-night. As we rode down the valley he was ringing the Angelus; and after the Angelus he played on the chimes, 'I'm Nearer Home To-day.' May I be excused, Mrs. Parker?"

"By all means, Michael."

"Thank you." He included them all in a courteous nod of farewell. They heard the patio gate close behind him.

"I wish I dared follow him," Parker observed. "I wonder if he really is going down to the Mission. I think I'll make certain."

He left the room, went out to the patio gate, opened it slightly and peered out. His host's tall form, indistinct in the moonlight, was disappearing toward the palm-lined avenue, so Parker, satisfied that Don Mike had embarked upon the three-mile walk to the Mission, returned to the dining-room.

"Well, Mr. Sherlock Holmes?" Kay queried.

"I think he's headed for the Mission, after all, Kay."

"I never doubted it."

"Why?"

"Because he wouldn't tell a trifling lie to deceive when there was no necessity for deceiving. His plans are fully matured and he will not set until morning. In that three-mile walk to the Mission he will perfect the details of his plan of attack."

"Then he is planning?—but you said his plans are fully matured. How do you know, Kay?"

"I Avoided an Operation Appendicitis Disappeared"

Mrs. James Wells, Udora, Ont., writes:—

"I took a severe pain in my right side. It was very bad at times. I tried oils and tablets without gaining any relief. The doctor pronounced it chronic appendicitis. I dreaded an operation and a friend advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I used them and not only obtained relief from pain, but I believe it has completely freed me of appendicitis, as it is now over a year since I have had any of the old symptoms."

MAKE THE BACKYARD PAY

By W. R. BEATTIE.

Garden vegetables for the most part have to be planted every year. Asparagus and rhubarb, however, lead the list of the more or less permanent vegetables and are deserving of a place in small gardens wherever soil and climate are suitable.

The planting of these crops is but the first step. They must have proper fertilization, cultivation and care at all times.

Asparagus stores energy in its fleshy roots during the summer and is one of the first plants to grow in the spring. Its tender shoots are a real delicacy early in spring. Asparagus may be grown practically everywhere in the United States, but especially along the sea coast and where the rainfall is reasonably heavy.

Important in starting an asparagus bed is to get good, strong, one-year plants or "crowns" as they are called. A bed of asparagus 12 by 12 feet in size containing about 50 plants set 18 inches apart in each direction is about right for the small garden. Before setting the plants, which may be done either in the spring or the fall, the ground should be trenched by throwing the surface soil to one side then spading three or four inches of manure into the bottom layer so the soil will be worked and fertilized to a depth of 12 or 14 inches. About 8 to 10 pounds of coarse bone meal should also be sprinkled over the lower strata of soil and worked into it with the manure.

A little of the surface soil is spread over the manured subsoil and the crowns placed in position. About half or two-thirds of the remaining surface soil is then shoveled over the crowns, taking care to see that their roots are spread evenly in all directions. The remaining soil is piled to one side and later filled in after the plants have started to grow.

Three-Year Growth.

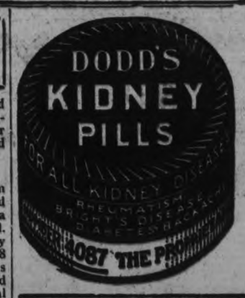
No cutting should be made from the asparagus bed until the third year in order to give the plants a chance to become well established. After the third year the bed may be cut for a period of about 6 or 8 weeks. After the cutting period is over the plants should be fertilized with good manure and commercial fertilizers.

During the summer the plants are frefuently stripped by the little asparagus beetles or more particularly by the small dark colored slugs that later develop into the beetles. These slugs can be poisoned by spraying or dusting the plants with arsenate of lead or with paris green.

Rhubarb.

Rhubarb is not so well adapted to growing everywhere as it requires hard freezing during the winter to make it healthy and vigorous. Like asparagus, however, rhubarb stores energy in its roots all through the summer, then with the first signs of spring it makes one grand appearance in the form of tender leaf stems.

Rhubarb is startes by planting pieces of root having at least one good bod or eye. Five or six hills produce enough for the average family, but the hills soon become too thick and require dividing. It is a good plan to have a few new hills coming on as no leaves should be pulled the first year. In some sections Rhubarb will give splendid yields for 15 to 20 years, but as a rule 7 or 8 years is about the limit without resetting.



TWO MORE GERMAN WORKMEN HAVE DIED

ESSEN, April 5. — (Canadian Press)—Two more of the German workmen wounded in the clash with French troops at the Krupp plant here last Saturday, died to-day, bringing the total fatalities to 13.

The common funeral for the victims which had been set for to-day has been postponed until Friday or Saturday, principally because the arrangements could not be completed in time.

The workmen will be buried in the "Cemetery of Honor," laid out during the war for men who died in the service of their country.

The Krupp plant, which had been closed since Saturday, resumed work to-day. Officals said it would continue to operate indefinitely as orders were on hand for several months and a few more were coming in from time to time. The output, except that for Ruhr consumption, is being stored, as the Krupps refuse to disobey the Berlin Government's orders not to pay the French export taxes.

QUIZ CORNER

VANCOUVER ISLAND'S LUMBER.

Q—What was the lumber production on Vancouver island in 1922?

A—Approximately 330,000,000 feet of lumber were produced on Vancouver Island during 1922, an increase over the previous year of about 50,000,000 feet. The outlook for 1923 is decidely encouraging. Australia had placed some large orders in the British Columbia market lately, and indications are that the export business will be improved all round, with better prices ruling.

ENGLISH AND WELSH COAL.

Q—To what extent is English and Welsh coal being brought to Canada?

A—As a result of the coal strike in 1922 in the United States, a quarter of a million tons of Welsh anthracite and English bituminous coal from the Tyne were landed at St. Lawrence river ports during the year, at lower prices than American anthracite.

THE KNOWN DEAD FROM TORNADO IS MOUNTING

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 5 (Canadian Press).—The known dead in the tornado which early last night struck Pineville and vicinity, across the Red River from Alexandria, reached 24, with arrivals of the train bringing the bodies of eight persons killed at Pineville and Sawmill Settlement, a mile east of that town.

Following in the wake of an unprecedented preparation, the tornado last night swooped down upon the little town of Pineville, La., separated from Alexandria by the Red River, killing 14 persons, injuring at least 50 others, and laying waste everything within its three-mile path of several hundred yards' width.

All of those killed were residents of Pineville, and the nearby Sawmill Settlement.

The number of missing has not been determined early to-day.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N.Y.

NEW PROCESS DRY CLEANING

Installation of the De Laval Continuous Clarification System in Two City Plants.

The De Laval Company has just installed in Parker's and Lansfield's cleaning establishments on Charlotte street a new system of odorless dry cleaning, whereby with the use of the De Laval multiple clarifier the clothes are being cleaned in naptha that is always clarified. This is generally considered the greatest advance in dry cleaning methods made in the past decade. It keeps the cleaning fluid clean all the time and greatly improves the quality of the work.

The installations in Peterborough are the first in this district. The first plant was put into operation in 1919 at Atlanta, N. J., and since that it is now used by hundreds of leading cleaners in the United States.

LIVING IN GERMANY STILL LURES AMERICANS

COBLENZ, April 4.—The cheap living in this part of the Rhine country continues to attract many Americans abroad, many of whom came here originally to visit the American occupation zone.

The occupied territories all along the Rhine enjoy the advantage of having prices regulated, in a manner not possible in unoccupied Germany, where Americans and other strangers sometimes complain they are overcharged, or else compelled to pay higher prices than Germans. The living is cheap because of the relative worthlessness of the mark when exchanged for the dollar or the pound sterling.

How it works out for the German is another matter. What is cheap to the foreigner is dear to him.

In the case of automobile drivers, the American may use a taxi for a day, and the entire bill will not be more than three or four dollars, out of which sum the driver gets the equivalent of 25 cents.

In other words, the average daily pay of the skilled workman is 3,000 to 4,000 marks. This also applies to railway workers of all classes.

When it is noted that a man's shirt costs 15,000 to 20,000 marks, and a pair of shoes 30,000 to 60,000 marks, and both articles of second grade quality, it may be inferred how high the depreciated mark has put the cost of living for the German.

One of these skilled laborers, now driving an automobile for hire, was an infantry captain during the war. After the war, he worked for the British army of occupation, and by great good luck made some money when the reduced British forces began selling off supplies. He accumulated a capital in marks the equivalent of $10,000.

With this sum he decided to buy a farm and take his wife and children to the country. He bought a 300-acre farm near Coblenz and went to work. His surplus he invested in farm equipment, horses, stock and seeds.

By the summer of 1920 he had a fine harvest, but the diminished value of the mark cut his crop and land values in two. This process continued until he failed.

He sold most of his land and is now obliged to work for a few thousand marks a day, with the mark still depreciating in value and prices going higher. He and his family now eat black bread and wear rags.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

AN URGE TO ACTION.

(By John T. Bartlett)

The advertiser who feels that many people, reading his Want Ad, will not, on the instant, require his services or goods, yet are likely to at some future date, can easily make a strong bid for future orders. He makes the very last words in his message, even after his 'phone number and address, "Clip this Want Ad." If his message is detailed and convincing, readers will actually do that—clip the Want Ad. This much is certain—many more will clip the Want Ad, urged to, than would otherwise. Months later, perhaps, the advertiser will get orders as the direct result of the brief injunction.

Whatever it is you wish the reader to do, a good idea may be to urge him definitely to, in so many words, in your Want Ad. All your life you have read display advertisements which contained, "Order now!" or similar exhortation. Repeated tests have proved the power of such commands. And they work in Want Ads, too. The minimize the possibility of procrastination, so apt to be fatal to the advertiser's plans. They spur to action.

"Make your selection at once, for construction costs are advancing."

"If you are interested in a well-built home, at a fair price, call Mr. Fairbrother at once."

"Step to your phone and ask for further information."

"But this very day."

"Seize this opportunity, for it will never come again."

Two of these examples, the first and the last, show one clever way to make the urge to action effective. This is to associate the command with a reason. One of the best reasons, of course, is the fact that unless the reader acts at once he will miss an opportunity.

CARL THOUGHT END WAS NEAR

Declares Tanlac Restored Him Fully When in Despair From Stomach Trouble.

"I just think Tanlac is the last word in medicine," recently said James Carl, well-known carpenter and builder, of 123 John street, Hamilton, Ont.

"In 1916 my health began to run down and in spite of all I could do my condition got worse. Every bone in my body seemed to ache and my stomach caused me no end of trouble During all the winter of 1920 I was so miserable I never expected to see the snow off the ground. I would almost smother from the gas on my stomach and many a night I never closed my eyes in sleep.

"Before I got Tanlac I was simply a physical wreck and would walk the floor not knowing what to do. The first few doses of Tanlac showed me it was what I needed and four bottles built me up fifteen pounds and put me in the best of health. Mind you that was a year ago, but I have felt fine ever since. No one can go wrong by taking the Tanlac treatment."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 35-million bottles sold.

TWELVE THOUSAND MINERS ON STRIKE.

CARDIFF, Wales, Opril 5.—(Canadian Press)—All the miners numbering about twelve thousand, employed in the mines owned by Viscountess Rhondda, are involved in a great strike which began to-day throughout the Rhondda district of Glamorganshide. In all close to fifty thousand miners have laid down their tools, with the avowed object of forcing the 5,000 non-union workers to join the miners' federation.

Viscountess Rhondda assumed the title on the death of her father, long known as the British 'Coal King.' She succeeded him in the direction of many of his business enterprises and is sometimes called the "Coal Queen of Great Britain." She is director of the great Cambrian collieries.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

A STICK OF DYNAMITE CAUSE OF A FATALITY

OTTAWA, April 5 (Canadian Press). — The premature explosion of a stick of dynamite yesterday afternoon in the hands of Lawrence R. "Bud" Mulligan, aged 31, storekeeper of Billing's Bridge, who was blasting an ice jam on Billing's Creek, blew off his hands and caused him such severe injuries to his eyes and internally that he died in the local hospital last night.

George Craig, a civil servant, who was helping Mulligan, suffered slight injuries to his abdomen and hands.

To the Ontario Hydro Commission—
Ilier and Ireland:

Dear Sirs: In opposing the scheme for hydro for the police village of Warkworth, we the opposers, wish to give you a few reasons why it should not come, granted the bylaw carried with a very small majority which was not won on a fair basis, we think. Perhaps you will be glad to know the largest property owners and taxpayers are very much against this scheme, because we cannot afford it. We are not willing to become responsible for this lot levied against our property as it is the corporation of this village who are held for the most. We object most strenuously to it. Among the most ardent promoters are A. C. Twiddy, H. L. Walker and Mr. W. Cox, who signed up, and A. Broomfield have sold out their interests in our village, and are going away. Others signed who do not own a foot of property in the village. The skating arena and bowling green are both signed up and are both places without registration. These things are not fair and square dealing. We have just as good light as we can pay for. This is not written in prejudice. There are many widows and single women who find their taxes heavy enough. Now we believe the Hydro promoters are men of better judgment than to put over such a faulty piece of business.

Signed on behalf of the Police Village property owners whose assessment is not over eighty thousand dollars and who will not use Hydro if it comes to our village.

Any communication you wish to have with this side of the question will be gladly received by Mr. C. Bowen, one of the Village Commissioners. Hope you will give this matter your serious consideration before you go any further.

Signed by the opposing property owners.

We, the property owners of the Police Village of Warkworth cannot afford Hydro and do not intend to put it in our homes if it comes to our village: Mrs. W. H. Barringer, C. S. Osborne, W. Waite, John Dick D. Harnden, J. H. Angus, R. Clark, John Herriott, Mrs. Mary Spencer, Mr. G. H. Bensley, Miss C. Ross, Jas McCracken, Harold Insley, Miss M. O'Connell, George H. Harvie, Maggie Beach, George M. Hardinge, J. J. Tyler, George Shaw, Mrs. Alex. Mowat, P. D. Cockburn, Mrs. A. F. Darling, Mrs. Chas. Bowen, Mrs. Alfred Ingalls, Miss L. Wilson, Mr. John O'Shea, Mrs. John O'Shea, Mrs. John Donahue, Mrs. Allen Spiers, Mrs. William Duncan, Mrs. N. M. Black, Alex. Mowat, George Wilson, Samuel Black, Jos. Owens, Chas E. Bowen, Mrs. Jane Weatherson.

Moved by A. M. Smale, seconded by W. A. Kelly, that the said copy or communication be placed on file for future reference.—Carried.

Moved by W. A. Kelly, seconded by Charles E. Bowen that final notice be given warning all parties running express wagons o bicycles upon sidewalks or playing ball upon the streets of the village of Warkworth.—Carried.

Moved by A. M. Smale, seconded by Chas. E. Bowen, that the minutes and communications of this meeting be published.—Carried.

On motion of A. M. Smale, the Board then adjourned.

NEWS KEENE AND DISTRICT

Special Easter Services Were of a Musical Character--Personal and News Paragraphs.

KEENE, April 5.—The special Easter service held in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary was of a deeply impressive nature. The pulpit was beautifully and artistically decorated for the occasion. The church choir rendered excellent music. The pastor, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, by special request of the auxiliary, preached a missionary sermon for the occasion. The procedure for the services was as follows:

Doxology—"Apostles' Creed."
Hymn—"Christ, the Lord."
Prayer—By the pastor (the Lord's Prayer sung).
Responsive reading—Leader, Miss Brough.
Choir anthem—"Awake, Rejoice."

A splendid report and talk on the work of the auxiliary was given by the President, Mrs. B. Kindred.

Solo—"O, Garden Fair," Mrs. Harrisson.
Musical monologue—Mrs. McLauchlin.
Hymn—"Lo, in the Grave."
Duett—"Welcome the Morning," Mrs. Wedlock and Mrs. McLauchlin.
Hymn—"Come Ye Saints."
Benediction.
Choir—"Crown Him King."

PRETTY WEDDING HELD IN LAKEFIELD

Marriage of Katherine Stewart Atwood and John William Todd Took Place Yesterday.

LAKEFIELD, April 4.—This afternoon in St. John's Church, Lakefield a pretty wedding of considerable local interest took place when Katherine Stewart Atwood was united in marriage to John William Todd. The bride was given away by her brother, G. Evans Atwood of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Mackenzie assisted by Rev. C. Grant King. The ushers were Messrs. Gordon Grahame, K. A. Mackenzie and Keith Tate. Mr. R. J. Devy, organist of St. John's church, Peterboro officiated at the organ and gave an organ recital before the wedding ceremony. "O Perfect Love" was sung by the choir as the bridal party entered the church. After the wedding a reception was held at "Ashelworth" the home of the bride's mother and was attended by about forty guests. Mrs. Atwood who wore black silk with a beautiful hand made shawl that she wore at her own wedding and which was the handiwork of Agnes Strickland, historian of the Queens of England, received the guests assisted by her daughter, Mrs. F. H. Lingwood. Miss Annie Atwood wore brown lace over satin and Miss Florence Atwood wore powder blue satin. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. E. R. Tate and responded to by the groom.

The happy couple motored to Peterboro en route to Toronto and other places where their honeymoon will be spent and upon their return will reside in Lakefield. The bride was attired in a travelling suit of broadcloth with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses. The wedding gifts were many and beautiful testifying to the high esteem in which Mr and Mrs. Todd are held. The bride has been organist of St. John's church for a number of years and also treasurer of the Chancel Guild. Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Lingwood, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. G. Evans Atwood, Toronto; Mrs. E. E. Cassan, Campbellford; Mrs. Grieve, Miss Marion Grieve, Mrs. O. A. Langley, Miss Dorothy Langley, Mr. F. M. DelaFosse and Mr. R. J Devey, all of Peterboro.

healthy children, physically and mentally. A farm of 135 acres has been purchased near Georgetown, Ontario, and the first contingent of children will be brought there in May. The boys will be taught agriculture and horticulture, the girls the care of domestic animals, dairying, household science, etc.

It costs $150 to bring one child from Constantinople to Georgetown: $300 for its keep the first year, and $100 per annum thereafter. For the sum of $750 a child can be looked after and trained for five years. The speaker reported excellent progress in the work in different Canadian cities. Port Arthur, where the first branch was formed, is bringing out and supporting five children for a period of five years, Fort William is supporting six children, the little town of St. Mary's seven. Speaking of a young Methodist woman in the west who has volunteered to teach some of these children, and whose letters from her pastor were unexceptionable, Dr. Vining said: "What good will accrue to these children's souls as well as their bodies by such training."

Cause of Persecution.

"I have before me a recent cable telling of 35,000 men, women and children trudging through the snow towards a place of safety. The query was, who would feed them? Another cable told of 167,000 refugees, old people and children, setting forth in an attempt to reach safety, and dying on the road. Eye-witnesses tell of the Turks lifting tender little children high above their heads and dashing them to death on the rocks.

"Why have the Armenians suffered so? Because they have been faithful to their ideals, and through all the ages they have clung steadfastly to the Cross of Christ. They have refused to denounce the Cross, and they have been crucified.

"A young university graduate said to me the other day, 'But they were only Armenians.' Only Armenians! When the people of the British Isles were living in huts the Armenians had guided their ships through the narrows to go and engage the world in commerce. They have been our peers and equals in the race of civilization. The most brilliant students in the leading university of the Balkans have been Armenians, and some of the most brilliant lecturers in Oxford University have been Armenians.

Allies in World War.

"They were our allies in the world war. Does London forget that fact? I know of 900 Armenians from the United States who fought in a French regiment, and when the war was over just 35 remained; in other words, 865 out of 900 laid down their lives in the cause of freedom. Even Canada can produce no finer showing than this. General Allenby owed his success in Mesopotamia in no small measure to the fighting qualities of the Armenians on the Caucasian front. Ludendorff, evil genius of the German army, made as an excuse for failure on the east front the inability to get oil. Why? Because the Armenians wouldn't let the Turks through to the wells. The Armentians helped us win the war, and they have got a raw deal.

"On June 19, 1919, a notable gathering was held in London, England, which inclured the most distinguished men of Great Britain and representatives of 27 distinguished societies. Lord Gladstone, noble son of a noble father, presided. T. P. O'Connor thanked God the bloody hand of the Turk was at last off the throat of Armenia. There was a throwing up of hats because Armenia's day had come.

"After that, what happened? Armenia was knifed by the allies, and I can prove it. Briand was eloquent as Clemenceau in his praise of the Armenians in 1920. In 1921 he took a dirk and drove it to the hilt in the hearts of the Armenians. We have the spectacle of the allies on their knees before the terrible Turks, and the Turks insolently ordering that the graves of the men of Britain who gave up their lives in the war shall take up less space at Gallipoli. The allies are on their knees to the Turks. There are a good many people afraid of Kemal to-day, but in 1809 there were a good many who were afraid of Napoleon, and his power is dead, while the influence of the men born in 1809, of Gladstone, and Tennyson, and Chopin, of Abraham Lincoln, still lives in the hearts and minds of men. Who knows but some of these little Armenian children will grow up to a far-reaching power far in excess of that of Kemal Pasha?"

Local Officers.

Rev. Mr. Vining asked that officers be appointed to form a local branch of the Armenian Relief Association. At a previous visit here, a provisional committee was formed, who had since that time accomplished nothing whatever. Mr. Vining urged a greater degree of enthusiasm. Mr. W. R. Breyfogle had been named president, but was unable to act; Mr. H. B. Cowan, vice-president; Mr. J. W. Fraser, secretary-treasurer. A committee was composed of: Mrs. W. D. Scott, Mrs. A. Mowat, Mrs. M. A. Morrison, Messrs. W. G. Shiner, A. E. Dixon, H. Rush, and the members of the Ministerial Association.

Last night's meeting failing to appoint a president, it was decided, on motion of Rev. H. M. Manning, seconded by J. Kennett, to appoint a committee to wait on G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., and ask him to take the presidency. This followed a suggestion of Rev. W. H. Young, who was appointed chairman of the committee, with Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. W. Roger, Rev. A. J. Langford, Dr. M. A. Morrison, Dr. Ray Scott and Mr. Joseph Wearing. Mr. Leon Fraser, who was not present, was nominated as secretary for the proposed society, which, while pledging itself to assist in bringing out one hundred children to Canada this year, is also asked to help in contributing Canada's quota of $75,000 to the fund of the Lord Mayor of London, established for the upkeep of the orphans in Corfu and elsewhere for whom the fund has assumed responsibility.

Work of Women.

Dr. Vining, who, in the course of his address, paid a tribute to the work of the Canadian women and of the I.O.D.E. in assisting the cause, asked at the conclusion of the meeting: "Do you people here mean business to-night?" being finally reassured by a second showing of hands.

Rev. A. J. Langford occupied the chair. Rev. R. Pogue took the Scripture reading, and Rev. B. Greatrix and Rev. H. M. Manning offered prayer. The choir sang under the direction of G. H. King at the organ. Mrs. King, in rich, sweet tones, rendered in splendid fashion a solo, "Make Somebody Happy To-Day."

TEN INDIANS CLAIMED

pound lunge through a hole in the ice at Chemong Lake. He was charged with catching fish and also with having in his possession one maskinonge and two bass.

R. W. Carson's Story.

Robert W. Carson, special patrol officer of the Fish and Game Department, testified that he and Constable A. R. Moore were driving up Chemong Lake on March 14 when they noticed some men fishing toward the Ennismore shore.

"We drove over there and found three men lying on the ice, each with a blanket over his head and fish beside each hole in the ice where they lay. Moore stopped at the first hole and I drove on to where a man, who gave his name as Thomas Taylor had just landed a 16 1-2 pound maskinonge. I also found one bass where Taylor was. He was using what I consider a gaff. I seized his fish and gaff, which is illegal for fishing at all times.

Mr. Strickland—Did you tell the Indians they had a right to fish in certain waters? Ans.—Certainly not. You've discussed with Indians whether they had the right to fish during the closed season? Ans.—I considered they had not.

Mr. Carson said he had told them they could fish in creeks and streams on the reserve. He never laid a charge unless upon instructions from the Department after reporting the circumstances.

Had Reported Fishing.

Mr. Carson said he had reported Indians fishing during the closed season, and had not received instructions to prosecute until this occasion.

To Mr. Hatton witness said the Indians were fishing about 8 or 9 miles from their village.

Constable A. R. Moore corroborated Mr. Carson's evidence.

Mr. Strickland Protests.

David Jacobs, of the Chemong Reserve, was next called by the Crown, and this resort to one of the accused men to identify another of their number drew a rather sharp protest from Mr. Strickland, their solicitor.

"A most remarkable state of affairs," he said, "that the Crown has to call one of my clients to testify against another."

"Quite admissable," was His Worship's comment.

Mr. Strickland said that restrictive laws such as the O.T.A. and the game law were creating conditions approaching persecution. He contended that there was no ground for the witnesses' statement that facial differences were slight among Indians and that they were not readily identified. He asserted that they had individual features as marked as those of a white man.

Jacobs identified the accused as Thomas Taylor. He was present the day of the fishing. There was one other Thomas Taylor on the reserve. He was known as 'Long Tom.'

Mr. Strickland offered no defence.

Assault Case.

The evidence of Inspector Toole, of Lindsay, against John Knott of Chemong, who was charged with assisting the overseer in the execution of his duty, was heard in order that he would be free to be in Lindsay to-day for another court case.

Mr. Toole said he was driving on Pigeon Lake in pursuance of his duties as fish and game overseer.

"I met John Knott and told him I wanted to see what he had on a hand sleigh. I caught hold of the rope and he struck at me with his fist. I knocked the blow [illegible] picked up a stick and struck at me. He had a small frying pan. I picked it up and hit him on the head with it. He had a short-handled shovel and tried to use that, but I took it from him.

There was another Indian coming behind him. I was trying to watch him and during that time John Knott got a long-handled chisel off the sleigh. He swung it up and threatened to hit me with it. I let him go with the sleigh and he and the other Indian started away."

Mr. Toole said he counted about fourteen Indians in the vicinity. The long-handled chisel was used for cutting holes in the ice.

To Mr. Kerr witness said he had asked Knott what he on the sleigh. Knott replied that there was nothing on it belonging to the inspector, and pulled the rope out of Toole's hand. He didn't display his badge, because he believed the Indian knew who he was.

ENJOYABYE SOCIAL AT ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Despite the inclemency of the weather quite a large number attended the social held in St. George's school room on Tuesday evening, April 3, to celebrate the completion of the basement extension. The event was under the auspices of the men's club.

A sociable spirit pervaded throughought, and old and young found much enjoyment in games, Carpet-ball was the source of much amusement, the ladies running in fair competition with the men.

Rev. W. R. Courage spoke briefly on the reason for the entertainment and thanked all who had helped in anyway with the new extension.

Thos who assisted with the programme were; pianoforte solos, Miss G. Brownlee; vocal solo, F. Pratt; duets, the Misses Walker; violin solo, W. Farr; vocal solo, W .Farr. Miss G .Brownlee and Mr. W. Farr acted as accompanists.

Mr. Browne kindly lent his Victrola for the evening, and many pleasing selections were enjoyed.

The thanks of St. George's church are due to all who helped with this new extension: to Mr. Patterson for gravel, J. S. Bell for sand, to all members for subscriptions toward the cement, to H. Wilson for bricks, and Harry Parks for doing the electrical work. Very best thanks are also due to Messrs Sam Parks, Thomas Parks, Albert Cuffe and S. Jay.

To the former for work on the building, all of which they did gratis, and to S. Jay for collecting the money to carry on the extenston.

above it comes the County Court, which deals with actions involving larger sums. All civil disputes can be contested with or without a jury. The Supreme Court of Ontario, formerly known as the High Court, was the highest court in the civil branch. The Maritime Courts dealt with such matters as when one ship runs down another, or a sailor makes a claim against a ship; and the Exchequer Court was established to adjudicate upon claims against the Government.

Divorce Court.

"If a person seeks a divorce in Ontario or Quebec he is told by his lawyer that there is no court properly so called, to deal with divorces," Mr. Kerr said. "His lawyer tells him that a committee of the Senate will hear applications for a divorce which may be granted on only one ground unfaithfulness on the part of husband or wife. That committee makes a report to the Houses of Parliament, and instead of a judge making a pronouncement an Act of Parliament is brought in and has to pass both of them to give effect to the decree of the Senate committee separating man and wife. For historical reasons Nova Scotia and New Brunswick retained the divorce courts that they had prior to Confederation, and Alberta, Saskatchewan and, I think lately Manitoba, have taken the ground that they are entitled to establish divorce courts. Applicants go to these courts but this does not deprive persons in those provinces from taking their cases to the Senate."

Appellate Division.

Referring to the machinery for dealing with appeals, Mr. Kerr said that an appeal from the Division Court was heard by one Judge in Toronto. If a litigant was not satisfied with a County Court decision, he had the right to appeal to the court of five judges, but if the amount involved exceeded $5000, the case could be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada sitting at Ottawa; and, if the matter was of sufficient importance, the litigant had still the right, under certain restrictions, of appealing to the Privy Council in London.

The great percentage of work in the courts, Mr. Kerr said, had nothing to do with criminal law, but were honest disputes between individuals, perhaps between neighbors, between companies, to have their rights properly interpreted.

Criminal Cases.

On the criminal side, persons charged with murder, rape, treason and manslaughter, were tried in a High Court. Lesser crimes, those that might fall within an intermediate division, were tried either at the General Sessions of the Peace by the county judge with a jury, or by the police magistrate without a jury; or after a preliminary hearing by the police magistrate, they would, if committed go before the County Judge without a jury. This last recourse, Mr. Kerr said, was a comparatively recent development to avoid keeping a person in jail or compelling him to go before a judge and jury. Petty offences could be tried by a Justice of the Peace, generally a well meaning man, but without legal training. Only in recent years was there any appeal whatever in criminal cases except on some technical point. Even now the jurisdiction of a criminal court of appeal is exceedingly limited.

Juries Limited.

Four kinds of cases were required to be tried by jury; slander, libel, seduction and criminal conversation. In all other cases it rests with the discretion of the trial judge whether he would have a jury or not. So far as civil actions are concerned, the right to have a jury is almost wiped out. Mr. Kerr cited from a law report the extremely large number of civil actions in England that were recently dealt with by judges alone compared with only a few by a jury. He questioned whether in the long run the country would gain by the practical abolition of the jury system. For the responsibility and experience gained through their duties as juries Mr. Kerr believed that the community received an incalculable benefit.

Danger of Bureaucracy.

"Where the people cease to feel their own sense of responsibility they become controlled and driven along by a bureaucracy of officers, officialdom, and I don't understand it to be the genius of the British people to be controlled by the bureaucrats," Mr. Kerr asserted. "They have always felt that they wanted a hand on the oar."

In Criminal cases, he said, a man was tried by jury, unless he chose otherwise.

Court Regalia.

In conclusion Mr. Kerr referred to the regalia of the law courts. The Division Court was rather rough and ready, and no gowns were worn. Any man who wished might plead a case in the Division Court, but he would probably stumble over precedents and principles he never knew existed before he had got far.

Gowns and white ties were worn in the County Court. They were a survival from the early days when the priests and clergy practiced in court and came in their robes. Judges and counsel were all arrayed in the appellate courts. In English courts one finds that not only the Judge but the lawyers also wear big wigs.

Anomaly in Dress.

"It is a rather extraordinary thing" said Mr. Kerr, "that if you go through the Canadian Courts to the Privy Council you will see all the judges in gowns and regalia, but when you come to the Privy Council the judges turn up in ordinary day clothes whilst the lawyers are in their robes. If you go to the House of Lords the last Court of Appeal for the English people, you find all the judges with their wigs on. It is an indication of the fact that the British people are a great combination of democracy on the one hand, and a clinging to custom and tradition on the other."

Mr. Kerr said that judgments of courts entered into the whole warp and woof of our lives and business system.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, Mr. A. L. Elliott made a neat reference to the fact that the Junior Chamber had the privilege of listening to an address from the President of the Ontario aBr Association

Central League Games and Umps---Footballers All O.K. Now

PETERBORO FOOTBALL TEAMS HAVE CLEARED UP ALL DIFFICULTIES

O.F.A. Officials Smoothed Out the Troubles Which Threatened to Wreck the Local Association.

NO SUSPENSIONS.

The Peterborough and District Football Association wiped the slate clean an dwill start anew as the result of the conference held last evening between the members of the association and officers of the O.F.A.

President W. E. (Billy) Dean, of Hamilton and R. B. Muir of Toronto, were the representatives of the O.F.A. present and they evidenced a desire on the part of the provincial body to do everything possible to straighten out the unfortunate tangle which resulted last fall in the play for the Gordon Cup and which all but wrecked the local organization. While standing firm in the matter of the findings of the O.F.A. in the past they were ready and willing to make any reasonable concession to aid the Peterborough Association to promote and foster a clean and sportsmanlike game.

Their action paves the way for a big future for football in Peterborough hand district and should be the means of putting the game on a firmer foundation here than it has ever enjoyed in the past. None of the players of the three teams involved in last fall's mix-up will be suspended, but the findings of the O.F.A in regard to the appealed protest were upheld and the fine of $20 which was assessed will have to be paid. Former President Charles Lloyd was also debarred from taking part in any organized football activities till such times as he he has made a satisfactory explanation of his alleged actions in ordering the final game between the Quakers and Woollens played in direct opposition to the orders of the O.F.A. Mr. Lloyd was unable to attend last night's meeting.

Representatives of the various teams involved as well as representatives of the executive body of last year's P. & D.F.A. were heard, and it soon became apparent that the whole affair was the result of mistakes, misunderstandings and ignorance of certain sections of the constitution and by-laws governing the district and provincial bodies. The willingness of the provincial officers to take a sympaathetic view of these failing paved the way to an harmonious understanding which will enable the local players to start off with the prospects of one of the most successful seasons in the history of Peterborough.

It appears from the evidence adduced lat last night's meeting that the trouble started in the semi-final game for the Gordon cup, which was played between the Woollens and Comrades. A dispute arose and the gar e was awarded to the Woollens after the Comrades had left the field with the score standing 4 to 2 for the Woollens and five minutes still to play. Comrades later protested the game on the ground that Fred Rappe, one of the Woollens players, had not been properly registered. (It was stated last night by several of those present that both teams were delinquent in the matter of registrtaion of players, as were several other teams in the Association.) At the time Rappe was signed by the Woollens the required registration forms were not available, and he, with many others, was permitted to register on a blank sheet of paper. (This was pointed out last evening to be directly contrary to the constitution.) The officials of the Woollens team were under the impression that he had been legally registered and even after the proper registration certificates had been received by the secretary nothing further was done toward having him properly registered till after the protest had been lodged.

When the protest came before the P. & D.F.A. it was held that Rappe was legally registered and the game was awarded to the Woollens on the grounds that the Comrades had left the field before the game was ended. This decision was appealed to the provincial body, who upheld the appeal that Rappe was not a properly registered player but as the Comrades were also at fault for having left the field before time was up the game was ordered replayed. Members of the district executive felt that they had not been given a fair hearing at the protest appeal meeting, their chief complaint being the inability of many of the members to attend on account of the shortness of the notice given and having declared the Woollens the winners they ordered that team to meet the Quakers in the final game.

Notification was sent from the O. F.A. that any players taking part in this game would be suspended. Again shortness of notice intervened and some of the players stated last evening that they were only officially told of this order the day after the game was played. The Quakers won the game and were awarded the cup but all three teams were suspended by the O.F.A. pending further investigation of the case.

Owing to these suspensions and the uncertainty of the standing of the local organization the P. & D.F. A. had not been able to get under way so far this year, but owing to the happy outcome of last night's meeting the work of organization for the coming season will be undertaken immediately, and in this connection it was announced at the close of the meeting that Friday will be absolutely the last day on which applications of teams for membership in the league can be accepted.

HANDBALL TOURNEY AT "Y.M." NEXT WEEK

Handball is the chief topic of conversation among the senior members of the Y.M.C.A. these spring days. The local "Y" has in the tower of their building a handball court worthy of pride, and members are taking full advantage of it and have got right into the science of the game. There are many real stars at the game now, so Doug. Loomis has quite recently announced a handball tournament and already twenty-six men have signified their intention of competing in it. Everything points to the fact that there will be strong competition and keen rivalry among the contestants. The Collegiate members have been put in a separate group and the winners of this group will pay off with the pair winning the open group.

All names of those wishing to compete in this tourney must be in to Mr. Loomis not later than the end of this week, as tournament will get under way at the beginning of next week and things will then commence to happen in the old "Y" tower.

BOWLING

FINAL GAMES.

On Monday evening at 7.30, the Post Office and Westclox teams are scheduled to meet at the Water Street Alleys in the final match for the Gordon Trophy and the championship of the Mercantile Five-Pin League. The Westclox now have a small margin by virtue of their victory in the first match of the round, but the Post Office team is still well in the running.

TIE FOR SECOND.

By taking two of three games from the Ardebils last evening the Kirman team jumped into a tie with the Ardebils for second place in the Brinton Carpet Five-Pin League.

The teams were very evenly matched last evening. Shaughnessy held the high score with 459 pins, while D. Leether was a close second with 455. The scores were:

BATTLING SIKI GOES BACK ON TRAMP BOAT

HAVRE, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Battling Siki, who is the latest ring victim of Mike McTigue, Irish American fighter, returned to France today on the tramp steamer Finola. One month ago he left Cherbourg for Ireland on the palatial liner President Adams,

Fired by Minors Hired by Majors

GUSTAVE SANDBERG.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 5. — The unique record of having been fired by a minor league club and hired by a major league one in the same season belongs to Gustave Sandberg, new catcher for the Reds, who is expected to show well the coming year.

Last year was Sandberg's fifth in the International League. He started out with Toronto last year, but in June a deal was arranged that would have sent him to New Orleans in the Southern League. This was even a step below the International.

George Stallings, of the Rochester club, refused to waive on him, however, and he was used regularly for that club behind the bat. Pat Moran, the Reds' manager, saw Sandy in action, and paid a good price for his release.

DO YOU KNOW?

By United Press.

"Who is the best outfielder in the major leagues?"—A BETTOR.

It is all a matter of individual opinion, as there is no standard way of determining all the factors that enter into a great ball player. Ty Cobb is still a most remarkable player, and there are many good judges who believe that Carson Bigbee of the Pirates was the best last year. Tris Speaker was one of the greatest, but his legs have gone back on him.

"Why is it, if Tom Gibbons is such a great fighter, that he does nothing but meet set-ups?"—M.E.T.

Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager, claims that he can't get any kind of matches, but his opinion might be considered biased. Tex Rickard, however, says that he has had Gibbons signed to an agreement for more than a year and can get no one to meet him.

"Is Gene Tunney still the American light heavyweight champion since Mike McTigue won the world's championship?"—B.C.R.

TO BUILD STADIUM

NEW YORK, April 5. — (Canadian Press.)—Ground will be broken next Monday for the new concrete stadium to be built by the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, Long Island where the United States will defend its title to the Davis Cup this year. The stadium is to be built in the shape of a horseshoe, and will seat 12,000 spectators. Temporary or permanent additions may be made to increase this capacity by 9,000.

U. S. SHRINERS IN ATHENS.

ATHENS.—(By Mail to United Press).—Bishop Darlington of the Pennsylvania Diocese headed a party of forty American Shriners who landed at Athens from the big tourist liner Rotterdam and who accepted the hospitality of Ralph Knapp, Director of the Near-East Relief Association. A Masonic service was held on Mars Hill, near the Acropolis, where Bishop Darlington read the seventeenth chapter of The Acts, containing the sermon preached on the same spot by St. Paul nineteen centuries ago.

HIGHEST POINT IN FLORIDA 325 FEET ABOVE SEA LEVEL

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Florida, speaking physically, is the lowest state of the union.

The geological survey has just complete a topographical investigation showing that the Penisula State's highest elevation, located in Polk county and known as "Iron Mountain" is only 325 feet above sea feet level. The widely known Everglades, comprising an area 150 miles long and about 100 miles broad are at an average elevation of less than 50 feet above the sea, while the surface of the shallow lake within them, Okeechobee, is not quite 20 feet above sea level.

Even the one or two ridges within the borders of the state scarcely rise to 300 feet elevation. The capital, Tallahassee, is located on the slope of one of the uplands, and within the city border the elevation varies from 3000 feet above the sea level to less than 80 feet.

DON'T WANT FIRPO TO GET CLEVER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 5.—(United Press)—When he learns how to box and gets so he can move around, Luis Angel Firpo will be a great heavyweight, the verdict read after the jury of experts had seen the giant South American club Bill Brennan to the mat with the wild swings of a cave-man.

"Let him get clever before he talks about Dempsey. No swinging will do good without boxing" said all of them but Jimmy De Forest.

Jimmy, wise old veteran of the ring and the best teacher in the country, is handling Firpo and trying to do what he did with Dempsey, whom he took in the rough, a green, wild swinger, and made him champion of the world.

"There's one thing I don't want want him to do, and that's get clever. He doesn't need it. All he needs to learn is to hit straight and use his left hand and he'll be there. A man who can take a punch like he can and hit like he can doesn't need any cleverness," De Forest says.

Jimmy also figures that Firpo is too heavy and that he can do his best work at about 215 pounds. He weighed 235 when he came up from South America, and De Forest had to work ten pounds off him before he went in against Brennan.

Firpo is being advised too well now to be led into a match with Jack Dempsey or Tom Gibbons. Against a rather slow opponent, like Brennan, or a light tapper, like Roper, Firpo is perfectly able now to hold his own. He would be almost sure to be knocked out, however, if he opposed a good boxing, fast-moving, double-handed puncher like Dempsey or Gibbons. The South American also has to get in better condition. He was weary from his own exertions several times in his fight against Brennan, and until he removes some of the flabbiness around his belt he will be in danger whenever he goes against a hard body puncher.

Babe Ruth broke the suprising information to friends down south that his vision was so defective he couldnt read a paragraph without having the print run into a blur. Oculists said that it was his faulty focus that enabled him to get such a perfect vision of the ball. Without going into the closet for the quest of bones to rattle it would seem that John McGraw and his Giants knew Ruth had something wrong with his eyes in October of 1921, and in the fall of 1922 they discovered he couldn't see at all.

Everyone is predicting big things for the Babe this year, because his morale will not be hurt by brooding over the injustice of the baseball law, because he is in better physical condition and he wants to show that he is not the bust that the Giants made him look like.

Theres another reason, too, and a more logical one.

The Babe's $52,000 contract expires this year, and if he wants one the same size next spring he will have to be The Buster and not the Bust.

When Charley Comiskey let Dick Kerr go because the wee southpaw wanted $2,500 more on the year and he discarded Charley Robertson, one of the best young pitching prospects in the big leagues because the boy wouldn't accept a raise of $100 a year, Charley can't exactly be accused of buying pennants, even if he did pay $100,000 for Willie Kamm.

Examples are so frequent as to make it almost a rule that the player in generally right in a controversy with the average club owner. There are some instances, however, when it comes to light that the club owner has a peculiar problem in handling a ball player.

Jock Scott was a castoff pitcher late last season, with a bad arm, no job and no money. John McGraw picked him up and nursed him along. The Giants trainer brought his arm around and Scott was a hero of the world's series. He bobbed up this spring as a holdout for more money, and when he went south he brought a fine on himself for drinking and breaking the training rules.

It would seem that there are enough huskies on the Giants team who want to play ball and get in the next world series to handle a few rookie-headed player who try to spoil the chances for the whole team.

CHAMP ONE LEG SPRINTER AT 86

YORK, S.C., April 5. — The champion one-legged runner of the South will be on hand to meet all comers at the annual Confederate re-union at New Orleans this month.

He's Dr. W. Edward Erwin of York, physician and Civil War veteran, 86 years young—

His claim to the title is unclouded. It is based strictly on his record—that of having raced against all comers since the Civil War, and not suffered a single defeat!

Dr. Erwin is as supple as a cat and can make a younger man with two legs exert himself to keep ahead.

He never runs for a wager, With him the sport is the thing.

He would rather sprint than talk about the Civil War—and that is a subject dear to his heart. He lost his right leg below the knee at the famous Battery Wagner, Charleston Harbour, in 1863.

When Dr. Erwin races he uses an artificial leg, whittled himself from willow wood obtained from the banks of a stream near his home. The limb is so light he hardly feels it.

A year ago he promoted an interstate racing match of one-legged Confederate veterans, South Carolina against North Carolina, to be pulled off in front of the Mecklenburg County Court House, Charlotte, N.C. But the other contestants got scared and backed out.

Dr. Erwin is expecting to run many races with his old comrades in arms at the Confederate re-union.

"I'll give all comers a chance at the title three," he declares when asked about the matter. "I'm in fine form and have no idea of losing. Tell all the boys who think they can sift dust in my eyes with their feet to meet me re-union week."

System Run Down Blood Out of Order

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is, when, as a rule, it is improper circulation of the blood.

For this purpose there is nothing on the market to-day to equal,

Burdock Blood Bitters

It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. H. Poole, Port Dover, Ont., writes:—"My system was run down and my blood out of order, and I suffered a great deal from pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. A friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle and before it was used I found it was doing me good. I kept on until I had taken three, and now I feel like a different woman.

My husband also took it and it has built him up."

A CONFERENCE

secretary's and treasurer's work during the past year. There are now 55 affiliated societies, with a total membership of 3.381. The work of the War Memorial and Registration Committees was especially commended by Miss Ellis, who expressed appreciation of the work done by various helpers throughout the year.

The financial report showed receipts during the year of $4,893.81, with disbursements of $5,671.72, an amount in excess of receipts of $777.91, which, deducted from a previous balance of $1,872.77, left a balance on hand of $1,094.86. The excess in expenditures was caused by the payment of two years' affiliation fees to the National Board, large convention expenses, and a scholarship of $400.00 for Public Health work at the Toronto University, won by a Hamilton member.

The appointment by the Government of Miss E. MacPherson Dickson, former superintendent of Weston Hospital, Toronto, to the position of inspector of training schools in Ontario, was recorded in the secretary-treasurer's report.

Reports of Chapters.

Reports of Chapters followed Miss Dorenger reported for Brantford; Miss McDonald for Hamilton, Miss Lillian Simons for Peterborough, and Miss Mary Rowan for Toronto. The secretary read reports of Miss L. M. Robinson for Kingston, and of Miss McArthur for Owen Sound.

On motion alumnae reports were taken as read.

Reports of standing committees were also heard this morning. Miss K. Mathieson of Toronto gave an excellent report on Registration. After a struggle extending over sixteen years' time the Government had provided facilities of registration for nurses but up to date out of a total of 3,380 nurses in membership with the Association in Ontario, only 675 have been registered, of which 356 are private duty nurses, 237 institutional, 54 public health, and 28 housewives. Of these, 25 had matriculation standing; 26 had four years in High School, 58 had three years, 146 had two years, 162 one year, 156 had public school entrance, 34 private school training, 36 convent bred, and 32 had a business training.

Miss Ellis read Mrs. Joseph's report on "The Canadian Nurse," the official publication of the Association, recording an increase of interest in the magazine, and asking for co-operation in its work.

Private Duty Nursing.

The report on Private Duty Nursing was given by Miss Helen Carruthers of Toronto, giving information regarding different companies interested in nursing insurance. A total of 650 nurses in Ontario have taken out insurance. A very favorable pension scheme outlined by the Government was also commented on, the speaker referred to the summer course for private day nurses now in course of organization at Toronto University, and reported that 49 nurses from the central registry in Toronto had helped in the Northern fire disaster.

Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto, gave the report of the Red Cross Advisory committee. Nurses to the number of 156 have expressed their willingness to serve in case of need. An explanation by Miss Gunn revealed the fact that nurses offering to help the Red Cross in this way are not obliged to serve unless they are able to; they enter on a salary basis, and their enrollment simply means that in case of emergency, the Red Cross is enabled to have on hand a list of nurses who will help, with information as to their ability and experience. Nurses who reported at the time of the Northern Ontario fire facilitated Red Cross arrangements to a very great extent, many of them still remaining for several months longer in the devastated area.

In the open discussion of the reports which followed, several questions from the delegates revealed the interest in the good reports just given. The chairman, Mrs. Joseph, was of the opinion that the nurses who had sixteen years to consider and fight for the registration privilege, and were not using it to any great extent since its granting, possibly might find the difficulty in the five dollar fee .Miss Mathieson considered the movement as a new one, which might later be met with more general response, and gave a great deal of credit to the work of Miss E. M. Dickson, of Toronto, in the projected inspection of training schools, which might facilitate further registration of nurses.

A question as to registration enabling the nurse registering to work in other parts of the Dominion or of the continent was answered by saying that reciprocal arrangements were in progress of formation. Miss E. M. Dickson, of Toronto, considered that a great cause of the delay and of complaints lay in the fact that wrong addresses were given in so many cases and illegible signatures. The number of cards belonging to these categories lying in the drawer at Toronto headquarters might be estimated at one thousand, she asserted.

A motion made by Miss Jean Gunn, of Toronto ,and seconded by Miss L. Kinsella, of London, was carried by the meeting, to the effect that the registration committee communicate with all affiliated nurses' organizations, pointing out the importance of early registration and giving full information as to the plan.

Miss Gunn also gave a comprehensive outline of nurses' insurance schemes. The Ontario Government's plan is essentially a saving plan, and the speaker asserted that, as nurses, as a rule, were not savers, and had not often dependents whom they supported, thus, in many cases, in later years finding themselves financially depleted ,the plan of the provincial authorities was a commendable one. By this system, a certain sum to be saved is set as an objective, not less than $1,000 being considered. During ten years, a certain monthly sum is paid in to a certain bank, and the payer receives at the same time an amount in life insurance equal to twice the sum to be saved. For instance, a member whose objective would be $1,000 and who had paid in for one year on this basis, dying at the end of that period, her estate would receive $2,000. The insurance was placed with various insurance companies by the Government. The full amount of the money paid in, with accumulated interest, might be withdrawn at any time on thirty days' notice.

The secretary, Miss Ellis, read a report received from Miss Isabel Stewart, of Columbia University, New York, outlining the methods whereby the American Nursing Association, with the American League of Education and Public Health Associations, has taken steps to standardize nursing training schools in the United States after a fashion similar to that adopted by the American College of Physicians and Surgeons in standardizing hospitals. The co-opertaion of Canada in this regard was recommended by the American nurses, who sought financial assistance from the Carnegie Foundation and similar agencies in carrying out their desire. The report pointed out the disadvantages to the pupil nurses themselves, the general public and its health interests, in a system which varied so much in methods of training for nursing, and the advantages to be gained from a standardized system.

On motion of Miss Gunn, who considered the question too important a one to be lightly passed over, a committee was appointed to consider the question and report back to the meetingf. This committee is made up as follows: Miss Jean Gunn, Toronto, convenor, Miss E. M. Dickson, Miss Edith Gaskell, and Miss M. I. Foy, all of Toronto, and Mrs. E. M. Leeson, superintendent of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

A telegram was received from Miss Jean Brown of Toronto, in charge of Junior Red Cross, expressing regret at her inability to attend the convention, and the secretary was authorized to dispatch a telegram to the president, Miss Ella Jamieson of Toronto, expressing regret at her absence.

A meeting of the executive of the association last evening in St. John's Parish Hall considered final arrangements for the agenda of the meeting.

To-night at seven o'clock, at the Empress Hotel, the delegates will be entertained at dinner, with music by local vocalists, following which they will pay a visit to the Peterborough Medical Clinic.

At noon to-day, the delegates were pleasantly surprised by a lengthy ringing of the Peoples' Chimes in their honor. St. John's Hall presents a very attractive appearance with the many ferns, daffodils and pussy willows arranged on the platform, the pennants and large "Welcome" sign which greeted the arriving delegates.

He Who Gives Promptly Gives More Than His Money

FIGHT ON THE ICE

A.—Yes.
Q.—Was Toole excited during the fracas?
A.—He didn't seem to be. He had no chance to declare his identity as a fishery inspector.

In re-examination by Mr. Knott the witness said "I think Mr. Knott knew Mr. Toole and his position."

This closed the case for the prosecution, and Mr. Kerr moved to dismiss the case submitting that there is no evidence of obstruction of the fishery inspector in the execution of his duty or that the fishery inspector was known to the defendant.

Magistrate Langley reserved judgment on the motion and called on the defence to submit evidence.

The first witness called was John Knott, the accused. Describing what happened at the meeting on the ice, Knott said—"I had a hand sled and was coming away when Mr. Toole caught hold of the sled, pulling on it. I pulled the sled away from him and he gave me a crack with a stick on the arm.

The stick broke. He dropped the stick and hit me on the head with the frying pan two times. Then he caught the shovel from the sled and swung it to hit me, and I got the chisel to defend myself. He dropped the shovel and I put the chisel in the sled and went on. I said to my brother in Indian "Come on." The Indian for "Come on!" sounds like "Ba."

Mr. Kerr; "If you said that to an Irishman he would think you said "Ba!" and would hit you.

Q.—Did you know Toole was an Inspector?
A.—No; I did not know.
Q.—Did your brother D'Arcy Knott take any part in the trouble?
A.—No; he was behind me.
Q.—When you were struck with the frying pan, was it a hard blow?
A.—It was a hard blow; enough to knock any man down. He struck me two times. I never said any bad word.

Cross-examination by Mr. Hatton:
Q.—Did you hurry when you saw him?
A.—No.
Q.—What did Toole say?
A.—He said "Here!" That was all he said all the time we were there.
Q.—Did you understand that that meant stop?
A.—Yes.
Q.—Did Mr. Toole break the stick or did you?
A.—Him.
Q.—What reason did you have for not stopping?
A.—I wanted to get home.
Q.—What were you doing there?
A.—Drawing the hand sleigh.

Mr. Hatton—You understand English all right.

Q.—What else were you doing there?—besides drawing the sled?
A.—Walking home.
Q.—Did you go there just to draw the sled and walk home?
A.—Yes.
Q.—Well, what had you been doing?
A.—Trapping mink.
Q.—What was your brother doing there?
A.—Looking through the ice.
Q.—Was there a hole there?
A.—I don't know.

Witness denied having a bad temper and upsetting a man out of a canoe. He did not know Toole,

Q.—Where do you live when you are at home?
A.—In a house.

Magistrate Langley—What reserve do you live on?

Q.—How far from Bobcaygeon do you live?
A.—I don't know. I haven't seen the government map.
Q.—How often have you travelled to Bobcaygeon? Hundreds of times?
A.—No; I haven't lived long enough for that.
Q.—Did you see the Inspector at Bobcaygeon?
A.—No.
Q.—Why did Toole break the stick over your shoulder?
A.—I was pulling the sled.
Q.—You did not have any fish or mink?
A.—No; I had mink traps.

The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

CROWDS ATTEND MURDER TRIAL

Sudbury Courtroom is Crowded to Suffocation When Miss Connaughton, Accused, Gave Evidence.

SUDBURY, April 5 (Canadian Press), — When the trial of Mrs. Sadie Connaughton, charged with the murder of John McKee at Chapleau last December, resumed here this morning, the Courtroom was crowded to suffocation.

Mrs. Connaughton was the first witness, and she gave her evidence in a low voice, and answered the questions calmly, and with the utmost composure.

She had known McKee, she testified, since 1917, and he had been on terms of friendship with her husband.

"Our relationship was good," she said, "and we were good neighbours."

In close examination by her counsel, Hartley Dewart, K.C., accused stated that as the result of an operation fourteen years ago, she had no sexual desire.

Accused claimed she did not intend to shoot McKee, that she believed he had a woman in his house and she went in to see who it was. She took a revolver with her, but did not know much about firearms.

McKee, she said, tried to persuade her to leave, then took her by the wrist and drew her towards him. She was trying to hold back. She had the revolver in her right hand, in her pocket, and when McKee pulled her hand out, the revolver came also. While this struggle was going on the revolver went off, and McKee fell dead.

"He fell down beside me," Mrs. Connaughton related in a broken story, "I did not think he was hurt. I turned and went to the bedroom door, thinking that he would follow me. As I opened the door I heard the rustle of silk, and a woman went past me. I followed her, and catching a glance of her I exclaimed to myself, 'My God, it's Mrs. Gibson.' Of any person I expected to see there, Mrs. Gibson was the last."

"Mrs. Gibson cried, 'Oh, Mrs. Connaughton.' She was terrified, but I saw that she was afraid I would do her harm. I only felt very sorry for her. I saw that he was still, lying there Mrs. Gibson got up and went away. I knelt beside him and I said, 'Jack, can't you speak to me, but he did not answer. There was a small wound on his face and blood on the floor. I felt cold and numb, for I then knew that something terrible had happened."

Answering Mr. Dewart, she declared that she had no thought or intention of shooting McKee.

NEW AIRPLANE CHASSIS ASSURES SAFE LANDING

LONDON, April 5.—An airplane undercarriage that is practically "uncrushable" is the remarkable product of a British inventor. The new landing chassis looks to the uninitiated like any ordinary two-wheeled undercarriage, but it is fitted with an ingenious system of pneumatic cylinders which prevent accidents even when the machine is being landed by an inexperienced pilot.

In a recent test of the new undercarriage Herbert Hikler [illegible] of the non-stop flight record of Turin, demonstrated that it would withstand shocks which would [illegible] the ordinary chassis. He flew the machine at full speed into the ground from a height of 20 feet at an angle that would have turned an ordinary airplane on its nose. The undercarriage absorbed the shock without even bouncing.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION BEFORE LEGISLATURE

TORONTO, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Dealing with the liquor question in his speech on the budget in the legislature, last night, J. R. Cook, Conservative for North Hastings, declared that the Drury Government need not seek to create in the minds of the people the impression that the Ontario Temperance Act is in any danger from any of the old parties. He held that the administration of the act under the late Conservative government was more creditable to the province than it had been to the present government.

The Junior Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church held a very enjoyable afternoon tea yesterday afternoon, with a splendid attendance. Mrs. G. J. Bousfield, superintendent of the Auxiliary, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. H. Perry, Mrs. Geo. Nichols and the Misses Rogers. Mrs. J. J. Turner, president of the Women's Auxiliary, poured tea, assisted by the Misses Verna Moffat, Camilla Long, Nora Smith, Audrey Heap and May Storey. A sale of home-made candy was in charge of Dorothy Armstrong and Elaine Fawcett. During the afternoon a pleasant musical programme was provided by Professor Sloan, in instrumental and vocal numbers; Miss Zoe Doyle, who sang, accompanied by Mr. W. Thompson, and Mrs. Arthur Knott, who recited.

Mr. R. E. Breckenridge left this morning for Queen's after spending the holiday at home.

Miss May Donoghue has returned to Rochester after an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Donoghue, Simcoe street.

Mrs. Love of Simcoe street, has gone to visit friends in the British Isles and expects to be absent for the next six months.

His many friends will be sorry to learn that Joseph Forster is ill at his home on Bolivar street. His illness is of a severe nature.

Miss M. C. Gallivan and Miss Eileen Cooper, of Kingston, representing the Hotel Dieu Alumnae at the Nurses' Convention, which opened here this morning, are guests of Dr. and Miss Gallivan.

Miss Winterholt, former superintendent at St. Joseph's Hospital, now of Kitchener, is representing that city at the Nurses' Convention. Miss Winterholt is the guest of Mrs. Ed. Conroy.

HOT ASHES CAUSED A FIRE BOLIVAR STREET

There was one call to the Fire Department yesterday — from 256 Carlisle Street, where a chimney fire broke out.

At 6.12 this morning a fire was caused at 540 Bolivar Street by placing hot ashes against a wall in a frame building.

The Chief points out that he has repeatedly urged great care in the handling of hot ashes. They should on no account be put in wooden boxes or dumped on a wooden floor.

MORRISON—STEWART.

In St. Paul's church, on Wednesday, April 4, 1923, David Richmond Morrison, of South Monaghan, and Margaret Stewart of Otonabee, was united in marriage by the Rev. A. H. McConnachie, Centreville. The bride was becomingly attired in a navy blue suit and carried a handsome bouquet of roses.

The happy couple have the good wishes of a host of friends, among whom they will reside in South Monaghan and many more belonging to a wider circle.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

'Mid falling tears, my thoughts will wander
To the grave they laid him in,
But Jesus comes and gently whispers
"Weep not, he has triumphed o'er death."

OBITUARY

MRS. CHARLES STERMER.

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. Charles Stermer, after an extended illness. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock from the family residence, 116 Aylmer street, to Little Lake cemetery.

JAMES DYKES MORTON.

After an illness of only a few days, Mr. James Morton, of 603 Chamberlain street, passed away at two o'clock this afternoon. His death came as a great shock to his family, as he had passed an exceptionally good night and was, to all appearances, on the road to recovery.

The late Mr. Morton was born at Newmilns, Ayrshire, Scotland. Along with Mrs. Morton and their children he came to Canada in the summer of 1910 and took up residence in his late home on his arrival.

A man of marked integrity of character and geniality of disposition, he rapidly made his way in the esteem and affection of all who knew him. For many years he gave valued service on the Board of Management of Knox church, being for several terms the chairman of the Property committee. He will long be remembered by his church associates for his never failing industry and zeal in the Lord's work. He was also an honored member of the A.O.F.

He is survived by his widow, his daughter, Mary, and son, Hugh. One sister, Miss Ellen, and one brother, Archibald, who reside in Brownton, also survive him.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FOLKS ARE NOT INFLUENCED BY "FEAR OF HELL"

Doctrine of Punishment Here and Hereafter Does Not Affect the Conduct of Men-

DR. M. TORY'S VIEWS

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press)—Addressing National Council of Education this morning, Dr. M. Tory, President of University of Alberta, said that for a long time the world had rested under the impression that the many who did the work of the world should be controlled by the few who did the thinking of the world. To-day in all civilized countries men were left to think freely for themselves and great institutions had grown up for the distribution of accumulative knowledge and training of men for the benefit of humanity.

It had been objected that the moral fibre of mankind had not improved. This he believed to have been refuted by the experience of tho war, when men suffered and triumphed under conditions never paralleled in their power to try men's souls.

"Fear of hell does not greatly influence the folks of to-day," he claimed. Whether for good or evil, the fact remains that the doctrine of punishment here and hereafter does not affect the conduct of men, if we can judge by the way society conduct itself."

FEDERAL CHURCH OF CANADA IS PROPOSED

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Federal church of Canada is the latest proposition in connection with the split in the Presbyterian church in regard to the proposed union with the Methodist and congregational churches of Canada, which is to be the subject of discussion and possible decision at the Presbyterian General Assembly in Port Arthur in June next, according to a story published here to-day.

The proposal for a federal church originated with Rev. Dr. D. R. Drummond of Hamilton, Ont., hitherto a pronounced unionist, it was developed at a three-hour meeting yesterday. Dr. Drummond's plan, according to his own recorded statement, is "let the negotiating churches plan to unite into an ecclesiastical, not legal, entity, to be called the Federal Church of Canada, constituted by the courts of the Church of Canada without seeking legislation." Dr. Drummond was of the opinion that this would avoid disruption and bitterness.

R. WADE RECEIVED WIRE TOO LATE FOR ACTION

Mr. G. N. Gordon handed the following letter to the Examiner today:

Mr. Gordon telegraphed Mr. R. W. Wade, director of the Department of Live Stock, at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, on the 31st of March, and he did not come to his office till apparently April the 3rd or have any one there to take care of the business or receive telegrams that might come in, as the following letter shows:

"G. N. Gordon, Esq., M.P.,

"Dear Sir— Your wire received to-day, too late to take any action as the "Better Live Stock Train" will be at Norwood, and handed over to the Canadian Pacific Railway to-morrow."

STRIKERS HAD TO RUN THE TRAINS OR DIE

PEKING, By mail to the United Press)—Those who follow closely China's experiment in republicanism are wondering what price she will have to pay for her reversion to Manchu methods in settling the latest strike.

Employees on the Peking-Hankow railroad walked out for the third time within a year. The strike was called just before the Chinese New Year.

The government decided to grant nothing. First the military executed 70 of the strike agtitators. The next move was almost as drastic from the Chinese viewpoint. All eating houses and food stores on the line were guarded by soldiers and merchants ordered to see that no railroad employee purchased food.

Then a few of the strikers were picked out to run the first trains. Engineers were chained in the cabs and armed soldiers were put on the tenders. The engineers were ordered to run the trains through or die. Similar methods were used to get other necessary help.

In three days the strike was ended But the drastic methods used have aroused Chinese organizations everywhere.

FOUND SLAIN THROATS CUT

Bodies of Two Murdered Women Discovered on Isolated Road at Staten Island.

NEW YORK, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Miss Bessie McMahon, Buffalo, N.Y., and Mrs. Irene Blandino, of Jersey City, N.J., were found murdered, with their throats cut, alone on an isolated roadside at Dongan Hills, Staten Island, early to-day.

The police believe they were murdered elsewhere and their bodies thrown irom an automobile.

Mrs. Blandino, who had an artificial leg, was identified through the finding of a receipt for the limb. Miss McMahon had been visiting at her home in Jersey City. Both appear to be about twenty-one years of age and had their hair bobbed.

The bodies were found by Walter Donerton, a milk driver. Thirty feet from the roadside the police discovered a large blood-stained butcher knife. In addition to their throats being cut, a stab wound was found in the back of each woman. The police are scouring the surrounding districts, but it is believed the murderers had time to make their escape.

Mrs. Blandino was the wife of a Jersey City barber. The police took William Blandino, her husband, and Di Lorenyo, his assistant, to headquarters to-day for questioning. Di Lorenyo said the two women left the house about eight o'clock last night ,and that Blandino had gone out earlier to take charge of a saloon owned by his barber shop partner, known as "Nick." When Di Lorenyo went to work this morning he found Blandino still in bed and the latter told him he had returned from the saloon at 2 a.m. The police state that the two women had been seen frequently about Jersey City dance halls.

NEW STOCK COMPANY

White Bros.' Bicycle and Sport Goods Business Shows Expansion.

An evidence of a growing business being worked up by a couple of progressive boys, is seen in the latest move made by White Bros., Bicycle dealers and repair men, at 174 Hunter street. The change, an important one to them, was the incorporation into a limited stock company, under the name Whites Cycles and Sports Limited.

The new company, grown from a modest start, following the brothers return from overseas, is capitalized at $40,000, and is now placed on a firm footing for further advance as their trade warrants. There is no danger of two live boys like the White Brothers remaining satisfied with present achievements. They are real business men as well as excellent mechanics, and are bound to make an enviable mark for themselves in the near future. The company are district representatives for Massey Bicycles, for which the demand is ever increasing, and their repair department is excellently equipped and splendidly patronized, showing close attention to business and satisfatcory service to their patrons.

Other sporting lines are carried in stock, and it is only a matter of demand that will cause further development in every department.

REVISION OF CONSTITUTION CHANGED NAME

Nurses' Convention This Morning Made a Number of Changes-Reports of Alumnae.

SESSIONS TODAY

The deliberations of the Nurses' Convention this morning were concerned mainly with adoptions of suggested revisions to the constitution, which resulted in the changing of the name of their organization to that of the Ontario Registered Nurses' Association, and adopting of a plan which practically re-organizes the Association.

As they were adopted, the revisions to the constitution stand as follows:

1. Name—To be changed to the Ontario Registered Nurses' Association.

2. The objects to remain the same, viz.—"to advance the educational standard of nursing, the maintenance of the honor and standing of the profession, and to further necessary legislation in the interests of the public, the physician and the nurse."

3. The charter to be changed to conform to the proposed constitution, viz., change in name, the combination of offices of Secretary and Treasurer and the election of officers.

4. The Province to be divided into districts in which district associations shall be organized. The Ontario Medical Associations districts are suggested. These districts are as follows:

District No. 2, comprising the Counties of Brant, Waterloo, Wellington, Oxford, Perth, Huron and Norfolk.

District No. 4, comprising the Counties of Wentworth, Haldimand, Halton, Lincoln, Welland and the City of Hamilton.

District No. 5, comprising the Counties of Ontario, Peel, Simcoe, York, and the Academy of Medicine, Toronto.

District No. 8, comprising the Counties of Carleton, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Renfrew, Russell and Stormont.

District No. 10, comprising the Districts of Kenora, Patricia, Rainy River and Thunder Bay.

Sections: Provisions for Sections to conform with the policy of the C.N.A.T.N. The following sections are suggested, Private Duty, Public Health, Nurse Education and Hospital and Training School Administration. The above sections will also be organized in the districts by corresponding committees.

The re-organization of the Association to be done: By Affiliation of Alumnae and the other Nursing organizations as follows:

Membership: Alumnae and the other organizations will be required to change their present plan of membership arranging for, at least, two types of members:

(a) Active members who are annually registered in the Province of Ontario.

(b) Associate members, nurses, who are not registered in the Province of Ontario or who have only availed themselves of the initial registration. Only the active members of any affiliated organization will be enrolled as members of the Provincial Association.

Individual Members: Any nurse residing in a district in which no nursing organization exists for which she is eligble and whose Alumnae Association is not enrolled may become an individual member of the Provincial after qualifying by annual registration. (All members of the Provincial Association whether through affiliated organizations or individual membership become automatically members of the district organization in the district in which they reside or practise.)

The Revisions.

The revisions to the Constitution gave rise to considerable discussion, with further sections to be considered at this afternoon's meeting. Miss E. M. Dickson and Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto, acted as advisers with the president and the secretary to explain the proposed changes. The change which provides that the organization shall be divided into dis-

TWO EUROPEAN WARS DECLARED IMMINENT

Rumanians and Hungarians Ready to Fly to Arms, As Also Are the Greeks and Bulgarians—Nations League May Intervene.

GENEVA, April 6 — (United Press)—Two appeals have been read by the League of Nations to prevent possible wars, which it is declared are imminent unless there is immediate intervention.

Hungary ratified of the League Secretary's report on Thursday that the Rumanians were appropriating the property of Hungarians in New Rumania and that the acts constituted a serious war menace.

The secretary was also informed by Bulgaria that the opposition of Bulgarians by the Greeks in western Thrace may lead to war, unless the League offers its good offices.

The appeals are to be taken up by the Council of the League on April sixteenth.

Officers of the League are confident that the Rumanian-Hungarian conflict will be settled by the Hague Tribunal of International Justice and that the Allies will intervene to thresh out the Bulgar-Greek controversy.

KIWANIANS ADOPT A WEEK FOR "COURTESY"

From April 15 to 21 the Value, Importance and Necessity for Courtesy Will Be Stressed—Organize a Big Campaign.

The week of April 15-21 will be observed throughout the country by Kiwanis Clubs as "Courtesy Week," during which the value, importance and necessity of courtesy will be stressed.

The idea for the observance of "Courtesy Week" grew out of an experience of a group of Kiwanians at a hotel in a northern city where they were breakfasting. The food was served with so little courtesy that the men in the party digressed from the subject under discussion and talked about the value of courtesy in business. After some discussion of the subject one of the men got the idea that it would be a good thing for the 1,000 Kiwanis Clubs throughout the country to emphasize the value of courtesy in the affairs of everyday life. As a result, Sunday, April 15, has been designated in Kiwanian circles as "Courtesy Sunday," coming at the end of a week during which the efforts of Kiwanians will be directed to the pointing out of the value of courtesy in business and every-day life.

From the Bible text which says, "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love, in honor preferring one another," down to a volume of "courtesy kernels" the Kiwanians are prepared to put over this big campaign. Says one of the "kernels"—"Courtesy will tune in with any broadcasting station. It catches the music of the universe and fills the person with joy who listens in." Courtesy pays.

WIFE DESERTION IS ON INCREASE

According to Figures of Local Police Department —Indian Arrested.

Charles Weaver, an Indian from Clarina, at the head of Stoney Lake, who deserted his wife and family some months ago, has been apprehended by the United States immigration authorities and will be handed over to the local authorities tomorrow.

When Weaver left his wife she laid a complaint with the Provincial Police, but Weaver evaded arrest for about eight or ten weeks. Chief Newhall, on receiving several communications from Mrs. Weaver, decided to take the matter up, and got into touch with the United States Immigration Department. As a result of the Chief's efforts, Weaver will be handed over to the Provincial Police.

Chief Newhall states that there are 7,000 cases of wife desertion and similar cases in the country at present, and he is desirous of doing all he can to stop a practice which he considers very detrimental to the progress of the country.

FIRST INDICATIONS OF ICE BREAKING UP

Freshet in Creek Piles Up Debris at Townsend St.

Little patches of blue water showing through the ice at McDonald's Point and the George street wharf were the first promises this morning of the breaking up of the ice in the river and Little Lake with the gradual approach to fishing days and pleasant summer outings. Graceful gulls hovered about the open water a few paces from the fading tracks of winter traffic over the ice.

At Townsend street, where the creek empties into the river, the usual debris carried down by the spring freshet was piled up on the west side of the bridge, and the muddy water of the creek was reaching out into back yards and turbulently pouring beneath the C.P.R. bridges.

Pools of surface water were reported from many parts of the city last night, revealing again the need of a more extended system of surface drainage.

MILLION DOLLARS ROBBER ESCAPES

ATHENS, Ga., April 6.—(Canadian Press).—With his feet propped against a brass rail beside the boiler in the basement of a hospital, from which he was thought to have escaped on Wednesday, Gerald Chapman, leader in the million dollar robbery in New York thirty-one months ago, was nearly captured today by Harry Bishop, a guard from Atlanta Penitentiary.

Bishop, who is guarding a patient at the hospital, was on his way to breakfast with Estelle Scott, a nurse, when he saw Chapman. The nurse fainted and Chapman offered her a chair and went to give her first aid, but Bishop told him to go to his room. After Miss Scott had been revived search was made for Chapman, but he had gone.

THE ATTRACTION TRENT WATERWAY

Considerable Publicity as Result of Local Efforts

The Trent Waterway will attract large number of tourists from the United States this year if the efforts of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce count for anything The advertising already done under direction of the Chamber has resulted in a flood of enquiries from boating enthusiasts and lovers of beautiful scenery who contemplate a trip through the waterway during the coming summer. On the April issue of Motor Boating there appears a full page advertisement setting forth the attractions which abound along this stretch of waterway. This advertisement was donated by the Kermath Manufacturing Company of Detroit on solicitation of the local Association, which supplied the material embodied in it. Another full page advertisement appears in the Border Cities Star of Saturday March 31. Very beautiful pictures accompany this description of the "Mecca of the American tourist." Mr. Leon Fraser, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce has already received enquiries from persons who read this article, and other arrive daily.

TOOLE FAILED TO TELL INDIAN HIS AUTHORITY

F. D. Kerr Contended that Knowledge is Essential to Offense of Wilfully Obstructing Officer.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

The neglect of Ira Toole of Lindsay, game and fisheric officer, to indentify himself when he attempted to search a handsleigh in the possession of the Chemong Indian John Knott on Pigeon Lake was the main point upon which Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., argued yesterday afternoon that the charge against Knott of resisting an obstructing an officer should be dismissed.

Magistrate Langley reserved judgment until Wednesday, April 25th, when case of the other Chemong and Alderville Indians accused of catching fish out of season comes up for argument.

After the evidence for the defense of Knott was concluded Thursday afternoon, Magistrate Langley heard both Mr. Kerr and Crown Attorney Hatton, K.C. in their presentation of the features of the case.

Mr. Kerr stressed the statement of the accused who swore that he didnt know Toole was a fisheries inspector, and also the evidence of Toole that when he approached Knott he simply called, "What luck did you have."

Mr. Kerr held that knowledge was essential to any offense of obstructing the officer. "My opinion" he said "is that you can't commit an offense without intending to make resistance, and without the knowledge that you are improperly restricting authority."

Evidence Evasive.

Mr. Hatton said that the evidence of Knott was clearly an evasion. "Knot said the reason he didn't know the Inspector was because he might be an inspector today and not tomorrow."

Magistrate Langley—The Inspector should have said 'I am Ira Toole, fish inspector. It would have taken only a few seconds, and would have removed all doubt."

Mr. Hatton—It would have been far better if he had declared himself, but Toole says that he didn't have time from the moment he jumped out of the cutter and approached the Indian.

Mr. Hatton said that a Fish Inspector had the right to open a grip if he suspected the illegal possession of fish, but he couldn't enter a man's store to search without a warrant.

Mr. Kerr pointed out that there was no evidence adduced of Toole's suspicion of the contents of the bundle on Knott's sleigh, and Mr. Hatton replied that the very circumstances of the other Indians fishing through the ice and Knott among them with the handsleigh indicated that the Inspector had reason to be suspicious of what was on the sleigh.

Mr. Kerr said that if Toole had no authority it would have been unlawful for him to touch the sleigh, and in that case Knott had the common law right to defend himself and his personal belongings from any trespass or infringement on the part of another.

Not Wilful Resistance.

"There is nothing to indicate that Toole said he was authorizedly enforcing the law and therefore there was no wilful obstruction" Mr. Kerr asserted. "If there was obstruction it was not wilful obstruction within the meaning of the statute."

Magistrate Langley said it would seem very serious to him if an Inspector could undertake to make a search without telling who he was. Toole said he thought Knott ought to have known him, but there was no evidence of knowledge before the court.

The concluding evidence for the defense was given by Darcy Knott, brother of the accused, who was with him when the fracas with Inspector Toole occurred. The following are extracts from his cross-examination by Mr. Hatton.

Admitted Fishing.

Say Council Can Control Costs of Police Department

That Municipal Councils in Ontario have control over the expenditures of their own police departments, is the opinion expressed by Attorney-General Raney.

This information is furnished the Examiner by T. Tooms, West Peterborough's member in the local Legislature, who writes as follows: "In the debate upon the Elected Police Commission Bill Hon. Mr. Raney stated that there is no doubt whatsoever that the councils are in control of the expenditures of the police commissions."

It is interesting to note that Peterborough's City Council held this same opinion a month ago, when they cut down the appropriations of this city's police commissioners from $28,500 to $25,000.

CONTRACT FOR TRANSFORMERS AT SUBSTATION

LOWEST TENDER

The tender of the Packard Electric Company of St. Catharines, of $19,274, for the transformers required in Peterboro's new electric distribution station, was accepted by the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon.

Other tenders were received as follows:

The Moloney Electric Company of Windsor, $24,000 the Canadian General Electric Company, $24,445; the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Hamilton, $24,300 (not installed), and the English Electric Company of St. Catharines, $26,200.

The placing of the contract for the transformers will be followed immediately by the reception of bids for the supplying of switchboards and switching apparatus. It is understood that this will be one of the largest contracts in connexion with the new sub-station. It is expected that the arrangements for the construction of the building itself will be completed by the first of May.

Price Speed Waggon.

Mr. H. O. Fisk's recommendation for the purchase of a Reo speed waggon from Moore and Brewer, at $2225, at Windsor, with sales tax paid, was laid over for further consideration, as was also Mr. Fisk's estimate of $1698 for a new transmission line from George and Princess streets to the Brinton Carpet factory and the Purdy Lumber Company's mill.

ROYAL CROWDED DESPITE STORM

Richard Barthelmess Picture Strong Attraction

In spite of the storm last night the Royal was crowded for the presentation of Richard Barthelmess in "Sonny," one of the biggest and best pictures the Royal has had this season. The rest of the programme is of the same high class as the feature, including "The Leather Pushers," featuring Reginald Denny, the million-dollar serial, "The Radio King," and a "Toonerville Trolley" comedy.

The management advises patrons to attend matinees whenever possible during the presentation of this bill as the theatre will be crowded in the evenings.

CITY IS SUED AS RESULT OF ICE ACCIDENT

JUDGMENT RESERVED

At the continued non-jury sitting of the County Court before Judge E. C. S. Huycke yesterday afternoon the case brought against the City of Peterborough by Miss Minnie Quinn, 164 Stewart Street, was completed. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., appeared for the plaintiff, and C. R. Widdifield represented the city. Miss Quinn alleges that as she was walking along Hunter Street, on the south side, on Friday, March 2, 1923, she slipped on a smooth stretch of ice about Millard's store, and sustained a broken arm. Her claim is for $500.

Several witnesses were called on both sides, and at the conclusion of the argument of counsel, judgment was reserved by Judge Huycke.

The Case For the Plaintiff.

Miss Quinn, examined by G. N. Gordon, stated that she was coming from church at the time of the accident, and the street was dark. She stepped on a slide in front of Millard's store and fell. This slide had been there for some weeks—she remembered it two weeks before, but was not thinking about it on the night of the accident. As a result of the injuries following the fall she was incapacitated for 10 weeks, and lost an average of $35 a week during that time through her inability to follow her occupation. In addition, she was partially disabled for five weeks, and during this time did not earn half her usual wages. The doctor's bill was $50. Even now the arm is not as well as before the accident, she said. There was great pain at the time and afterwards.

Mr. Gordon—Is Hunter Street a busy street or an obscure one?

Answer—I would say it is a very busy street.

Q.—Did you see the slide again after the accident?

A.—I saw it about a week afterwards. It might have been made by children sliding on it.

The next witness called was Irene Mann, niece of Miss Quinn, who stated that she was with Miss Quinn between 8 and 9 p.m. when she fell. The sheet of ice was about 8 feet long. The street, she thought, was poorly lighted.

Two other witnesses testified to seeing Miss Quinn getting up from the sidewalk where she had fallen, and noticed that there was a slide there.

Detective William Meagher declared that the sidewalk was sanded, but he didn't know when. If children wanted to slide there he thought they would take the sand off.

County Constable George Cookman was a member of the City Police Force at the time of the accident, and he made an examination of the street.

Q.—Have you noticed slides on the south side of Hunter Street, near Aylmer?

A.—Every winter there have been several slides there. They looked to me as if they were caused by children sliding there.

TRANSPORTATION BIG PROBLEM FOR BUSINESS

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—(United Press)—"Transportation in all its phases in the United States" and "Europe and Europe's affairs" will be the two major topics considered at the 11th annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce in New York, May 7 to 10, according to N. B. Kelly, general secretary of the Chamber.

Because of the interest of business men through the country in the two general subject it is expected that the convention will be one of the largest ever held by the chamber Kelly said. Representative business organizations in every state in the Union have been asked to send delegates and the attendance of from 4,000 to 5,000 business men is looked for.

"Transportation will be the keynote of the meeting. Already the National Chamber is engaged on a comprehensive study of the whole problem from every point of view, hoping to aid in the ultimate formulation of a national transportation problem", Kelly said.

Representatives of railroads, shipping interest, producers, the motor industry, waterway operators and the public are included in the conference make up and also will be heard at the meeting.

The aspects they will discuss at the meeting include governmental relations to transportation, railroad consolidation, rate schedule readjustments, co-ordination of motor transportation and waterway carries.

GERMAN SECRET POLICE PLANNING RUHR SABOTAGE

French Have Captured Plans Designed to Cause Trouble Between Soldiers and Workmen.

LISTED AS LABORERS.

ESSEN, April 6 (Canadian Press) —The French are making an investigation to ascertain whether any of the Security Police expelled from the Ruhr in the last two months have been taken on as employees at the Krupp plant between 13th and 31st March, as, in view of German documents now in the hands of the French, they contend that Security Police and Nationalists were largely responsible for the clash last Saturday at the Krupp works, where thirteen Germans lost their lives.

The French Intelligence Service has delivered to military headquarters evidence that a recruiting bureau in Mindet, just outside the occupation limits, has been organising the expelled Security Police for secret service in the Ruhr.

The French say they have a letter written by Malcher, formerly president of the Essen police, who was deported in February to Hollidt of the Essen police, informing him that former Security Police were ready to leave for the Ruhr and enlist as workmen in the large plants for the purpose of organising the workmens' resistance against the armies of occupation.

It is asserted by the French that the plan as outlined by Melcher was examined and approved by the Prussian Minister of the Interior. Melcher's letter informed Hollidt that as many men as might be needed were available, with necessary false identification papers and had been enrolled under assumed names as workmen.

The letter insisted, however, that the Security Police were not supposed to do any actual manual labour, although they would be carried on the payroll as labourers their duties merely consisting of stirring up agitation among the workmen against the French.

A list of factories where several hundred Security Police could be enrolled as workmen is said to be attached to Melcher's letter.

attached to Melcher's letter.

The Krupps' plant is listed as capable of accommodating fifty Security Police for this service and six officers.

BOSTON POLITICIANS TO BE SUMMONED ON BOOTLEGGING CHARGE

U.S. Officials Believe They Have Rounded Up the Biggest Rum - Running Ring in the Country.

RUM FLEET.

BOSTON, April 6 (Canadian Press). — A dozen or so Boston politicians of varying degrees of prominence, will be called before a special Federal Grand Jury next Tuesday to tell what they know about rum-running, it was intimated last night at the Federal Building.

Yesterday summonses to appear before the Grand Jury were served on 15 persons in Providence, R.I., Newport, R.I., and Pawtucket, R.I., who are believed to have information concerning the operations of a Boston rum-ring which has been receiving large shipments of liquor direct from Glasgow by the British steamer Avontown, and other vessels.

The Rhode Island witnesses, it was said, will be asked to describe the distribution system of the whisky syndicate whereby the cargo of the Avontown, which was anchored off Block Island for two weeks, was trans-shipped to small vessels and marketed through Rhode Island centres. Of the Boston men to be called before the Grand Jury authorities, all had little to say. It became known however, that several of them are attorneys who are known to have taken part in cases involving liquor smugglers.

It was said that the trail leading to one Boston politician was discovered yesterday by Special Treasury Agent Owen P. McKenna, when he went to Rhode Island to serve his summonses in that State. He hurried back to Boston late yesterday to follow up the information.

Most of the facts in possession of the Federal authorities were derived from documents seized in a raid on the apartment of James W. Costello in the Allston district, where Mrs. Costello and two Montreal men were arrested on charges of conspiring to break the Volstead Law.

Costello himself is said to be a fugitive on board the steamer Avontown, on which vessel, the Federal agents are informed, the representative of a Glasgow distillery firm maintains an office.

When the arrests were made the authorities admitted that they hoped to break one of the most important rum rings now operating in this country, which imported and distributed large shipments of liquor direct from Scotland.

It was said that a large cargo had been disposed of successfully a few weeks before the latest visit of the Avontown to Block Island waters.

The cargo brought by that vessel was estimated to be worth more than half a million dollars.

It had been planned to have the Federal Grand Jury to hear evidence this week in the rum ring case, but the Government found it impossible to complete its case in time.

The Grand Jury will report to-day a number of indictments in other cases voted two weeks ago.

Daughter Returned After Four Years.

MONTREAL, April 6.— (Canadian Press.)—Sobbing and beseeching her seven year old daughter from whom she had been separated for four years, to recognize her, Madeleine Lefebvre, 25, presented a pathetic sight in court here yesterday when the judge sought to give her custody of her child. The case was that of Mrs. Annie Perodeau, who was charged with abducting the child. She had handed the child over to Mrs. Annie Edstrum, of Quebec, failing paying of its upkeep by her mother. Mrs. Edstrum, who said she had come to love the little girl as if she were her own child, also broke down in court when ordered to give her to her mother.

THE POLICE BILL WAS OVERWHELMED

TORONTO, April 6.—Although in a hopeless minority, members supporting the bill introduced by M. M. MacBride (Brantford) that municipalities be given the right to have two members elected to the local police commissioner, forced a division in the Legislature, with the result that the bill was defeated 60 to 10.

Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general, was absolutely opposed to the bill, and speaking to the house, used the same arguments that he used last week to a large deputation representing nineteen Ontario cities, most of whom were in favor and others against the measure.

M. M. MacBride, before moving the second reading, requested that the bill be allowed to stand until another deputation from Ontario cities had interviewed the prime minister. "The deputation is not satisfied with the interview with the attorney-general," said Mr. MacBride, "and they think they will have better success with the prime minister, believing that the attorney-general had his mind made up before the deputation arrived."

Drury Opposes Bill.

"The deputation now is unlikely to change the attitude of the government" said Mr. Raney. Mr. MacBride threatened to speak until midnight if the second reading was pressed. The prime minister rose to remark that he was opposed to the bill even if every municipality in the province asked for it, and declared he would not see the deputation if it did arrive. "If that is the attitude of the government then the sooner we have a new government the better," said Mr. MacBride, who went into the merits of the bill. He said there was no intention of trying to elect the men who administer justice, but that cities wanted a more intimate control over the expenditures on police departments than they were now getting.

R. L. Bracken (West Kent) said council had control by an amendment last year by which council must approve estimates of the police commission. He was against the bill, as it was getting near a dangerous point at which elected men would administer justice.

Defeated on Division.

Major J .C. Tolmie supported the bill, stating that police commissions had loaded many cities with very heavy expenditures and that the people should have more control. Alex Lewis (Northeast Toronto) spoke against the bill. Karl Homouth (South Waterloo), opposing the bill, made the suggestion that if a change was required that councils be given the power to appoint a member to the police commission.

Hon. W. E Raney again told the House that all crown attorneys were opposed, and that he thought it too dangerous to pass, as it would bring police forces under elected men and there would be political interference. Mr. Mac Bride, with four members, demanded the division on behalf of the municipalities of Ontario.

NEWFOUNDLAND SUFFERS FROM A HARD WINTER

Efforts Are Being Made to Send Food to Settlements on the South-West—Ships Are Ice-Bound.

PEOPLE STARVING.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., April 6 (Canadian Press). — Determined efforts are being made by the Newfoundland Government to send food supplies to the starving settlements along the south coast, isolated for many weeks by the ice fields that block their harbours.

The mail steamer Kyle, plying between this port and Sydney, N.S., yesterday was taken off that route, and will leave to-day for the southern settlements laden with provisions.

Already six vessels have put out on similar errands of mercy, but all have fallen victims to the ice. All are held ice-bound in southern harbours, some of them having been unable to move for six weeks.

The Kyle, larger and more powerful than the others, hopes to be able to break through the ice barrier.

Tales of terrible suffering in many south coast villages have filtered through to the Newfoundland capital. The winter fell early, freezing in the herring fleet, and thus leaving many fishermen without their usual means of winter sustenance.

Later a series of bitter storms built a thick rim of ice along the coast, shutting out supplies that would have relieved the suffering of the people.

STRONG DEFENCE MADE BY MRS. CONNAUGHTON IN SHOOTING OF McKEE

Defence Lawyer Makes a Strong Case in Summing Up — Mrs. Gibson Not Called By Crown.

ACCUSED ACQUITTED

SUDBURY, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Mrs. Sadie Connaughton, of Chapleau, charged with the murder of John McKee, her neighbor and friend, was last night at 10.15 found not guilty by the jury at the spring assizes, after a two day trial. Nearly 400 packed the little court room and corridors all evening awaiting the verdict, which concluded the most dramatic trial in the history of this district.

The jury retired at 7.10 to consider its verdict after Hartley Dewart, K.C., had concluded a powerful appeal for acquittal of accused woman and actor after Crown Attorney McKessock had mercilessly sent home point after point in an effort to tear to shreds the explanation of Mrs. Connaughton that she had accidentally shot McKee, her friend, while trying to force her way past him into the front room of his house, wherein was hidden another woman.

POWERFUL APPEALS.

SUDBURY, Ont., April 6. — Canadian Press. — Mr. Dewart, attorney for the defence, addressed the jury, following a short recess, in the trial of Mrs. Connaughton, accused of murdering John McKee.

"Fortunately our law does not demand an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, or a life for a life, but today a life hangs in the balance," he began. During the course of his address, which commenced at 4.15 p. m., Mrs. Connaughton sat crouched in a corner of the dock, her head bowed, her beaver coat wrapped closely about her, and her face almost completely hidden.

"This is not the class of case in which provocation or negligence may permit reduction of the charge to manslaughter. The question is, whether this shot was fired as the result of an accident."

SAFETY FIRST—NOT FOR U.F.O.

Although the Minister of Public Works, Hon. F. C. Biggs, favoured the measure and said so, the opposition of U.F.O. members in the Legislature has been responsible for the killing of a bill which proposed to give Ontario towns the power to require all vehicles to carry lights at night.

The attitude of the farmers towards such a safety first proposal is difficult to understand.

Surely the small expense involved in the carrying out of a precaution of this kind is not responsible for the hostility of the rural members.

Nor can they shut their eyes to the fact that an unlighted vehicle is a menace to public safety and is an invitation to accident and disaster.

Yet the Farmer members not only refuse to hear of such legislation in the rural districts, but also decline to give the towns of the Province the right to enact such a measure.

And as a class they stand more in need of protection of this kind than any other section of the population of the Province.

A STRANGE ATTITUDE.

Premier Drury's views in regard to the police commission question may be sound enough, but there does not seem to be any justification for the autocratic stand taken by him in connection with the municipalities who have been pressing for a change.

His declaration that he would not waste time hearing a deputation expressing such views indicates that holding the reins of power has converted Mr. Drury into somewhat of an autocrat.

Deputations of citizens of this Province have surely the right to express their opinions before the head of the Government even if such opinions happen to be diametrically opposed to those of the Premier.

And if Mr. Drury denies the truth of that contention he is likely to find that the people of Ontario will not be long in coming to the view that it is time to place in the saddle a Premier who has a more democratic and reasonable conception of his duty to the Province than the Crown Hill product.

It is hard to kill the impression that a deputation suggesting something wrong with the Hydro-electric Commission would not be treated so cavalierly at Queen's Park.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Some of the discussions in the Alberta Legislature on the Budget these days suggests the hope that the time may be nearer at hand than most of us have thought possible when public business will be done in a businesslike way, instead of being handled as merely incidental to a political free for all and a carnival of talk.

The suggestion from Wm. Davidson, recently elected Independent member from Calgary, that the Farmers' Government of Alberta allow a select committee from all sides of the House to cut down the Budget so that the expenditure would be balanced by the revenue, is so eminently sane and sensible that it will be hailed by the majority of people as heralding a new era in politics.

John Boyle, the Alberta Liberal leader, has endorsed the proposition, and in a speech marked by its absence of political asperity has urged the Government to accept the plan or to adjourn the Legislature a week in order to go over the estimates again and wipe out the proposed deficit of a million dollars on its own accord.

It seems to be up to the Government.

The rest of the Legislature seems to prefer transacting business to playing politics.

SOME CHANCE OF APPEAL.

The McBride Bill proposing a change in the method of appointing police commissioners and providing for two elective members in addition to the mayor, was, as the Examiner expected, slaughtered in the Legislature.

On a division forced by the sponsor of the bill only ten members of the House voted in favour of the measure. Sixty members opposed the change.

The fatal weakness of the proposal was that it would put the control of the police department into the arena of municipal politics.

Members of the Legislature rightly refused to allow any such dangerous experiments to be made, and the result was that the bill was overwhelmed.

It should now be the aim of those who have advocated greater control of the police department by the people to see if the desired object cannot be reached by some other means.

In some cities the present system is giving every satisfaction.

In others there is a feeling that the commissioners are overzealous in regard to the number of policemen they consider necessary, and as a result approve of police estimates that are regarded by the people as extravagant.

There should be some method of dealing with that condition of affairs.

Giving municipal councils control of the expenditures of the police department would not be an altogether wise plan.

But why should there not be some channel of appeal open when municipalities feel that their police commissioners are extravagant in their ideas?

Would it be feasible, for instance, to delegate to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board the power to act as arbitrators in the case of disputes over police expenditures?

If it were possible for municipalities who feel that they have a grievance to put the case before an independent tribunal, the Examiner believes that much of the trouble might be averted.

At the same time there would be no interference with the work of the police department such as would quite likely be the result of an elective system of choosing police commissioners.

SPORT AND CRIME.

The first woman chairman of the London County Parks Committee, Lady Eve, is advocating the more general use of the parks of London in the playing of games on Sunday, says the Ottawa Journal. She declares that crime has diminished since playing in the parks on Sunday was allowed. "I should like to see games played on Sunday in every park large enough for the purpose," said Lady Eve. The influence of games and sports is the same everywhere. Recently inquiries were made by a Canadian judge among young criminals at Kingston as to their earlier life and he found that only three per cent. of them had played games. Another judge, satisfying himself as to the helpfulness of sport in character building, determined to devote himself to its promotion for the rest of his life. If games are good, they are as good on Sunday as on any other day, and there are of course many people who have little opportunity for such recreation during the working week.

On the other hand, the playing of noisy games—or games that produce noise from spectators—interferes with the Sabbath quiet that a very large proportion of our people like to enjoy. Experience has also shown that when the barriers to a quiet Sabbath are once let down by permitting games in the public places, serious inroads are made in the general observance of the Sabbath as a day of rest. There is recreation for the Sabbath—as for instance such a snowshoe tramp as that so graphically described by a contributor to the Journal yesterday—that does not destroy the comfort of others and that is just as healthy as baseball for people confined indoors on other days of the week. Indeed, the health argument is overdone in such a game, say, as baseball where hundreds look on to one who actually plays and gets the exercise upon which so much stress is laid.

Sometimes we think that the Sabbath day regulations are unnecessarily strict, but reflection shows that the subject is one that calls for more than casual judgment.

MARQUIS WHEAT.

Wherever wheat is grown on this continent the name "Marquis" is known. Years of labor in hybridizing and experimenting by the late Professor William Saunders and his son Charles were spent in perfecting this profitable Canadian grain. Dr. C. E. Saunders presented this work of years to the country in the shape of the first Marquis wheat seed. The wealth this grain has produced in Canada, especially in the west, can hardly be computed. The western provinces are essentially spring wheat sections. The fertility of the soil has enabled them to stay in that class so far, although in the U.S. wheat belt the winter wheat is fast shoving spring wheat out of the running. Wisconsin, once a spring wheat state, now produces scarcely any grain at all.

Dr. William Saunders, before appointment as director of the Dominion experimental farm at Ottawa, was a resident of this city, and was a foremost scientist, all lines of nature study, the improvement of agriculture and horticulture being his special work. The Saunders "boys" are native Londoners, and have successfully continued the great work for the benefit of their country that was started by their father many years ago.

The Boston Transcript, speaking of the method used in the Canadian west, credits the Canadians of the northwest with having carried spring wheat cultivation to a more advanced stage than anywhere else, and as a result have no idea of turning to fall wheat. They have, says the Boston paper (chiefly through the experiments of a family of men named Saunders—the fatfier, Dr. William Saunders, and the sons, Charles E. and A.P.) developed a particular kind of wheat which does an almost miraculous thing. To suit Canadian production, a wheat must do five things: It must be able to grow and ripen inside of 70 days; it must resist intense cold; it must be able to resist drought; it must have high milling and baking qualities, and it must produce a large quantity of grain to the acre. There were in existence, when Saunders began experimenting in Ottawa, wheats which would do one or another of these things, but not one which would do them all. There was a kind of wheat which grew in Russia, called Ladoga, from the great far northern lake of that name, which would grow and ripen in the Arctic circle. But it did not mill well nor make good bread—its bread was coarse and yellow—and it was a poor yielder. The Red Fife of the United States had excellent milling qualities, and that was generally raised in Canada, but it was not quick enough for the Canadian summer. The Saunders' stunt was to keep the Ladoga earliness and unite it with the Red Fife quality. By careful plant breeding they accomplished this. Then the productiveness. For that, the Saunders employed an Indian wheat called Hard Red Calcutta, which was also drought resisting. And anyway, with one thing and another, they kept at work year after year, cross-breeding the strains, selecting grains, mixing one wheat merit with another wheat merit, until at last they had produced a wheat that will ripen in the short summer of the far north, will stand up against drought, and will produce up to 55 bushels to the acre! And then, with true British respect for a noble pedigree, Mr. C. E. Saunders called his apex grain Marquis wheat and presented it to his countrymen!

Even in Dakota, North and South, and in Minnesota the Marquis wheat now covers vast areas.

In all it has meant millions of bushels added to the growth, with no addition in the way of labor. The one touch of regret comes in the treatment accorded Dr. Saunders when, through ill-health, he was forced to retire from the service of his county. Then he was given a pension of $900 per year. Dr. Saunders gave richly to the people of Canada—his gift was the labor of a lifetime and the culmination of a vision. The debt is all on the side of the country because it did almost worse than nothing in its poor attempt to recompense such services.—London Advertiser.

HEAVY ROADS IN NORTH MONAGHAN

News of Interest From North Monaghan and District.

NORTH MONAGHAN, April 6.—Tuesday's rainfall made many of the North Monaghan roads nearly impassible.

The men were out digging the drains which were blocked on Monaghan Road, Park street and passed Crawford's Grove to allow the water to escape. It is expected that better conditions will prevail soon.

In the recent report of the social held on Tuesday at St. George's church, it was omitted to state that refreshments were served. This is a point that cannot be overlooked, as to some it is the most interesting part of the programme. Thanks are due to the ladies who helped make this item a success.

At a recent meeting of the Advisory Board of St. George's church, it was decided to adopt the "envelope system" for contributions, and members were delegated to the different districts of the parish to canvass for subcriptions.

The many visitors to North Monaghan have returned to their various places of business, after a pleasant Easter spent with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bell have rented their home on Lansdowne Street and will visit friends in the city for a short time, before leaving for a trip to British Columbia.

GENERAL ECONOMY IS PRACTISED IN ENGLAND

OTTAWA, April 5. — (Canadian Press).—Major Charles Goldman, ex-M.P. for Falmouth, England, en route to his cattle ranch in British Columbia, interviewed Premier King here last night. He stated that a number of cattle buyers were coming to Canada to ascertain if the proper type of cattle for fattening in the British Isles were available here in any number. He stated that the Government of Britain was weak, particularly on treasury benches, while Labor was a factor of increasing strength. The striking feature of life in Britain was the general economy being practised. Major Goldman is a former proprietor of the London Outlook.

BRACKEN GOVERNMENT WAS SUSTAINED 32-2

WINNIPEG, Man., April 5.—(Canadian Press)—The Bracken Government was sustained by 32 to 7 when the house last night divided on a motion which was regarded by the administration in the light of a vote of censor. The motion was made by W. Sanford Evans, Conservative, Winnipeg, and expressed regret that the government had not made provision for a sinking fund out of the consolidated revenue to meet annual interest charges.

JURY DISAGREED.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 6.—(Canadian Press.)—The jury trying William Z. Foster on charges of criminal syndicalism disagreed and was discharged at five o'clock last night by Judge Charles W. White. The jurors took 38 ballots, standing six to six all the time. They were out 31 hours and 15 minutes.

BETTER LIVE STOCK TRAIN AT NORWOOD

NORWOOD, April 6—The Better Live Stock Train continues to draw large crowds, despite the inclement weather and bad roads. At Omemee and Norwood over 1,100 farmers looked over the exhibits and demonstrations. The lecture car was crowded at both places and instructive addresses were given by those in charge. Six bacon hogs and two bulls were sold to farmers from the surrounding districts. The interest shown by the farmers of eastern Ontario is extremely gratifying.

WHY OUR PRICES RIVAL THOSE OF THE MAIL ORDER HOUSES

The most important factor that influences the Price of Merchandise in any line is the overhead, namely, the Cost of Transferring the Goods from the Manufacturer to the Consumer ,Rent, Heat, Light, Taxes, Advertising, and Salaries forming the main items.

Our location is not in the high rent district. We have no high-salaried officials on our staff, Floor Walker, Advertiser, Window Trimmer, Elevator Operators, or Porter. Even our Bookkeeper earns her salary selling Goods in her spare time.

Almost all business houses figure their cash discount to cover their office expense. We do not do this. All discounts are taken off the Cost of the Goods, and our Customer gets the benefit.

This enables us to price our Goods at a very low mark-up on Cost. This mark-up will be goverened by the amount of business done. We have fixed our rate for the next six months, and if we get the support of the Public in the future as we have in the past two weeks, we will not have to Advance Prices.

Specials for Saturday Selling:

GILLETT'S LYE

Comparatively few people realize to what extent Gillett's Lye can be used to advantage in every home. For instance, with one can of Gillett's Lye and five and a half pounds of lard or grease, ten pounds of good hard soap can be made. Use one tablespoon Gillett's Lye in gallon of water for cleaning and disinfecting refrigerators, sinks, garbage cans, tiled floors, baths and toilets.

Useful for over 500 purposes.

DYNAMITE FOUND IN A COURTROOM

The Judge, Jury and Spectators Made a Record Get-away When Explosive Was Discovered.

DETROIT, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Judge, jury and spectators clipped several seconds off the record for the 100 yard dash yesterday afternoon, when enough dynamite to take all shape out of the county building was found within a foot of the desk of Judge Webster. The discovery was made during the taking of testimony in the $25,000 suite of Aaron Bayer, 14 years old, against Ray D. Baker, contractor, for carelessness. The contractor, it is claimed, left caps and dynamite strewn about the ground near some work at East Warren and Fairview avenues and the boy picked up a cap and threw it against the wall. In doing so half of one of his hands was blown off.

"We wish to place in evidence some sticks of dynamite," said one of the attorneys, stooping over to pick up a bundle that had been lying since early morning near the judge's desk. Ten seconds later, when the attorney got the package over to his desk, he discovered that everyone had magically vanished. There was a protracted recess before unanimous consent of jury was obliged to come back and look at the explosives.

Edward Stephens Looks For a Late Spring—Site For Tourists' Camp—Personals.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6—Edward Stephens, Campbellford's nonagenarian, who in spite of his 91 years cuts his own wood and of whose long and active life a sketch appeared in the Examiner some weeks ago is the acknowledged weather seer, the "W.P." of this town. While accepting this honor from his fellow citizens, Mr. Stephens takes pains to declare that he is not responsible for atmosphere vagaries but that he is simply an observer of long standing. He does not hesitate to declare that this will be a late spring and that the farmers cannot hope to get on the land before the first of May at least.

The moon is the grinding orb of Mr. Stephens' weather lore. That planet, he says, has more influence over the affairs of this earth than most people imagine. He was raised in England within sight of the ocean and noted how the tides were regulated by the moon. If it controls the ebb and flow of the ocean, he argues, why not the weather as well? That is the sum of his philosophy and he claims that he is sustained by the long record of his predictions and the manner in which each turned out.

The last quarter of the moon, according to Mr. Stephens, governs the weather for the week of the new moon, and that of the second and third quarter and the same kind of weather may continue while through out the week of the following new moon. According to this system there can be no hope of real spring like weather until April 16th at the earliest and there is a strong possibility that the present backwood conditions of the season will continue until the first of May. At all events seeding operations are certain to be unusually late.

Another of the tenets of Mr. Stephens' weather faith, based on over eighty years of close observation that when there is a new moon on Saturday —reaching the full on Sunday a week later, there is always a period of bad weather. This is something that in the course of natural laws can occur only once in seven years. It happened this year in the case of the March moon.

"And see what weather we have had," said Mr. Stephens. People can sneer all they like at the influence of the moon on the weather but I have been keeping track of these things all my life. We may have an occasional spring like day but we will have no really seasonable weather until the middle of the month, when we get a new moon. And this condition may continue until the end of April.

"I believe that the temperature can be predicted by the position of the new moon. The one we had in March was as far north as any I ever saw and see how cold it was. Whether the month is to be wet or dry can also be determined by the slope of the new moon although plenty of people laugh at this idea as a silly superstition. The Indians knew better. In the hunting season when the red man saw that he could hang his powder horn on the lower part of the new moon he expected wet weather and remained in his wigwam. All I ask is that the people watch the kind of weather we shall have during this month before they condemn or make light of my predictions. "When I was farming I lost less than any of my neighbours by regarding the phases of the moon during the seeding and harvesting season.

Site for Tourists' Camp

Adjoining the grounds of the Lawn Tennis and Bowling Club there is a plot of land, two or three acres in extent; which the government acquired at the time of the construction of the Trent Canal and which is still the property of the Department. It is unimproved and neglected and by no stretch of the imagination can it be regarded as either ornamental or useful.

Councillor Carter suggests that as the Government has no longer any apparent use for this land, that the town make an effort to secure it, and that it be fitted up either as a park or as a camping ground for auto tourists.

The desirability of such a camp as an attraction to draw touring autoists to Campbellford, was one of the points emphasized by Dr. Doolittle, president of the Ontario Motor League in his address made before the local Chamber of Commerce recently.

Ailing Children Get Well on Laxative Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human ills has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. Realizing what that figure means, mothers should contrive methods of handling their children while they still control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and be especially watchful of young girls. Insist on two passages a day until the age of 18, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples, plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestines, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, or lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is bilious, constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which children never object to taking as they like the taste. By morning the youngster will be well again. Likewise if the nostrils are stuffed up or there is persistent sneezing, a dose of Laxative Syrup Pepsin will break up the fever and cold.

Mr. A. F. Lithgow of Montreal, keeps his family well in that way, and Mrs. E. Whalley of Winnipeg, Man., has been using Laxative Syrup Pepsin for her baby, her mother and herself. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The formula, however, is on every package. Druggists have sold it with satisfaction to their customers for over 30 years, and it is now the largest selling family laxative in the world. Buy a bottle today. It will last you for months, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 22 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Ladies' Aid Met.

The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Cavan Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. F. M. Staples on Wednesday afternoon. The attendance was small owing to the poor condition of the roads, but an interesting session was held. It was decided to invite the Rev. S. G. Rorke and Rev. Mr. Craw of Springville to give the interesting debate on Bible characters, which they gave in the Fairmount church, a short time ago, in the Cavanville church, on or about April 20th. This debate was very much appreciated at Fairmount. Many who heard it said that they would enjoy listening to it once more. The characters debated on were Moses and Joseph.

SEND REDISTRIBUTION BILL TO LEGISLATURE

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press). — The Globe this morning says that the Re-distribution Bill for Ontario is now heralded for the present sitting of the Legislature. After all the evenings of study and discussion which the Government members have devoted to the technical problems of proportional representation and a single alternative vote, it is said that in a caucus yesterday the Drury Government followers favored sending the whole question of electoral reform, including redistribution, into the hands of a select committee of the Legislature. The final decision is said to have been left to the Cabinet.

The reported decision of the Government caucus is a complete surprise to many members of the House, not excluding men who are themselves in the confidence of the Government.

A KEEN INTEREST REDISTRIBUTION

Roads Are in Bad Condition—News Items From Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, April 6.—The matter of redistribution and its effect in the eastern part of Peterborough County is much discussed and keen interest is felt. Party lines are down and all sides want a square deal. Unfortunately the terrible condition of the roads will affect the attendance of the meeting in Norwood on Saturday, as motoring is practically out of the question.

Easter seemed more like midwinter than spring, but the mild weather has melted a large quantity of the snow and made the sleighing very poor. The cement walks are being rapidly cleaned off and the walking much improved.

The change in the temperature has been a great relief to most people, and there were many, who had used all their fuel and were making heavy inroads on next year's supply. The heating problem was just as much a problem last week as at any time during the winter.

Misses Maud and Marjorie Hollingsworth, of Athens, Ont., are guests of Miss Bessie Madill for the week.

Mrs. E. F. Cassan, of Campbellford, was in the village this week visiting friends.

Mrs. L. H. Grahame has returned home after spending the past two weeks in Toronto with friends.

P. Spence was in Peterborough for a few days last week

Miss Dorothy Sherin has returned from Toronto.

The curlers had the last game of the season on Easter Monday, when Messrs. Watson and Wannamaker skipped the rinks. April 2 is a record for curling in Lakefield. The men reported keen ice and a real good game.

BETTER LIVE STOCK TRAIN APPRECIATED

Attracted Interested Visitors From Miles Around Norwood.

NORWOOD, April 6.—(Special.)—The "Better Live Stock Train," which reached Norwood on Tuesday night, was visited by a very large number of people from all over the district as well as from the village. From morning until night interested spectators visited the cars. The train was on the second track in the local railway yards.

The first car, opposite the station, was the feed car. The entrance to the train commenced at the beef and dairy cattle departments, which included 1 car of beef cattle, 1 car of dairy cows, 5 cars of bulls of the Holstein, Jersey, Ayrshire, and Shorthorn breeds. Then there were two cars of swine representing the market grades and cured Wiltshire sides, made from hogs of each grade, and breeding stock, 1 car of sheep, wool and Canadian made woollen fabrics, 1 car for lecture purposes, 1 car of poultry and eggs.

A diner and sleeper were also attached for the members of the staff, among whom was Mr. F. J. Webster, B.S.A., who assisted Mr. F. C. McRae, local agricultural representative during the short course, which was held in Norwood this winter.

STRONG DEFENCE

tection, he continued. She was the unconscious or accidental cause of McKee's death. There was no intention.

The Crown, he declared, had not proved a motive in its contention that Mrs. Connaughton intentionally shot McKee.

"There is just one human witness here to-day," he said. "The Crown depends upon her statements, after the shooting to secure a conviction." He pointed out that three people were in the McKee House. Mrs. Connaughton had told of the affair with scrupulous care. McKee is dead. Mrs. Gibson was not called by the Crown.

He drew attention to this fact. "The Crown has not thought it important enough to see to it that this woman is here. By her absence she speaks in corroboration of the statements made by Mrs. Connaughton."

He declared that the Crown's case rested on the fact that accused had the revolver in her hand, and upon statements she made while in a more or less dazed condition. Mrs. Connaughton's actions following the shooting were not consistent with those of a person who had committed an intentional shooting. She had not hidden the revolver. She had told Mrs. Downey, her son, John A. McKee, Jorgensen and Chief Lyness. She had allowed Mrs. Gibson to leave the house unharmed. Had there been murder in her heart would she not have wreaked vengeance on Mrs. Gibson as well?"

Her remarks to her son that she was happy and at peace with God, were an indication that her conscience was clear in the knowledge that the shooting was accidental.

Jorgensen's evidence, he contended, could be eliminated altogether. There were discrepancies, and the witness showed lack of knowledge of the English language.

"Actions speak louder than words" he said. Mrs. Connaughtons stunned brain did not let her realize what she should do. The fact that she went to Mrs. Downey and told her of the affair was not the action of a murderess. Every act was consistent with those of a woman with an honest mind, who having met with a great catastrophe, was doing all she could to put matters right.

He said that Mrs. Connaughton's story of the affair was impressive, and stamped with truth, a plain, unvarnished story of her relationship and friendship with McKee. Her freindship was fair, honest and decent, and they had no cause to be ashamed of it.

Her action in going to McKee's home was because she felt that he was not playing the game fair as far as she was concerned, since their friendship was on an honest basis, and she had risked the tongue of slander or envy because of that friendship, which they both knew was of the highest nature.

Dr. Silverthorne's evidence, he declared, was entirely consistent with the explanation accused gave of the manner in which the shooting occurred. This highest medical testimony, he said, was uncontradicted by the Crown.

It was not a case of lust, passion or rage, he declared, and referred to Mrs. Connaughton's statement concerning her early operation as precluding any possibility of passion on her part, which would in turn preclude a possibility of their friendship being on sordid grounds.

He reviewed the testimony of the witnesses called who were asked as to Mrs. Connaughton's character. It had stood her the test of friendship with McKee and would stand her in good stead now.

"Thank God, there can be honest and clean friendships in this world, without lust and illicit intimacy," he said. Such intimacy must be proved by the Crown to show the slightest motive in its contention that she wilfully killed McKee.

Mr. Dewart concluded his masterly address by appealing for a verdict of acquital.

Crown Attorney McKessock referred to the "Unfortunate condition of affairs," and to the natural reluctance felt by citizens to act as jurors in such serious cases, but it was a duty of citizenship. He reminded them of their oath as jurymen and charged them to find their verdict on the evidence.

He referred to the evidence given by Mrs. Connaughton of the strong friendship between McKee and the Connaughtons. and pointed out that there had been no apparent exchange of visits between the two houses, according to the Connaughtons, although all agreed that McKee came often to the house.

He upheld Johgensen's testimony against Mr. Dewart's attack. There was no suggestion that the shooting had been accidental until the accused took the witness stand in her own defence. Was it reasonable to suppose that she would not explain to the various people who gave evidence of her statements following the shooting that it was accidental.

He contended that the friendship between Mrs. Conaughton and McKee was not proper, on the face of the outing trips, the constant finding themselves in each other's company, and the surrounding circumstances. Mrs. Connaughton had admitted that McKee had deceived her. Was it the place of merely a sincere friend to receive explanations of a man's every movement, to watch his movements when he left her house?

He reviewed the events of the night of the 16th as being coincident with those of an angry and jealous woman.

"It was jealousy actuated Sadie Connaughton. It was jealousy forced her into that house, and it was jealousy made her neglect John McKee lying dead at her feet, a victim of her own bullet, and go into the bedroom to find who was the woman who had supplanted her in the affections of John McKee," he declared.

He said that such a friendship as that described by Mrs. Connaughton for McKee, was almost impossible on her explanation.

"She fortified herself with the means to commit murder and she killed somebody. That's murder."

He claimed that when she accused said that she killed McKee in justice she meant justice to herself.

She had refused McKee's offer to cease their friendship because of her fear of scandal.

"Which was the more honorable character of the two then? She was clinging to McKee. She inferred, 'You know what you were doing. I know what you were doing, and God knows what you were doing, and who cares for the public?'

"She went into that house illegally —a trespasser—with crime in her heart—and she killed John McKee."

Mr. McKessock concluded by stating that if this country gets the reputation of allowing criminals off when a crime is brought home to them the district will be flooded with criminals lured by the prospect of immunity.

Joint Committee Met Last Evening and Discussed Plans for the Celebration.

THE PROGRAM

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6.—The joint committee composed of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Town Council, held their first meeting last night in the store of Councillor Burke to consider the question of holding an Old Boys' Re-union in Campbellford this summer, an idea which originated with the former organization. It was unanimously decided to report in favour of holding such a reunion for three days, the opening day to be on Monday, August 6th, which is the Civic holiday here.

The meeting was organized by the appointment of Councillor H. W. Carfer as chairman on motion of Dr. G. A. Hay and Dr. Watson. On motion of Dr. Watson, seconded by Councillor Cole, Alex. McGregor was appointed secretary. Those present were Dr. Hay, Dr. Watson and J. P. Archer, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Councillors Cole Carter, Allan and Burke.

All Favor Idea

The first item of business to be disposed of was to decided whether or not it was advisable to hold a reunion this year, and this matter was quickly disposed of after the objection that there was not sufficient time to advertise the affair had been over-ruled. On motion of Dr. Hay and Councillor Cole it was decided to go ahead.

Dr. Watson said that of the opening day was on the Civic Holiday which concurs with the holiday in Toronto, this would assure a large delegation of visitors from the Queen City as there are at present over 250 former residents of Campbellford located there, and these have a Campbellford Association with a live membership of men who have not forgotten the town of their birth. It was also stated that there would be old boys here from as far as Chicago one one side and Nova Scotia on the other.

The Last Reunion

Dr. Hay indulged in interesting reminiscences of last reunion held here, in 1906, to celebrate the passing of Campbellford from the status of a village to that of a town. The Village Council, consisting of a reeve and four councillors, were so enthusiastic for the celebration that they agreed to become personally liable for any deficit that might result up to $500. The affair was a financial success and the surplus was divided among the five councillors, yielding each a profit of $250.

The Reeve of Campbellford at that time was the late Capt. Doxsee one of the first men in this district to offer his services when the call came for volunteers in 1914 and who was one of the first to lose his life in the Great War.

Finally after a brief discussion, it was unanimously decided, on motion of Dr. Watson and Councillor Burke, that the reunion be held for three days beginning on Monday, August 6th. This recommendation will be made at a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Town Council to be held on Monday night. A tentative programme was drawn up, this to be submitted to the two organizations for approval. The committee will recommend the following entertainments for each of the three days.

The Programme

Tuesday, August 7th—Visitors' day; strangers to be taken in the morning on a trip around town in decorated autos, and shown the industrial plants and other points of interest in Campbellford. A regatta in the afternoon on the river. A public meeting in the evening preferably in the open air, at which Sir Adam Beck will be asked to deliver an address.

Wednesday, August 8th—Military parade in the morning, headed by the local company of the Northumberland Regiment and the Regimental Band, companies from other towns to be invited to take part. Horse races, baseball and lacrosse games in the afternoon, the celebration to wind up with a display of fire works at night.

There will be a band concert every evening if the recommendation of the committee are accepted by the Chamber of Commerce and Council Another suggestion made by Councillor Burke, is that there be several flights during the celebration. Hon. George P. Graham, Acting Minister of Railways and Canals will be asked to permit some of the government boats on the Trent Canal to be used for the entertainment of the visitors.

For Benefit of Memorial Fund

It was unanimously decided by the committee to recommend that any surplus derived from the celebration be turned over to the Daughters of the Empire to be added to the fund which they are raising for a Soldiers' Memorial. An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged for entrance to the Fair Grounds where the races, sports and fire works display are to be held.

Chamber of Commerce

Ira A. Humphries, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was asked by telephone if he could call a special meeting of the organization for Monday night. He replied in the affirmative and added that the members of the Town Council would be asked to attend. At this meeting the recommendations of the joint committee as agreed upon last night will be submitted for consideration.

Other Suggestions

Among the suggestions made last night was one by J. P. Archer that during the celebration a lacrosse game be put on between a team of visiting "old boys" who during their residence here, were distinguished in that sport, and a picked team of local players.

Councillor Cole was regarded as the one man for chairman of the Committee on Sports.

Councillor Allan favoured Rev. Father Phelan as a member of the Finance Committee on account of his well-known talent for organisation.

POLES ATTACKED RUSSIAN LEGATION

LONDON, April 6. — (United Press).—A mob of more than ten thousand Poles attempted to storm the Russian Legation at Warsaw today, in a demonstration of protest against the execution of Catholic Prelate Budkevich, according to this afternoon's Evening News. Polish mounted police broke up the attack.

Indignation over the execution of Vicar-General Budkevich is now mingled with the apprehension over the probable fate of the Most Rev. Dr. Tikhon, former patriarch of all Russia, who will be tried on April 11 for resistance to the Soviet system.

Russia has informed Great Britain it is impossible to revise an original Soviet reply to this country's protest against the execution of the Catholic dignitaries.

Hope is expressed that England now will "refrain from interference with Russia's internal affairs."

Pope Pius, is understood to have abandoned the idea of protesting against the recent execution of Mgr. Budkevich.

Patriarch Tikhon will be put on trial next Wednesday on charges of high treason in connection with the alleged counter revolutionary activities.

With him will be tried Vicar General Gouriev and Bishop Arseniev, all of Moscow.

Prosecutor Krylenko charges that Tikhon kept in constant contact with the foreign clergy in occupied territories, and made public sermons in which he is quoted as saying that "Christ loved the armies fighting the Bolsheviks."

It is further charged that at the Holy Sabor held at Karlovia, in the autumn of 1911, the Patriarch advised passive and active resistance to the famine relief measures in the Volga region.

Dr. Tikhon was formerly tried on charges of speculation with church candle sticks and other precious materials of the church.

(The Patriarch at one time was a Bishop in Canada, and also in the United States. He speaks English fluently.)

MANY ENJOYED ANNUAL EVENT

Campbellford Ladies to Be Congratulated on Success of Yesterday's Bazaar and Supper.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6.—The ladies who constitute the Willing Workers' Society of Christ church are to be congratulated upon the success of their annual bazaar and supper which was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the parish hall. In spite of the unfavorable weather there was a good attendance, and the ladies realized over $200 from the entertainment. The affair was advertised as the "best yet" bazaar and that was what it turned out to be in every sense. All of the booths were well patronized and nearly every article offered for sale was disposed of at a fancy figure early in the evening. Some cakes that were left over were auctioned off successfuly by F. C. Bonnycastle, whose persuasive powers found a congenial scope. Tea was served during the afternoon and a sumptuous supper from 5.30 to 8 p.m. Those in charge of the various booths were as follows:

Plain nad fancy sewing—Mrs. E. J. Burling and Miss A. Martin.

Home cooking—Mrs. Charles Benor and Mrs. M. Muffit.

Candy— Mrs. A. J. Jenkins and Mrs. R. A. Linton.

Tea table—Mrs. E. A. Caddy and Mrs. S. H. Neale.

Supper— Mrs. C W. Smith and Mrs. Marshall West.

One of the chief centres of interest during the evening was the "hoop-la," presided over by Ted Buring and Staunton Archer. Everybody,old and young, apparently loves a game in which there is an element of chance. The "hoop-la" did a thriving business until all the prizes had been disposed of. The capital prize, a half dozen fresh eggs, to which all the contestants aspired, was finally won by A. J. Jenkins. The next highest honor, a silver napkin ring, went to J. P. Archer, and Dr. Watson secured a handsome pocket knife, which he immediately donated to his young son.

After the supper a short programme wah put on under the direction of Miss Gertrude Maynard, organist of the church, who acted as accompanist. Those who took part were: Miss Hazel Atkinson, O. H. Gledhill and R. Dunk, all of whom rendered solos. Several selections were given by the youthful musicians who stye themselves the 'Blue Birds' Novelty Orchestra,' the members of which are: Lester Clegg, leader, Everett Thomas and Francis Pickett.

Meeting Postponed.

A meeting of citizens was called in the Public Library last night to discuss the question of organizing a lacrosse club for the coming season. The attendance was so light on account of the inclement weather, that it was decided to adjourn until tonight. There are a number of enthusiastic sportsmen in Campbellford who would regret to see Campbellford without a team in the lacrosse field this year.

Twelve O'Clock Club.

A general meeting of the members of the Twelve O'Clock Club will be held Tuesday evening in the Public Library and all interested in this popular organization are urged to attend. The next dance will be held in Cole's Opera House on the evening of April 19th.

W.C.T.U Social.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held on Tuesday afternoon, April 10th at the home of Mrs. C. W. Turner.

Personal Mention.

Miss Edna Connor has accepted a position as teacher of Cavan and will assume her new duties after the holidays.

Rev. J. J. Black, who has been taking a post graduate course at Chicago University since last September, having completed his course, has returned home. Mrs. Black and children who have been visiting her parents in Nova Scotia during Mr. Black's absence, have also returned home.

MILLBROOK AND THE DISTRICT

A Pretty Wedding on Wednesday—Annual Meeting of Sunday School.

MILLBROOK, April 6. — A very pretty wedding was solemnised in Methodist Church on Mednesday at 2.30 p.m., when Alice Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. Noble Stewart, became the bride of Mr. Irwin Hatherly, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly, Millbrook.

Promptly at the hour appointed the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Estelle Hetherington the church organist.

The bride was attired in her travelling suit of navy blue tricotine, the coat opening over a blouse of Carnarvon silk tricolette with ribbon-trimmed hat to match her suit, and wore also the groom's gift, a handsome mink stole.

Miss Audrey Lacheur, of Peterborough, the bride's niece, was her attendant, wearing a becoming dress of jade green crepe meteor, with black corsage ornament, and black mohair hat, with lace brim and silver trimming, while the groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Allen Peters, of Canton.

The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of Easter lilies, and the bridesmaid Ophelia roses, each with feathery maiden hair fern supplying the needed touch of green.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. T. Tucker, B.A., B.D., in the presence of over forty guests, and a large number of personal friends of the bride and groom, who had gathered at the church for the occasion. The bridal party stood under an arch twined with evergreen and hung with white bridal bells, Easter lilies and pink roses completing the decorations within the altar.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. G. M. Sayles sang in excellent voice, "O Perfect Love." The ushers were Mr. G. Lacheur, of Peterborough, the bride's brother-in-law, and Mr. Sidney Climo, of Cobourg, a cousin of the groom.

After the ceremony at the church a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, the house looking very attractive with its spring-like decorations of golden daffodils. A dainty buffet luncheon was served to the guests, Mrs. G. Lacheur, of Peterborough, and Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, sister and cousin respectively of the bride, having charge of the arrangements.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Hatherly left on the five o'clock train, amid showers of confetti and good wishes to spend their honeymoon at Toronto and other points west. On their return they will reside on the 5th Line of Cavan.

The newly-married couple were the recipients of a large number of beautiful wedding gifts, including two handsome leather-upholstered solid oak chairs from the executive of the Methodist Sunday School, both having been faithful and efficient teachers in the school for many years. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was pearl drop earrings, to the groomsman gold cuff-links, and to the ushers silver "Eversharp" pencils. To the organist was sent a cut-glass marmalade jar with silver mountings, and to the soloist, Mrs. Sayles, American Beauty roses.

Annual Meeting.

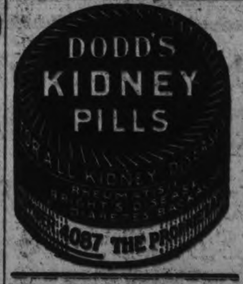
The annual meeting of the executive of the Methodist Sunday School was held on Tuesday evening, the pastor, Rev. S. T. Tucker occupying the chair. Owing to the unfavorable weather the attendance was somewhat smaller than usual.

After opening with prayer some items of general business re the payment of accounts etc., were transacted and the superintendent gave a brief report of the year's work. The election of officers then took place, with the following result:

Superintendent, W. Fred Fallis.
Asst. Superintendent, P. Stinson.
Secretary, W. G. Rowland.
Treasurer, W. G. Hetherington.
Librarian, A. J. Brown.
Pianist, Miss May Byam.
Asst. Pianist, Miss Stella Pethick.
Superintendent Home Department, Rev. Joseph Wilks.
Superintendent Temperance Department, M. Brock.
Superintendent Teacher Training, Miss Estelle Hetherington.
Superintendent Missionary Department,Missionary Committee of the Adult Classes.
Superintendent Cradle Roll, Mrs. (Rev.) S. T. Tucker.
Superintendent Primary Department, Miss Pearl Burnham.
Director of Music, G. E. Burnham.
Teachers (by appointment of the Superintendent): Adult Bible Class, Miss M. E. Hetherington; Young Men's Bible Class, Miss A. Hampton; Boneka Class, Mrs. J. H. George; Mizpah Class, Mrs P. Stinson; Twin Boys, I. Hatherly; Senior Trail Rangers, C. Garside; Junior Trail Rangers, F. Alcorn; Intermediate Classes, Mrs. I. M. Nattrass, Mrs. I. McKnight, Mrs. J. Hatherly, Mrs. O. Williamsin (Sunshine Class), Mrs. Irwin Hatherly (Maple Leaf Class), Mrs. C. W. Richards, Mrs. T. McComb: Beginners' Class, Miss Florence Fallis; organist, Primary Department, Miss Phyllis Richards. One class of small boys has a teacher yet to be appointed when the superintendent has arranged for a permanent supply.

DIED—In Cavan, on Tuesday, April 3rd, Robert H. Morton, in his 60th year. The funeral took place on Thursday, April 5th, from the residence of his brother, George Morton, lot 10, concession 9, at 2.30 p.m. Interment in St. John's cemetery, Cavan.

Mr. I. W. Smith, is in Toronto this week, representing the local School Board at the Ontario Educational Council, which meets annually during Easter week.



WILL WAR AGAINST ANY ALLIANCE WITH FARMERS

LINDSAY, April 6.—War to the knife against any recognition of an alliance with the U.F.O. in the coming provincial election was the decision reached at a meeting of Liberals of South Victoria held here last night. A candidate will be placed in the field in the Liberal interests at a convention to be held at an early date.

Wellington Hay, leader of the Liberal opposition in the Legislature, was present and in his address stated that the talk of a fusion of the Liberal U.F.O. Liberal forces was nothing but talk. There would be no alliance and the question had never even been considered by the Liberals.

Regarding the temperance legislation, Mr. Hay said the people had been asked to give a verdict on the issue by what he termed a "trick ballot". He felt that when the people asked to be given an opportunity to express their verdict on this issue, it should not be linked up with any other propositions but should be a separate election.

Mr. Hay severely scored Secretary Morrison of the U.F.O. in his policy of creating a division between the people of town and country.

SAYS BIBLE IS GREATEST WORK

Interesting Address Last Evening by Sir Henry Newbolt—Advocates Use of Book.

TORONTO, April 6. Canadian Press. — From the standpoint of the English-speaking people, the greatest work of literature which the world has ever known is the Bible, and in the elaboration of that statement before the National Conference of Education and Civilization at Massey Hall last night, Sir Henry Newbolt brought out the point that the Bible has been more peculiarly a book of inspiration for the people of the British Empire than for any other race in the world, and that appears to be due to the fact that for the past 900 years the history of the Empire has coincided with the trials, struggles and hopes of the Hebrews, as told in the romantic history of Biblical stories in the Old Testament. Sir Henry, who strongly advocated the use of the Bible in the school studies, went on to state that when he first gave his attention to a careful study of the Bible from the standpoint of a work of literature he was inclined to look upon it merely as record of minor details dovetailed together in a clever manner, and without any great inspiration, but when he went more closely into the matter he became convinced that his early impression was a faulty one, and that the Bible has no peer in the English language.

While deploring the fact that the Bible was read much less freely in the Old Country to-day than ever before, he felt that the prevailing epidemic of cheap literature was to some extent responsible. The schism of the church also has its share of responsibility to bear in this matter, with the fact that there was a devout body of people who hold up their hands in horror at the thought of the Bible being used in the school for any purposes other than religious.

Viewed solely as a work of literature, Sir Henry would put the Bible in all the schools of all the English speaking nations, but the conflict of the church will not permit this.

FALSE ECONOMY TO CURTAIL EDUCATION

J. Allison Glen Says Monetary Value of Education Cannot Be Measured.

WINNINPEG, April 6 (Canadian Press). — Any curtailment of necessary expenditure on vital services in the matter of education would be sheer folly and false economy, J. Allison Glen, of Russell, Man., president of the Manitoba School Trustees' Association, told the delegates attending the Manitoba Education Association meeting here yesterday. He said he was fully convinced of the monetary value of education, but stated it could not be measured in terms of currency, because it meant the training of the youth of the nation and hence had an effect which could ont be estimated on the future of the country. Teachers, he maintained, did not realise their position as leaders and did not endeavour to attain their full status.

Speaking of rural districts, Mr. Glen declared there were too many changes in the teaching staff during the school year. He advocated the rearing and training of teachers who intend to devote themselves to rural teaching.

At the present time rural teachers were overpaid, said Mr. Glen, continuing that there should not be the same minimum salary for all parts of the Province. He recommended the Federation should revise the schedule of salaries and should reduce the minimum.

MAKE THE BACKYARD PAY

By W. R. Beattie

Wild blackberries and dewberries grow over a wide range of territory Among them are found some excellent native varieties but the cultivated sorts that have been developed are far superior.

Both blackberries and dewberries are adapted for growing in home gardens as they follow raspberries and strawberries and provide a continuous supply of fresh fruit for the table. About 15 hills of each or a combined row 90 feet in length will yield about enough berries for the ordinary family.

Blackberries are started by planting the suckers or young plants that come up from the extended roots of the old plants, or pieces of roots from the old plants may simply be buried at a depth of two or three inches where the hills are wanted. The planting of suckers is best for the home garden.

The canes formed one year bear the fruit the following season and then should be removed. The strong growing canes should be pinched back during the summer so that they form branches and do not become too high.

Blackberries that grow wild in patches support one another, but in the garden, where the hills are spaced about three or four feet apart, the young and tender canes are liable to be broken off at the base by the wind unless they are tied to supports. A good way to support the blackberry plants is to drive a long stake about four feet high in the row beside each hill, then stretch about three strands of galvanized wire on the stakes and tie the canes to the wires.

Dewberries are similar to blackberries in most respects, except that the canes creep along the ground and form new plants by rooting at their tips. Set the plants in the early spring three feet apart in the row and allow the canes to lie on the ground the first season. Early the following spring drive a row of stakes and stretch wires upon them, forming a trellis to which the canes may be tied.

Dewberries are pruned very much the same as other berries by cutting out the old canes after fruiting and clipping back the new growth if the canes grow longer than five or six feet. If more than five or six canes are formed in each hill thin out the weaker ones. Dewberries give better results in the south than blackberries.

In cold regions, dewberry canes "winter-kill" badly unless they are protected. One method of protecting the plants is to loosen the wires from the stakes and lay the wires and canes upon the ground, then cover with earth or with straw or both. In the early spring the covering is carefully removed and the wires fastened back in place without taking the canes off them.

Logan blackberries are adapted to growing on the Pacific Coast but do not thrive in the south or east. The loganberry is of the trailing type and resembles the dewberry in its habits of growth. It is a very strong grower, sometimes producing canes 20 feet long. The canes should be grown on the ground the first season, then tied up like dewberries.

PEOPLE OF HOLLAND PREPARING PROTEST

WARSAW, April 6.—(Canadian Press). — Although the Pope had been deeply shocked by execution of Monsignor Butchkavitch, the government has issued no official statement on subject but Foreign Minister Skrzynski points out that as prelate was a Russian subject, protest is out of the question. The people of Holland, however are organizing strong demonstration during which all the factories and stores will be closed.

BERLIN IS BACK TO STOVES FOR HEATING

BERLIN, April 6. — A glimpse through the windows of high class apartment houses in the most exclusive residential sections of Berlin discloses that the old-fashioned stove pipe is returning.

This domestic evidence of economic conditions in the capital usually means either that the central heating plants have ceased to function for lack of fuel, or that the equipment has broken down and that the tenants have no money to repair it. There is a large scale for small heating devices for individual apartments.

ENJOYABLE CARD PARTY.

One of the most successful euchre parties of the season was held in Victoria Hall Wednesday night, under the auspices of Eastern Star, L.O.B.A. No. 525. The weather man proved most favorable, the large crowd present soon filled up the tables and card playing continued until 10.30. The prize winners were: First prize for ladies, Mrs. Bert Pearson, a beautiful cut glass flower basket. Second prize, lovely plant won by Mrs. Benson. Third prize, Miss B. Wilder. First prize for gentlemen, a safety razor set, Mr. Tedford. Second prize, a box of cigars, won by Mrs Bailey. Third prize went to Mr. Clarke.

A dainty lunch was served by the ladies in charge, after which dancing was enjoyed until the small hours of the morning. The officers and members of Easter Star, L.O.B.A. feel deeply indebted to all who so generously helped in any way to make their first euchre party such a splendid success.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of THE EXAMINER:

Sir—It is marvellous how much of the Unionist Literature sent out over Canada today is made up of fictions of different kinds and grades. Some of them are facts so used as to make them fictions, some are half facts, and some are fictions pure. Two previous letters gave two dozen of those fictions. Herewith some more:

25. There is the fiction—"We have gone too far to go back; the only thing now is to go forward to Union." Pure fiction! There is no going back to do. All that is needed is to quit wasting time and effort and thousands of dollars of Missionary Budget money in the vain attempt at strangling religious liberty, and to devote that time and effort and money to the great work of world Evangel. If any wish to form other church ties, none will hinder.

26. There is the fiction that "If Union be not now consummated it would show that authority had departed from our Church Courts, in that they allow a minority to rule the majority."

This is a triple fiction, for, first, the so-called "majority" is only one-third of the Church; second, Church courts have no authority to disband the Church, but only to work for its maintenance, to which they are pledged; third, the so-called "minority" seek to rule no one; they simply claim the right to choose their own faith and to remain in their own Church and they grant the same freedom of choice to all others.

27. There is the fiction that not to proceed to Union "would be a grave reflection upon those who initiated the Movement," and have passed away, men like Principal Caven and others,—when the facts are directly the reverse, for those men declared that "Union"—"must carry the consent of the entire membership" and have "practically unanimous action." To use their names as a warrant for the attempt to force "Union" under present conditions, is to dishonour their memories.

28. There is the fiction that if Union be not consummated, "it would mean that we are not worthy descendants of men like Chalmers, who said 'What care I for the Church of Scotland only as an instrument to build up the Kingdom of God'"—when the very occasion of his making that statement was the starting of a new denomination in which he was a leader, because he believed it would "build up the Kingdom of God." He cared more for truth and right as he saw it, than for a big National Church; and the result was two living churches, Dirk and Free, in place of the one that had been so largely formal and dead.

29. There is the fiction that "It is a movement of the people," when everybody knows that it was begun and has been continued by a few leaders, who are aiming to coerce the Presbyterian people out of their Church into a new denomination by Act of Parliament.

30. There is that old fiction of the baser sort, which Union leadership revived and published all over Canada a few weeks since as follows: "With many, probably the majority . . . the real spring of their opposition to Union is the feeling of superiority they profess to entertain towards Methodists, morally and spiritually."

This is perhaps the lowest and most unworthy of the fiction family. It is the poison gas of this coercion campaign, fitted to kill the kindly fellowship between the denominations; and its saddest feature is that those who state —"the majority . . . profess to entertain," such feelings "towards Methodists"—know it to be fiction.

Presbyterians have friends in the Methodist Church; as in other churches, whom they esteem and love; with whom they are one in spirit and sympathy. They honour the Methodist Church for her history and work. They believe that to attempt to replace these two great Churches by the proposed Merger would be a distinct loss to Canada and the world.

Their opposition is not to people anywhere, but to the backward step of casting aside the free, democratic, world-wide, Presbyterian Church, pledged to Evangelical Truth, for the proposed autocratic legal corporation, in which the ordination vows of ministers do not require acceptance of any system of truth, not even of its own Basis of Union, and in which the committee men, miscalled "Elders," have no ordination vows of any kind, and no declared acceptance of anything in the way of religious belief.

CAMERON McLEAN IS A GREAT MASTER

Hector Charlesworth in Toronto "Saturday Night", says:

"The recital by Cameron McLean in the Crystal Ball Room of the King Edward Hotel last November, was a surprise to many. Though it was known by hearsay that he was the possessor of a noble voice, it was not known that he was one of the "greatest masters of the art of pure vocalism now before the public."

He is the possessor of a baritone voice of large emotional quality that is as flexible, flawless and even as taht one of the greater coloratura sopranos. In all-round technical equipment one knows of "no singer of his class who is on a parity with McLean." Apart from the thrilling ease and spontaneity of his production, McLean has "the gift of imparting delicate emotional color to every phrase, and an inspiring warmth of personality."

His gifts are not confined to the interpretation of his native Scottish music in which he is supreme; but is also a master of other styles in which he has had the coaching of that very gifted musician, Frank La-Forge, so long associated with Marcella Sembrich. His style has a touch of histrionism, but he does not abuse this gift unduly, and sometimes, as in Hammond's stirring and tragic song, "Pipes o' Gordon's Men," uses it with wonderfull varied and subtle effect.

One of his most characteristic achievements was his mordant and cynical rendering of Moussorgsky's bizarre setting of "The Song of the Flea" from Goethe's "Faust," which is more effective than that of Berlioz.

His rendering of a fairy song in Gaelic has ineffable interpretation of Kreisler's setting of the infectious ballad "Leezie Lindsay."

Superlatives are never out of place in recording most of the offerings of Cameron McLean. Cameron McLean will be heard in the Grand Opera House, on Tuesday evening next, as assisting artist with Peterboro Male Voice Choir.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"He told me all about them as we were riding in this evening." Both Parker and his wife raised interrogatory eyebrows. "Indeed!" Mrs. Parker murmured. "So he's honoring you with his confidences already?"

The girl ignored her mother's bantering tones. "No, he didn't tell me in confidence. In fact, his contemplated procedure is so normal and free from guile that he feels there is no necessity for secrecy. I suppose he feels that it would be foolish to conceal the trap after the mouse has been caught in it."

"Well, little daughter, I haven't been caught—yet. And I'm not a mouse, but considerable of an old fox. What's he up to?"

"He's going to sell you his equity in the ranch."

Her father stared hard at her, a puzzled little smile beginning to break over his handsome face.

"That sounds interesting," he replied, dryly. "What am I going to pay for it?"

"Half a million dollars."

"Nonsense."

"Perhaps. But you'll have to admit that his reasoning is not so preposterous as you think." And she went on to explain to Parker every angle of the situation as Don Mike viewed it.

Both Parker and his wife listened attentively. "Well, John," the good soul demanded, when her daughter had finished speaking; "What's wrong with that prescription?"

"By George, that young man has a head on his shoulders. His reasoning is absolutely flawless. However, I am not going to pay him any half-million dollars. I might, in a pinch, consider paying him half that, but——"

"Would a quit-claim deed be worth half a million to you, Dad?"

"As a matter of cold business, it would. Are you quite certain he was serious?"

"Oh, quite serious."

"He's a disappointment, Kay. I had hoped he would prove to be a worthwhile opponent, for certainly he is a most likable young man. However—" He smothered a yawn with his hand, selected a cigar from his case, carefully cut off the end and lighted it. "Poor devil," he murmured, presently, and rose, remarking that he might as well take a turn or two around the farmyard as a first aid to digestion.

Once outside, he walked to the edge of the mesa and gazed down the moonlit San Gregorio. Half a mile away he saw a moving black spot on the white ribbon of road. "Confound you," he murmured, "you're going to get some of my tail feathers, but not quite the handful you anticipate. You cannot stand the acid test, Don Mike, and I'm glad to know that."

CHAPTER XXIII.

As Farrel approached the Mission de la Madre Dolorosa, a man in the rusty brown habit of a Franciscan friar rose from a bench just outside the entrance to the Mission garden.

"My son," he said, in calm, paternal accents and speaking in Spanish, "I knew you would come to see your old friends when you had laid aside the burdens of the day. I have waited here to be first to greet you; for you I am guilty of the sin of selfishness."

"Padre Dominic!" Don Mike grasped the outstretched hand and wrung it heartily. "Old friend! Old Saint! Not since my confirmation have I asked for your blessing," and with the words he bent his head while the old friar, making the sign of the cross, asked the blessing of God upon the last of the Farrels.

Don Mike drew his old friend down to the seat the latter had just vacated. "We will talk here for awhile, Father," he suggested. "I expect the arrival of a friend in an automobile and I would not be in the garden when he passes. Later I will visit with the others. Good Father Dominic, does God still bless you with excellent health?"

"He does, Miguel, but the devil afflicts me with rheumatism."

"You haven't changed a bit, Father Dominic."

"Mummies do not change, my son. I have accomplished ninety-two years of my life; long ago I used up all possibilities for change, even for the worse. It is good to have you home, Miguel. Pablo brought us the news early this morning. We wondered why you did not look in upon us as you passed last night."

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

HOOKS—WHAT THEY ARE, AND DO.

One of the most expressive and important words in advertising parlance is, "Hooks." A hook in a Want Ad is some fact, offer, etc., which literally "hooks" the reader's attention and interest. Possibly, it is stronger still—it "hooks" desire, so that the reader immediately is persuaded to buy. Usually a Want Ad is weakor strong according as the advertiser succeeds in putting hooks in it. Look your next Want Ad over. See whether it has hooks in it. If it hasn't, incorporate them.

Hooks may have to do with price. They may suggest, for example, it represents a great bargain.

They may have to do with quality—suggesting the advertiser has something fine, exceptional.

They may suggest scarcity. They may consist of "limited" offers. They may be "Free" clauses.

Books are anything in the Want Ad which "hook" the readers attention and interest in a sure, tenacious way A good Want Ad often has not one, but several of them. Take this Want Ad for example:

"Ideal stock farm, blue grass, alfalfa, never-failing springs and wells, high-class improvements; only 40 minutes drive from Baltimore hotel and 1½ miles west of Longview Farm; bargain for cash."

Study that a moment, and you will see how full of hooks a Want Ad can be. First of all, there are the descriptive words—"ideal," "never-failing", "high-class"; there is the advantage of favorable location—still another hook; then there comes, "Bargain for cash"—winding up with a hook.

Many of these daily talks explain good proved ways for putting hooks in Want Ad messages. Remember just what a hook is—something which "hooks" the reader's attention and interest. Then see how many of them you can put in your Want Ad.

A PORT HOPE MAN IS DECORATED BY CHINA

PORT HOPE, April 6.—The Chinese Government has bestowed the Second Class Order of the "Sacred Grain" upon Dr. J. A. L. Waddell, bridge engineer of this town.

The decoration is one of the highest to which Western civilians are eligible and was given as a result of Dr. Waddell's services on the Chinese railways during the summer and fall of 1921. He was at that time appointed high technical adviser to the Chinese railway administration and went to China for the purpose of determining the proper bridge to be erected over the Yellow River.

Sought Expert Advice.

As the crossing was nearly two miles in length and approximately $6,000,000 was involved, no expense was spared to obtain expert advice.

Later Dr. Waddell made an inspection of all the railroads of China and made plans and recommendations for further construction. It was for this work that the decoration was given.

One of the features of the honor is that it is retroactive, that is to say, all of Dr. Waddell's ancestors are also granted the privilege of wearing the Second Class "Sacred Grain."

SAYS MEN OF COMMERCE HAVE BEEN SLANDERED

NEW YORK, April 6 (Canadian Press). — Speaking before the New York State Chamber of Commerce yesterday, Lord Robert Cecil declared that the oft-repeated statement that men of commerce were advocates of war for the mere profit it might bring, was not only wicked slander, but an exceedingly foolish statement, for above all peace was esesntial to commerce.

Terrible Headaches And Dizziness

Mrs. S. Raphael, 237 Kenilworth Ave. N., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I used to suffer from terrible headaches and dizziness. Last Summer, while I was walking up a side street, I got a dizzy spell and fell in the middle of the road. An old gentleman helped me to get to where I was going and tol dme to get a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. Well, I did, and they did wonders for me. I don't know how to thank you, as I don't get headaches or dizzy spells any more."

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers, and the only way to keep well is to keep the liver active and performing its proper functions by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

PROMISES SUCCESS FOR STATE-OWNED RAILWAYS

ATLANTIC CITY, April 6 (Canadian Press) — Addressing the Kiwanis Club here yesterday Sir Henry Drayton expressed the hope that the United States would see its way clear to participate in some world affiliation like the League of Nations. He referred in the highest terms to the part Canada had played in the League.

Sir Henry told his audience that Government ownership of the railways in Canada would eventually succeed.

A TREATISE ON TUBERCULOSIS

The Danger to Children From Dread Disease in Cattle is Intelligently Defined.

By Dr. Johnston, V.S.

Bovine tuberculosis, as it affects children, represents only a small part of the disease in children, but it does represent a very substantial part and a part which can be entirely prevented. It seems to me that every case of bovine tuberculosis is a distinct disgrace to the community in which it occurs, because it is a type of disease which need never occur if we apply the remedy.

Before we take up the disease specially, as it occurs in children, you must bear in mind that tuberculosis in children is very different from tuberculosis in adults, and if we are to recognize the danger of the disease as it occurs in children, we must recognize that we are dealing with a different type of disease. If we wait until we see the disease in the form in which it occurs in adults we shall miss the larger number of cases that are in the stage in which they can be cured. In other words, when tuberculosis in children reaches the stage of tuberculosis of the lungs it is an incurable disease and we must recognize it in the early stages if we are to recognize it at a stage at which it can be cured. Tuberculosis in children, for the most part, is a disease of the bone and glands and it enters in the vast majority of cases by the digestive tract. It enters, probably, by the tonsils and through the mucous membranes of the gastro-intestinal tract, in most instances not producing any lesions or any disturbance, any actual disease at the point at which it enters but setting up trouble at once in the glands, which directly drain the part of the body through which the bacteria enter. When it comes to bone disease, bone tuberculosis, it probably represents a disease due to organisms which have escaped from the glands, circulated freely in the blood and becomes localized in the bones and joints.

Miliary Tuberculosis.

In general tuberculosis of bovine origin represents about twenty-five per cent. of all cases of tuberculosis in children under five years of age. In certain types of the disease it is very much more, as I shall indicate, but about one case in four of every child under five years of age acquires tuberculosis from cattle. It is estimated that in New York City, for instance, between six and ten per cent. of the children that die in the hospitals each year of tuberculosis die of bovine tuberculosis, representing about three hundred children a year in New York City dying of bovine tuberculosis. After the disease goes beyond the primary stage—that is, the stage in which it is localized in glands and bone—it shows practically no further tendency to localization, so that if we get a type of tuberculosis outside the glands, or outside the bones, it almost invariably is a fatal disease—that is, it takes the form of meningitis or a general tuberculosis, so called miliary tuberculosis.

A Type Localized.

Taking the types of disease in order, first, bone tuberculosis. This represents a type of disease which for the most part remains localized in a single place. It is unusual to find tuberculosis elsewhere in the body if it is present in some particular bone. That is, tuberculosis of the spine, tuberculosis of the hip or knee. This type of tuberculosis usually runs a very long course, but in a majority of cases not a fatal course. I do not mean that all cases of bone tuberculosis are not fatal, but in a very large number of cases deformity, stiff joints or a back which is not normal, results.

The percentage of cases of bovine origin vary according to the age of the patient. The treatment of tuberculosis in children is not different from the treatment in adults, except it is more important that we recognize the disease in the early stage. The real cure and the real hope to cure is the eliminating bovine tuberculosis rests in prevention. It comes from milk, butter, ice cream and cheese. I think we sometimes forget that other kinds of products besides milk are a carrier of this terrible disease. The butter on our market may look the very best but have virulent tubercule bacilli. It seems to me that we have been very slow to realize the importance of bovine tuberculosis and very very slow to apply the remedy. Of course, there are only two ways and that is to have milk free from the tubercule bacilli or else destroy the bacilli which are present.

Pasteurize All Milk.

In conclusion, I would advise all milk taken from any cow to be pasteurized before being used in any form, and apply the tuberculine test and apply it regularly, and it should be carried on under authorized supervisors, using the most strict regulations possible. If the test is not properly applied and in the most scientific manner in the hands of a competent and honest veterinarian, then it gives a false sense of security. I believe all the arguments against pasteurized milk are based entirely on prejudice and that there are no definite proof that it lessens in food value or has any unfavorable results. So far as the feeding of children is concerned, I think we should insist that the milk should be pasteurized unless the owner of the herd can furnish a proof that his herd is free from tuberculosis, and we should insist that pasteurization be under authorized control.

THE WOMAN POWER OF AMERICA

is well-illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every lines of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop weak, nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headaches, backache, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to their sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this old fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. It holds the remarkable record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it.

Notes on the Convention

Delegates and visitors to the 20th annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario come from all parts of Ontario. There are 27 from Toronto; 3 from Ottawa; 7 from London; 2 from Brantford; 5 from Chatham; 9 from Hamilton; 2 from St. Catharines, 2 from Barrie 5 from Kitchener, 2 from Sarnia; 3 from Kingston, 3 from Orillia, 4 from Oshawa, 2 each from Sudbury; Woodstock and Windsor, 2 from Cobourg, and one each from Port Hope, North Bay, Ingersoll, Welland, Cornwall, Whitby, Waterloo, Brockville, and Port Dover and Port Elgin and Petrolea. Representatives from the three Peterboro hospitals and many of the city's private nurses are also attending the meetings.

Among the nurses attending are members and friends of the Association who received their training at widely divergent points. From our own local hospitals the hospitals of Toronto and Brantford and Kingston and Chatham at Sudbury and Woodstock and Welland, from Baltimore and Chicago and New York, Elmira and Amsterdam in New York State, Fall River, Mass., Detroit, Clifton Springs, they received their training and one attendant registered as training at the celebrated Guy's Hospital in London England. Among them are many private nurses, education and public health departmental nurses, industrial nurses, an insurance company nurse in Miss Lillian Simons, a military nurse, Miss M. Condon of Toronto; a social service nurse, Miss Edna L. Moore of Spadina House, Toronto, a supervisor of the St. Elizabeth Visiting Nurses, Miss M. A. Gibson of Toronto; an associate instructor of nurses, Miss M. E. Fitzgerald of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto; Superintendents of hospitals: Miss F. C. Ritchie of Petrolea; Miss P. Campbell of Chatham; Miss Dorothy Cullimore of Welland; Miss Margaret Walsh of Cobourg.

The convention of the nurses is marked by a good deal of humor in one way or another. Perhaps this is due to the dry wit of the chairlady, Mrs. A. C. Joseph of London, the first vice president of the Association, who manages to inject a spice of fun into most of her utterances. "When the day comes that we cannot learn any more, we might as well engage an undertaker, "was one of Mrs. Joseph's pithy comments yesterday.

The delegate, who, in recommending sick insurance to the nurses, related that she had taken some out and within two months found herself in need of it, probably intended her report as an encouragement.

Miss F. Dixon, president of the Peterboro Chapter of graduate nurses, in her remarks yesterday morning, referred to the kindness of the Motor League in supplying cars for the convention.

Applicants for Red Cross Nursing service forms may be obtained from Miss Holland, 410 Sherbourne street, Toronto.

Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto, referring to the laxness of many nurses in taking advantage of registration facilities, after a struggle of six teen years to procure them, said that her opinion of the psychology of the nurse was that when she got a thing she had wanted, she didn't want it. Some moralizers would say that this characteristic is not confined to the nursing profession alone.

Another example of a paternal government's care is evidenced in the provision in the Nurses' Insurance scheme which allows participants to withdraw their accumulated savings on thirty days' notice. This clause is adapted, it is claimed to the needs of junior trousseau-hunting members

Miss E. M. Dickson of Toronto, newly-appointed inspector of training schools, speaking of the vast outlay in postage stamps and stenographers' time involved in applicants for registration failing to supply proper addresses, also remarked that in countless instances the signature of the applicant was illegible, and not only that, but the signatures to the documents of physicians and notary public were just as hard to decipher.

EX-EMPRESS ZITA, IN POVERTY, SEES A CROWN

VIENNA (By mail to the United Press)—Royalist circles here and in Budapest are showing considerable interest in the welfare of the ex-Empress Zita, widow of the late Emperor Karl, who is now living with her children at San Sebastion, Spain. The former empress has lost all her wealth and is reported living on a fund which friends have collected. Until recently the family inhabited the villa of a Spanish nobleman, but with his return the ex-Empress was forced to move to a small hostelry at Calle del Camino, San Sebastian. The former empress has not abandoned the thought of her children regaining the Hungarian noble throne was told by a Hungarian noble who visited her recently. She confided to him that her eldest son, Otto, should again reign over the Kingdom of Hungary. In fact, she declared that she would shortly issue a mandate to the people of Hungary calling them to the banner of Crown Prince Otto.

EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER EDUCATION

NEW YORK, April 5.—Educational problems of both a religious and secular character will be discussed at the annual conference of educational secretaries of the Episcopal Church, which will be held in Omaha, Nebraska, April 12-16, under the auspices of the department of religious education of that organization. The conference will bring together educational leaders from all of the 86 dioceses and missionary districts of the church in the United States.

A feature of the conference will be a discussion of the problem of education in the rural districts, which will be led by Dr. Harold W. Foght, of the United States Bureau of Education, and author of "The Rural Teacher and His Work." Dr. Foght is the Government specialist in rural schools. Bishop Longley, of Iowa, will outline the educational problems in the small community, and other speakers on the same subject will be Rev. Charles N. Lathrop, executive secretary of the social service department of the church, and Miss Charlotte Forsythe of Pittsburgh. Another important topic scheduled for discussion is the moving picture, and a third is that of week day religious instruction in the public schools, the discussion of which will be led by Edward Sargent, who is in charge of this branch of the work for the church.

Rev. Dr. William E. Gardner, secretary of the department of religious education, announced today that plans have been completed under which, on Sunday, April 15, more than a score of cities and towns in the neighborhood of Omaha will be provided with educational addresses and sermons by the distinguished educational leaders and clergymen attending the conference.

In a statement issued by Dr. Gardner on religious education in the public schools, it was announced that in 96 cities in 21 states, secular boards of education are now co-operating with the various religious denominations in granting time from the school day for the religious instruction of pupils, under denominational auspices, whose parents have given their consent to this arrangement.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 6.—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Peter's church held a domestic sale and tea, in the parish hall Tuesday afternoon which passed off successfully.

The Cobourg branch of the Women's Institute met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Newton. An interesting programme was preesnted.

At Coldsprings on Monday evening in the Presbyterian Sunday School Hall, a bazaar was held, which was followed by a good programme and the serving of dainty refreshments. It proved to be a pleasant gathering.

Fell Down Stairs.

Local friends learned with regret of the accident that befell Mr. James Thompson at his home in Port Hope. Mr. Thompson fell when coming up the basement stairs at Mr. Andrew's residence a few days ago, and has been in a semi-conscious condition since.

Curing Over For Season.

On Monday Port Hope curlers challenged Cobourg to play for the Simmons Cup, the trophy recently brought to Cobourg from Colborne, where the curlers there had successfully defended it all the season. Three rinks were to come to Cobourg on Monday evening, but warmer weather interfered with the plans made and it is expected that curling is done for this season.

Coal Getting Plentiful.

Considerable anthracite has come into town the past two or three days, being brought in mostly by the Ontario coal ferries from Genessee Doch.

The week-end saw a scarcity of fuel here, such as had not existed before during the winter, as it is now difficult to bring in wood over the county roads. Today for coal the price is stated to be pretty generally $16.50 per ton, but is sold from $18.00 to $20.00 at the week-end. At Grafton village, seven miles east of here, hard coal was selling last week for $16 per ton.

Death of Francis Sainsbury.

The funeral takes place Wednesday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. A. Ellsworth, Newcastle to Newtonville cemetery, of Mr. Francis Sainsbury, a former well-known resident of Clarke township. Mr. Sainsbury died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. A. Walker, Petersfield, Mass.

Cobourg Life in 1833.

An old copy of the Cobourg Star of December 19, 1833, gives an interesting market report. It states that cheese was selling for four pence a pound. Wood brought six shillings or about $1.50 a cord. Hay was about $10.00 a ton, not much different from today's figure. Beef sold for a penny and a half a pound. In the advertisements, groceries, crockery glass, tallow candles, liquors, wines, dry goods are all listed as part of the trade of the same shop.

Social and Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts have taken up their residence on the farm which he leased recently near The Gully in Haldimand township. Mr. Roberts is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, Peterborough, and Mrs. Roberts until a short-time ago was known as Miss Lottie Harriett Nugent, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nugent, Fleetwood. They are being heartily welcomed to the locality.

Mr. H. Wellington, Haldimand Township, is giving up farming on account of ill health and had a sale advertised of farm stock and implements upon his premises, four miles from Centreton, for Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Wellington was bereaved a few weeks ago by the death of his wife, and has been very ill also himself from effects of the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. John Machlin, Roseneath, are moving to Burlington in Western Ontario, where he has purchased a large farm.

Mrs. Arthur Miles, Toronto, a well-known summer visitor here, is returning to the city from Georgia where she spent a part of the winter. Her sister, Mrs. J. W. Dyrnen, accompanied her. Both are daughters of the late Mr. Justice Armour of Cobourg.

Mr. George Armour is spending considerable of his time at Grafton, where he has a duck farm.

JUNGLE DEATH WATCH ENACTED, TOLEDO ZOO

TOLEDO, April — A Jungle death watch, overwhelming in its tenderness, yet awe-inspiring in its savage intensity, has terminated after four days in the lion house of the Wallbridge park zoo here.

The watchers were Sahara, the beautiful lioness lent to Toledo by the Cleveland zoo, and King, the jungle giant, pride of the Toledo collection.

Between Sahara's two powerful forepaws, caressed tenderly at times, and guarded by two half closed eyes dimmed by grief, were two chubby, fuzzy cubs—both lifeless.

Sahara would not believe they were dead—or knowing it could not calm the overwhelming urge of mother love that had aroused all the tenderness, and yet all of the savagery, of her jungle nature. Only an occasional whine escaped the lioness to indicate her grief.

For four days the death watch was maintained—after the great stork of the lion world flew over the animal house and left the lifeless bodies of a lion son and daughter.

Crouched, ready to spring at the first sign of danger, Sahara hardly moved a muscle during her long vigil. Now and then she smoothed the fur on their little bodies with her tongue, and again she caressed tenderly the still faces. Only twice did she leave them—when keeper Louis Scherer, anxious to put an end to the heart-rending watch, entered the lion house to see if here was an opportunity to remove the two bodies.

On both occasions Sahara, in a terrible rage, sprang fiercely against the great iron bars of her cage in an effort to drive off the intruder.

King, in a frenzy, such Scherer never had seen him display since he took him as a cub to rear, tried to get at his keeper, frothing at the mouth and sending for the terrorizing roar of the enraged jungle master.

"It was the old call to protect the young," Sherer said. "There was no use in trying to take the lifeless cubs away from Sahara."

So the big lion house was locked to all but the keepers. Sahara was permitted to keep her death watch undisturbed until that mysterious healer of animal heartaches, stole quietly into this mother's grief-stricken consciousness with that instinctive knowledge of the hopelessness keeper.

REVISION

tricts will do away with the Chapters, the change making for a broader intercourse between nurses in county and city districts and allowing them to meet oftener than once a year to discuss questions of mutual interest. The list of districts proposed is merely tentative, to be submitted to the various districts for change, if desired.

The early portion of the morning session was occupied with reports of alumnae associations, which indicated a wide variety of interests in the nurses' associations covering charitable assistance, endeavors to furnish wards, rooms, etc., in their various hospitals, work in connection with the War Memorial Fund, and the organization, in one instance, of a course of lectures on Venereal Diseases.

A report from the Nicholls Hospital was given by Miss F. Dixon; from St. Joseph's Hospital by Miss Kathleen Hickey. Reports from Toronto Hospitals were given by Miss Meeder for St. Michael's; Miss Martin for Toronto General; Miss Fitzgerald for the Hospital for Sick Children. Miss M. Devell of Peterboro, read the report from the Western Hospital, Toronto; Miss Scott, for Riverdale; Miss Henderson, for Grace Hospital; Miss Gibson, for the Free Hospital; Miss McClintock for the Women's College; Miss Brownlow, for Grant McDonald, and Miss Kelly, for the Toronto Florence Nightingale Association.

Entertaining Delegates.

Last evening the delegates were entertained at a very jolly banquet at the Empress Hotel, Miss F. Dixon, president of the local Chapter, occupying the chair. The rooms and tables were beautifully decorated by Miss A. Thornton, with spring flowers, and presented a very festive appearance. Music during the evening was received with many congratulatory expressions of appreciation from those present. Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, and Mr. John Ball gave vocal solos and Mrs. H. Davidson McClelland, readings.

Following the banquet, the nurses adjourned in a body to the Peterboro Clinic, where they were surprised and etnertained in a complete inspection of the excellent equipment afforded by doctors on the staff.

Baby Welfare.

Yesterday afternoon's business sesion of the convention was brief, the major portion of the time being devoted to Round Table conferences, the results of which were heard at this mornin's meeting.

Dr. Jessie Birmc gave a short but very interesting t[illegible] on Baby Welfare work, describing the splendid progress made by the Well Babes' Clinic here. Dr. Birnie le'l particular emphasis on the necessity for pre-natal attention and care, told how to establish such Baby Clinics in places where they are not already organized, and referred to the patriotic object of the work.

Several delegates gave reports on activities in connection with the War Memorial Fund. Miss F. Dixon reported for the Nicholls' Hospital Alumnae Association, whose quota was $216. The sum of $234.50 was subscribed by the Nicholls Hospital Association, who with several other branches, overstepped their allotment, while in some cases, the response was not so satisfactory. This discussion was also continued at this morning's session, on motion of Miss Esther Cook of Toronto, whose general report opened the subject.

Mrs. A. C. Joseph of London, in the chair, asked why nurses who were expected to contribute to this War Memorial Fund, on going to other countries to reside, failed to subscribe. "Although they are now living in other countries they were trained here, but will not now help to support the organizations which gave them the start by which they now benefit"

This evening, addresses on the "Short Term Extension Courses," by W J Dunlop, of the University of Toronto, and a paper by Miss Muriel McKay of Toronto, "The Trained Nurse in Industry," will be given. The election of officers takes place to-morrow morning, the final session of the convention.

"I have spent a lifetime at the making of fine CHOCOLATES"

The preparation of fine chocolates is indeed the jewel making of the chef's art. Cunningly conceived centres of exquisite deliciousness call for an artistry and skill that is unique, but more important still is the art of roasting and blending the cocoa beans from which the chocolate coatings are made.

Many years ago in the Moir candy kitchens was originated and perfected a secret process of blending chocolate which for rich flavor, delicious aroma and smoothness of texture has never been equalled. That it is the supreme achievement of the candy maker's art is readily and generously admitted by all in the trade.

A lifetime has been spent in perfecting fine chocolates in the Moir candy kitchens. If you have never tasted Moir's you have a pleasant surprise in store.

KILLS THE ODOR

Wipe the knife with which you have cut onions with a damp cloth and then rub briskly with coarse salt. The unpleasant odor will not linger on the metal to annoy you.

ADD SALT LAST

Salt curdles milk, so when making gravy or any dish in which these two ingredients occur remember not to add the salt until the dish is prepared.

JAS. HAMILTON IS CHAIRMAN

With J. W. Meyers Vice-Chairman Local Branch of the Canadian Mfrs. Association.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Peterborough Branch, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Chairman,—Jas. Hamilton, (Peter Hamilton Company.)

Vice-Chairman—J. W. Meyers, (Peterboro Cereal Company.)

Treasurer—J. D. Kenneally, (Albion Knitting Company.)

Secretary—R. A. Brown, (Canadian Nashua Paper Company.)

Advise was received from Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission that leases had been procured from the Dominion Government for the development of Dams No. 8 and 9 on the Ontario-Rice Lake Division of the Trent Sytem with a capacity of 8600 h.p and 5600 h.p. respectively. These developments would be near completion by the Fall of 1923.

The retiring Chairman, Mr. J. J. Turner in submitting the Annual Report referred to the loss sustained by the Branch in the person of Mr. Edgar Worth, late general manager of the Canadian Woollens, Ltd. The outstanding activities of the Branch were: the securing of a full and comprehensive report by a Special Committee on the power situation in Central Ontario; Assisted and entertained Canadian Government Trade Commissioners to South Africa, Scotland and Ireland; maintained manufacturers' exhibits at the Peterborough Exhibition and have now under consideration a Peterborough exhibit at the 1923 Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

A committee comprised of the following members was appointed as a Sports Committee to co-operate with the P.A.A.A. Chairman—W. A. Richardson, R. M. Glover and G. S. Matthews.

LOCAL C.G.E. RECEIVE GOVERNMENT CONTRACT

The Canadian General Electric Company have received an order from the Dominion Government, so Mr .Gordon said, for two motors and four transformers for the Marine Railway at Ragged Rapids and Port Severn. The Department of Railways and Canals have arranged for the Marine Railway to be extended so as to carry from some sixty to seventy feet boats, in length, through to Georgian Bay.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., interviewed the Minister of Railways and Canals several times in this matter and was supported by the Trent Waterway Development Association, of which Mr .Gordon Fraser is the President and Mr. Leon Fraser is the Secretary.

It is said that the Marine Railways will be expected to carry traffic about the middle of June.

CHAIRMAN FOR 1923

JAMES HAMILTON
Appointed Chairman of Local Branch Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

A Thought

The way of a fool is right in his own eyes, but he that hearkeneth unto counsel is wise.—Prov. 12:15.

He that wants good sense is unhappy in having learning, for he has thereby only more ways of exposing himself; and he that has sense knows that learning is not knowledge, but rather the art of using it. —Steele.

MEDICAL OFFICERS WERE QUESTIONED

Session of Royal Commission on Pensions Resumed in Toronto Today

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Much of the time of the session of the royal commission on pensions to-day was devoted to the questioning of local medical officers of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment regarding their administration of the case of H. B. Lancaster.

Facts adduced by Captain Parry, one of the Provincial Veterans' committee, showed that Lancaster was suffering from intestinal trouble while on service, but he was refused considertaion by medical officer of the D.S.C.R. here on the ground that there was no connecting evidence of disability between his soldiering basis and the time he sought treatment in Toronto after the war. The doctors manifested a reluctance to give reasons for their belief.

It appeared on enquiry being made by G. C. McNeiell that there was an honest difference in opinion between doctors on this case.

Love Habit

By ALICE ROHE.

NEW YORK, April 5.—(United Press).—Brock Pemberton's presentation of "The Love Habit" has done something more than provide an amusing French farce. It has revealed James Rennie in a here-to-fore unsuspected degree of positive artistry. As "The Young Man," Rennie proved himself to be that all-too-rare actor—a truly great farceur.

What the amusing "Love Habit" would have been without his swiftly speeding spirit for genuine farce is beyond the point to conjecture. Rennie motivates the entire fun with his quick and subtle humor. His sense of farce should call forth paeons of praise from all believers that the stage is getting better and better every day. In the past, James Rennie, to me, at least, was just a pleasant, good looking young actor of ordinary calibre but of no wildly exciting ability. Now he is something to rave about. He stands quite alone in the deft manner of sensing farce values. His seriousness and implied good humor are such a relief from that sophisticated, smartalec anticipation of a point which ruins so many farceur's work.

Brock Pemberton has indeed given "The Love Habit" an excellent cast, although Fania Marinoff fell far below par in the role of Rosette Pompon. Florence Eldridge, whose work in "Ambush" and "Six Characters in Search of an Author" marked her indelibly as one of the cleverest of the younger actresses, is good as the wife, although she does not seem happily cast. Dwight Frye as Max and Ernest Crossart as the husband are excellent.

The farce by Louis Verneuill has been adapted from the French by Gladys Unger. It is a typical French farce insofar as it deals lightly with conventionalities, not openly, at least, made a subject for public jest in America.

A young man enters the home of an architect declaring to the wife who recognizes him as a persistent and haunting suitor, that he intends to win her. She resists his advances and outwits him at every turn until just before the fall of the final curtain. Then she obtains his home address and announces to her husband: "I told this young man I never wanted to see him in this house again."

There isn't a word spoken or a too-suggestive situation to violate the finer sensibilities of the vice squad. And yet it is French farce based upon the usual theme of married philandering.

At any rate the fun moves fast and furious in the first act, lags painfully in the second and then picks up speed and does a regular Marathon at the finish.

JAMES MURDOCK WAS GUEST BROTHERHOOD

MOOSE JAW, April 6.—(Canadian Press)—Compulsory arbitration can never be considered or adopted was the statement made by Hon. Jas. Murdock, minister of labor who was guest of honor at a banquet given by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, last night. "Labor is selfish and has made mistakes", said the speaker, "but is making steady advancement. Labor has also been too thoughtless about other interests."

MRS. R. MACKAY DEAD.

COLLINGWOOD, April 6.—After an illness of some months, Margaret Mackay, wife of W. T. Allan, M.L.A., died early this morning. She was a daughter of Robert Mackay, Hamilton.

PRAISE FOR HER FIRST RECITAL AT TORONTO

(Contributed)

Miss Agnes Logan gave her first public recital in Toronto last night, in the Conservatory Music Hall, before a very delighted and enthusiastic audience To those who heard her for the first time she revealed a decided musical gift, and a fluent technic; to those to whom her playing was familiar, a surprising advance in her artistic education Miss Logan has the very great gift of holding an audience entranced by a flow of musical ideas which never slackens, a gift which many an older artist might envy, and which should be developed as far as possible.

Everything she plays is interesting and reveals a personality both charming and unaffected. When ambition and experience bring the warmth and virility which are wanting in some of her interpretations, Miss Logan will find herself in possession of that which should carry her very far.

Miss Logan showed herself able to cope technically with a wide range of piano literature from Bach, Chopin and Lizst to Debussy and MacDowell. What she plays she plays naturally, and according to her years, never straining for effects beyond her strength. The four massive Bach Chorales with which she opened her programme, were perhaps the least convincing of her interpretations.Her temperament is more suited to the elusive rhythms and subdued tones of Debussy. Very beautiful was her playing of two Lizst numbers and a Copin group, her lovely tone showing to the best advantage in the gossamer runs and embellishments of this school. In the MacDowell Concerto at th close of the programme, she revealed a warmth of temperament that shows great possibilities for the future. The orchestra part to the Concerto was played on a second piano by Mr. Carlos Buhler, who is greatly to be congratulated on the strides his pupil has made under his tuition. One could not help but feel great pride, also that Miss Logan has attained to such a degree of excellence without leaving the city. All her education so far has been received at the local Conservatory of Music, an institution which has endeavored, often at great sacrifice, to provide any talent that come under its influence, with the best training that can be obtained.

Miss Logan looked charming in a dress of peacock blue, and received many beautiful flowers, and showers of congratulations. Many Peterboro friends went up to share the honors of the occasion.

Viceroy Warns India Against Disorders.

CALCUTTA, April 6 —England will use all her resources to oppose possible disorder in India, Lord Reading, the Viceroy, told his audience during an address delivered here recently before The Associated Chambers of Commerce in India. He was refering specifically to the resolutions adopted by the Indian National Congress at Gaya, one of which was to the effect that the boycott of the legislative councils should be continued. The viceroy held that these resolutions did not voice the real sentiment of India, and said that the goverament was prepared to put down any disorder which might arise.

"Those who have India's interests at heart," he continued, "cannot but deeply deplore the unfortunate resolutions recorded at Gaya. I shall not dwell on them for I do not believe that in these resolutions I hear even a faint echo of the real voice of India or of those who serve her truly. I will not attach too great importance to these threats. A vigilant watch will, however, be kept on these preparations, and I can give you my assurance that my government will use all its resources to combat and quell the forces of disorders should they become manifest. I know that, if there should be need, I can look with confidence to the support of all responsible opinion in this task."

Referring to industrial conditions the speaker said:

"The general economic condition of India at this moment is hopeful. Crops are good. Unlike last year, the balance of trade is now in India's favor. Export trade is better, and offers promise; tea has had a remarkable revival; the outlook for the jute mills is more promising.

"The interests of India in particular demand that there should be confidence in the internal situation; within and without India there should be an atmosphere of trust that all is well with India. India is marching steadily, constitutionally and peacefully to a more complete expression of herself, to more assured prosperity, to a higher civilization, to her ultimate goal of self-government, and to a great place in the Empire and the world."

A BRITISH STEAMSHIP RAN ASHORE IN A FOG

CHATHAM, Mass., April 6.—Canadian Press—British steamship Competitor, a freight of 2290 tons, ran ashore on Cape Cod, near Nauset, to-day, in fog. Steamer as first was believed to be a rum-runner, was apparently light. Competitor was last reported at Seaport, Maine, on March 30 after voyage from Port Talbot, Wales. She was under command of Captain Baum.

BOMB WRECKED OFFICE OF KU KLUX JOURNAL

CHICAGO, April 6. — (Canadian Press).—The explosion of a bomb wrecked the publication office of "Dawn," the Ku Klux Klan organ, last night. Twenty minutes later another bomb partly damaged the office of F.W. Gilliand, roofer, who said he had advertised in the Klan publication. Edwin Parks, publisher of the paper, said he had received threatening letters. His home is being guarded.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — and New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 6 (Canadian Press).— With the announcement of a $1,000,000,000 railroad budget to take of unprecedented traffic with Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon's optimistic utterances in mind, and with the local Federal Reserve Bank showing a gain in ratio, stock to-day displayed the most buoyant tone of the week.

Stocks were higher ot the opening Baldwin and American Locomotive led the up swing, which resulted in substantial gains among industrial traders. Chandler reached a new high on the recovery at 71 1-2, while Studebaker advanced 1-2 to 1-4.

B. and O. led the rails, advancing 1 1-8 to 51 1-2. Famous Players has been fluctuating between 86 and 91 for two months, and some authorities are of the opinion that a large short interest has been built up.

The company's net quick assets position is stronger than at any time since its organisation, due partly to the fact that $12,338,0227 of the $13,211,508 inventories report contracts sold in advance, which can be collected as the corporation desires.

This means that in addition to the $2,310,000 cash shown in the statement, $12,338,027 worth of film represents additional liquid assets that can be realised on at any time.

Leading industrials made further new high on the recovery in the morning's trading American Can. advanced to 99 1-4 against the week's low at 93 1-2. American Woollen to 104 3-4 against 101 1-4. Baldwin to 140 1-4 against 135 3-8. and American Locomotive to 135 3-4 against 130 12. Announcement by railway executives concerning an equipment and improvement budget of $1,100,000,000.

Succeeding expenditure last year of $440 000,000 was all that was needed to visualise to the street the country's industrial production and its forward impetus

Railroad managers don't easily persuade themselves to spend money on such a scale, and the fact that they have done so is convincing proof that the business revival is an accomplished fact.

The Great Bell of Atri

THE village of Atri had a great bell that was rung only in time of need. For years it had been unused, for Atri was prosperous and content. Its rope, covered with green vines, trailed to the ground. One day a starving horse, turned out to shift for himself, seized the fresh, green tendrils in his teeth. The bell above him began to ring, attention was called to the predicament of the poor beast, and he became a well-fed ward of the town.

Advertising is a bell that is continually ringing to call your attention to something you need and ought to have.

Merchants and manufacturers, who are making and selling something they think you will want, are using its clarion notes to attract you to their wares.

Do you read the advertising? Many people do. They are the wise shoppers—the economical buyers—the ones who are strictly up-to-date on the opportunities for saving money or spending it to greatest advantage.

Read the advertisements. They will tell you of many things you need. Read them to save steps—to save money. Read them because they place before your eyes a moving panorama of business progress. Read them to keep yourself informed.

Read the advertisements regularly. It pays.

SILVER SCREEN GOSSIP

LOS ANGELES, April 6 (United Press). —Doug. Fairbanks' latest role is that of scout chief.

Douglas has accepted an invitation tendered by William G. McAdoo, national vice-president, and James E. West, national chief scout executive to become a scout-master.

He responded with characteristic enthusiasm and immediately announced that he would make a film showing his new troup in action.

The troup is now being assembled in Hollywood. Needless, to say, the "kids" can't enlist fast enough. As for Doug, he believes the boys are going to have to go some to beat him in archery.

A veteran movie actor has just died in Hollywood at the age of 30, and he is mourned by Mary Pickford.

Lavendar was the actor's name. He was the venerable white horse who appeared with her a number of years ago. Mary became very fond of the old animal, and at the conclusion of the picture had him pensioned in clover on the farm of J. B. Moor, at Sherman. It was there that Lavendar died.

Henry MacRae, well known film producer is producing an oriental picture actually in the Orient, instead of "Somewhere on Sunset Boulevard," Hollywood.

MacRae is enroute for Siam with a company. He will be the guests of the Siamese king, who is an Oxford graduate, educated and a great admirer of Americans. He will make headquarters at Bangkok. The Siamese "army" promised to MacRae by the King will provide some of the atmosphere. Siam's revered spots will be utilized as settings. One of these will be the deserted city of D'Angore which has been uninhabited for 3,000 years, but which still remains in a wonderful state of preservation. The company will take six months to the trip.

Ben Turpin, only movie star able to look two ways at one and the same time, has an insurance policy which will result in the payment of $25,000 in case Turpin ever is able to look but one way. Sennett took out the policy before beginning the filming of "The Shriek of Araby," in which Turpin struggles valiantly to steal the laurels of Rodolph Valentino, original "desert heart smasher."

AT YOUNG'S POINT.

YOUNG'S POINT, April 6.—Miss Mildred Freeborn, of Peterborough, spent the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr and Mrs. Isaac Freeborn.

Messrs. Heines of Peterborough, and Craig of Toronto, are registered at the Carleton House this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Douglas, who have returned home from Mexico, where they spent the winter, are spending a few days at the farm.

Mrs. Arthur Dugan, Sr., spent Tuesday in Lakefield.

Among those from the village who attended the At Home in the Memorial Hall, Lakefield, on Monday evening, April 2nd, were: Misses Agnes and Margaret Young, Helen Brooks and Dorothy Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ellsworth, Messrs. Frank Carroll, Russell Brooks, Victor Young, Tom Dugan, Leonard Wilson, Llewellyn Douglas and Rex Wilson.

BUNIONS

Instant relief or Money Back! Why let an aching, stinging Bunion make your life miserable, when a single application of Geero Wormwood Balm will bring such quick relief? One trial will convince you. Try it to-night! SATISFACTION GUARANTEED By All Druggists.

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, April 6. — The many friends of Mrs. William Mullen will regret to learn that she is seriously ill with pneumonia, and has a trained nurse in attendance. Mrs. John Allen, Senior, and Mrs. Martin Pethick are also ill and under the doctor's care.

Councillor T. J. Lang is confined to the house this week with a severe attack of flu, not as yet being sufficiently recovered to be allowed to sit up.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cathcart of Peterboro, with Misses Jane and Mary, and Master Bobby, have been guests of the Misses Grady, coming out for Easter and remaining over until Wednesday.

The programme of Easter music, given in Grace Presbyterian church, on Sunday evening, will be repeated next Sunday night after the regular service, beginning at 8.15 p.m. One or two extra numbers will be added to those used in the song service last week.

Mr. D. and Miss A. Hampton and Mrs. Milligan of Cavan, attended the funeral of the late Dr. H. Rea, of London, in Lindsay, on Tuesday. Mr. Hampton's many friends will regret to learn that he has since been ill, and is now under the doctor's care. Probably a return attack of the flu, from which he has suffered before this winter.

Miss Marjorie Campbell of Toronto, was the guest of Mr and Mrs. C. W. Richards over the week end.

BAL-SA-ME-A FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

A few doses of Balsamea—and coughs and colds disappear completely. Balsamea loosens the phlegm and clears the lungs and bronchial tubes.

BALSAMEA, although powerful in action, is free from all harmful drugs. Children take it willingly because it tastes good. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

CITY IS SUED

Q.—What effect would sand have on these slides?

A.—Sand wouldn't stay on them if the ice was dry.

James Blade and Thomas Lane, Hunter Street business men, who regularly walk along the sidewalk where the accident occurred, testified to the presence there of slides used by schoolboys. These slides were there the greater part of the winter.

Dr. J. A. Morgan, who has been twenty-five years in the medical profession, gave evidence as to the nature of the injury sustained by Miss Quinn, and stated that the result may be a permanent stiffness in her arm.

City's System of Sanding.

R. H. Parsons, city engineer, was the next witness called.

Questioned by Mr. Gordon, he said that the city has no regular system of inspecting the sidewalks. Mr. Evans and several men are busy all winter sanding the streets where necessary, but they have no regular beat or route. They just go where they think attention is needed.

Q.—Do you think that sand has any effect on a slide?

A.—It discourages the children from sliding on it.

Q.—Wouldn't it be a simple thing for the Street Commission's men to take a crowbar and break the slides?

A.—Yes, but that would make the sidewalks more dangerous, as it is easier to slip on loose pieces of ice than on a smooth surface.

Q.—If salt and sand had been thrown on the slide, what would have been the result?

A.—There would have been no slide in 10 minutes.

Q.—Would it surprise you to learn that one of these slides lasted a month?

A.—Not at all.

Q.—What use is dry sand on a dry surface? Wouldn't it brush off if the children slid on it?

A.—I don't think so. If you try to slide on it you'll find it pretty hard.

Mr. Gordon—I have slid on them.

Judge Huycke — It's no wonder there are long slippery stretches in the city.

Q.—How many men have you doing this class of work?

A.—Two men regularly.

Q.—How many miles of streets are there in the city?

A.—Thirty-five. We don't try to cover them all, for we haven't the men, but we do the main thoroughfares.

This closed the case for the plaintiff.

The Case For the City.

Constable Harry Young was the first witness called by Mr. C. R. Widdifield, and he testified that it is one of the duties of the constable on his beat to report any dangerous places on the sidewalk. He knew that these were slides on Hunter Street, but he didn't report them because he did not consider them dangerous.

J. A. A. Duranceau, barrister, formerly of Peterborough, and now of Cochrane, and H. T. Millard, 225 Hunter Street, gave evidence as to the condition of the sidewalk at the time of the accident.

Harry Evans stated that he has been road commissioner for twenty years, and one of his duties is to look after the sidewalks in winter.

Q.—What practice do you follow in clearing off the sidewalks?

A.—We clear the snow off with a snow plough, and then when the sidewalks get slippery we throw sand on them.

Q.—How long before March 3, 1922, was sand put on the south side of Hunter Street.

A.—I can't tell from memory. It was done every time it was needed.

Q.—You just do the principal streets—the streets the aldermen live on, for instance?

A.—We don't consider the aldermen.

Q.—Are there any standing instructions given to your men to break up slides?

A.—No. I don't consider that a feasible plan. We use salt.

Q.—Do you remember putting salt on this slide?

A.—No.

City By-Law Quoted.

In his argument, G. N. Gordon quoted a city by-law which makes it obligatory on the city to clear the snow and ice off the sidewalks if the tenants do not do so. From cases cited, he pointed out that a pedestrian has the right to assume at night that the sidewalk is in a safe condition.

FRENCH DEPUTY WOULD DRAW OUT HIDDEN GOLD

PARIS, April 6.—Gold popularly supposed to be horded by the French in their traditional "woolen sock" would be drawn out of hiding to aid the government through a bill introduced in parliament by Deputy Meunier. He proposes that gold, which on the world market is worth more than three times the French paper money, should be taken by the government at twice its nominal value. This, he thinks, would give France additional sound money to stop the fall of the franc and strengthen the country's credit.

France called in all gold early in the war, and more than a billion and a half francs were obtained in this way. Many financial experts think, however, that the French, who have always preferred "hard money" to paper, must have kept most of their savings for a rainy day. France belongs to the Latin monetary union, with Belgium, Italy and Switzerland, and their monies were interchangeable until differences in the exchange during the war naturally caused each country's money to travel homeward. After the war, France and Switzerland withdrew their silver from circulation in the other country.

How much gold the French still hoard seems to be a matter of speculation, for gold of other countries that circulated here before the war, may very likely still be here. Traffic in gold coins is a penal offense, yet the trade goes on, and from time to time offenders are caught buying or selling it for smuggling out of the country in order to benefit by the exchange.

NO MAPLE SYRUP YET.

Reeves from all parts of the county reported this morning that the maple bushes were still inactive, although it was expected that under the conditions of the last two days sap would begin to run. The roads are beginning to break up, and the Provincial Highway to Springville is as bare of snow as George street. The natural sloping drainage worked most efficiently except in several places where the snow had drifted heavily.

FARRELL GIVES GIANTS HIGH RANK

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 6.—(United Press)—To win the 1923 National League pennant and their third championship in successive years, the New York Giants will have to beat two very formidable rivals in the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates and a third threat in the St. Louis Cardinals.

Perhaps it is not a question so much of what the Giants will do as what the results Pat Moran, Bill McKechnie and Branch Rickey get out of their material.

The stability and balance of the Giants over the long April to October route is well known by recalling their 1922 performance when only once, during the week of July 22, did they relinquish their hold on first place after they slumped around the first week in getting started.

It might be argued that the Giants are no stronger this spring than they were last April, but it cannot be denied that they are no weaker.

If Jimmy O'Connell lives up to his $75,000 price tag in centrefield, the Giants will be much stronger. If he fails the club will be no weaker, because McGraw has Stengel and Cunningham in reserve and they filled the bill acceptably last year.

Another big factor in considering the strength of the team centers around the legs of Heinie Groh, but even if the under-pinning of the little third baseman goes bad on him again, McGraw would not be in desperate circumstances, because he is well fortified with reserve material that has been tried out in actual combat.

Much, of course, depends on the pitching staff, but after the stunt that McGraw pulled last year in winning the pennant with a staff of perfect misfits, it is no exaggeration to predict that the Giants' leader can get along with any kind of pitching.

If the Giants' hurlers do not improve this summer, it is almost impossible for them to be more unreliable than they were last year. Chances, however, are that McGraw will not have the worries he staggered under last season.

The Giants' leader has many gambles among his hurlers, the most advertised of which is Jack Bentley, for whom the Giants gave Baltimore $65,000. If Bentley delivers, McGraw will have the best left-handed pair of workers in the league with the possible exception of the Bentley-Rixey Cincinnati combination.

Looking over the pitchers, it would seem that Nehf ought to improve, if he is not worked so much. Scott should be a big help, if he stays in condition and works all season as well as he did in the dying days of the last pennant race. McQuillan is an uncertainty, with the potential quantities of a twenty-game pitcher. The Barnes brothers are hard to figure, but they have to improve, if there is any change in them. In young Jonnard, McGraw has placed great hope. He has had promise all along and it seems this spring he has arrived. McGraw also is very optimistic about two rookie pitchers, Webb and Walberg, and the Colgate College hurler, Blume, might deliver.

All in all, it ooks that the Giants staff, if it is no better is not worse than it was last year.

Considering the infield, it is obvious that Heinie Groh will be an improved worker, if his legs hold. His batting will improve if he gets away good and with confidence and his old morale, he will be a big improvement.

Dave Bancroft is an erratic worker, but he is a fine shortstop and a brainy field captain. He is still a young player and he ought to be about the same this year as last. The same holds good for George Kelly.

Frankie Frisch is a youngster filled with fire and enthusiasm for his work. If anything, Frisch will be a better player this year than last, even if he is out of place at second base. He is of the student type and taking his work very seriously he ought to be better.

No manager could desire two more reliable outfielders than Ross Young and Irish Meusel, and they ought to play at least as well as they did last year, as they are both young. If O'Connell falls down in centerfield, McGraw will have to rely on Stengel, and he is an uncertain quantity. At his age it is hardly probable that he can have as good a year as he had last year.

One thing is most certain; John McGraw will be just as good as he was last year, and McGraw is that whole Giants team. He started out down south to take the swelled-head out of his athletes and he will keep them on the path all season. McGraw is nursing the ambition for a managerial record and he'll get everything out of the team that it possesses.

GUNNERS SAT ON LAWN BOWLERS

Loose Fielding Largely Responsible For Big Score

The Gunners "cleaned up" the lowly Lawn Bowlers very badly last evening by the score of 26 to 3. The Gunners could have got more if they had so desired but they were content to rest when they reached the quarter century mark.

The Lawn Bowlers, with the exception of Tim McArthur, gave their pitcher, Fox, the worst kind of support, letting nearly everything get by them.

The lineups:

Lawn Bowlers—Fox, p; McArthur, 1b; Gilliam, 2b; Curvin, c; Ross, 3b; Martin, ss; Henry, ss; Morden, rf; Freeman, lf.

Score by innings:

Gunners	3651713—26
Lawn Bowlers	0001011— 3

"BATTLING" SIKI IS TROUBLESOME.

PARIS, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)—"I was robbed," says Battling Siki, the Senegalese fighter, who returned Wednesday from Ireland, while referring to the fight in Dublin in which he lost his light-heavyweight championship to Mike McTigue.

"I will never go to Ireland again," the black man continued, "unless I can cross by way of England. I lost so much weight during the ocean trip to Ireland and back that I am now a middleweight."

JACK RENAULT TO MEET TOM GIBBONS.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(Canadian heavyweight champion, was signed yesterday by Promoter Tex Rickard to meet Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, at the new Yankee Stadium on either May 3, or 11. The winner will meet Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, in a title bout, he announced. The match meets with the approval of the State Boxing Commission, it was said ,which had ruled that Renault and Gibbons should meet before the latter could carry out a challenge match with Dempsey.

Gibbons, who was reached by long distance telephone by Rickard, agreed to meet the Canadian in a fifteen-round bout. The terms for the match were not announced.

TO ELIMINATE SPORTS.

DES MOINES, Ia.—Representative Gallagher has introduced a bill to eliminate interscholastic athletic meets. He is reported as saying they were nonessentials—you know, the word coined during the war.

But will Mr. Gallagher's bil pass? "Positively not," says Mr. Shean, speaking for students.

KIWANIS SHOWED SOME FINE FORM

Defeated Rangers in a Fast Game and Are Now Near the Top of the League.

The Kiwanis played much better ball and showed a stronger line-up than in any previous game in their history, when they handed out a 7 to 3 drubbing to the snappy Rangers crew. The Kiwanis are nearly treading on the K. of C. heels in the race for club honors, being only a tie game behind the leading Caseys.

McLean, pitching for the Kiwanis, worked in good form, allowing only four scratchy hits and striking out nine of the Rangers' bat swingers. Brown, on the receiving end of the battery, was the batting star, collecting three hits in four appearances at the plate, one going for three bases.

"Sammy" Callodine baffled the Kiwanis batters for the first part of the game, but they solved his delivery in the final innings and got next to him for hits. "Sam" turned in some great juggling feats on balls that came speeding his way. The Rangers' veteran twirles worked steadily all during the game.

The game was fast with few errors. Nearly all the runs were earned on hits, few getting around on errors.

The players were:

Kiwanis—Weber, 1b; Gordon, ss; Dick, lf; Parker, 2b; Mackay, ss; McLean, p; Brown, c; Lacey, rf; Cummer, 3b.

Rangers—Callodine, p; Williams, c; D. Grant, 1b; Hensley, 2b; Hamblin, 3b; C. Grant, ss; Shevlin, ss; Griffin, rf; Thomas, lf.

Score by innings:

Rangers	000101001—3
Kiwanis	00221002x—7

JAP BOYS PLAYED AN ALL DAY GAME

Started in the Morning and Were Still Going Strong in the Afternoon.

By WAITE HOYT.

The thing that interested me most on the entire trip were the Japanese youngsters.

I was much interested in seeing the attitude they took toward the game. The kids are for it strong.

The Jap youngsters seem tireless. They start playing early in the morning and keep going until dark.

At Yokahama there is a big recreation park for the youngsters, where baseball gets a great play. About 10 one morning I dropped by and watched a kid game for a half hour or so. Several of the youngsters had certain styles that impressed me and one chap was a bit of a clown.

Late in the afternoon I again passed by, and the game was still in progress. The runs were well up in the hundreds. That sort of spirit speaks well for the future of baseball in Japan. The popularity and growth of baseball rests with the youngsters. That being the case, Japan is certain to prosper.

The Japs are progressive. They combine educational features with their baseball.

As I mentioned in another article, the youngsters play with a ball similar to our tennis ball, only a trifle larger. On every ball is an educational feature. Some of the balls have a map of the world in color printed on the cover, others have the alphabet, and so one. A series of educational features seemed to go with every ball game.

While our trip abroad proved t... Japs still had a long way to go to reach our standard of play, still it must be admitted they are making rapid progress.

The youngsters watched our every move on the field closely, and the next day you could see some of the kids essaying to imitate some outstanding characteristics of the American players.

I wouldn't have missed the trip for anything, but I certainly was glad to get home.

WAXED PAPER HELPS

No one cares much or the job of cleaning up the skillet or baking-dish after fish has been cooked in it. However, a great deal of the disagreeable part will be eliminated if you line the pan with waxed paper before putting in the fish.

TO CATCH JOHNSON.

MUDDY RUEL.

TAMPA, Fla., April 6.— It has been definitely decided who will catch Walter Johnson the coming season. When Walter is selected to pitch his first game the announcer will yell:

"For Washington, Johnson will pitch and Ruel will catch."

Manager Bush has selected Muddy Ruel as Johnson's partner. Thus Ruel will become the fourth catcher to be paired off with the great Johnson.

The original battery was Johnson and Street, then came Johnson and Ainsmith, followed by Johnson and Picinich. The very latest is Johnson and Ruel.

Ruel dotes on speed. When with New York he handled the fast-ball pitchers of the Yankees. Ruel will also be paired with Allan Russell, the spitballer.

Eddie Gharrity never liked to catch Johnson, and incidentally has never done much receiving for spitballers, so it is certain Ruel will be behind the bat when either Johnson or Russell works.

RED SOX NOT SOLD.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Harry H. Frazee, President of the Boston American League Club, admitted yesterday he had received an offer from Chicago interests to purchase the holdings in the Red Sox, but declared that as far as he was concerned, the deal was all off. Mr. Frazee declined to reveal the source of details of the offer.

Frazee has declared on several occasions that he was ready to sell his Boston stock, but at his own price.

NO DAYLIGHT SAVING IN FRANCE THIS YEAR

PARIS, April 6.— (Canadian Press.)—There will be no daylight saving time in France this year. This was finally decided upon by a Cabinet meeting held yesterday at President Millerand's summer residence at Rambouillet.

Governmental opinion as expressed at this meeting was that a change of time by decree was impossible, as the question had been up before Parliament, where opposition to the setting ahead of the clocks developed from representatives of the rural districts. As Parliament will not meet again until the second week of May, it will be too late to obtain action for this year.

The Cabinet rejected even the proposal to adopt Strassbourg time, which is a half hour earlier. It is possible, however, that the object of daylight saving will be partially gained through advancing the railroad time tables and the hours for the public departments.

PRODUCE MARKETS

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 6.— (Canadian Press.) — The trade in cash grain in the local market yesterday was more active. A moderate trade was passing in flour. The market for mill feed was without any special change and demand for rolled oats showed no improvement. The baled hay market was quiet. There is a steady demand for eggs. A fair trade prevails for potatoes. The market for butter was on the whole rather quieter. There is almost no business in cheese.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts 1,175 cattle and calves; 1,685 hogs and 32 sheep and lambs.

Trading on the cattle market was slower with bidding uneven, better grades of handyweight butchers, tolle easier, beef cattle and export steers mostly steady. Stockers and feeders in fair demand at unchanged prices.

The hog market showed further unsettlement yesterday with no definite price fixed at noon. Packers were bidding 9.50 for thick smooths and 10.45 for select bacon or 25 cetns below Wednesday's close.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 6.— (Canadian Press.)—The egg markets continue firm and unchanged. Some are of the opinion that the situation at the present time is a little top heavy and that storing of eggs now is not satisfatcory on account of the large number of chilled eggs which are on the market and that in these the white will tend to be weak and watery. A cable received yesterday states that the British market is weak and prices are six pence to a shilling lower than the beginning of the week.

Toronto specials 35, extras 33 to 34, firsts 3 0to 32.

Montreal unchanged.

Winnipeg receipts, light, dealers quoting 22 delivered, jobbing extras 28, firsts 26.

Saskatchewan receipts light due to cold weaher .Dealers quoting 18 less off delivered, cases included.

Alberta and British Columbia markets unchanged.

CHANCELLOR SEES FOREIGN MEDIATION

Germans Feel France is Set For Long Stay in the Ruhr.

VIENNA, April 6.—On high authority the write understands that Chancellor Cuno of Germany has stated privately that so long as he is chancellor, Germany will not raise France.

My perspective, gained here after visits to France, the Ruhr and Germany, is that Cuno probably would fall if he surrendered point blank.

Also I am convinced France will not leave the Ruhr until she obtains both a reparations settlement and a guarantee against the perpetual nightmare of future German aggression.

If England and America give such a guarantee, well and good. If not, France will make a guarantee for herself.

Germany is aware of this; hence her desire for outside intervention.

On the other hand Cuno is more eager to have international mediation.

CHIEF CONSTABLES FIGHT WENIGE PLAN.

Mayor of London Receives Copy of Circular Letter From Association.

LONDON, April 6. — Mayor Hughes of Welland forwarded to Mayor Wenige of London the following communication dealing with the present "elective Police Commission" movement, which, he alleges, was sent out by the Executive of the Chief Constables' Association of Ontario to City Councils, Chambers of Commerce, Rotary Clubs and a score of more similar organizations throughout the Province to defeat the measure:

"Toronto, March 23, 1923: Dear Sir,—There is at present a dangerous movement on foot, brought on, I understand by Mayor G. A. Wenige of London, Ontario, and supported by Aldermen and municipal politicians from Peterborough, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Woodstock, Windsor, etc., to rthe purpose of getting legislation passed by the Ontario Government at this present session to make radical changes in the present system of appointing Police Commissioners. In other words, to have laws passed that would practically hand over every municipal Police Department of Ontario to the control of Aldermen, etc., and abolish our present system which is undoubtedly the best and most satisfactory that has ever been put to the test, in either Canada or the United States. The plain facts are that these representatives intend bringing pressure to bear on the Provincial Government to pass laws that will make Police Commissioners an elective body and consequently, subservient to municipal control.

"It is up to you to get busy and see the Secretary of your Board of Trade, Police Magistrate, County Judge, Crown Attorney and every other good citizen that you know who would be opposed to this ruinous proposition and have them communicate directly with the Attorney-General and other members of Parliament."

The Coughs and Colds of Children

Only the mother knows how hard it is to keep the children from taking cold, they will get overheated and cool off too suddenly, get their feet wet, kick off the clothes at night, and do a dozen and one things the mother can't prevent.

A great many mothers are now giving their children

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

It is pleasant and nice for them to take and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time.

Mrs. J. Wilson, Portage La Prarie, Man., writes:—"I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for my five children. My little girl, two years old, had a very bad cold last Winter, which I thought was croup. I had some "Dr. Wood's" in the house so gave it to her and she was fine the next day; also my baby, three months old, had a bad cold and I gave it to him. It cuts and brings up the phlegm, and is the best cough medicine I ever used."

GERMANS DYNAMITE THE PARIS EXPRESS.

ESSEN, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—An attempt to wreck the Essen-Paris Express with dynamite Wednesday night between Kettwig and Worden The Express was proceeding cautiously, as usual in the Ruhr district, when the locomotive struck a high explosive placed on the track, which at this point skirts the Ruhr river. The engine was wrecked by the terrific explosion, but the day coaches, sleeper and diner did not leave the tracks. No one was injured.

General Degoutte has fined Kettwig for this act, fifty million marks, and Werden, twenty million marks.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

THE BEST OFFER TAKES.

(By John T. Bartlett)

J. S. Knowlton, sales agent for several machinery manufacturers, was finding business "good." As big deal after big deal was negotiated, he decided that his standing merited offices with more elaborate furnishings—and bought them. Thus it happened that he had on his hands a used roll top desk, a typewriter desk, filing cabinets, etc. Temporarily these were stored in the basement of the building.

"Run a Want Ad on those things, and sell them for what you can get," Mr. Knowlton directed his secretary. Then he took a taxi to catch the Flier for down-state.

Miss Sampson, the machinery's agent's secretary, did not know market values in used office furniture. "I haven't any idea what those desks and things are worth," was how she put it.

"If I ask too much, I won't sell them, and the expense of the Want Ad will be for nothing.

"If I ask too little, Mr. Knowlton will be disappointed."

The secretary decided to use a plan which is always open to the Want Ad user who is undecided what to ask. She wrote an ad which after describing what was offered, stated, "Best offer up to Wednesday 5.30 p.m. takes." Nine interested parties looked over the furniture. Between the highest and the lowest offers there was a difference of 50 per cent.

"You did mighty well," declared the machinery agent, when Miss Sampson reported to him the price obtained.

When an advertiser plans to sell anyway, and is uncertain what price to ask, a Want Ad offering to sell to the highest bidder will usually handle the situation satisfactorily. A time limit on bids will tend to increase the number.

The Want Ad should be run several times prior to this time limit. Also, so that the maximum will call and make offers, the article or articles should be attractively described.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IN SPITE OF COUNCIL.

MONTREAL, April 6.— (Canadian Press.)— Daylight saving will be put into effect by the leading building firms of Montreal this summer, regardless of the attitude that maybe taken b ythe City Council or other authorities. They are not even waiting for the deliberations of the daylight saving association, which meets on Monday, but have alrady taken their decision.

The Montreal Stock Exchange has notified the Daylight Saving Association that they will follow the lead of that organization and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

KILLING PEASANTS.

BERLIN, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Serious conflicts in the Ukraine between Bolshevist troops and peasants are reported in despatches received here by way of Lemberg. The Bolshevists are declared to have executed 340 peasants, apparently because of protests against the Soviet prosecution of high church dignitaries.

Anti-Jewish pogroms also reported from the Ukraine, and numerous Jewish families are said to be fleeing toward the Polish frontier.

that day?"—"Fishing."

"What were you fishing for?"—"Anything I could get."

"How far were you from the village?"—"About seven miles."

"How far is it from Bobycageon to the village?"—"I don't know; I never measured it."

"How far were you from Bobcageon?"—"About five miles."

"The next time you're asked the distance from Bobycageon to the village you'll know its about 12 miles?" Ans.—"I'm not as smart as you. I haven't much education."

"How did you know you were five miles from Bobycageon?"—"Jus guess."

"How far is it from Peterboro to the village?"—"Some say 12 miles and some 13."

"Well how far do you say ot is?"—"About 12 miles."

"You had finished fishing?"—"I got what I wanted."

Fishing For "Ling."

"What was it you wanted?"—"A ling."

"What's that?"—"A fish.' '

"Did you get it through the ice?"—"Yes."

"How many?"—"One."

"If you got six you'd have only one. A pretty sharp pair of Indians. You don't need any treaty. Is a ling a fish?"—Ans. "Yes."

Magistrate Langley—"Something like an ell?"—"Yes."

Mr. Hatton—"A ling has a big head?" Ans.—"Yes like a bullhead."

Says Eel Isn't Fish.

"Why did you tell me you had no fish?"—Ans. "A ling is like an eel. I don't call an eel a fish."

"You were fishing?"—"Yes, for anything I wanted to cat. I think I had that privilege."

"What do you call a fish?"—"A Maskinonge and bass."

"You didn't not interfere between your brother and Toole?"—"No."

"Then the story the two men told about you having a stick is not true?"—"No."

"What did you say to O'Toole?"—"Nothing."

"What did you say to your brother?"—"Come on home."

"In Indian or English?"—"Indian."

"You deny saying to O'Toole 'get out of here'?"—"Yes."

Didn't Know Toole.

"You knew Toole?"—"No. I had heard his name but that was the first time I saw him."

"You spoke very familiarly about him when you said Toole jumped out of the sleigh?"—"Yesterday was the first time I heard his name."

Erastus Muskrat said he was lying on the ice with a blanket over his head when he heard a horse driving along the ice. He was about fifty feet away from Knott and saw Inspector Toole strike him with a stick and frying pan.

AT THE GRAND.

"CARRY ON."

Ben Allen, Canada's premiere black-face comedian and assassin of sorrow, is back with the "Dumbells" once more, this time with a new version of his colored parson monologue, funnier than ever.

Captain M. W. Plunkett's newly reorganized and greatly augumented "Dumbells" company, will offer their latest success, "Carry On", at the Grand for two days.

There are some thirty-two soldier boys with the new show, including an overseas orchestra, so "Carry On" promises to create a new criterion for military revues in Canada.

Ross Hamilton and Al. Plunkett are, of course, still the featured members of the cast, which includes Capt. Mert, Plunkett himself.

NEW ANGLE TO MOTHER LOVE IN "SONNY"

Although scenarists and playwrights have dwelt endlessly upon the theme of mother love, they have been singularly neglectful of the equal longing for a mother of a full grown man who has never known the calming influence of home life It remained for George V. Hobart to visualize the possibilities of such a theme in his stage play, "Sonny" an emotional drama which has been made into a screen production and is the current First National attraction at the Royal Theatre.

Richard Barthelmess

Richard Barthelmess, who jumped into national fame overnight by his wonderful work in "Tol'able David" has realized the opportunities presented by "Sonny" in an excellent presentation of subdued emotions and strong heart appeal.

The picture was directed by Henry King, who also directed "Tol'able David." It will remain at the Royal for the balance of the week.

Capitol Entertainment

At the Capitol Theatre is showing this week end one of the best sea pictures seen here in some time. Vivid and thrilling is the action, and the atmosphere of "All the Brothers were Valiant," a tale of the men who go down to the sea in ships, of a whaler that was also a treasure ship, and of the Shore brothers, the "valiant' men of the title. Gripping scenes of meeting and fighting, of red-blooded action and swift, fierce tempers, take place in a picture filmed on the rolling main, with the sure-footed sailors swarming up giddy ropes, and an enormous whale blowing in the rear. "There she blows" was the signal that called Joel Shore from a search his brother Mark, caught by a shark and dragged beneath swelling waves. The love of one brother for another, the sacrifice of a stern and warped spirit, is shown in this production, which pictures a real and dramatic story of ruthless power the high seas, of greed and fury and revenge, softening to family affection. "All the brothers were valiant," Joel Shore writes of his brother Mark, the mutinous mate who expiated his crimes by a last sacrifice for his brother.

Out of the ordinary, pulsing with action and thrills, it is a picture that evoked many an exclamation from its audiences of yesterday, afternoon and night.

The comedy, with Bull Montana in "A Lady's Man," is also something unusual, with specially funny situations in its ghostly episodes.

LITTLE THEATRE CLUB PREPARE PROGRAMME.

Will Stage An Attractive Offering on Shakespeare's Anniversary.

Shakespeare's anniversary this year will be fittingly celebrated in Peterboro by the programme to be presented at the Conservatory of Music Hall, on Friday and Saturday of next week by the Little Theatre Club, which is staging a very attractive dual offering, in the Belmont scenes from "The Merchant of Venice" and the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet." Last season, the Shakespearian anniversary was celebrated by the dramatic section of the Women's Art Association with portions of "Twelfth Night," but a more ambitious programme is offered this year by the newly organized Little Theatre Club, under the direction of Mrs. W. McKee Gingham.

The 'Merchant of Venice' the longer, initial offering, gives the scenes enacted at Belmont, the home of Portia, with a scene also at Shylock's house, in Venice. Owing to difficulty in procuring a suitable Shylock, the trial scene is not staged but the chapters of the play immediately preceding it, with the scenes following, work out into a very pleasing and satisfactory dramatic rendition of the love story of Portia and Bassanio. All the parts, as in the evening given by the Little Theatre Club, some weeks ago, are taken by feminie actors.

Opening at Portia's home at Belmont where her suitors are departing, the action changes to Venice, where Gratiano and Bassiano meet, and where Shylock's daughter, Jessica, accompanied by her father's ducats, elopes with Lorenzo. The casket scene is shown next, her princely suitors vieing for Portia's favour, Then follows the decision of Bassanio, and, in the finale, her lover, in her garden.

The balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" is a brief fifteen-minute presentation of the famous play's well-known scene between the young lovers.

Mrs. Bingham has been fortunate, as usual, in her choice of players, and has some new talent for the "Merchant of Venice." The Grand Opera House has loaned scenery for the production, and this, with the special lighting and the musical numbers by assisting soloists and Conservatory Orchestra, promises to make a very pleasing and attractive evening's entertainment, which will be repeated on the Saturday afternoon following, for the especial benefit of all school stundents in the city.

Six St. Louis bandits worked only two minutes and made $15,000.

CORONER'S JURY LOOK INTO CHILD'S DEATH

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press.) — Vera Caldwell, aged 8, came to her death on March 29 from diphtheria, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury here last night and blame for her death was placed by the jury on Dr. S. B. Shibley, a local chiropractor, who had been called in attendance by the child's parents three days before she died. The jury blamed the chiropractor for "not informing the parents of the child's serious condition and giving them no chance to call in a qualified medical practitioner." The jury further went on record as follows: "We believe the authorities should take steps to prevent chiropractors from treating children under age."

Society

Mr. Wilbert Bateman has returned to Toronto University after spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bateman, 328 King street.

Miss Mary Cowain of Cardyville is spending the Easter holidays with her brother, Mr. W. R. Cowain, King street.

The young ladies of the staff of the Examiner Printing Company surprised Miss Lottie Shearer with a miscellaneous shower at her home, 540 Bolivar street, last evening. Miss Shearer, whose marriage to Mr. Chas. Gardiner, takes place on Tuesday evening next, April 10th, has been for some time a member of the office staff at the Examiner. A mock marriage was a feature of the evening and caused much amusement. The evening was pleasantly spent in music and dancing.

Mrs. J. A. McNabb is visiting at her home in Orillia.

Mr. J. A. A. Duranceau is at present visiting his parents in the city. Mr. Duranceau was formerly a barrister here, and is at present practising in Cochrane.

Mrs. F. Hodgson, Charlotte street, left with her son, "Ned," on Wednesday for Sandwich, where the latter is entering school.

DOWNIE STREET CREEK WAS BLOCKED BY ICE

Blocked with ice near its discharge end last night, the water of Downie street creek, backing up, started on a spring rampage and invaded the cellars of several residents on McDonnel street.

On being notified of the trouble, Street Commissioner Harry Evans quickly had men on the job and relieved the blockade.

ESTIMATE COST $16,000 BRIDGE AT LAKEFIELD

County's Engineer Advises Against Possible Repairs—Special Meeting Here This Afternoon.

The replacement cost of the county bridge at Lakefield which has been condemned by the county's engineer, A. W. Connor, of Toronto, he estimated at $16,000 in a statement to the County Council this afternoon.

A new concrete bridge would probably be cheaper ultimately than steel, because of its permanency and the avoidance of upkeep and repainting as required for steel. Repairing the old bridge would cost about $4,000 or $5,000 and the county would have then only a second rate bridge.

"I don't think that would be money well spent," Mr. Connor advised. "It would be hard to fix up and would be comparatively expensive."

In his report to the Council on the present condition of the bridge at Lakefield the engineer went rather minutely into details, explaining that the conditions were worse as regards the joints rather than the main members. It was a pin constructed bridge linking the parts together. The pins and connections were too small, due to faulty designing and construction. The weakest would support estimated at 25 pounds a square foot, another 28 pounds, another 33 pounds, and certain others of somewhat greater strength. The capacity of the bridge was no higher than its weakest link.

To replace these pins the bridge would have to be jacked up, involving an expense which Mr. Connor said he did not think was justified. "It is up to us to decide whether it is safe for the county to assume the risk further. The responsibility rests with you to protect the public and decide whether action is necessary. I don't think it is good business to take risks in matters of this kind."

After some discussion the County Council decided to build a concrete bridge at Lakefield, and authorized Mr. A. W. Connor, county engineer, to proceed with plans and specifications.

NINETEEN DEATHS AS RESULT OF EPIDEMIC

COBALT, April 6.—(Canadian Press) — Advices from Cochrane to-day say that there are now 615 cases of typhoid in that town representing one fifth of population. There have been nineteen deaths, there were 100 new cases last week. Drinking water is now being brought from the lake some distance from town and is selling at two gallons for quarter.

OBITUARY

MRS. BEVIN MANN JACKSON.
The death occurred at 8 a.m. today of Bevin Mann, widow of William Jackson, of Emily, in her 77th year, after a short illness. The late Mrs. Jackson was born in Smith Township, and she resided for a time in Emily Township, and latterly in Peterborough. She is survived by one son, Herbert, of Emily, and three daughters: Mrs. Evan Storey, Emily Township; Mrs. Gordon Mann, Smith Township, and Mrs. Joseph Mann, Smith Township. She also leaves to mourn her loss seven sisters and two brothers. She was a member of Murray Street Bantist Church.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her son, Herbert Jackson, Emily Township, on Sunday. Service will be held at the house at 1 p.m., and interment will be made in the English Church Cemetery at Cavan. Rev. R. F. Stillman will officiate.

The remains of the late Mrs. Jackson will remain at D. Belleghem and Sons' funeral chapel until 10.30 to-night.

FRENCH WOULD CLEAR UP THE RUHR TANGLES

But It's an Open Secret That Millerand and Poincare Disagree on Reparations Question.

PREMIER ANGRY

(By Webb Miller, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, April 7.— Louis Loucheur's visit to England was made at the request of President Millerand —not Premier Poincare—to ascertain how far the British would go to guarantee France's security, if France, in a measure, veered over to Britain's viewpoint, according to persistent reports to-day. Loucheur has returned from his expedition in quite a short-tempered state. The outcome of his mission is not yet known.

It is an open secret that Millerand and Poincare are very wide apart with regard to what should be done to straighten out the reparation tangle. The former, through private conferences with would-be ministers, is trying to find to combination to replace the Poincare Cabinet and renew the Franco-British Entente.

Millerand, it is believed, wants to get down to cases on reparations while there is still time to endeavor to retire gracefully and gradually from the Ruhr.

Poincare is still very angry at Loucheur's apparent usurpation of his role.

He had a lengthy exchange of views with the French Ambassador at London concerning the possible effect of the visit of this private citizen acting as a representative of the French President.

Meanwhile the official press is reiterating that the French must stay in the Ruhr and that the reparations bill must not be reduced.

JAKE SOLOMON MAY BE VICE PRESIDENT O.B.A.

TORONTO, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Elections have narrowed down to contests for second vice-presidency and the executive committee, D. H. MacFarlane, of Harriston, being elected to the presidency by acclamation. As Mr. MacFarlane was one of two members for first vice-president, W. J. Snyder, of Hamilton, secures office by acclamation. The contest for second vice-president lies between H. S. Roxborough, of Toronto, and J. P. Solomon, of Peterborough.

DANGER FROM FLOODS MAY NOT MATERIALIZE

Mr. Roy H. Parsons, City Engineer, to-day stated that the ice is almost all gone from the creeks. The danger from floods is not yet over but hard work by the city's men in breaking up the blocks of ice as they came down, is warding off the danger. There has not been so much trouble this year as the loosely packed snow in the watercourses did not block them so easily as the solid ice of other years.

A FLAT WHEEL.

A householder on George Street suggested to-day that if Armour's Hill is not to be put in general use for a time, it might be slipped into the cavity that must exist in the flat wheel on Car No. 30, George Street line. No doubt after this broad hint the flat wheel will be rectified.

"GALLAGHER'S" SCORES AGAIN

Indian River, March 24th, /23.
The Gallagher Remedy Co.,
Peterborough.

Dear Sirs,—Last November I was advised to try a Three Months' Treatment of "Gallagher's." I had been ill for nearly two years, the last six months confined to the house. I was anaemic, so costive that pills, salts or injections had no effect, and bloated so that I could not wear a vest. The Doctor said my Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Kidneys seemed to be dead and nothing he could give seemed to have any effect. I had given up hope of anything doing me any good and was a burden to myself and friends.

I began by taking twice as much of the Blood Purifier and Kidney Remedy as the directions called for, as I realized it was a desperate case. The first month I felt slightly better, sufficiently so to encourage me to keep on. I am now in better health than I have been for years, bloating all gone, bowels regular, urine clear, skin a healthy color and am able to chop wood all day and enjoy the work.

I write this that it may encourage someone to try these splendid herb remedies, who, like myself has given up hope of finding anything to help them. I will cheerfully answer any enquiries as to the correctness of the above.

THE DRABNESS DISAPPEARING WEDDING DATE

MARRY FOR LOVE

ROME, April 7. Canadian Press. —The drabness of Rome disappeared to-day beneath gay bunting and flags as the capital dressed up for the forthcoming wedding of Italy's beloved Princess, Yolanda, to Count Galvi Di Bergolo. Th marriage takes place on Monday in the Quirinal Chapel, banned to Royalty for such purposes since 1870.

Princess Yolanda, like Princess Mary of Britain, is marrying a commoner of her choice, instead of in the royal family of another nation. For a time the engagement of Yolanda and the Prince of Wales was rumored, especially since the Princess went to the London Horse Show as the Princess's guest.

What she really went for, it was learned, was to see her lover, Count Bergolo, triumph in the jumping events. A fortnight later their engagement was announced. Yolando, the oldest daughter of King Victor Emanuel and Queen Elena, gives up all rank to marry the man she loves. She loves her title of Princess, and will be known as Countess Di Bergolo, outranked by many ladies of the court. King Victor, who heartily approves of the match, wanted to create his daughter's fiancee, the Duke Di Segno, but Yolanda would not have it.

"I am a woman. I intend to marry for love. I am an Italian. I intend to marry an Italian, to continue to live in Italy," the Princess answered those interested in her marriage to the Prince of Wales or to the Crown Prince of Belgium.

The Pope by his permission that the Paolina Chapel be used for the religious ceremony, has designated approval.

A PRETTY COMEDY BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Patty Made Things Hum at Trinity Sunday School Last Night.

Last night, in Trinity Sunday School Hall, Reid Street, under the auspices of the Young People's League, a great crowd gathered to witness the popular comedy, entitled "Patty Makes Things Hum." This was put on by the young folks, and proved to be one of the prettiest, fascinating and most successful plays that has ever been given in the above hall.

The cast for the various characters was well chosen and was as follows:

Captain Tom Braithwaite—Wilfred Derry; Captain Fred. Little—Leslie Bristoe; Mr. Greene, "Bob"—Fred. Preston; Mr. Smith — Osborne Smith; Mrs. Smith—Mina Edwards; Mrs. Greene, "Doris"—Mabel Carter; Patience Little (Patty)—Nellie Carter; Helen Baithwaite—Florence Derry; Hope Dunbar—Leyda Wilson; Hyacinth, loquacious colored maid—Edna Forster.

The stage setting was very tasteful, especially the third scene, depicting a garden near the house, greatly enhanced by the lighting effects.

The ladies' dainty costumes gave an added charm to the whole setting, and every part was well rendered by the young people, who spared neither time nor expense to make the presentation of the success it proved, as evidenced by the audience, who many times responded with hearty laughter and showed unstinted appreciation in loud applause.

For the success of the whole evening, great praise and credit is due to Mrs. Morley Lyle, who coached the young people and spared no pains to bring it to perfection, and who at the close was the recipient of a magnificent bouquet of roses, coupled with the hearty thanks of all.

Between the acts the following talent contributed to the success of the evening with musical numbers: Pianoforte duet, Miss Florence Saunders and Miss Pearl Rehill; vocal solo, Miss T. Pearson; violin solo, Master Spencer; tenor solo, Mr. Fenton.

The furniture used in the parlor scene was kindly loaned by McBride and Franks, house furnishers, Charlotte Street, and for the garden scene, J. J. Turner & Sons, George Street, kindly loaned the seats and table.

The proceeds will be devoted to the cause of foreign missions.

Five Mothers With Babies in Buggies in 50 Miles Race

LONDON, April 7.—(United Press)—Five mothers, pushing baby buggies containing wailing infants started on a fifty mile race here to-day.

The contestants got away to a running start from the House of Parliament. Their objective is Brighton.

A FISH HATCHERY FOWLERS' CORNERS

A Natural Hatchery May Be Provided for the Production of 'Lunge.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association has taken up with Mr. T. Tooms, M.L.A., for West Peterborough, the question of making a natural 'lunge hatchery near Fowlers Corners. Mr. Tooms has arranged for an expert from the Fish and Game Department of the Government to come down and look into the situation. This expert will co-operate with the local Association "The Peterborough Fish and Game Association is doing good work," said Mr. Tooms.

"What are the prospects of getting a fish hatchery here?" Mr. Tooms was asked.

"If I had received as much support from the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association in the past as I am receiving now we would have had a forty thousand dollar fish htachery before this," Mr. Tooms replied.

MARKET SUPPLIES HAD A BRISK SALE

Prices Remain About the Same — Eggs Plentiful and Butter Dear.

The market place was crowded today for the first spring-like market of the year. There was an abundance of everything but wood.

There were about two dozen demócrats laden with pork and produce, and half a dozen had little live pigs, which sold at $7.00 and $8.00 each.

One dealer sold potatoes in bags at 70c, but the general price was 75c a bag. The white varieties appeared to be of unusually good quality. The sale of pork at 17c to 19c was slow. On account of the warmer weather, there is no heavy demand for quantities of meat. Beef was conspicuous by its absence.

Fish appeared to have a brisk sale, and vegetables were in good demand.

Cabbages ranged in price from 5c to 15c each; carrots were 30c a peck, parsnips 50c a peck, and turnips 25c a peck.

The Basket section upstairs was thronged. Eggs were piled on the tables, and sold for 27c to 34c a dozen.

Butter was plentiful at various prices around 52c.

Chickens were not conspicuous for their size, but a lot of them sold at 34c to 35c a pound, and one table had a 3lb. bird for 90 cents.

Fruit was there in abundance. Ben Davis apples sold for 45 cents a peck and Baldwins for 50 cents. Very good varieties in barrels brought $2.00 and $3.00.

The lone load of mixed wood was offered at $9.00.

The usual auction sales attracted a large crowd, and there did not seem to be any difficulty about disposing of the articles put up for sale.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR FINAL PRACTICE

Final preparations for the annual concert of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, which will be held in the Grand Opera House next Tuesday, April 10, have been completed. The programme of choruses by the choir and the solos by Cameron McLean, the assisting artist, offers the music-loving public of Peterborough a rare treat. Cameron McLean has won an enviable reputation wherever he has been heard, and he will render a delightful programme here. The Kiwanis Club is entertaining him at their luncheon on Tuesday next.

The general sale of tickets opens at the Opera House on Monday morning. There has been a splendid sale of tickets. A few good seats remain, and should be booked early to avoid disappointment. This is one of the biggest and best musical events of the season and should be well patronized.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The regular meeting of the 4 A's Athletic Association will be held in All Saints' Parish Hall on Monday evening, April 9, at 7 o'clock sharp. All members are urgently requested to attend. The sports committee will meet at a later date.

BEST MEDIUMS ARE WOMEN OF TENTH DEGREE

Rev. Thomas I. Gasson Takes a Fling at the Spiritualists—Refers Conan Doyle.

WEIRD TAPPINGS

MONTREAL, April 7.—(Special). —"It is impossible to accept the teachings of spiritualism and be a Christian. No one can be a strict Christian, not a Roman Catholic only, but Episcopalian or Presbyterian, and so on, and a spiritist at the same time." So said the Rev. Father Thomas I. Gasson, Professor of Sociology at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., who lectured on "Faddism" last night before the Iola School of Sociology and Social Service.

Father Gasson devoted practically his entire lecture to describing in great detail the mysterious outrage of the audiences at spiritualistic seances, waxing satirical as he proceeded at the puerilities of darkened rooms, funeral atmosphere and low music invariably connected with ectoplase, weird tappings and dancing chairs.

Speaking of the latest revelations of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Father Gasson referred to the author-spiritist account of being massaged by his son who died during the war.

"Really," said the lecturer, "when spirits turn to the massaging business it seems rather strange, to say the least, one would think these spirits might do something better in this world."

"The best mediums are women, usually widows of the tenth degree. They have known sorrow," said the Father, ironically, quoting the epitaph of one sorrowful widower. "Under this stone my wife doth lie, she is now at rest and so am I," she must also be able to "ooze out ectoplasm." This substance, Father Gasson described as chiffon-like with the characteristics of india-rubber, and when the light is turned on, it vanished with a crack. There is also a most peculiar odor, "something like bonsecours market on a hot day."

"All this is very thrilling, and you know you are going to have a beautiful time," said the speaker, concluding the descriptive part.

He thereupon charged the spiritists with being virtually pantheists, who acknowledge Christ only as a great medium and a martyr. They deny the reality of sin, he said, and the need of atonement. They also deny any heaven and hell, claiming that hell is only a sort of hospital for the sick soul, which is later purged by means of "cosmic love."

"The spirits," Father Gasson went on, "are extremely fond of music. I am pained to see, however," he said, "that they prefer jjazz music and vulgar selections. The favorite, I understand, is 'Pack up your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag.'"

He claimed that fraud is rampant. Insanity frequently follows, and suicide is by no means uncommon among the believers of the cult.

RETURNS FROM THE PARADISE

Experience in Russia of Once-Enthusiastic Red Who Went From U.S.

NEW YORK, April 7.—After going to Russia in search of a working man's paradise and returning thin, disappointed and penniless, Thomas B. Doyle, of Baton Rouge, yesterday obtained the arrest of two Soviet agents who "colonized" him on the charge of grand larceny.

Doyle, his wife and two children and other colonists were received in Moscow by "Big Bill" Haywood, a brass band and 10,000 Red soldiers. There was one day of honor and glory, followed by months of hunger, danger, disappointment and disillusionment, according to Doyle. They never found the industrial Utopia promised by the New York Soviet agents.

They were sent here and there, their money was taken from them, and starvation threatened them, when finally they were able to get to Moscow. The worst of all experiences, according to Doyle, was the constant insult offered to his wife by Soviet officials and others, who sought continually to convert the colonists to the principle of free love.

"The spirits," Father Gasson went on, "are extremely fond of music. I am pained to see, however," he said, "that they prefer jjazz music and vulgar selections. The favorite, I understand, is 'Pack up your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag.'"

He claimed that fraud is rampant. Insanity frequently follows, and suicide is by no means uncommon among the believers of the cult.

REMINISCENCE OF THE WORST SNOW STORM

In the Month of March, 1870, Peterborough Lay Buried Beneath The Beautiful.

TOWN ISOLATED

(By F. H. DOBBIN)

The vagaries of that interminable subject of comment and conversation—the weather—have been the subject of talk wherever men congregate. Barber shops have resounded with dispute, at times very positive and voluble. Disputants have averred certain stages of storm and snow, and maintained the position taken, whether they knew anything about the matter or not. No one likes to be beaten out in an argument, especially if there be spectators. The amount of snow that has recently fallen, where it fell in largest quantity, the accompanying wind and cold, all made conversation. As relative to big snowfalls of former years.

Occasionally a man is found who is more than positive, really right. He has participated in some storm blockade, the trials and miseries and privation and inconvenience being indelibly stamped on his memory. Of these experiences there are very many. At a time of general bother, when all share and share alike, once over, is forgotten. But, for instance, the terrible weather conditions that prevailed at the time of the Neill building fire, or that of the Quaker Oats buildings, will never be forgotten by the local fire brigade so long as a man who took a hand remains on the force.

In the last fifty years there has been only four, certainly not more than five events, the circumstances distributed over a wide section of the Midland district, in which excessive falls of snow played a conspicuous part. So to settle bets, and pin down to day and date, several of these occasions may be referred to, with brief note of the accompanying circumstances. As to the degree of cold accompanying, if the record kept by our friend Walters Peters covers the years indicated, he can tell you all about that. We are dealing, in what is here written, as to snow, beautiful snow.

Heaviest Snowfall

Certainly the heaviest fall of snow, within the memory of man (and before records under provincial auspices were maintained) came along in the early part of the year, 1870. To be precise, started to fall on March 13th. In fact the heaviest falls of snow occurred in the month of March. Probably a coincidence. Probably a habit. For Old Sol works on a routine that we may, not as yet, fathom the mysteries of. As the event took place about fifty-three years ago it is quite safe to say that a large part of our population know nothing about it, except from hearsay, and might just as well now be told, so that all can see what they have missed. It proved to be a time of personal inconvenience and what was worse, much of municipal bother to get the incumbrance from off the principal streets. For nearly two weeks there was no unemployment, seasonable or not. Everybody worked, shovelling snow, but father. The old man laid off. Too strenuous.

Started in, as noted, on the morning of the 13th. Kept at it all day and the whole of the succeeding night. There was about a foot in depth of snow on the ground to start with, and plenty coming on, as afterward appeared. Snowed all day on the 14th and the night as well. By this time people were beginning to compare notes and brag about how much snow they had in their several back-yards. Bless their hearts, it was not the yard snow that was to prove troublesome, but what fell on the streets right in front.

Down street, merchants had kept at it, diligently shoving the snow off the board, (or plank) sidewalks, and by the morning of the 16th there was a healthy barricade of nicely banked snow fronting the shops. Fortunately the walks were only six feet wide, and so less to shovel. Preparations had been made, as was the custom in those days, to celebrate by concerts and gatherings, the 17th of March, old Ireland's festive anniversary. About noon of the 16th the storm, refreshed by an interval of quietude, began again, worse than ever. The afternoon brought a very heavy fall and the night as much in depth. Amidst the general hurricane, for the wind had gotten up, all engagements were cancelled. Sort of mutual agreement. Nor could one, as now might be the case, 'phone and advise. It was simply impossible, except at the most strenuous exertion to move about. Business was practically suspended. On the whole, it was admitted, that it was a "great day for Ireland."

Became Serious

Those who moved out and about the streets, made at first jocular comment. But presently the matter became really serious. No one could get to work, except by wading waist deep in the ever-increasing depth of snow. Children who had started to school had to be rescued and brought home. Several funerals had to be postponed. The efficient police force of two men, did not make a single arrest for over three weeks. Too much trouble to get the culprit incarcerated, unless he were hauled on a toboggan. Communication with the country lines and townships was absolutely cut off. Any farmer who reached town did so by walking and climbing along the rail fences. In those days no grocer or butcher or, in fact, any dealer made deliveries of goods to households. And in many houses, where people had laid in little of supplies, red flags were stuck out of doors in hopes that some passer would come to the rescue. Communication with the world outside was only had by telegraph. And such informa-

Declare Men With Scrutched Faces Slayers of Women

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Men with scratched faces were being sought today by the police as murderers of the two young women found hacked to death on an unfrequented road near the Staten Island shore yesterday morninng.

Scratches as particular identification were mentioned by the police who found pieces of flesh under the finger nails of the two women, Mrs. Irene Blandino of Jersey City and Mrs. Bessie McMahon, Utica, N.Y., Mrs. McMahon came to live with Blandinos two months ago, and police believe her death was an incident to the plotted murder of her companion.

PROMISE REFORM TEMPERANCE LAW

Col. J. A. Currie Says It's Unwise to Replace Police With Preachers.

TORONTO, April 7.—(Canadian Press), — Colonel John A. Currie, M.L.A., of South-East Toronto, in an address to several hundred Conservatives at the Memorial Auditorium last night, said there would have to be reforms of the present temperance law, because he believed the majority of pople wanted a change.

Conservatives, he said, had always stood for temperance, but had never been so rash as to replace policeman with preacher. Such a policy was unwise, because the masses could not be coerced. Law, to be successfully enforced, must have the support of the people. If the Conservatives get back into power they would introduce reforms wanted by the people.

SAYS PETERBORO IN CLASS WITH TORONTO

The following letter received by Mr. Tooms, M.L.A., for West Peterboro, explains why Peterboro did not receive a visit from the Better Live Stock Train:

Department of Agriculture
Office of the Minister,
Toronto, April 4, 1923.

Dear Mr. Tooms:

I beg to acknowledge yours of the 29th ult., in regard to the fact that the Better Live Stock Train did not include a stop at Peterboro. I beg to assure you that there is no basis for the feeling that this indicates any reflection on the importance of Peterboro. The fact of the matter is that in arranging the itinerary, it was felt the best results would be secured by having the train stop at the smaller centres, as it was intended to reach the men who are not reached by meetings in larger centres.

Peterboro is, therefore, in good company, as the train did not stop at Toronto, London, Hamilton, Ottawa or other centres of this nature.

Yours very truly,
MANNING M. DOHERTY,
Minister of Agriculture.

EVENING SUBJECT AT ST. ANDREW'S

A Most Interesting Address to Be Given by Rev. Jas. Rollins.

Rev. James Rollins will take as his evening subject to-morrow, at St. Andrew's, Society and Solitude, the contribution which each makes to the character and to life. Large audiences have appreciated the series of sermons just completed and to-morrow's subject should be of very special interest to all who will attend.

A hearty welcome will be given strangers and to those who have no regular church home.

There will be excellent music by the choir, and Miss Gorrie will sing at both services.

MISTER THEATREGOER

Oh, Mister Theatregoer, Yes Mrs. Theatregoer,
They tell me to the "Dumbells" we should go,
With their catchy new revue—
Everybody liked it too—
"Carry On," it is the title of the show.

Oh, Mr. Theatregoer, Yes, Mrs. Theatregoer,
How would you like to take me to the show?
And I haven't had my share—
Of theatrical amusement, you well know.

Oh, Mrs. Theatregoer, Yes, Mister Man,
I will grab a pair of tickets if I can,
And the "Dumbells" we will see—
Side by side, just you and me—
Absotively, Mister Theatregoer? Posolutely, my sweet Queen.

Oh, Mister Theatregoer, Yes, yes, my Queen,
Just to hear the Plunketts sing it once again,
That songs of songs, I mean—
That Gallagher and Shean—
It's a knockout, Mr. Theatregoer? It's a stymie on the green.

Additional verses to the Plunkett brothers big comedy song hit, Suggested by C. G. Garreite, Business Manager of The "Dumbells."

NURSES ADDED HALF YEAR TO THE TRAINING

Minimum Standard Now Two and a Half Years—Convention Concluded Today.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The twentieth annual convention of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario, which, with its change of name, now becomes the Ontario Registered Nurses' Association, ended here this morning with a session which put through a good deal of unfinished business.

The election of officers resulted in the report of the committee being accepted as follows:

President, Miss Esther M. Cook, superintendent of the Hospital for Incurables, Toronto; 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. C. Joseph, of London; 2nd vice-president, Miss Ethel Davidson, Peterborough; secretary-treasurer, Miss B. L. Ellis, Toronto.

New directors are: Miss Fairley, Hamilton; Miss B. L. Ellis, Toronto; Miss E. Cook, Toronto; Miss E. Dickson, Weston; Miss Hall, of Brantford; Miss Rogers, Kingston; and Miss Ethel Davidson, Peterborough.

Further consideration of changes in the constitution, according to the plan adopted for re-organisation, claimed the attention of the meeting this morning. The principal changes in the constitution were the change in the name of the association, the organisation of the association into districts instead of chapters, and the change of the system of voting at the annual meetings, by which representational voting is done away with, individual voting being substituted therefor.

The discussion on the question of individual voting resulted in a vote of 326 for and 208 against being cast by the delegates, many of whom were armed with numbers of votes from their societies.

The following sections of the proposed plan for revision were adopted as read, the main idea of the whole revision evidently being to encourage registration of nurses. (After a struggle of sixteen years legislation providing for registration was put through last year. In Ontario, out of a total of 3,380 nurses, only 675 have so far availed themselves of the privilege.)

Voting—Every member of the association is entitled to an individual vote on any subject in both the Provincial and district associations (Counsellor Districts). Any important question on which the voice of the whole association is required a written vote may be taken by having the question submitted to the affiliated associations and the individual members for their decision.

The Board of Directors shall consist of the officers of the Association, the chairman of each section and one representative from each Counsellor District. The Counsellor District may elect an alternate representative to act when necessary.

Elections—The officers of the Association shall be elected by ballot at the annual meeting. The chairman of each section shall be elected by ballot at the annul meeting of the members of the section. The representatives from the Counsellor District shall be elected by ballot by the members of the Counsellor Board.

Fees—Owing to the fact that some of the Associations affiliated with the G.N.A.O. are also directly affiliated with the C.N.A.T.N. and pay the membership fee and extra tax directly to that association it is necessary to provide for two types of affiliated associations as follows: Associations already affiliated with the C.N.A.T.N. shall pay an annual fee of $1.25 per capita, 25c of which is refunded to the Counsellor District. Individual members shall pay an annual fee of $2.00, 25c of which is refunded to the district in which she resides or practises.

A committee to consider further changes in the constitution is composed of the president, Miss E. Cook, the secretary Miss Ellis, Miss Jean Gunn, all of Toronto, Miss Dickson of Weston (convenor), Mrs. Bilger of Kitchener, and a member to be named by these ladies.

Request Co-operation.

A resolution, moved by Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto, and carried by the meeting, answering a communication from Miss St. Clair of Columbia University, New York, which requested cooperation of the Canada Nurses' Association in carrying out a scene of standardizing training schools similar to the system now in use of grading hospitals, recorded the sentiment of the Association as favoring such grading, "but we feel that at the present time in Ontario we are not ready to have a committee come into the province and grade training schools until we have had an opportunity of enquiring into their workings ourselves."

Miss Esther Cook of Toronto, convenor of the War Memorial Fund, spoke of the laudable efforts made

ANOTHER CASE AGAINST CITY FOR INJURIES

Mrr. Whitlow Fell on Simcoe Street — Judge Huycke Refers to Departure of C. R. Widdifield

CAPABLE SOLICITOR

In his closing remarks at yesterday's session of the County Court, Judge E. C. S. Huycke referred to the work of Mr. C. R. Widdifield as City Solicitor. In the case which was heard yesterday afternoon, Mr. Widdifield acted as counsel for the city. "This is the last work he is likely to do in that capacity," said His Honor. "It has always given me great pleasure to have Mr. Widdifield represent the city before me. He has been careful and industrious, and the city is losing a very capable city solicitor. I have always appreciated very much the way in which Mr. Widdifield prepared his cases. He prepared them very thoroughly, and when he appeared before me he knew what he was talking about. I appreciate his ability in that capacity."

Mrs. Whitlow Claims $700.

A claim for damages amounting to $700 was the basis of a suit brought by Mrs. Carrie T. Whitlow against the City of Peterborough. Mrs. Whitlow alleged that injuries which she sustained on September 30, 1922, were the result of a fall caused by a defect in a grating set in the sidewalk on Simcoe Street, which defect the city should have remedied.

S. T. Medd conducted the case for the plaintiff, and C. R. Widdifield acted for the city. At the conclusion of the hearing, Judge Huycke reserved judgment.

Alexander Nesbitt, called by Mr. Medd, stated that he remembered seeing the grating sticking up above the level of the sidewalk, and that on two occasions he tripped over it. The last time he tripped over this grate was about the end of August, 1922.

Dr. T. W. H. Young gave evidence as to the injuries sustained by Mrs. Whitlow at the time she fell. There was no fracture — the tendons and ligaments were very much strained. Mrs. Whitlow sustained two injuries, one to her wrist and another to her knee. The injuries will take a long time for recovery, and Dr. Young considers Mrs. Whitlow very fortunate in escaping so lightly as she did with the injury to her knee.

The first witness called by Mr. Widdifield was the City Engineer, Roy H. Parsons.

Asked whether he had examined the grating over which Mrs. Whitlow is alleged to have tripped, Mr. Parsons replied that he inspected it several days after the accident, just as soon as he was notified.

Q.—What condition was it in?

A.—In perfect condition.

Q.—Describe what you mean by perfect condition.

THE WEATHER.

We all remember how cold it was during the last week in March, but I would like to draw the reader's attention to the Apsley correspondence on another page, particularly the item regarding the cold weather prevailing that week about 40 miles due north of Peterboro. Our temperature ranged from 3 to 10 below, that week in the city. Take a look at the correspondence referred to, and congratulate yourself that cold as it was here it might have been worse. The Apsley figures are authentic. I have not the figures at present for Port Hope or Cobourg, but the temperature at on the lake shore towns ranges from 10 to 15 degrees higher than Peterboro does. I was also informed that in some sections in the northern part of this county and in Haliburton county there was never a month in the summer that passed without frost. While apple trees bore fruit, plum trees, and other fruit common here, was not sufficiently hardy to withstand the climate.—W. P.

JUDICIAL SALE OF BAKERY STORES

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF ONTARIO

Between GEOFFREY T. CLARKSON, Plaintiff, and NUT KRUST PRODUCTS LIMITED and FREDERICK C. CLARKSON the Trustee of the property of NUT KRUST PRODUCTS LIMITED, and Authorized Assignee, Defendants.

Pursuant to the judgment of the Supreme Court of Ontario made herein and dated 23rd day of August, 1922, and with the approbation of Charles Garrow, Esquire, K.C., Master of the Supreme Court of Ontario sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned up to Twelve o'clock noon on Tuesday the 15th day of May, 1923, for the purchase of the following assets of

NUT KRUST PRODUCTS LIMITED

Parcel No. 1—St. Catherines Store —Machinery and Equipment, $7,675.92. Lease which expires on the 1st of August, 1929, rental $196.00 per month and business taxes.

Parcel No. 2—Peterboro Store—Machinery and Equipment, $6,680.00. Lease of the premises expires on the 31st October, 1924 (Renewable for five years). Rental $62.50 per month and property and business taxes.

Parcel No. 3—London Store—Machinery and equipment, $7,804.80. Lease which expires 1st February, 1928, (Subject to six months cancellation Clause). Rental $400.00 and business taxes.

Parcel No. 4—Oshawa Store—Machinery and Equipment, $8,038.06. Lease which expires 1st March, 1928, $250.00 per month, business and property taxes.

Tenders will be received for the four parcels en bloc. Tenders are required to state the amount apportioned by them to each parcel.

Tenders will also be received for the parcels separately and in case the whole property may be sold more advantageously in separate parcels such tenders may be accepted.

All taxes, insurance, water rates and similar items will be adjusted to the completion of sale.

Possession of the premises to be given as of the 31st of May, 1923, and the purchaser will be required to take over the merchandise and supplies at cost price.

Terms of Sale: One-quarter cash and the balance in thirty, sixty and ninety days with interest at seven per cent. satisfactorily secured or on such terms as may be arranged. A marked cheque payable to the order of G. T. Clarkson, Receiver, for ten per cent of the amount of the tender must accompany each tender which cheque will be returned if the tender is not accepted and forfeited if the tender is accepted and not completed by the purchaser.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Tenders will be opened at the Office of the Master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, the 15th day of May, 1923, when all tenderers are requested to be present.

Further particulars as to the inventory and leases and operation of stores may be had on application to the Receiver.

Dated at Toronto this 4th day of April, 1923.

G. T. CLARKSON, Receiver.
E. R. C. Clarkson & Sons, 15 Wellington St. W., Toronto.

REDISTRIBUTION IN THE ONTARIO HOUSE

Theer is every reason to believe that the Ontario Government will take up the question of redistribution before the next election. A meeting is being held in Norwood to-day to discuss the various angles as it effects this city and district in the Federal House.

Those who are interested in the question of redistribution in the Provincial House might be well advised to get in touch with Mr. Tooms, M.L.A. for West Peterborough.

When seen to-day, Mr. Tooms would not deny or affirm the report that redistribution would be dealt with by the Provincial House before the next election.

FARM TRIBUNAL REPORT NOT TO BE SUPPORTED

Remedies Suggested Are Not Likely to Receive Legislative Sanction — Disguised Protection.

NO TAX ON FOOD.

LONDON, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)— The tribunal appointed by the Government in December to review measures adopted by other countries to foster agriculture, and which assumed increased importance owing to the dispute between the farmers and the farm laborers in Norfolk, has issued an elaborate "interim" report recommending numerous remedies which are looked upon as not likely to receive legislative sanction.

The principal remedies proposed are duties on imported malting barley and hops and certain stipulations which, without placing a direct duty on imported flour, would at the same time principally penalize flour imported without offal.

No recommendations for a State subsidy to encourage wheat growing is made by the tribunal, which explains it desires first to see the results of its other suggestions.

The report will be very welcome to a large section of the Conservative Party on account of its distinctly protective flavor. The chairman of the tribunal, Sir William Ashley, is a well-known protectionist.

The report is adversely criticized in all Liberal and Labor circles, on the ground that its recommendations are disguised protection. In view of the intense opposition of these parties to any measures placing taxes on food and the fact that Premier Bonar Law himself and the other Ministers have quite recently stated the country would not stand for a protective system, there are many who doubt whether after the Cabinet has considered the tribunal's report, it will risk submitting the recommendations as they stated, to Parliament.

Rumors lately have credited the Government with the intention in the next budget statement to reduce beer duties with a view to placating the working man. Any such reduction would be entirely neutralized by adoption of the tribunal's recommendations regarding barley and hops.

Generally it is expected the Cabinet, unless hard driven by the protectionist wing of the Conservative Party, will adopt of the recommendations, such as trying to induce the railways to reduce rates and re-establishment of the wages' board, abolition of which by the Lloyd George Government is looked upon by many as largely responsible for the present difficulties in the farming industry.

There will, however, be strong pressure from the agriculturists in favor of adoption of the recommendations as a whole; thus, there will be a great temptation to the Government, because unless it is able to find a solution of the farmers' difficulties, it stands to lose many rural votes.

The tribunal's report recommends a duty of ten shillings per quarter on imported barley and of twenty shillings per hundred-weight on imported hops. It suggests Government license for the importation of potatoes.

VISIT OF MINISTER TO ENGLAND THOUGHT TO HAVE BIG SIGNIFICANCE

Louis Loucheur Denies Rumor He Is Making Effort to End the Ruhr Situation.

NO INTERVENTION.

LONDON, April 7. Canadian Press —The week's visit to Great Britain of Louis Loucheur. former French Minister of Reconstruction, during which he had a conference with Andrew Bonar Law, the Prime Minister former Premier David Lloyd George, Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the Earl of Derby, Secretary for War, regarding the broad question of Anglo-French relations is declared to be considered by British officialdom as showing a definite weakening on the part of France on the whole question of the Ruhr occupation.

The last words of the French Deputy to the newspaper correspondents yesterday afternoon prior to his departure for home, were that his visit had been a private one. Naturally, he said, he had discussed the relations between Great Britain and France, and he was pleased with the result.

"Great Britain," M. Loucheur continued, "is not with France in the Ruhr, but she is not against her. Everywhere I found the greatest friendship for France and the French people."

Denial was made by M. Loucheur that he had proposed any new reparations plan to the British officials. Also he emphatically asserted that foreign mediation in the Franco-German controversy would not be any more acceptable to Paris now than when the French government made formal pronouncement of its policy some time ago.

Downing street admits the private nature of M. Loucheur's visit. Nevertheless, it is declared to be interpreted there as "kite flying," not unlike that recently indulged in by Germany in an effort to end the Ruhr statement.

Although it is not intimated that the French deputy came to Great Britain as an envoy of President Millerand or Premier Poincare, some officials express the belief that he made the trip and sought for and received interviews with the highest personalities after his project had been given at least tacit approval by either M. Millerand or M. Poincare.

M. Loucheur visited Mr. Bonar Law at Torquay, in Devonshire about the same time that George Harvey, the United States Ambassador, was recuperating there. The French Deputy, however, did not see the ambassador, who said yesterday that he took little stock in reports of new reparations schemes. Mr. Harvey added that such reports had existed so long and continued so persistently that new ones went clear over his head.

The Ambassador discounted one of the more important features of the alleged new scheme credited to M. Loucheur, namely concerning the transfer or cancellation of Allied indebtedness to the United States.

Mr. Harvey said the United States did not intend to ruin the credit of any debtor country by allowing obligations to the United States to go unpaid

Canadian Cattle Were Snapped Up, England

MANCHESTER, April 7.—(Canadian Press)—The Canadian store cattle numbering 425 which arrived yesterday have all been snapped up by farmers. Buyers came from all parts of the country and prices ranged from £22 to £33 or roughly 9 1-2 pence to 11 pence per pound compared with 9 1-2 to 11 1-2 pence for English cattle and 9 1-2 to 10 pence for Irish cattle.

WHOLE COUNTY AS NEW RIDING

County Council Favors Union of Two Peterboros If Change Must Be Made.

On the question of the local effect of the electoral redistribution which has particularly perturbed the people of East Peterboro since the announcement that their riding would be carved up and divided among neighbouring constituencies, the County Council yesterday went on record as favoring the amalgamation of East and West Peterboro into one riding, if any change must be made.

The resolution was moved by Reeve Coughlin of Douro seconded by Reeve Breckenridge of Belmont.

At the public meeting at Norwood this afternoon to protest against the obliteration of the federal riding of East Peterboro it is understood that there will be opposition not only to proposed dismemberment of the riding but even to the loss of its political integrity. There will be a demand of hands off East Peterboro, but members of the County Council in casual discussion of redistribution expressed the opinion that with only 13,000 residents one of the smallest constituencies numerically in the province, East Peterboro could not hope to escape the shake-up.

All the reeves present supported the motion which was regarded as an expression of the county's unanimous desire to keep the townships of Peterboro county united in one electoral sub-division if possible.

Assumed a Bridge

Reeve Coughlin's request that a bridge on the boundary between Dummer and Douro near Warsaw be assumed together with the expenditure on it this winter was granted, and Reeve Breckenridge's report of the wish of the Reeve of Marmora to meet a Peterboro deputation with respect to bridges on the eastern boundary of Belmont township was acknowledged by the appointment of Warden Clark, Mr. Coughlin, Mr. Breckenridge and Reeve Jones of Havelock to confer with Marmora's representatives.

Reeve Rye reminded Mr. Coughlin of his promise to inspect Whitfield's bridge in North Monaghan and warned him that unless he visited it soon there was a chance that he would find it washed away when he got there.

OUT OF WORK DOLE CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Sweden's Government Cannot Agree on Plan For Distribution—Resignation Expected.

STOCKHOLM, April 7.—(Canadian Press.) — The defeat by the First Chamber of the Riksdag of the Cabinet's plan for distribution of the unemployment dole is expected to cause the resignation of Premier Branting and his colleagues immediately upon the return of King Gustave from Nice. Crown Prince Gustave was informed of the Cabinet's intention to retire after a year and a half in office, but suggested that the resignation be deferred until his father was present to receive it.

The disagreement between the upper Chamber and the Social-Democratic Government hinged on the instructions to be given to the National Committee for Unemployment Relief as regards the qualifications of those workers who would be eligible for receipt of Government support. This problem was further complicated by the extensive Labor conflicts at present going on in Sweden.

An effort was made to smooth out the difficulties by devising a new plan acceptable to all parties in order to avoid the present crisis, which is not greeted with particular enthusiasm by any party, but this effort was without result.

Speculation as to the composition of the new ministry is already going on, and the majority of the leading newspapers predict a Liberal-Conservative coalition.

Premier Branting's resignation is expected to enable him to devote more time to the League of Nations, of which he is an enthusiastic supporter and to the council, of which he was recently elected.

Always pay attention to very quiet people because they are usually a triumph of mind over chatter.

PLAN TO BAR U.S. FISHERMEN FROM CANADIAN PORTS

Canadians Would Refuse U.S. Use of Eastern Ports Except As Emergency.

TREATY RIGHTS.

MONTREAL, Que., April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—A strong resoluiton that American fishing vessels on the Atlantic coast be restricted in the use of Canadian ports to treaty privileges was unanimously adopted at the monthly meeting of the National Executive of the Canadian Fisheries Association held here yesterday. The resolution set forth that the Government of the United States had rescinded legislation which enabled Canadian Atlanttic fishing vessels to make use of United States eastern ports, and asked reduction of privileges of American fishing vessels in Canadian Atlantic ports to the "humanities," viz., shelter, water and repairs.

It was pointed out that the Maritime Provinces had between fifteen and twenty million dollars invested in their Atlantic fisheries with thousands of people dependent on them for their livelihood and that this industry must be protected against foreign highly protected competition if it was to prosper.

THANKFUL MOTHERS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she would use nothing else. The Tablets give such results that the mother has nothing but words of praise and thankfulness for them. Among the thousands of mothers throughout Canada who praise the Tablets is Mrs. David A. U. S. TO CONTROL SHIPS SHE SELLS Objection From Canadian Government Over-ruled by Department of Justice.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(Canadian Press.)— The United States' Department of Justice, in an opinion submitted yesterday to Secretary Hughes, sustained the validity of the Shipping Board contract clauses restraining purchasers of vessels brought from the United States Government from using them in any manner not in conformity with the United States laws.

Before making reply to objections by the Canadian Government, however, the State Department will await further information which has been asked of the Department of Commerce.

Forbid Trade U. S. Ports.

Protests of the Canadian Governments against United States' Shipping Board contracts arise from the fact that latterly additional clauses, which are not acceptable, have been incorporated in permits, it is stated here. Before a vessel can be removed from the United States registry, permission of the Shipping Board must be obtained. The Board, however, has latterly incorporated certain provisos in its permits which the Canadian Government objects to. It is stated that in some cases the permits have contained a clause providing that the vessel must not trade in United States ports.

RAILWAYS READY FOR AN INDUSTRIAL BOOM

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—All American railways are united in a programme of efficiency to handle the great industrial boom which road executives see just ahead. In a statement disclosing this yesterday, E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley, said: "Railroads of the United States have set out to effect a complete comeback to normal transportation conditions. They have taken upon themselves the task of wiping out the remaining scares of government operation with a view to giving the people of the United States transportation service which will meet their fullest demands."

RANEY'S BLUE SKY LAW RECEIVED ITS SECOND READING YESTERDAY

Slight Changes Will Be Made in Committee — Several Difficulties in the Act.

TO STOP FRAUD.

TORONTO, April 7. —(Canadian Press.)—With the assurance given by the Attorney General that there would be every opportunity given in committee for amendment the Legislature yesterday afternoon gave second reading to a "Blue Sky Law." There will be a change in the present draft of the bill whereby mining and prospecting operations will be exempt from some of the provisions which cover the sale of stock of commercial companies. This change was promised following argument by Northern Ontario members that the law as proposed would interfere seriously with mining development. "This act is not to stop speculation but to stop fraud," said Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney General, in admitting the case set forth by the northern members on behalf of the mining industry.

H. H. Dewart saw several difficulties in the act. He said the act should state definitely what is proposed to do instead of leaving much to regulations which could be made by order in council by the government. He also took up the matter of mining stock. Money must be spent on mines before they could be found to be either good or bad he said. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson thought that amendments to the companies act would have been sufficient without a new act and a new tribunal which he said the commissioner proposed virtually was. He thought an official in the provincial secretary's office could do the work. It was dangerous, too, to have the public rely on this law as an absolute preventative against possible loss. He thought that the province might well make the creation of criminal law to the Federal government and House which could be petitioned for an amendment to the crimianl code. The act as drafted, he said, would ruin the mining prospective business.

"We will change that," said Mr. Raney, "we will protect the prospector."

Malcolm Lang (Cochrane) wanted to speak on second reading, but was assured that he would get full opportunity in committee and the bill passed.

Redistribution Bill.

Many members took from the Prime Ministers' remarks in reply to G. G. Halcrow that there will be a redistribution bill brought down in the House. Mr. Halcrow has a resolution calling for redistribution and asked the Prime Minister what the government proposed to do. "I will make an announcement in the budget debate," said Premier Drury, "and if it is not satisfactory to the member I will call on his resolution immediately after."

Hon. Mr. Ferguson asked about the Lake Huron and Northern Ontario Railway whose charter has lapsed. The Premier said that the government was investigating and if it thought that the value of timber would be increased sufficiently to carry the cost of the road that it would be built as a public owned railway. The alternative was that a private company build it.

Questions answered were to the effect that Fort William would not be made a judicial district; that the timber probe had cost $168,000 and that T. J. Rutherford defeated U.F.O. candidate in the last election had been made registrar of the surrogate court in the county of Grey; and that the number of murders and manslaughter cases from 1918 to 1922 inclusive was, 50, 49, 47, 70, 64. The number unsolved was 0, 9, 1, 4, 7, and number of acquittals 26, 20, 27, 43, 30.

KU KLUX EMPEROR AND WIZARD CLASH

Each Desires Control of the Clan and Matter is in Court.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 7.—(Canadain Press.)— Arguments in the legal battle between Emperor William J. Simmons and Imperial Wizard H. M. Evans, for control of the Ku Klux Klan were concluded yesterday before Judge E. D. Thomas, who took the case under advisement and announced that he would render a decision to-day. Pending that time, Sheriff J. I Lowry retained custody of the Imperial palace, the general headquarters of the organization.

WOULD INTERVENE IN THE IRISH SITUATION

DUBLIN, April 7. — (Canadian Press).—Mgr. Luzio, of the Sacred congregation of Rome, who arrived here some time ago to investigate the situation for the Vatichn, said yesterday that provided a desire for intervention was clearly pressed by the Irish people, he willingly would support any movement which showed reasonable promise of ending the present dissension. Miss Nellie Lyons, sister-in-law of Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defence, is now on her fifteenth day of a hunger strike in Kilmainham Jail.

LEAGUE IS ONLY WAY TO OBTAIN WORLD PEACE

Lord Robert Cecil Again Upholds Advantages of League of Nations to the Whole World.

TO AID HUMANITY.

PHILADELPHIA, April 7. — International cooperation is the only way to obtain world peace, said Lord Robert Cecil, in a luncheon address yesterday to the Philadelphia Committee on the League of Nations Non Partisan Assocaition.

Lord Robert, who is one of the foremost advocates of the League, said that by meeting one another in conference will improve the welfare of humanity.

The League functions as the bar of public opinion, he said. "You must admit war is a barbarous method of settling international disputes," said Lord Robert. "The League is a permanent court of international justice and no nation is required to give up any of its policies or rights.

"The project is open to criticism as all human institutions are. There are many things to be said about it. I know its weaknesses as well as anyone in the world. But it is the highest human institution for human welfare and happiness that has ever been conceived.

"I soy to you, speaking with the deepest sense of concern, it is not good to say that the League has done no good. It s not right to say it will not prevent war."

Lord Robert's speech was broadcast by radio.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Although the details of the last Government caucus have been kept secret, it is now taken for granted that a measure of redistribution will be introduced by the Drury administration during the present sitting of the Legislature.

The decision will cause some surprise.

So impervious have the Premier and his associates proved to criticism on this question that the impression had been created that public opinion would be defied and that there would be no redistribution.

Apparently, however, the Government has weakened.

The newspapers of the Province, even those which have been in sympathy with the administration, have been urging for months that the existing inequalities in representation should be remedied to some extent at least before there was an appeal to the people.

Warm friends of the Government have also warned the powers that be of the danger of attempting to evade an obvious duty.

These warnings and appeals have evidently had some effect, for it seems to be assured now that a redistribution bill will be brought down and that a select committee of the Legislature will be appointed to work out the details.

The Government will gain in prestige as a result of its change of front.

HYDRO AND THE PROVINCE.

The delegates to the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association who unanimously passed a motion to the effect that the time has come to take such steps as will relieve the Provincial Government from all financial responsibility and to place the administration and control of the Hydro-electric system in the hands of the municipalities which are owners and financially responsible for the undertaking, were no doubt actuated by the feeling that the Drury Government is out of sympathy with the Hydro scheme and that the Gregory Commission is conducting a one-sided sort of inquiry designed to injure the system

At the same time, however, it should be remembered that the Hydro proposition has been financed by money lent by the Province, and that it might not prove a very feasible scheme to cast off Provincial support and throw the whole burden of financing directly upon the municipalities.

It might be found a different matter disposing of bonds under an arrangement that did away with the Government guarantee.

The indignation of the municipal representatives, should not cause them to rush into a policy that might not prove workable.

It is a question that should receive very serious consideration.

NO ELECTIVE POLICE BOARDS.

The Ontario Legislature acted wisely in rejecting by an overwhelming majority a bill to provide for elective members of boards of police commissioners, says the Globe.

From elective police commissioners to elective judges is only half a step, and it is only necessary to look over the international border to see what both mean. The vote-hunter with authority over the police force would be a menace to law enforcement.

The divorce of the administration of justice from the machinery of popular elections is a British tradition which this country has fortunately followed. It is not inconsistent with democratic principles, as the elected representatives of the people have the power of the purse over police commissions. Municipal councils can refuse to provide money for police purposes, as Parliaments can refuse supplies to a Government. It is a sufficient measure of control, a guarantee against autocracy or the continuation of flagrant abuses. The presence of municipal representatives on police boards is also a safeguard against secrecy. Where is the scandal, or grievance, to justify attacks on the present system?

Without questioning the motives of those who ask for a change, it is obvious that the election of police commissioners would bring police administration into the field of patronage. At a time when enlightened opinion is striving to reduce the area of patronage in the public services, it would be an anachronism to introduce it into a sphere from which it has always been excluded. Law enforcement is the last place in which patronage or party politics should find a lodgment.

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK.

The Grand Jury at Toronto in its report to Judge Coatsworth has brought in a recommendation to the effect that motorists convicted of driving while under the influence of liquor should have their licenses cancelled.

While legislation of this kind would at first glance appear drastic, yet it is a precaution strongly in the public interest.

The man who while in a drunken condition attempts to guide an automobile is a menace to himself, to anybody who happens to be in the same car with him, and to the public generally.

Under modern traffic conditions drivers must have their wits about them at all times if accidents are to be avoided.

What chance has the individual whose judgment is beclouded and whose faculties are not functioning because of an overindulgence in liquor?

Yet people do take these chances, and it becomes necessary to make the punishment of such recklessness severe enough to act as a warning to others.

If every man found guilty of being drunk while in charge of a car was to be punished by being forbidden to handle the wheel again it is to be imagined that there would be little danger of automobile drivers indulging in liquor on occasions when they know they will be required to handle a car.

A drunken man with a motor car is more dangerous than one with a loaded revolver, and will have to be treated as such if the streets are to be reasonably safe.

GIVE THE PARK A CHANCE.

The Examiner referred a few nights ago to the "short cut" nuisance who delights in plodding across soggy lawns and over the sward in the public parks, caring nothing for the damage caused by his wandering feet.

There are a good many such individuals in Peterborough, and already the effects of their carelessness are to be seen, not only on private, but on public property.

In this connection the Examiner believes that the Chairman of the city Parks Committee would be well advised if he were to have Victoria Park closed to the public for the next couple of weeks, until danger of damage to the grass is at an end.

At present there is considerable traffic through the park, and unfortunately it is not confined to the foot-paths, but persists in creating new trails over the lawns, with the result that if these conditions are allowed to continue with the ground soft and wet there will be left more or less permanent tracks that will certainly detract from the pleasing appearance of the green carpeted slopes.

Closing the park to the public for a fortnight would not be a hardship to anybody, and it would make the task of preparing this beauty spot much easier when the spring operations get under way.

JOHN BULL AND UNCLE SAM.

The dramatic trial of William Z. Foster, a former organizer for the American Federation of Labor, but now a Syndicalist, or Communist, and charged with plotting against the laws and constitution of the United States, reveals a striking difference between England and America. In England, Foster would have a fair chance (particularly if he lived on the Clyde) of getting elected to Parliament. In any case it is easy to imagine him standing in the shadow of Nelson's monument on Trafalgar Square, preaching his Communist theories, and denouncing royalty, and capitalism and imperialism, and getting the amused toleration and the police protection given to others who, in that heart of the Empire, indulge in all such rhetoric. Mr. Newbould, as frank a revolutionary as Foster, is a member of the British House. When he won his seat, and by a goodly majority, his first act was to cable Russia that his riding was "won for Moscow." Yet Mr. Newbould, who sits almost within a whisper from Mr. Asquith, is greeted only with amused attention when he stands in his place to champion Trotzky and Lenine.

A year or two ago, when 14 New York Socialists were elected to the State Assembly, the Legislature, by a solemn vote, prevented them taking their seats. In England, on the other hand, nearly one-half of the Labor Party, and certainly its most able half, are avowed Socialists. They are frankly and avowedly out to overturn the existing order, yet when the other day Mr. Phillip Snowden launched his attack upon capitalism staid champions of stability like Sir John Simon and a number of Ministerialists scribbled him notes of congratulation upon his speech; and even the impeccable Spectator emitted frank admiration.

One of the charges against Foster is that he was opposed to the war. Well, if England arrested all of her people who opposed her participation in the war, she would have more distinguished statesmen in jail than in Mr. Law's Ministry. She would have to begin by imprisoning that great good man, Lord Morley; she would have to arrest poor old John Burns; Mr. C. P. Trevelyan, M.P.; Mr. Arthur Ponsonby, M.P.; and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, instead of dining with His Majesty and leading a great party, would be occupying a cell in Brixton jail. But England, grown wise with experience, doesn't do such things. Mr. E. D. Morel, a well known pacifist, was opposed to the war. Not only did he attack it, but, in an English newspaper he actually stated the case for Germany as against Britain and France. In America such a man would be still breaking stones in jail, as many who took a similar stand are breaking them there now; but what fate did Britain decree? Britain, in the last election, sent him to Westminster with a tremendous vote, defeating, with terrible irony, the man who was the nation's great war figure—Mr. Winston Churchill

Yet let no one imagine that England has gone Communist. It is simply that, secure upon the foundations of her institutions, she is not afraid of free speech. It is the tradition and the boast of Britons that they have been the pioneers of human liberty, and the liberty which they most highly prize, which is the Ark of the Covenant of their creed, is liberty of conscience, and with it liberty of speech. Mr. Newbould at Westminster, or any Communist in Hyde Park, is as free to speak frankly what he thinks or believes as Mr. Lloyd George in Carnarvon or Lord Curzon in the Lords.

And one cannot read English history, and note the experiences and the lessons of the struggles with Socialists and strikers in the seventies and eighties, without being convinced that the British way today is superior to the American; that it is more sane, more humane, more enlightened, and what is perhaps most important of all, more courageous.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Up to Thursday night, thirty-four members of the Ontario Legislature had taken part in the Budget debate. And the Province has already forgotten what most of them said.

Mayor Wenige of London seems to have as much trouble with commissions as Premier Drury has pleasure in appointing such bodies.

New York's population is estimated at 5,927,625. No figures are given as to the number of bootleggers.

A fleet of armed motor boats is to be used in checking rum-running operations at Detroit. The time used to be when Switzerland had the only dry navy.

Every time a new civic undertaking comes up the spectre of the Hunter Street Bridge arises in the minds of the ratepayers—a condition that naturally injures the chances of the new school proposition.

Physicians are said to be puzzled over the case of a Logan, Ohio, woman who cannot stop talking. But many people will have difficulty in understanding why there is any mystery about a matter of that kind.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia thinks that Canada can absorb 300,000 settlers a year. Unfortunately, there does not seem much chance of trying out his theory, judging by the small stream of immigration at present.

Despite the general outcry for civic retrenchment, the people of Oshawa are being asked to vote $25,000 for the construction of a new grandstand at Alexandra Park, the principal athletic grounds of the town, and also the home of the Oshawa Fall Fair.

FIRE DESTROYED HALIBURTON HOME

Family Had Just Completed Packing Prior to Move When Fire Broke Out.

LINDSAY, April 6.—Fire destroyed the home of Mr. J. A. Hawtin, at Ingoldsby, Haliburton County, on Thursday. Mr. Hawtin and family had just completed packing prior to moving to a new home, and were absent at the time the fire commenced. Practically all the effects were saved except a few articles of clothing. The house was practically new.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Seamer, of Gelert, Haliburton County, was destroyed by fire on Sunday evening. The family, with visitors from Toronto, were at supper and knew nothing of the fire until the roof fell in. Practically nothing was saved, and there was no insurance on house or contents. The fire was caused by an overheated stove in the upstairs apartments.

The J. Howard Lowery Case Slated For To-Day.

LINDSAY, April 7.—The J. Howard Lowery case has not yet been disposed of. Restitution of $20,000 to the Standard Chemical Co. by Lowery is said by his friends here to have been agreed to both by the Company and the plaintiff. Quite a sum is already paid over, and the remainder is being raised here.

Lowery comes up to-day at Bracebridge before Police Magistrate Clark, who will likely commit him for trial before a judge.

MORAL WAVE IN BELFAST ASCRIBED TO EVANGELIST

BELFAST, April 7.—This city is becoming so moral that one wonders if a policeman will be sure of a job in the future, says the Evening News correspondent, who records that: "Petty thieving is on the decline. Many employers have received back stolen goods. Dozens of bags of tools borrowed from shipyards have been returned. A grocer was paid £5 that a woman customer had owed him for 20 years. For over an hour an ex-sailor tried to persuade the local pensions staff that he was not entitled to a weekly disablement grant he had been drawing.

All this moral "uplift" is ascribed to the great religious revival conducted by Paston Nicholson, who is escorted everywhere by a band of 70 chosen from his thousands of converts. It is necessary to go to church two hours before time to hear him preach, and men forego their supper and march direct from their shipyard work in the evening to listen to him.

WOMEN STUDENTS EXCEL MEN IN PAYING BILLS

LONDON, April 7.—The answer to the question of whether women have a higher moral sense than men will be found in the affirmative if the experience of the Carnegie Trust for the Universities of Scotland is taken as a deciding factor. The Trust undertakes to provide funds for students wishing to enter colleges, and though they are under no obligation, they are expected to repay what money they can.

Sir David Prain, at a recent meeting of the trustees, said that the number of women students who repaid their fees during 1922 was considerably larger than the number of men.

Last year 30 former students repaid £1,387 to the fund, making the total amount repaid £12,500, or one and a third per cent. of the money advanced.

It was brought out at the committee meeting that pre-war conditions had so far returned as to justify the committee in reducing the value of the annual scholarships from £200 to £150

MUSIC SUPERVISORS TO GATHER IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, April 7.—Music week, participated in by all vocal and instrumental organizations of Cleveland public schools, will begin here on April 9, in connection with the music supervisors' national conference.

Everything relating to music and the teaching of music will be discussed by speakers. Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York symphony orchestra, will deliver an address.

Three thousand delegates from every state in the union will be entertained by a boys' chorus of one thousand voices.

Davenport, Iowa, will send a boys' glee club and Grand Rapids, Mich., a school band and orchestra.

The climax of the convention will be a music memory contest on April 13.

DECLARES SUNDAY SCHOOLS TEACH CHILDREN SEDITION

LONDON, April 7.—A petition with more than 1,000 signatures has been presented to the present parliament asking that the House of Commons explore the existence and growth of what are known as "proletarian Sunday schools" which, in the opinion of the petitioners, are "fast becoming a menace to the stability of the constitution of this country, as well as to our national character, moral standards and home life."

The petition charges that these Sunday schools are engaged in the teaching of Communist principles, sedition and blasphemous ideas on all religion.

WOULD HAVE HOLIDAYS ALL FALL ON MONDAY

HONOLULU, April 7.—Complete dislocation of the calendar, at least so far as holidays in Hawaii are concerned, is sought in a bill introduced into the house of the territorial legislature by William J. Coelho.

The bill provides that each holiday observed in the territory, Christmas, Thanksgiving, Fourth of Juli, New Year's and all others, shall be celebrated on Monday, and that it be declared on the Monday nearest the date upon which it ordinarily would fall.

The purpose, Coehlo explained, is to provide "two days of feasting and rest every time a holiday comes along."

In another bill, Coehlo suggests that certain dates be designated as the times at which historical events happened in Hawaii. He explained that no one now living can give testimony as to the exact dates of these occurrences, and that such dates must be established for the benefit of court proceedings.

AMUR MINES LACK CAPITAL.

VLADIVOSTOK, April 7.—The government still is in search of foreign capital to work the natural riches of the Priarmur region, and foreigners may take up concessions on advantageous terms.

A significant fact is that there are more Japanese coming into this port than are leaving. Some American miners from Alaska also have come to Vladivostok with money, and intend to take up gold mining in the Okhotsk and other districts where gold is known to exist.

TO AID UNEMPLOYED.

VIENNA, April 7.—The city government has voted the sum of 120,000,000 crowns—approximately $2,000,000—for relief work among the unemployed. It is planned to spend half the amount to erect houses for more than 800 families, and the remainder will be used to extend the city's tramway system, build a public bath, and for other social betterments.

BULGARIA COINING MONEY.

VIENNA, April 7.—The Austrian Mint has received an order from the Bulgarian Government for the coining on its behalf of 40 million one leva and 20 million 2 leva pieces. The execution of this order will keep the mint fully employed for the space of nine months.

PROPHECY FULFILLED AS TO DATE OF DEATH

NEW YORK, April 7. — Canadian Press. — On April 1st, the day on which he had predicted a month ago that he would die, Professor William H. MacCabe, aged 53, of Brooklyn, succumbed to an attack of paralysis that he suffered late in March. The fulfilment of this prohecy became known yesterday.

For thirty years the vocation of Professor MacCabe, who was an astrologer, had been to foretell future events. He had foretold his death, his widow said yesterday by finding that planets would come together in his horoscope on April 14th, to signify his earthly end. His only chance for life he said was that Jupiter could help him but Jupiter proved to be too far away.

It is a hungry moth that has lived on one bathing suit all winter.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

A Wedding of Local Interest at Ottawa--Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, April 7.—A pretty wedding, celebrated at All Saints' Church, Ottawa, on Tuesday, April 3rd, will be of interest to people of Millbrook and Cavan, when Miss Olive Elaine Bridges, daughter of Col. J. W. Bridges, Director-General of Medical Service for Canada, became the bride of Dr. Harold McLellan Allen, youngest son of the late Dr. Norman Allen, and of Mrs. Allen, Toronto. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and spring flowers, the musical part of the service being under the direction of the organist, and during the signing of the register, Miss Dorothy Jenkins rendered a vocal solo.

The Rev. Canon Allen, of Millbrook, uncle of the groom, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Channel Hepburn, rector of All Saints'. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white brocaded charmeuse satin, with draped front caught by a large brilliant and pearl ornament. Her long tulle veil, which fell to the edge of her skirt, was held in place with a brilliant and pearl clasp and cluster of orange blossoms, and was the one worn by her mother on her wedding day. She carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses, the only ornaments worn being a platinum and diamond bar pin, the gift of the groom, and a platinum and diamond wrist watch, the gift of the groom's mother. Mrs. J. Neilson Blacklock, of Montreal, was the matron of honor, Miss Kate Richey, of Montreal, bridesmaid, and Miss Betty Snell, of Ottawa, was flower girl.

All the attendants were gowned alike, the matron of honor in yellow, the bridesmaid in pink, and the flower girl in mauve brocaded chiffon velvet, with draperies at the front, caught with old-fashioned nosegays of chiffon violets. They wore bands of violets in their hair, and carried colonial bouquets of violets and shaded hyacinths, the little flower girl carrying a basket filled with the same flowers.

Mr. G. C. Parry, of Toronto, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. C. Boyce and Mr. Alfred Bridges, brother of the bride, of Montreal.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father in 'The Westminster,' where the guests were received by Col. Bridges and by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Metcalfe, of Newcastle, Ont., as well as by the bride and groom. Dr. and Mrs. Allen left later for Montreal, New York and Atlantic City, the bride's going-away costume being a smart three-piece suit of navy blue twill, with figured chiffon blouse in shades of blue and grey, a blue hat trimmed with French flowers, and a stone martin ruff. On their return Dr. and Mrs. Allen will reside in Toronto. Amongst the guests from out-of-town were: Mrs. Norman Allen and Miss C. Allen, of Toronto, mother and sister of the groom; Mrs. J. A. Metcalfe, grandmother of the bride, and Miss Margaret Wilmot, of Newcastle; Dr. and Mrs. Blacklock, Misses Kate and Ruth Richey, Mrs. F. M. Stevens, Dr. and Mrs. Pirie, Dr. A. L. Wilkie, Dr. and Mrs. G. Drasick, all of Montreal; Mr. Harry Bridges, uncle of the bride, of Fredericton, N. B.; Mrs. A. L. Brock, of Rothsay, N. B.; Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, of Millbrook; Miss Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Burke Allen, of Toronto.

Messrs. G. Patton and J. L. Fair, of Peterborough, were visitors in town on Friday.

A meeting of the Rink Company is called to be held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, April 10, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. L. S. Clarry is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Max. Cameron, Ottawa.

Died—In Cavan, on Thursday, April 5, Margaret Jane Patton, in her 63rd year. The funeral took place from the residence of her brother, John Patton, Lot 1, Concession 2, Cavan (Glamorgan), today at 1.30 p.m. Interment at Zion Cemetery.

By official proclamation, June 4 this year will be observed in Canada as the birthday of His Majesty King George V. June 3 falls on a Sunday, hence the proclamation provides for the following day being observed as a national holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Raymes, of Brighton, Miss G. H. Richards, of Fenelon Falls, and Miss Ilein McKim, of Peterborough, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards over Easter.

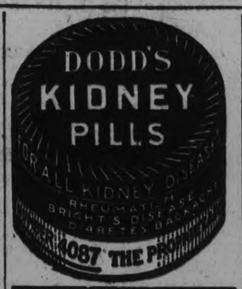
Mrs. Taggart and daughter, Miss J. Taggart, of Westport, and Mr. J. Vance, of Toronto, have been recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Vance, Centre Street.

Miss Kathleen Thorndyke, of Toronto, has been holidaying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke.

Misses Elizabeth Russell and Kathleen Fowler, who have been visiting friends at Garden Hill for the Easter week holidays, returned home on Friday.

Rev. S. G. Rorke, of Cavanville, has received a unanimous invitation from the quarterly board to remain for a fourth term.

Mr. G. Carveth, of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Carveth over Easter.



BOMB EXPLODED RUHR BRIDGE

Further Clashes Between Occupying Troops and Civilians-Fines Collected by Force.

ESSEN, April 7. — (Canadian Press)— A bomb was exploded at the railroad bridge near Duisburg today in an attempt to destroy the structure, but the damage was slight. The French troops guarding the bridge fired several volleys at persons seen fleeing from the vicinity of the bridge but failed to bring any of them down.

Say Victims Shot in Back

The funeral of the thirteen victims of Saturday's shooting at the Krupp plant has again been postponed, this time until early next week, in order to permit the French surgeons to re-examine the bodies. The wounded also will be re-examined by the French.

Dr. Ostermann, the Chief Surgeon of the Krupp concern, asserts that at least eleven of the dead and wounded were shot in the back. The French contend that this is untrue and the re-examination is intended to establish their contention.

Large Sum Seized

Bochum is again the storm center in the Ruhr, because of repeated acts of individuals against the French troops and the continued refusal of the German authorities to obey French army orders. Penalties have been imposed on the city and French troops yesterday collected the fines by force.

The streets on which the banks are located were blocked by troops while a detachment went into the Reichsbank branch and seized 250,000,000 marks. This sum was from a fund sent into the city from Berlin to pay the French fine, but about a third of the fund was intended for payments in connection with the resistance movement, the French contend.

Bochum is still without police protection, as the Germans have refused to organize a municipal police force to replace the expelled Security Police. The firemen are consequently patrolling parts of the city at night and respond to police calls in the day time. On days when there are signs of unrest, the French send up sausage observation balloons from which they watch the movements of the population.

NEWS APSLEY AND DISTRICT.

Appropriate Easter Gift to Rev. C. Spence—Dance at Mrs. Wilson's Much Enjoyed — News Paragraphs.

APSLEY, April 7. — Easter Sunday was observed at St. George's Anglican church, with special services morning and evening. A record number of communicants attended the morning celebration, several driving distances of seven and eight miles each way to be present, which entailed quite a sacrifice with the thermometer registering 19 below zero. The service was very bright, being fully choral. Two anthems, "Christ is Risen (Brackett) and Hallelujah, Christ is Risen) (Eastham) were very well rendered by the surpliced choir of 14 voices, Miss Marjorie Spence and L. L. Spence taking the solo parts, the former also presiding at the organ.

After the morning service those coming from a distance were entertained to dinner at the parish room, which was provided through the kindness of Mesdames J. Downing, S. Windsor, Spence and Misses Myrtle Windsor and Annie Coones.

At Methodist Church.

A large congregation attended the Easter service at the Methodist church in the evening, when the pastor, Mr. E. McTavish, preached an appropriate and effective sermon on the text "Why seek ye the living among the dead." Two anthems, "Praise the Lord," and "Sing the Alleluias." were well sung by the choir under the direction of the organist, Miss Ella Brown, who has been officiating in that capacity since the beginning of the year.

Services Acknowledged.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence would like to acknowledge most gratefully the kind services of Miss M. ay and the W.W.O. of Lakefield, in sending clothing for the children of some of the more needy families in his parish this winter.

An Easter Gift.

An appropriate Easter gift was made by Mr. Thomas Tanner to the Rev. C. Spence of a handsome desk edition of the Church Hymn Book.

The last week of March was unprecedented for steady cold and gales, according to the oldest inhabitant. On Sunday, the 25th, the lowest temperature was 1 below, on Monday 16 below, Tuesday 10 below, Wednesday 22 below; Thursday 28 below, Friday 11 above, Saturday 6 below, Easter Sunday 19 below, Monday just zero. That was the last convulsive dying gasp of a long and severe winter it is hoped. Monday midnight it began to rain, and so far has rained steadily for 15 hours.

News Paragraphs.

A jolly dance was held at Mrs. Norman Wilson's on Monday night, and was attended by a large number of the young people of the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Downing have moved to their new home this week, the house formerly owned by Mr. Dave Coones.

It is expected that two or three new houses will be erected in the village as soon as the snow goes.

It is felt that some concerted effort should be made to bring the attractions of Apsley and environs to the notice of tourists and hunters. Particulars as to accommodation facilities will be gladly given to those interested by Reeve Duncan Brown.

ASKS THAT COURT FIX PRICE RENT OF BLOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—What is the market value of human blood?

At what figure can a man or woman quote percious fluid ounces and be sure of collecting?

Can a woman, because of her responsibility in race production, demand more than a man?

Such are questions the law is called upon to answer for the first time in human history.

In a legal action, without parallel, Miss Leona Pearl Standiford has demanded $2500 for a pint of blood sacrificed in an effort to save the life of Mrs. G. P. Hilliard. The tranfusion failed. Miss Standiford said she had been offered $15, which she spurned.

The late Enrico Caruso paid $1500 for a pint of blood that did not save his life. A New York stevedore has posted a standing offer to sell a pint at that figure.

And at that sum Miss Standiford is ready to settle, but she seeks $1000 additional for hospital and doctors' bills and sickness that followed the tranfusion.

It is in these questions that greatest general interest centers:

Can a mixed jury of men and women agree on what a woman's blood is worth?

Would women jurors place a higher value on woman's blood than upon man's?

Can a pint of blood have a standardized price, or will quality affect the market?

Is a pint of blood that saves a life more valuable than one that doesn't.

The trial will open early in May.

DOPE

A druggist sends this interesting letter: "I challenge the statement that there are more drug fiends, in proportion to population, than there used to be. Years ago, when I started as a pharmacist in a small town, I had customers who came in daily for their morphine and gum opium. Any one could buy a teaspoonful of drugs for a few cents then, no questions asked, no registration required. Now that the drug traffic is prohibited, the drug addict naturally gets attention, same as the man who manages to get a quart of prohibition."

This druggist is half right, half wrong. But it's safe bet, there aren't as many drug fiends in America as some claim. Conditions and people are never as bad as they are painted.

SAY EDUCATION FOR THE MASSES

Should Be Stressed in Canada Which Enjoys Favorable Opportunity in This Respect.

TORONTO, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Education in its primary function should be an exact and free mastery of mother tongue, and in presenting that doctrine before the national conference on education and civilization at Massey Hall last night, Sir Michael Sadler emphasized the fact that education should be for the masses in spite of all criticism which has been levied at that viewpoint. At the same time he felt that Canada can go along way in furthering this doctrine, as opportunity in a new and growing country is particularly favorable for bringing about general education, and the country is at heart more democratic than are the older and more firmly established nations. Sir Michael is not without his touch of humor, and remarks made by Hon. E. C. Drury and Canon H. J. Cody gave him the opening he sought. The Premier had been emphatic in his convictions that the examination system should be abolished in schools and Dr. Cody had thrown out a suggestion that it would be a fine idea of the educational conference, while discussing such weighty problems would bring long few of the "taught" and see what they had to say about it. Since these would be primary pupils, Sir Michael locked upon Dr. Cody's remarks as favoring an extension of franchise to children; and he suspected in that "a deep political plot of extraordinary sagacity", for it seemed to him that Dr. Cody was going to bring in childhood franchise, and then have Hon. Mr. Drury go to country "with the cry of "no examinations" and sweep the country.

One nice thing about movie and baseball scandals is we soon have new ones to talk about.

Some spring poetry is so sad it looks as if it was written on the back of an income tax blank.

It would be fine if everybody grew taller so they could look over everybody's heads in the movies.

KERENSKY AN EDITOR.

BERLIN (United Press)—Alexander Kerensky, prime minister under the constitutional regime in Russia, after the overthrow of the Czar, is editing a newspaper printed in Russian here. The paper called the Dni. London newspapers recently printed a story that Kerensky was working as a waiter in London but it has since developed that he has been doing newspaper work in Prague, preceding his assumption of the editorship of the Dni here.

SAY FIREMEN SQUELCH FLAMES AND BANDITS

By BOB DORMAN.

ESSEN, Germany, April 7.—Fires or bandits! Firemen here fight them both with equal effectiveness.

They have to, for the governmental police have been ousted from the occupied territory, and the firemen have to carry on for them. When an alarm rings they don't know whether it's a call for a fire or a riot. So they rush out, armed with clubs and axes, prepared for either emergency.

In Germany all police are under the supervision of the central government. When the French occupied this territory they disbanded the Essen force. Citizens tried to start a local unit, but Berlin forbade it.

So Essen cowers at night behind closed doors, while marauders, in bands 20 to 50 strong, roam and loot in the dark streets.

Firemen are summoned by either messenger or fire alarm, for no telephones are operating. They come on the run, and have been doing heroic work in keeping the looting down to a minimum. But their powers are limited. They are not allowed to patrol the streets.

But they are the last vestige of an organized German force that can keep order in the Ruhr. All the green police are gone.

It was 3 a. m. Four companies of infantry, accompanied by armored autos and machine gun detachments, marched quietly through the dark deserted streets. As they neared the police headquarters, the armed trucks and machine guns covered the advance. It was carried out with military precision.

A sharp knock on the door, a low exclamation of surprise and the half-awakened German "schupo" were quickly herded together. A search for arms, a command to get ready, and the group was soon on its way to the auto trucks, which carried them through the territory of the Ruhr to Dorsten, where they were ordered out and told to march ahead into Germany.

The last of the police were gone.

RESTORED TO HEALTH After Intense SUFFERING

ANOTHER LADY RELATES HER REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE

ONLY THOSE who have endured the misery which results from diseased kidneys can realize the depths of gratitude which induced Mrs. Oscar Smith (address given on request) to send the following letter to the proprietors of Gin Pills:—

"I have suffered with severe pains in my back in the region of my kidneys—fluctuating appetite, good to-day, bad to-morrow—swelling of the ankles, feet and hands—and other indications of kidney trouble. A friend of mine recommended Gin Pills highly and I purchased two boxes and have received great benefit from them. I intend to continue the use of Gin Pills until all symptoms of my trouble disappear and I certainly recommend other sufferers to use them."

Gin Pills are invaluable for use in all forms of kidney derangement, because they go right to the source of the trouble. If you have headaches, backaches, pain in the bladder, frequent scalding urination with brick dust deposits, mental depression, and physical exhaustion, don't ignore these symptoms of kidney trouble. Neglect leads to rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, and more serious trouble.

TAKE GIN PILLS and take them at once! Write to us and we will send you a free trial sample. No obligation! Don't delay!

BIRD'S ROOFS

Durable, Handsome, Economical

THE three important things any man seeks when buying a roof for his new home are durability, beauty and economy. All these qualities are combined in Bird's Canadian Twin Shingles as in no other roof.

BIRD'S "CANADIAN" TWIN SHINGLES are everlastingly waterproof and firesafe, and will give years of service.

They have all the distinctive appearance of slate, and their soft non-fading green or red harmonize with any surroundings.

They save one-third the labor over ordinary shingles and require less nails. They are two shingles in one (20 inch x 10 inch), self-spacing, and prove the most economical in all ways.

Made by Bird & Son, Limited, Hamilton, who manufacture roofings to meet any pocket book.

Come in and see "Canadian Twin Shingles" before you decide which roof you'll buy. 585

Strawberries Nearly All Year

By W. R. BEATTIE.

First fruit of the springtime, beautiful luscious red strawberries come upon our tables when the store of fresh and canned fruits is about exhausted and just when we most appreciate fresh fruit.

Strawberries should find a place in practically every home garden where a space 12 by 12 feet in size can be provided.

Strawberries can be grown on any good, well-drained land, but require plenty of fertility in the soil. The time of setting the plants will depend upon locality and varies from early spring in the extreme north to early fall in parts of the south. Several styles of planting and cultivating are used, but the matted row system is most common.

By this system the rows are spaced about three feet apart for the small garden and the plants set 18 inches apart in the rows, the planting being done rather early so there will be a free growth of new plants to form a matted row about a foot in width. In case the plants become too thick they are thinned to stand four to six inches apart.

Water Required.

During the summer the strawberry plants should be given frequent but rather shallow cultivation and the runners trained so that the newly formed plants will be evenly distributed. In case of excessive drought, or in regions where irrigation must be depended upon, water should be applied as required to keep the plants alive and growing. In the late fall or early winter a mulch of straw or pine needles should be worked in among the strawberry plants and in regions where the winters are severe this covering should be heavy enough to protect the plants especially against alternate freezing and thawing. In the spring the plants can be worked up through the covering and the mulch left to keep the berries clean.

There are a great many varieties of strawberries, some of which are particularly adapted to growing in the home garden. By planting early, medium and late varieties, the season for ripe fruit can be greatly lengthened. During comparatively recent years there has been developed a class of fall bearing, or rather spring and fall bearing, varieties. Superb and Progressive are among the leading varieties for fall bearing.

Spring and Fall.

The proper method is to set the plants in the spring and keep all blossoms pinched off during the spring blooming period. The plants will then produce a fall crop and another crop the following spring after which they should be discarded.

Klondike is the most universally grown of the single crop varieties in the south. Premier, Early Jersey, Ozark, Dunlap, Marshall, Chesapeake and Gandy are among the leading single crop sorts for the north central and northern states.

Strawberry blossoms are of two kinds, the one having what are termed "perfect" blossoms which have both the male and female parts of the flower, and the other called "imperfect" and having the female part of the flower only. Where the entire planting is of the imperfect sorts little or no fruit would result. The varieties named above are all of the "perfect" type and can be planted alone.

A Sure Relief for Women's Disorders—10 Days Treatment Free

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened; and the circulation is rendered to normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.50 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A Free Trial Treatment, enough for ten days, worth 75c, will be sent Free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.

LEAGUE WOMEN VOTERS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 7.—(United Press)—Big problems for the women voters of the United States will come before the annual convention of the League of Women Voters, which will convene here Monday for a week's liberation. The league will probably decide:

Whether the organization shall in future endorse candidates for political office;

What part the league shall play in the international league agitation;

Whether the league shall give official support to the league of nations;

Whether the league align itself with the National Woman's Party and, if it is, to draw closer where the line will be drawn.

There is likely to be a sharp division, it is indicated, between the Republicans and Democrats in the nominating committee for league officers. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president, will hold over for another year. But seven original directors will be selected, as well as two vice-presidents and a treasurer.

NEGRO FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Fred. Deal, colored, found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the shooting to death of Police Constable R. G. MacBeath, V.C., in this city several months ago, was yesterday sentenced to life imprisonment by Mr. Justice D A. MacDonald.

Deal was found guilty of manslaughter at a second trial. At the first trial he was declared guilty of murder and sentenced to death, but an appeal having been taken by his counsel on the ground that the presiding judge had not properly directed the jury ,the Court of Appeals granted a new trial.

REVISED THE SENTENCE AND SHOT THE JUDGE

MOSCOW (By mail to United Press)—The Russian Republic officials are very severe with official bride takers. They have to be.

A judge who had been convicted of taking a bribe, and sentenced to six years, appealed to the high court of appeals to have the sentence revised, on the ground that it was too severe.

The court revised it but in a manner utterly unexpected.

"Do you admit having committed the things you have been sentenced for by your county court"? the judge was asked by the prosecutor.

"Yes, I have" he replied.

"The court has revised the sentence. You will be shot," was the answer.

So it was done.

TALES OF MAGIC ONLY ROMANCE

Sir Rider Haggard Condemns Superstitions Surrounding the Death of Carnarvon.

HASTINGS, England, April 7 (Canadian Press). — "All this business about Carnarvon being brought to his end by magic is nonsense and dangerous nonsense, because it goes to stir that rising tide of superstition which seems to be overflowing all over the world," sad Sir Rider Haggard, the eminent traveller and writer, in an address to the Hastings Rotarians yesterday.

"Wherever one looks," continued Sir Rider, "old superstitions are rising. It is strange and cruel, and it would make Nero and Domitian blush if they read what is happening in Russia and Ireland to-day. Have there ever been more massacres of Christians than within the last year or two? Every evil force which the world contained seems since the war to be thrusting up its head.

"But no sensible men believe that the Almighty would permit the spirit of a dead Pharaoh, who was only a man with a crown on his head, to murder people by magical means It is incredible, and as Christian men, we cannot for a moment believe that such things could happen. If they could, then let us abandon hope.

"These things are all very well in the realm of romance. In relating facts, stick to facts; in relating romance, stick to nothing."

RADIO PLUGS IN EACH ROOM OF "BIG HOTEL"

MINNEAPOLIS, April 7.—In keeping with the rapid progress of the radio movement, it will soon be possibe to "listen in" from rooms of a large hotel here, which has contracted for the connecting of each of several hundred rooms with radio plugs. The guest will not have to invest in a receiving set, as headphones may be rented for a small fee from the clerks' office.

According to the plan of engineers who have worked on the scheme for several weeks, a massive aerial and three power receiving stations will be equipped in one of the top floors of the hotel. Each room will have a radio plug connected to one of the three receiving sets. Feasibility of the plan was proved recently when more than 100 rooms listened in on one concert.

The guest who wishes radio entertainment may call the office and a set of phones will be sent to him. Once connected in the plug, the set cannot be removed until released by a hotel employee, thus insuring against theft by any unscrupulous guest. A small fee is added to the hotel bill for the use of the receiving phones.

GASSED OVERSEAS SHELL SHOCKED AND RHEUMATISM

Mr. F. M. Blaquiere, Morinville, Alta., writes: "After three years service overseas I returned to Canada almost a complete wreck. I had been gassed and was suffering from shell shock and rheumatism, and was so nervous I could not sleep at night. I tried many medicines and doctors, but none of them did me any good for any length of time. I got so bad in the fall of 1919, my hands were so shaky I could scarcely hold anything, and it seemed as if I had a steel band pressing on my head. The least excitement would almost drive me into fits, and my whole system seemed to be in disorder. I had cramps in my legs nearly every night, and hot and cold chills running up and down my back nearly all the time. One day I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after I had taken six boxes I began to feel better. I kept on using them and after a while I was completely relieved."

New Method of Reducing Fat

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in the country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh steadily and easily without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, the help of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's meals, is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) can be obtained of any druggist the world over or from the Marmola Company, 4613 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich., for one dollar a case, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each case contains. They are harmless.

PATIENCE NEEDED TO FIND LODGINGS IN FRENCH CAPITAL

PARIS, April 7. — An American woman would have a wonderful time organizing her home in Paris, and enjoy every moment spent in arranging her apartment, provided she were endowed with a sense of humor and never lost her patience.

The first thing is to find your apartment. Some Americans have spent years trying to solve this problem, but without success. There are virtually no unfurnished apartments The war stopped new building, and today real estate agencies follow a policy of leasing all the unfurnished apartments they can find, of furnishing them, and then renting them as furnished abodes. Another policy which dashes the hopes of seekers of unfurnished flats is that of giving leases on apartments provided the lessor will purchase all the furniture they contain, and at very high prices. When the agile agencies, whose organization is superb, uncover a vacant flat they hasten to stick in a bed, a bureau, a carpet and a few chairs and then gravely announce that flat seekers can have their prize if they pay cash for the "exquisite furnishings."

But in spite of the foregoing an American woman came back to Paris a few weeks ago, after an absence of several years, and found an unfurnished apartment at the end of three days. Which demonstrates that if you know how to go about things in Paris, and see the right people, things can be accomplished in France as in other lands. It is knowing the psychology of the people you have to deal with, and realizing that courtesy and patience ever bring their reward.

Then began the struggle to furnish the apartment, and here again quick results were obtained by going about it the right way. The lease itself is an amazing document, full of technical details and conditions. In addition to the rent there are the extras like hot water, heating, collection of garbage, fees for the porter, etc. Furthermore, there is the tax paid the Government on each window, and the lease must be officially registered at an extra charge. No proprietor in Paris today will do anything in the way of repairs, so the new occupant had to find painters, decorators, men to clean and wash the floors, and women to wash the windows. She supplied her own electric fixtures; she had the electric battery in the kitchen removed from the wall in conformity with new regulations; she had all exposed wires covered with moulding to prevent fire, and she tipped every man and woman who did anything at all.

Then there came the carpet layers and the curtain hangers, the plumbers and the carpenters, each contributing something to organization and happiness.

But with all that, it is fine fun setting up home life in Paris. All you have to do is to find your flat, and store up an inexhaustible supply of patience.

SEX SPECIALIST EXPLAINS PLIGHT 20,000,000 WOMEN

These Millions Are Doomed to Die Old Maids Because There Are Not Enough Men.

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, April 7.—The problems created by Europe's 20,000,000 "superfluous" women and girls will solve themselves, in the opinion advanced today by W. L. George, world-famed "sex specialist."

These 20,000,000 are doomed to die old maids—their normal desire for husbands, homes and children unsatisfied—because there are not enough men to supply them with mates.

George has paid particular attention to the complex problems arising from this situation. Economist, sociologist, essayist and novelist, he has been interested in every aspect of the situation, from the biological to the romantic.

"The present preponderance of women over men in Europe is due more to the losses of men in the war than all other causes put together," says George. "Therefore, it is a temporary situation.

"The present generation will last 30 to 40 years. Then it will pass off the scene. But the present generation will be the parents of the next generation; and that next generation, as usual, will be about evenly divided between the sexes.

Losses in Industry.

"For the time being I think woman is worse off than she was before the war, economically. She seems to have lost much of the ground that she gained during the war.

"Whole industries were created during the war in which woman sold her services. Many of these have passed out of existence. This, together with the rightful insistence that ex-service men be given jobs, has helped beat down women's wages and thus made things harder for them.

"Socially there has been a big advance for women. Before the war men met women only socially. During the war men met them in a business way.

"Men learned that women were capable; that they could do the job assigned to them; that in certain lines they could hold their own with us.

"One of the immediate results in England was that the professions were thrown open to women.

Learn Team Work.

"During the war women learned to do teamwork. The friendships and comradeships formed among women during that period have in many cases been kept up; and that is a splendid thing for them and for the world.

"Morally I think woman is no worse off as a result of the war and the consequent preponderance of women over men. That there has been some hysteria, that there has been some looseness in thinking, talking and acting no one will gainsay. But I do deny that it has been on any such scale as some people charge. There are now and always have been in the world three classes of women:

"Those who can't be plucked.

"Those who may be plucked.

"Those who are easily plucked.

"I don't think the aftermath of the war has appreciably changed the numbers in the three classes of women. If you watch the courts you get a pretty definite line on things.

Lesson of Divorces.

"There are three periods when married persons take their troubles to the divorce judge:

"In the first year, those who ought never to have been married at all. They were totally incompatible, could never get along, and the break-up comes soon.

"In the fifth or sixth year, the restless men and women who find the marriage tie irksome.

"In the seventeenth to twentieth year, those who have not found happiness in marriage but who have endured the yoke for years because they wanted to wait until the children had grown up.

"Now during the war and just after it there were a great many marriages which should never have been made. The backwash from this was seen in the divorce courts. But that is now rapidly diminishing.

"I don't believe the preponderance of women over men in Europe will greatly increase either the number of women who will lead immoral lives or form illegitimate unions or who will go into nunneries.

"The average woman doesn't think about this excess of women over men. And even if she did, she would not take the subject to herself. She would always figure that she was one of those who were going to be married and not one of those who were going to be an old maid."

BRITISH SHIPS IN DANGER OF WRECK

Freighter Ran Aground in Heavy Fog Near Chatham, Mass.—Carried No Liquor.

CHATHAM, Mass., April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Thirty miles off her course as a result of a heavy fog, the British freighter Competitor ran aground near Nauset yesterday and last night lay almost broadside to the beach, her crew still aboard, awaiting assistance from a wrecking tug. It was at first reported that the steamer carried a cargo of liquor, and the crew of the Nauset Coast Guard Station searched her closely. But she was found to be without a cargo, bound light from Searsport, Maine, for Gulfport, Mississippi, her skipper said, and the only liquor aboard was in the ship's medicine chest.

The freighter was sinking deeply into the sand of the beach last night and fear was expressed that possible heavy seas would cause her to pound. Rising north-east winds added to the perils of her position.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Relieved Her of Headaches

Headache seems to be habitual with many people, and some, if any, are seldom free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to the removal of the cause, and with the cause removed the headaches will vanish.

It is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of every description than can equal B. B. B., acting as it does on every organ of the system.

Mrs. Douglas Riseborough, 280 McKenzie St., Sarnia, Ont., writes: "Having suffered from severe headaches for a considerable length of time I decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and found that it helped me wonderfully. It relieved the headaches, and I noticed a decided improvement in my health."

Burdock Blood Bitters is a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-four years, so you don't experiment with some new and untried medicine. It is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FLATS ARE SINFUL, SAYS THIS LONDON RECTOR

LONDON, April 7.—(United Press)—Golf is vindicated!

Laziness is not responsible!

Dull sermons have nothing to do with it!

It's flats that are cutting into church attendance.

The Reverend Arthur Buxton, rector of All Souls Church, London has it all doped out. As the flats go up, the churches come down.

"Flats should not be regarded as an opportunity for frivolity, but young people who have decided on kicking over the traces almost invariably choose flats, "the rector pointed out.

"Few flat dwellers are married, and still fewer have children," he continued.

"Without doubt" according to the Reverend Buxton, "flats contain far greater temptations than a private house."

The Trousseau

WHAT a commotion there is in the home when daughter is having her trousseau made, and what excitement as the great day approaches!

How anxious mother is that every little detail shall be looked after, and how solicitous of her daughter's welfare during these last days in the old home!

But this is a trying time on the nervous system. Is the daughter's health in suitable condition in order that she may assume the cares and responsibilities of married life?

She has a responsibility to her partner in life, as well as her own future welfare and happiness to consider.

Most mothers are familiar with the splendid restorative and upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and see that their daughters have the benefit of this treatment when they get tired, nervous and rundown in health.

The nerve food is so natural and gentle in action and so thoroughly dependable as a reconstructive agent that it has come to be looked upon as a necessity in most homes.

Particularly at this season of the year we all seem to need the help of a tonic treatment to enrich the blood and build up the nervous system.

School Girls, Too

After months of nervous strain at study and examinations school girls need just such assistance as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can give them, in order to maintain health and strength.

Declares That Labor Snagged on the Farm.

LONDON, April 7 (United Press).—"Labor is snagged in its march toward political supremacy."

This was the statement of Arthur Henderson, M.P., organizer of Labor's electoral victories, in an exclusive statement to the United Press. Henderson continued:

"The chief difficulty lies in the agricultural constituencies. Industrial Britain is now predominantly Labor, but the progress in rural England is slow.

"Until England's under-paid, underfed and poorly housed agricultural wage-earners spring into the Labor balance, Labor is checked in its endeavor to capture sufficient votes to insure the formation of a Labor government.

"In the purely or mainly rural constituencies of the southern half of England, the Tories are pretty well consolidated. Labor must overcome this Tory resistance in order to wipe out the existing adverse balance against the Labor party."

Farmer-Labor Combint

"A Farmer-Labor combine has been attempted," Henderson said, "but on quite different lines from those followed in such combinations in America. Here the plan has been to establish an agricultural bloc, or agrarian party, directed, controlled and financed by farming employees."

Henderson believes such a movement here has but slight chance of success.

Farm labor must come into Labor's ranks without the hyphen, was the intimation, he said. Farm owners declare they cannot increase the present low wages without state subsidy in one form or another. Henderson and his colleagues are opposed to protection, but favor a system of credit facilities.

"Impoverished conditions in rural England have seriously affected agricultural Labor organizations," Henderson said. "Until farm labor realizes that improvements can best be achieved by the combined efforts of industrial and political organizations and support Labor candidates as whole-heartedly as do the town workers, the rural constituencies will remain a bar to Labor's progress to political power and control."

EASTER LILY SEEDS NOW GROWN IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Easter lilies can now be grown from seed in this country. Once it was necessary to depend upon imported bulbs from Bermuda. Then Japan got into the market and ten million bulbs have been imported from the Orient.

But now, say the scientists of the American Nature Association, better as well as earlier maturing lilis can be produced right at home. This is the result of six years of study at the Arlington Experimental Farm in Virginia at the foot of the hill crowned by the Memorial Amphitheater, where lies the body of the Unknown Soldier.

The individual grower can raise his own seed by purchasing imported bulbs either in the early winter or at Easter when most of the plants are in blossom, and grow seed for planting the following January. The Americanized lies blossom in from 15 to 18 months. This decreases the exposure of the bulbs to disease and markedly speeds up their commercial production.

Easter lily bulbs are curious in their response to American climate. They will winterkill in the Gulf States, where the mild climate induces top growth which succumbs whenever the temperature drops. Under normal conditions of winter temperature farther north, the bulbs remain at rest throughout the entire winter. By making pollinations at Easter time, one can secure ripe seed the following June. This seed can be planted the succeeding August and the plants will be ready for two-inch pots in January and four-inch pots the next April. The following June, a few of the flowers will show scattered blooms. Subsequently during the winter months about one-quarter of the flowers may be forced to bloom for the next Easter.

GERMANY ERRED IN TRYING TO OVERTAX

By GUS M. OEHM

BERLIN (By mail to United Press).—The American colony in Berlin has gone on strike against the high price wave dominating Berlin business—especially the big downtown hotels.

The Adlon hotel, long the center of American activities in Berlin, is being rapidly emptied of American guests who have lived there for years. The price of rooms coupled with the 80 per cent lodging tax levied against all foreigners has started the colony to looking for new quarters.

The rates at such hotels are such that even the special price given permanent guests are higher than the prices paid in leading American hotels.

Many of Berlin's hotels are at the moment partly empty—for the first time since the war. The Adlon is considering closing one whole floor. Formerly a transient from abroad couldn't get into the Adlon without bribing the clerk or ordering days ahead by wire.

In addition to the American colony the group of international profiteers, consisting largely of Russians, ecetera, is also beginning its exodus from Germany. Reports are that they are going on to Paris where they look for the next money slump and consequent cheap living.

Want to Remove Tax

As a result of the slump in traffic there is a decided agitation for reduction or removal of the 80 per cent tax. The Lokal Anzeiger which has been one of the bitterest against foreigners, now sheds bitter tears because foreigners are quitting Germany. The newspaper admitted that there is now no danger of an "ausverkauf"—selling out—of Germany to undesirable foreigners, but on the other hand there is a great likelihood of all foreigners giving the country a wide berth.

In addition to the wave of high prices which has set in here to discourage traffic, the government has put on such restrictions on passports, visa, etc., that it is nearly impossible for anybody to come into Germany. Big hotel men and retail stores—which have never had anything against foreigners—are beginning to clamor for relaxation of pass regulations and are praying that the big tourist wave of last summer will set in again, despite the uncertainty of travel caused by the Ruhr disturbances and despite other discomforts involved in pleasure-seeking in Germany at this time.

by some of the smaller alumnae by personal sacrifice and endeavor to contribute their full quota to the undertaking, while many of the larger branches failed to respond in a proper manner. The meeting approved a motion that it go on record as resolved to do all possible in the ensuing year to reach its objective in the War Memorial Fund.

A resolution was also carried to gives the association authority to communicate with the National Association in reference to the duplication of membership, on account of some of the associations being directly affiliated with the National.

Discussion on the report of the committee on curriculum for standardization of training schools with explanations by the convenor, Miss E. M. Dickson of Weston, was resumed and completed at this morning's session. Considerable discussion centred during yesterday's preliminary consideration of this around the first clause in the proposed revision of the printed rules, "which require at least one year High School training. The phrase "or its of admission." Miss E. M. Leeson, superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital, thought that this was satisfactory. The proposed revision to make the standard two years of High School, met with her disapproval, as setting a difficult basis for the ordinary training school to work on. On the other hand, with the enforcement of the Adolescent Act, speakers were of the opinion that the average applicant would have at least two years of High School training. The pharse "or its equivalent," was interpreted by the committee in three ways: (a) additional educational qualifications; (b) evidence of further mental training, such as business course, stenography, art ,music etc. and (c) exceptional personal fitness combined with desirable home training.

A great deal of this morning's discussion centred about the section (c) in the explanatory addition to the section which resulted in (c) section being finally deleted. The amendment to the regulations was adopted as follows: (1) That at least two years High School or a satisfactory substitute therefor be required for standard of admission.

The second clause in the regulations was also deleted. The printed form reading as follows: that a probationary term of not less than three months be maintained and that probationers be admitted if possible in classes at regular intervals.

The third clause carried as it stands at present: That a preliminary course of study of not less than three months' duration be given to each class, such course to include practical demonstrations of general nursing methods. The next three clauses also carried: That at least two weeks of the preliminary course be given before allowing pupils to assume any nursing responsibility; that pupil nurses should not be called upon to give more than 63 hours per week to their work, including class hours, and exclusive of time off duty. All time lost by illness of pupils should be made up at the end of the course; That all hospitals which cannot give one of the courses hereinafter outlined in its entirety, should seek affiliation with other hospitals in the subjects not covered by the class of patients under treatment.

A further new clause was recommended here and carried by the meeting: That all hospitals which are in a position to grant affiliated service to other hospitals seeking such should be required to do so upon satisfactory arrangements being made through the inspector of training schools.

Vacation Period

The clause following was allowed to remain unchanged; That a vacation of at least two weeks per year be allowed all pupils. The amended clause coming next reads as follows: That all hospital training schools of any character shall employ as superintendent of nurses a graduate nurse registered in Ontario. The next clause was covered in a previous section, and was deleted. This clause reads; That no hopital should attempt to maintain a training school for nurses if it cannot meet the requirements of the minimum course, or arrange affiliation with other hospitals that will provide full equivalents. Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto enquired if no attempt was to be made to prevent those hospitals which do not come up to requirements from having training schools. Miss Dickson replied that it would be impossible for years to come to find a provincial government which would pass such rigid regulations. They were only proposing now to set a standard for those hospitals which wished to avail themselves of registration.

The next amended clause runs; That Training Schools should not be maintained in any hospitals without at least two paid resident instructors being provided for the teaching of nurses, one of whom may be principal of the training school, and the other day assistant. That all hospitals, irrespective of size, have a graduate nurse as night supervisor. The final clause the superintendent of nurses must be a registered nurse or be eligible for registration was deleted as being covered in a previous section.

Consideration of the minimum course in training schools was next discussed. Although many schools maintain a three year course, the minimum set by the G.N.A., up to the present time was only two years, which gave full requirements for ordinary bedside nursing only, and include a three months' probationary term. This morning's session of the convention carried a motion to make a change from the old system to a new term which shall recognize as a minimum standard of nurses' training a course covering two and one-half years.

The schedule of hours in the minimum course presented by the committee was based on the old term of two years, and the change to longer period of training brought out suggestions for additions to the time spent in theory of medicine, surgery, gynaecology, infectious diseases, nervous and mental diseases and practice in operating room work. It was suggested that further experience in mental nursing would be beneficial, and the suggestion was made that interchange of pupil nurses in mental and general hospital would be advisable, a motion carrying that the curriculum include with the work of the general hospital practical training in nervous and mental diseases, wherever possible. This same suggestion, wherever possible, applied to a suggestion followed out concerning the interchange of general hospital nurses with those from tubercular institutions.

A ruling made on the number of signatures necessary for the completion of a nurse's diploma resulted as follows:

The certificate must be signed by the superintendent of nurses, one of the medical examiners, and the president and secretary of the trustee board of the hospital. During the discussion which followed, it developed that in a certain Ontario hospital lectures to nurses had been discontinued by the medical staff for the last six months, the pupil nurses depending on a fifth year student for instruction during lecture hours. One of the doctors when asked to sign a diploma, declared that the signatures of five medical men were necessary. It was also remarked that in some institutions, the superintendent of the nurses had no authority over selection of candidates. This selection was done by the physician. One of the nurses present thought that more support in the practical application of ethics should be received from the physicians, many of whom were not rigid enough in their demand for ethical standards from certain of the nursing staff.

Discussion on the minimum number of occupied beds in a hospital which should be set as a daily average resulted in the motion being carried which set this once again as 25, with the understanding that those under that number might qualify by affiliation. In New York state the daily average of occupied beds regarded as a minimum was reduced from 25 to 15.

A special committee, with power to add to its numbers, whose duties shall consist of making a study of and planning a detailed curriculum for students in training schools, was appointed, consisting of the president, Miss E .M. Cook of Toronto, the secretary, Miss B. L. Ellis of Toronto, the inspector of training schools, Miss E. M. Dickson of Weston, the convenor of the registration committee, Miss E. Mathieson, of Toronto, and a member appointed from the floor, Miss Jean Gunn, of Toronto.

A vote of thanks was accorded the committee in charge of this work, and Miss Dickson, the convenor, thanked her assistants in its prosecution.

Reports of the Round Table Conferences, presented at last night's session, were from Miss Meisner, of Toronto, convenor of the Public Health section, which confined its activities mainly to discussion of rural conditions in public health work; from Miss McArthur, of Owen Sound, convenor of Hospital and training School Administration, and from Miss Helen Carruthers, of Toronto, convenor of Private Nursing section. Miss McArthur reported three resolutions, which were ratified by the general session (1) That the Association go on record as disapproving of twenty-four duty for special nurses, and that all hospitals be notified to this effect; (2) That the G.N.A.O. communicate with the inspector of training schools in the provisional department and request the establishment of standardized records in training schools; (3) That superintendents of training schools throughout the province as communicated with in an effort to encourage the use of high school facilities for teaching purposes. Miss Carruthers' resolution read:

That the private duty committee strongly recommends that all hospital superintendents be asked to discontinue the practice of placing student nurses on special cases and collecting fees for their services, while graduate nurses are available, this practise not being in the interest of the student nurses, the patient or the profession.

The report of the resolutions committee, presented by the convenor, Miss Helen Carruthers of Toronto, express the appreciation of the convention for the kindness of the following: The authorities in charge of St. John's church, the Motor League of Peterborough, M. Pappas for kind offer of free tickets to his theatre, the Local Council of Women, the Peterborough Chapter of Nurses, the Peterborough Medical Clinic, the superintendents of St. Joseph's, Nicholls and the Isolation Hospitals, the Medical Society of Peterborough, the artists taking part in the musical programme at the banquet, Mrs. M. H. Park, Mrs. H. D. McClelland, Mr. John Ball and Follis Orchestra, the reporter and The Evening Examiner, the Empress Hotel and the White House, the committee on arrangements and the retiring officers. A special vote of thanks was also accorded the secretary, Miss B. L. Ellis of Toronto, for her work during the convention.

The next meeting of the Association will be held at Windsor.

The convention, which opened on a humorous note, and the sessions of which were marked by a degree of good humor and fun, closed with a general laugh. The new president, just taking the chair, was called on to lead in singing the National Anthem, and raised her voice instead in a very audible and sincere sentence, "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow."

AMERICAN ART LOVERS DRAIN EUROPE'S MARTS

NEW YORK, April 7.—Americans purchased more art works in Europe last year than in any year since the beginning of the war, estimates for the yer fixing the value of such importations at $33,000,000. Whether this increase is due to a growing interest in the United States for material of this character, or to greater wilingness on the part of Europeans to permit their treasures to pass to other parts of the word is a moot question.

Importations of art works in the four years since the war have averaged $26,000,000 a year, compared with approximately $17,000,000 annually during the period of the war. The total value of such imports since 1910, the year following that in which import duty was removed from works of art 20 years or more older, is about $350,000,000, an average of about $29,000,000 a year.

It is estimated that at least $150,000,000 of the $175,000,000 worth of art works imported since the war came from Europe. England, France and Germany for many years were the largest contributors to these imports, but in recent years Italy has replaced Germany in the list. A large proportion of the art works are described as "more than 100 years old."

In 1921, the latest complete year for which figures are available, importation of art works "more than 100 years old," aggregated $13,000,000 out of the total of $22,000,000. Original paintings, drawings and pen sketches formed $5,000,000 and the remaining $4,000,000 worth included statuary, stained and painted window glass, and a limited number of works produced by American artists residing temporarily abroad.

COUNTY WILL BUILD BRIDGE AT LAKEFIELD

A Special Committee Appointed and Funds Provided—Engineer Instructed to Prepare Plans at Once—The Old Bridge Was Condemned

PROMPT ACTION.

Acting on the report of their engineer, A. W. Connor, of Toronto, in which he condemned as unsound the steel bridge at Lakefield, the County Council in special session on Friday afternoon decided to build a new one of reinforced concrete at an estimated cost of $16,000.

They ordered the engineer to proceed at once with the preparation of plans and specifications in order that the work might be started as early as possible, and be completed this year.

A by-law was passed authorising the borrowing of $20,000 to cover the estimated expenditure, and a special committee, to confer with the engineer when necessary, was appointed as follows: Wraden Clark, Reeve Coughlin, chairman of the Committee on Roads and Bridges, and Reeves Strickland of Lakefield, Robert Scott, of Chandos, Duncan Brown of Burleigh, Harold Rye of North Monaghan, Darling of Dummer, Parker of Harvey, and Reeve Middleton and Deputy-Reeve W. Brown of Smith.

Faulty Construction.

The fact that Mr. Connor condemned the bridge was accepted by the Council as sufficient warrant for its immediate replacement. He explained in detail that the bridge had a congenital weakness in spite of which it had borne the highway traffic for forty years. The overhead trusses and other main members of the structure appeared to be as strong as ever, but the steel pins passing through the holes bored in the ends of these members and other main parts were too small. They were actually as big as the holes would admit, and to correct the fault the bridge would practically have to be taken down and larger holes bored.

That possible remedy would entail an expense of about $5000, and even then the bridge would be only a second-rate one.

Recommended Concrete.

Mr. Connor advised that a reinforced concrete structure be built in two spans. The rock foundation and sides were ideal for concrete, but it was likely that a new centre pier would be necessary. These were after considerations, the Council concluded, and confined the afternoon's business to providing the funds and a supervising committee, after they had made their decision to rebuild.

Reeve Strickland of Lakefield said there was no doubt of the need of a new bridge. The engineer's report placed the responsibility for the safety of traffic upon the Council, and there was nothing to be gained by delay.

Concrete Permanent.

"I think that concrete is more permanent," he said, "and if it did cost $600 or $1,000 more, the money would be spent largely for labour in the county ,and that would be quite an item. From the engineer's report on that span there would be very little difficulty with a rock foundation and abutments. Personally, I think iron bridges are going out of date, and with the heavier and increased traffic a concrete bridge would be preferable."

Mr. Strickland moved that steps be taken at once to rebuild the bridge, and Reeve Duncan Brown seconded the motion, which carried unanimously.

Deputy-Reeve Anderson of Otonabee said he wouldn't favour steel at all unless it would save a lot of money.

Reeve Scott of Asphodel asked whether the work could not be postponed for a year.

"The bridge has been condemned," Mr. Strickland replied.

"It has been that way for years," said Mr. Scott.

"That's true," Mr. Strickland answered, "but it is unsound, and if anything happened the public has got you. I take the view that the engineer has put the responsibility upon us, and it is our duty to see that the bridge is made safe."

Mr. Coughlin agreed with Mr. Strickland in preferring a concrete bridge, "They may not make cement in Lakefield this year, but you can buy cement cheaper in Lakefield than in Peterborough. We will have a better bridge in the long run, and the work will be done by ratepayers of the county."

It was felt that the rock foundation and also at the sides was ideal for the heavier concrete structure, and without further parley the special committee was appointed and the funding by-law put through.

The Engineer's Statement.

The following is the engineer's statement of the condition of the bridge:

"The steel superstructure of this bridge consists of two steel pin-connected Pratt trusses of 80 feet and 120 feet spans, and with an 18-foot roadway and 5-foot sidewalk. It was built in 1882 and was designed for a live or moving load of about 100 pounds per square foot of the roadway on the heavy or side-wall truss and about 80 pounds on the light truss, or for a concentrated load of 8 tons distributed on two axles.

Unfortunately the pins connecting the members at the various joints and the rivets at the splices of the top chord are in many cases capable of developing only a small proportion of the strength of those members. The strength of the floor beams likewise is only about half what it should be. Like a chain, the strength of a bridge is no greater than that of its weakest link or joint.

"The weakest pin of the roadway truss is the third lower one from the west end of the 120-foot span and gives only 2 per cent. of the strength of the members. If the bars on this pin were assembled in a proper order, the strength could be increased to 84 per cent. This would be difficult and expensive, and as the second lower pin east of the centre pier only develops 28 per cent. of strength and the next one only 33 per cent., and could not be similarly rectified, it is inadvisable to attempt to rearrange these bars.

Would Be Expensive.

"To replace defective pins by larger ones would involve taking down the bridge and reboring the members, and would be expensive and inadvisable, as the structure would then only be a second-rate one anyway, and too light to carry a concrete floor.

"Apparently there is no indication that the strength is materially less than when it was built 40 years ago. During this period the factor of the safety of four has enabled the structure to stand without accident. However, double the small safe load that this bridge would appear to be good for would strain the metal to its elastic limit, and a too frequent application of this load would ultimately cause a failure.

"This bridge is a further illustration of the folly of awarding work to contractors without employng a competent engineer to see that all the details are properly carried out. There was a check on the size of the main members of the bridge, as the Council of that time could compare the sizes shown in the plans of the various competing contractors, but there was no one to see that the joint details were equal to those of the main members."

$300,000 FIRE IN THE CAPITAL

One of Most Disastrous Conflagrations in the History of Ottawa's Business Area.

OTTAWA, April 7. Canadian Press —Heralded by the pit-a-patter of 100,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, and accompanied by dense clouds of black smoke, the most disastrous fire in the history of Ottawa's business area caused damage to the extent of over $300,000 damage between 10 o'clock last night and 4 o'clock this morning.

Two firemen suffered minor cuts from falling glass, and several hairbreadth escapes occurred when the rear portion of the roof of the Sparks Chambers, the seat of the conflagration, fell in just before midnight.

The Butterworth building adjoining was also badly gutted.

Ammunition was stored in the basement of the Hurd Sporting Company, one of the chief sufferers.

Nearly fifty wholesale and retail business establishments were affected.

HUNDREDS OF SPECTRAL FACES SEEN ON SCREEN

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press)—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle brought gasps and cries from his audience at Carnegie Hall last night, when he flashed on the screen a picture he said was taken during a two minutes' silence period at the London cenotaph of an unknown soldier. Over the heads of the crowd at the cenotaph the picture showed hundreds of spectral faces, faces of soldier dead, Sir Arthur said:

TELEGRAM SAYS HE IS HEIR TO 2 MILLIONS

STRATFORD, April 7.—(Canadian Press) — Joseph H. Creighton, helper in the Canadian National Rail way shops here, yesterday received a telegram announcing that he had become heir to two million dollars.

The telegram was signed by H. Roland Mountbank of Indianapolis, and said in part; "Your great uncle Benjamine Randolph died last Tuesday. You are mentioned in the will as heir to twenty thousand dollar Long Island estate and two millions in securiites and investments." Mr. Creighton, however, said in effect that he did not believe the good news.

LONG ARM OF THE LAW.

PARRY SOUND, April 7. Canadian Press. — Another instance of the long arm and equally long memory of the law was demonstrated here when Thomas Bruce, a former boarding house keeper, was convicted of selling liquor on November 10 last. He was arrested at the time and convicted of a charge of being drunk, but owing to the chief witness skipping out he was not tried on the charge of selling which was laid, but recently the missing witness was located in Toronto, and was brought here by the Chief of police. It being his third B.O.T.A. experience he was sentenced to six months imprisonment in the Burwash farm prison.

FARM STRIKE NOW HAS A NEW ASPECT

Strikers Fined For Intimidation and Given Severe Warnings By Judges.

LONDON, April 7.— (Canadian Press)—The Norfolk farm strike has entered a new phase by the strikers being fined for intimidation. One judge has warned that future cases of intimidation will be handled severely while the Secretary of the farmers' organization announces that if intimidation continues, efforts will be made to bring police from other counties to assist the Norfolk officers.

The United States Ambassador, George Harvey, plans to go through the Norfolk district next week questioning farmers and strikers, hoping by personal investigation to obtain data which he says cannot be had from the meagre newspaper reports and brief, unsatisfactory Parliamentary debates.

Inasmuch as agriculture is the basic industry of the United States, the Ambassador said yesterday he would be doing less than his duty if he failed to send to Washington all information obtainable regarding the causes of the strike.

ARE EAGER TO FLY.

BERLIN (By mail to the United Press).—Germany, believing her future is "in the air" seeks to secure her place there—despite all the restrictions placed upon her aerial development by the Versailles Treaty.

The successful flight of President Ebert and other high government officials from Berlin to Leipzig in a "staged" trip has aroused much comment, especially in the Berlin press, on the need for development of Germany's aerial life.

Germany believes that "some day in the future' 'her airmen will show the world a few things about aerial construction and air-line operation. Naturally, with restrictions on size and type of airplanes and gas-bags, Germany is turning to other countries as a seat for her aerial development and construction.

"Would Wake Up Screaming"

"The Least Sudden Noise or Loud Talking Would Startle Him."

"Up to the age of eight, my boy was a strong, healthy lad, full of life and energy. While playing leap frog one day with some boys of his own age, and, while in a stooped position, a big boy jumped on his back and in falling my boy caught his foot in an iron grating and dislocated his hip. The pain was so great that he fainted and the other boys were so frightened they ran away. For hours he suffered terrible pain and when found and brought home was very weak, with his thigh and leg swollen twice its size. The doctor set the bone but the pain and exposure were too much for the poor boy and he became unconscious. A high fever set in and for weeks he lay between life and death raving for hours at a stretch. One day he opened his eyes and murmured 'Mother,' but this is the only word he could utter he was so weak, but I knew the worst was over. He got stronger but for months was in a nervous condition. The least sudden noise or loud talking would startle him and he would begin trembling. He was quite lame and the swelling still remained. The doctor gave him a tonic and told me to rub the leg with olive oil. This reduced the swelling and took away the lameness, but the nervousness remained. The poor child would waken in the night screaming at the top of his voice. The doctor gave him several different tonics but they were no use. I found a circular about Carnol and it seemed so different from other tonics I had heard of, that I thought I would get a bottle. Three bottles were all that was needed to make my boy like his own self again. It is hard to convince my friends that the change in him now is entirely due to Carnol. Of course I still have to watch him and give him Carnol occasionally but I know that he will soon be as strong again as ever he was."

Mrs. P., Montreal.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 2-6(2)

THE BETTER LIVE STOCK TRAIN HOLDS INTEREST

MONTREAL, April 7.—(Special.) —Farmers and stock breeders throughout the country are showing great interest in the Ontario Better Live Stock Train which started through Western Ontario on March 1st ,and is now on its journey east. The train consists of twenty cars, including sleeper and diner for the staff of lecturers and demonstrators provided by live stock branches Ontario Agricultural College and Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers, a demonstration car and a lecture car. The train's Canadian Pacific itinerary commenced on April 4 at Norwood and includes all chief farming centres from that place east to Ottawa and north to Pembroke.

Live stock equipment consists of twenty bulls, representing the three principal beef breeds and four principal dairy breeds. A number of cows and steers, twenty hogs and eight sheep. A share of breeding stock will be on sale to farmers at each point of call and all or any of the stock may be used for demonstration purposes. Demonstrated poultry lecturers are delivered and wool grading is demonstrated by experts. Hog grading is demonstrated and experts have been provided who will lecture and demonstrate a desirable type of hog carcass for the export bacon trade.

tion as came in by wire showed that the area covered did not reach farther west than Toronto nor east farther than in the vicinity of Kingston. It was afterwards learned that to the north, as far as the height of land, (the divide at which waters cease to flow to Lake Ontario and flow to the Ottawa) the fall was very heavy indeed. Timber and logging operations were held up, and the crews neither could get into town nor supplies be sent north.

The eighteenth saw another dash of snow, not so diligent in purpose as before but considerable in quantity. And it was well on to the afternoon of the 19th before the fusillade stopped. All agreed to cry enough and call it a day. The business section of the town looked funny. In cleaning off the sidewalks on George Street from Brock to King Streets the snow was piled so high that the bottoms of the upper windows over the stores only could be seen. At the corner of Simcoe and George Streets the barricade was eleven feet high by actual measurement. Of course, all churches closed down and schools took an enforced holiday. Men who had snowshoes were the lucky ones. In getting to work and other places they strode across lots and cut corners. Afternoon of the 19th the first man from Lakefield turned up, having come in on snowshoes to see his folks, expecting to find them starving.

Time of Trouble

Then came a time of trouble for the town council. All citizens demanded that the streets should be opened instanter. George Street, being a prominent thoroughfare, was tackled first. Three teams of oxen were collected from the farms out beyond Jackson Park, and hitched to a broad snow plough, hastily constructed out of two-inch plank. The entire business section turned out and roosted on the snow barricades to see the outfit perform. It was a dismal failure. As the plough surged along amidst hurrahs, jeers, expostulations and much informal language, little was accomplished. There was simply no place for the snow to be shoved, but it boiled up and over and filled the plough. The outfit had to be unhitched and it was with difficulty that the oxen were rescued. The snow was about level with the backs of the cattle.

At an informal meeting of the Council, held in Stevenson's store, where business affecting the community was ever transacted, it was decided to dig things out. Beginning at King Street a canal was shovelled, twelve feet wide. the snow loaded into sleighs and dumped into the river. It was long and weary work. Gradually the cross streets were opened to some extent. The weatfter turned very mild and the snow began to settle, but many of the teamsters kept both sleigh and horses on the street where the work ceased, all night, rather than go to the exertion of taking the teams to the barns and coming in again in the morning. Others broke a way in and used the sheds attached to the several hotels. In the fourteen saloons, or drinking places, very little business was done for five days. Owners even thought of appealing to the town council to recoup for loss of business. Statements as to the depth of snow that had fallen varied from five to seven feet, with five feet as generally recognized. There was very little of drift, but out in the country for some weeks the routes of travel led through the fields as the regular roads were practically impassable.

Enormous Flood

The warm weather of April following created a flood so enormous that very large damage was done. Power dams all along the river gave way, and the Otonabee was a veritable torrent. The Dickson dam, (now the Hydraulic Power Company's location), was burst apart and as large quantities of square timber left the lakes above and coursed down the stream, many lives were lost at the Dickson dam. River running proved to be excessively dangerous for the French-Canadian river men.

So great was the flow of water from the lakes above that levels in height were reached that had never been thought of. The river, below the locks, could not with its slow current, carry off the surplus. The Little Lake filled and the water flowed in a stream sixteen inches deep to the south, covering all of Lock Street and the lands now occupied by the Brinton Carpet company. George Street, from Sherbrooke Street South, was impassable. The flood covered all the lands now occupied by the C. G. E. Co. to a depth of fifteen inches. In fact, the whole south ward at that time very sparsely built on, was nothing but a shallow lake until the end of June following. The site of the Ackerman factory and that of the C. P. R. station were both under water for two months. Funerals that reached the Little Lake cemetery did so by using punts and skiffs. Riverside Park (as now named), was three feet under water and all the factories along the east side of the river. from Hunter Street North, were flooded out. At one time high water line was nearly at the level of the ground where the Quaker Oats buildings stand. All told, up and down the river, the resulting damage ran into many thousands of dollars.

A Near Casualty

There were no casualties in town as a result of the excessive snow. Only a few had a narrow escape. In clearing away the snow at the now Bank of Toronto corner, the shovellers disclosed a pair of boots sticking out of the pile. A little cautious feeling disclosed that there were legs above and feet in the boots. Presently a crowd collected and speculated and prodded about the corpse with canes and sticks. The other policeman was sent for and the coroner summoned. Everything should be done decently and in order. Some poor fellow, exhausted by struggling in the snow had laid down and passed away. On arrival of the coroner shovelling commenced to release the find, and presently the coroner began to smell a rat, as the saying goes. When the whole thing was exposed it was seen that it was an effigy, constructed out of an old suit of clothes, a false-face, a battered hat, long muffler and leather mitts, quite life-like and presentable. In excess of disappointment the crowd tossed the figure on top of the bank of snow and set fire to the straw with which it was stuffed. It turned out that the thing was a piece of impersonation constructed by Bill Wrighton, Jim English, Bill Henthorn and 'Three-fingered' Jack Robinson, that which no finer and unanimous quartette for mischief could have been found in the district, for what Bill Henthorn could not suggest or devise his fellow conspirators were quite equal to.

Come at Intervals

There may be nothing in it but these very heavy falls of snow in this district have come at intervals of from fifteen to eighteen years. That is, falls that were away and above the average of an average winter. And, of course, we have had instances of a scarcity of snow during a whole winter. The winter of 1874 was remarkable in this respect. People got out on their lawns on Christmas Day and played croquet with their coats off, and the Calcutt steamers ran an excursion down the river on the same Christmas Day.

March 14th, of 1888, will long be remembered by those who participated in the benefits of the excessive snow of the week of that day, or date. The town was isolated for three days. No trains for four days and seven trains were all stalled between Peterborough and Toronto during the interval. Undoubtedly the heaviest fall of snow in fifteen years. The blockad ewas raised on the 19th and it took fully a week to get things in smooth running order. East of Havelock there was very little snow over that of the average of usual winter weather. The G. T. R. was practically held up for nearly a week, and communication with Belleville and Toronto wholly cut off. The Missing Link, as the short line to Lindsay was known, had many cuts completely filled in, several to a depth of thirty feet. Nothing but snow shovelling relieved the situation.

Again in the month of March, 1896, and on the 26th and days following Peterborough and district surrounding was subject to severe weather conditions, including a very considerable fall of snow. In this case the benediction of snow did not extend to covering territory very far north and to the north-west. Trains on the C. P. R. between as far east as Ivanhoe and west to Toronto were stalled and buried in snow banks from ten to twelve feet deep.

There was a considerable gathering at Orillia, of people attending the Reform convention, and these, after the sessions were over, took trains for home. It had been reported at Orillia that the lines running to Toronto were fairly well blocked so a large number came on from Orillia to Peterborough, only to find that they were to be held in the town for several days. The local hotels were filled to overflowing and private hospitality had to be asked to take care of the visitors. By the end of the week and month the situation was cleared up, but warned by the event the C. P. R. widened the cuts, erected snow fences and took other precautions to mitigate the snow inconvenience between Peterborough and Toronto. Locally, the town was isolated for several days.

On February 6th, of 1908, Peterborough was again cut off from the outside world for nearly a week. An excessive quantity of snow fell, accompanied by high winds. Country roads were severely drifted, so much so that medical attendance to patients in the country was suspended. The trains, as usual, were interfered with, several being completely stalled on both lines leading into the city. Curiously, too, the lines of rails leading to Port Hope were not nearly so much interfered with as those leading east and west. The prevailing winds came from the north, which may have accounted for the drifting in of the tracks, especially on the C. P. R. and on the rails of the G. T. R. running south-west from Lindsay.

Two Men Arrested in N.Y. Murder Mystery.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—James Blandino, a barber, and Broyario Di Lorenzo, his assistant, were ordered jailed by District Attorney Maloy last night as material witnesses in the murder of Miss Bessie McMahon, Utica, and Mrs. Irene Blandino, of Jersey City, whose knife-hacked bodies were found in a lonely stretch of road near Stapleton, Staten Island, yesterday morning.

MRS. ANDERSON TELLS WOMEN

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leslie, Sask.—"For about a year I was troubled with a distressing down-bearing pain before and during the periods, and from terrible headaches and backache. I hated to go to a doctor, and as I knew several women who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results, I finally bought some and took four bottles of it. I certainly do recommend it to every woman with troubles like mine. I feel fine now and hope to be able to keep your medicine on hand at all times, as no woman ought to be without it in the house."—Mrs. OSCAR A. ANDERSON, Box 18, Leslie, Sask.

Mrs. Kelsey Adds Her Testimony

Copenhagen, N. Y.—"I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband out doors, too. I am willing for you to publish this letter if you think it will help others."—Mrs. HERBERT KELSEY, R.F.D., Copenhagen, N. Y.

Sick and ailing women everywhere in the Dominion should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before they give up hope of recovery.

ANOTHER CASE

A.—The grating consists of an iron casting. This casting was sitting down in the iron frame perfectly level with the pavement, and it did not appear to have been moved.

Q.—Where was the grating situated?

A.—Near the edge of the east door of the Montgomery House.

Q.—Was there anything to cause anyone to trip over it when you examined it?

A.—No.

No Record of Repair.

Cross-examined by Mr. Medd: Have you any record of repairing Simcoe Street on the south side during July, August or September, 1922?

A.—No.

Q.—If there had been any repairs done would there be a record?

A.—Not necessarily.

Q.—If a grating projected one inch above the sidewalk, and it was reported to you, what would you do?

A.—See that it was lowered.

Judge Huycke—Did you receive any notice of this grate needing repair?

A.—No.

Q.—Is there any regular system of inspection of the streets?

A.—No. The men have general instructions to report anything they see wrong with the street or sidewalk.

Harry Evans, the city street commissioner, stated that he made an examination of this particular grating after the accident, and found it all right. "It was as nearly level as you can get it," he said.

Mr. Medd—Did you make any inspection of the street where this woman fell, during July, August or September, 1922, prior to the accident?

A.—Nothing particular, only passing over the place. I was not particularly looking for anything.

Q.—Is an inch too much for one of these gratings to be sticking up?

A.—Certainly. Any person might fall over it.

Q.—Are there any periodical inspections of the streets?

A.—No. No one is sent out on purpose. The policemen and the city's officers are continually walking over the sidewalks and they are supposed to tell us if anything is wrong.

Grass in Evidence.

Frank Montgomery, proprietor of the Montgomery House on Simcoe Street, said that he did not see the accident but was told about it by one of his clerks. Someone came up after the accident and said, "Who moved this grating?"

Mr. Widdifield—What did you do?

A.—Nothing. I said the grate wasn't moved. There was grass growing between the grate and the cement. The grass would have been moved if the grate had been taken out.

Q.—Mr. Nesbitt said that when he came down to measure the grating it was out of the frame.

A.—He never measured it. The grate was never out since it went in.

In cross-examination by Mr. Medd the witness admitted that the Montgomery Hotel is one of the best known and oldest established hotels in Peterborough.

Mr. Medd—I can't understand how Frank Montgomery's hotel has grass growing under the front door.

A.—It was not.

Robert Maitland, a clerk in the Montgomery House, declared that he never saw the grating in question taken up. It was there for no other purpose than to admit light and air to the cellar. He did not notice whether the grating was level at the time of the accident, but knows that it is level now.

This completed the case for the defence, and Mr. Medd recalled the witness Nesbitt in reply. Referring to the evidence given by Mr. Montgomery, Nesbitt stated positively that the grating was not level. It sidewalk by actual measurement, he was one inch above the level of the said.

Mr. Widdifield—How do you explain that Mr. Montgomery says he spoke to you when you were there and you deny it?

A.—He is wrong.

Judge Huycke—On the day you were there and measured the grating were you there more than once?

A.—No. Just the once.

AT COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 7.—The funeral took place here on Thursday, of Mrs. Bilcox, widow of the late Richard Bilcox, who had reached the extreme old age of 96 years. Mrs. Bilcox passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Brown, with whom she had resided for some years. Coming to Canada from Ireland at the age of thirteen, she had lived for eighty-three years in this locality and had seen many changes. Besides her daughter, she is survived by a son, James, residing in Michigan, and another son, Henry, residing at Wicklow. Rev. Canon Sawers conducted the services and the interment was at St. Peter's cemetery.

Cobourg Bowling Club Officers

At the annual meeting of the Cobourg Bowling Club, held here on Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected to carry on this year:

President—A. W. Young.
Vice-President—E. Guillet.
Secretary—Capt. H. McCullough.
Treasurer—Lt.-Col. A. E. Hopper.

The Club was very pleased to learn that a number of new bowlers intend to come in this season. A committee to secure new members was formed of the entire membership of the club, with Mr. E. Guillet as chairman. The Cobourg club is also considering the erection of a clubhouse on their green at Victoria Park. A committee composed of President A. W. Young, E. Guillet, J. W. Bickle, Capt. Hugh McCullough and D. Coyle was appointed to secure subscriptions and with power to act in the matter. The meeting was well attended and considerable enthusiasm was displayed.

Marriage at Atlantic City

The marriage took place last Saturday at Atlantic City at the apartments of the bride's father, Mr. Frank Hess of Philadelphia and Cobourg, of his oldest daughter, Miss Marguerite Hess, and Dr. George Pirie of Toronto. The marriage was very quiet only immediate reatives being present. The bride wore a beautifu travelling dress of tan cloth, with which she wore a fur coat upon leaving for the wedding trip. Dr. and Mrs. Pirie will reside in Toronto.

Local and Personal

Henry McIvor, who was so seriously injured that he lost an arm and a leg, when he fell from a freight train ten days ago, has recovered sufficiently to return to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McIvor, from the hospital in Port Hope where he received treatment.

Of the $54,997 on the tax roll of the Township of Hamilton, the collector, Mr. J. A. Noble, has handed over $54,991 to the treasurer, it is stated. This is an excellent showing.

There will be some building in Cobourg the coming season. Mr. Reuben Jackson has purchased several building lots on William Street and intends to erect houses upon them, and will probably build more houses on King Street West.

Mr. Hugh Cameron has purchased from Geo. Greer & Sons, the coal, wood, grain and ice business which they have hitherto carried on. Mr. Cameron has been employed by the firm for some years past.

Mr. Thomas Rowe, Front Road West, is retiring from farming and will remove to Cobourg. He had a sale of his farm stock, implements, etc., during the week, which was conducted by Mr. J. A. Noble. Prices were good, about $2,500 being realized, it is stated.

Mr. J. J. Oulahan has rented to Robert Herron a farm in Haldimand township belonging to the estate of the late Robert Hewitt.

Should the bill that is now before the Legislature limiting the membership of County Councils to reeves instead of including also deputy reeves, become law, the membership of the Council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham will be reduced from thirty-nine members to twenty-five members.

Mrs. David Hill has received the wooden cross that was placed over the grave of her brother, Sergt. Peter Martin, of the 1st Canadian Battalion, who was killed on Easter Monday in 1917.

EASTER AT HOME ENNISMORE PARISH

Very Enjoyable Evening Spent—Social and Personal News.

ENNISMORE, April 7.—On Monday evening, April 2, a very enjoyable at home was held in the parish hall, Ennismore. A large crowd attended from the parish as well as a number from Peterboro, Downeyville and Lakefield. The prizes for the cards were won by Miss Nora Killen and Mr. Leo Killin. The ladies prize was a beautiful box of letter paper, and the gentleman's a beautiful smoking set. Excellent music was provided by Messrs. Harold Killin, Herb. Killen, Norman Gannon and Harry Redmond, with Miss Olive Plenard and Miss Clara Murphy at the piano.

Personal Mention

Mr. Fergus Crowley of Detroit, Mich., is spending his Easter vacation with his parents in Ennismore.

Messrs. Leo Killen and Arnold Crough are home after visiting friends in Toronto.

PRESENTATION TO HAVELOCK PASTOR

Rev. and Mrs. James Skene Remembered by Congregation on Eve of Their Leaving Town.

HAVELOCK, April 7.—The congregation of Knox church assembled in the basement of the church on Thursday night last and during the course of a social evening presented Rev. James Skene, their departing pastor with a handsome club bag and Mrs. Skene with leather purse together with some gold pieces in it Mr. George Chiles read the address, which follows, and Mr. Robt. Buchannan made the presentation, which was replied to by Mr. Skene in a touching manner.

"Dear Mr. Skene:—

"The time has come when you as pastor and we as a congregtion must separate.

"We take this opportunity to assure you and your estimable partner in life, that we regret your departure and also to testify to the ability and faithfulness with which you have discharged your duties as minister of the Presbyterian church in Havelock during the past thirteen years. A minister's position in these days, is fraught not only with the responsibilities of past times; but with special difficulties now, owing to a love of excitement, of pleasure and the materialistic spirit of this age. Further, the church today is a highly organized institution, making an ever increasing demand on a minister's time. In your pulpit ministrations you have always preached the Gospel message, avoiding all sensational or questionable means of attracting the public, regarding the church as the House of God, where people come to worship, not to be entertained.

"Mere numbers and the amount of money, though important, are not a real measure of success, but Christian citizenship, the ideal of the completeness of life, the degree of spirituality which can only be truly valued by The Great Searcher of hearts. To this end we believe you have always aimed.

While avoiding superlatives, a not unusual custom in present circumstances, it is our desire to assure you that your pulpit ability and the earnestness of your ministrations, your efforts as Superintendent of the Sunday School, the interest you have taken in the educational and municipal affairs of Havelock have won for you the respect of your congregation and of the citizens of the town.

In token of our esteem we ask you and Mrs. Skene to accept these small gifts.

We sincerely trust that you both may be long spared to minister to others elsewhere and that the sunset of life for both of you be peaceful and happy.

(Signed on behalf of the congregation.)

THE ECONOMIC VALUE OF DENTAL SERVICE
Authorized by Ontario Dental Association in the interest of Public Health.

The curse of the age, is wastefulness. Wastefulness is everywhere. It permeates the whole fabric of life to a degree that is appalling; it effects the poor as well as the rich, the nation as well as the individual, showing itself in waste of materials, energy and opportunity. Its footprints are seen in the annual loss of health and destruction of life through disease. Chicago Department of Health estimated that preventable diseases cost that city over Seven Million Dollars a year. A leading authority on this continent states that the next step in preventive medicine must be made by the dentist, that action must be taken to stop the ravages of dental diseases, because they are not only a menace to the one afflicted but also to those who associate with him.

HOW TO COMBAT DENTAL DISEASES

Dental diseases can be successfully dealt with by regular mouth examination and proper treatment combined with instructions to patients as regards preventive measures. This service will result in a saving to the individual and to the state, since:

(a) Fewer cavities will develop, and those that do appear will be discovered and filled while small.
Results,—smaller dental bills, less pain, fewer losses of teeth.

(b) Less sickness.
Results,—decrease in expense to individual and municipality.

(c) Less absence from school and retardation.
The re-education of "repeaters" ew allows up 20% of our school taxes.

(d) Less loss of time from factories and waste of expert man power and equipment power.

The individual citizen will have better health, greater efficiency and higher earning power and the nation will have a more efficient economic unit.

Most Stomach Troubles Are From One Cause—
Warm Water Removes It

It is safe to say that without Constipation or accumulated waste in the Intestine, we would know no stomach trouble unless we were outrageously careless in our selection of food—

This is proved by the fact that the millions who now bathe internally no longer suffer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, or discomfort of any description—

Nor biliousness—nor appendix pains.

Keeping, as they do, the Intestine thoroughly free from accumulated waste, there is a clear way for digested food to pass without obstruction—therefore there is no "backing-up."

Incidentally, there are no poisons to be taken up by the blood to drag us down.

Our functions work without handicap—and all is well.

We would like to give you an interesting little book, "Why Man of To-day is Only 50% Efficient." In simple English it gives you scientific facts which you will be glad to know.

It is free--Ask for it to-day while you think of it.

WILL MAN SEE WITH HIS EYES

In Two Thousand Years Civilization May Supply Man With a Sixth Sense.

By ROY GIBBONS.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Two thousand years from today will man be seeing with his hands?

Will civilization advance to a point where it will destroy through disuse where it will destroy through disuse the normal faculties of sight and hearing and force watchful nature to come to the rescue and supply us with a sixth sense—what scientists now are calling a "compensating sense."

All this is suggested by experiments now under way by Professor Robert H. Gault, head of the department of psychology of Northwestern University here, who already has succeeded in transmitting spoken messages through the finger tips of a subject whose ears were covered by sound-proof brandages.

Further weight is given to Gault's theories by Carl Bostrom, Chicago youth who is totally blind. Bostrom is able perfectly to "see" his way about, depending entirely on the highly sensitized nerves in his cheeks, which enable him to detect trees, buildings and people with as much accuracy as would normal eyes!

Bostrom's statements have been confirmed by rigorous scientific tests.

"Synthetic Sight"

In these phenomena, medical experts agree, lies the possibility of restoring synethic sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf.

"We are on the threshold of a great discovery," Professor Gault says. "We are just starting to tap a great reservoir in man of heretofore unsuspected power.

"Nature has equipped the average human being with limitless compensating forces, which if once understood will enable the maimed and handicapped once more to resume their places as useful members of society.

"They will be given what might be called substitute organs to take the place of those of which they have been deprived.

"By that I do not mean that missing parts of the body can be forced to serve the purpose for which they were intended. I mean the sense of touch will be developed to such a degree that its substitute uses will be manifold and its advantages beyond present power to describe.

"I am familiar with predictions of those who say our neurotic mode of living will rob us of sight as well as feet and other organs within a short space of time, due to over-use of some members and organs and non-use of others.

"Whether any such thing will happen I am willing neither to affirm nor deny. But if such deterioration does take place, nature will be at hand to compensate.

"We see this protection in the lower animal kingdom.

"Fishes in the fathomless bottom of the sea where night is ever present, have been equipped with lantern eyes.

"On all sides, so we see, the compensating force is at work. When it has been pinned down and turned into reconstructive channels, science will become an agency for reclamation—reclamation of human beings—as well as a preventive agency."

ALLEGED COMBINE TO PRESENT CASE.

OTTAWA, April 7. — (Canadian Press).—After hearing two counsel for the Shipping Corporation's concern yesterday afternoon, the Lake Grain Rate Commission adjourned until Monday morning, when Isaac Pitblado, K.C., counsel for the Standard Shipping Company, the reputed centre of the alleged Winnipeg brokers' combine, will present his argument.

The two counsel who argued yesterday afternoon were G. A. Towers, K.C., counsel for the Canada Steamships Lines, and Britton Osler, K.C., for the Matthews Shipping Company. Mr. Osler, who closed the proceedings for the day, described the May rates as "stop-loss" rates, and denied that there was any attempt to establish a monopoly.

Mr. Towers devoted much of his attention to arguing that the contest before the Commission was between traders and that the public interest was not itself involved.

PRINCESS YOLANDA, ITALY, TO WED CALVI, CAVALRY OFFICER, MONDAY

Real Story of a Romance To End in Eldest Daughter of King and Queen Taking Unto Herself a Life-Partner of Comparatively Humble Origin—The Bridegroom, Count Calvi di Bergolo, Has the Laugh on All Gossips and Wiseacres of Europe.

PRINCESS VOLANDA OF ITALY AND THE MAN SHE MARRIED, COUNT CALVI DI BERGOLO.

By MILTON BRONNER.

ROME, April 7.—When Princess Yolanda, eldest daughter of the king and queen of Italy, becomes the bride of Count Calvi di Bergolo Monday, the bridgroom will have the laugh on all the gossips and wiseacres of Rome, Brussels and London.

For he, a man of humble station compared with a royal princess, will carry off the lovely bride that gossip long was busy handing variously to a half dozen princes and to another half dozen of the richest young nobles in Italy.

It was known in a casual sort of way that Princess Yolanda had met Count Calvi two years ago at Tor di Quinto, near Rome, where the count had been detailed by the army to be inspector of the School of Equitation.

Princess Interested.

Yolanda is enthusiastic about horses and she became interested in the good-looking young soldier who rode like a centaur.

She met him later in Rome, when he raced some of his own horses and even rode them when gentlemen jockeys competed. But the Roman know-it-alls just winked when they discerned the adoring look in Calvi's face.

The gossips recounted the names of the men who really had a chance: Prince Nicholas of Rumania; the crown prince of Greece, the Prince of Wales and the crown prince of Belgium.

Then there were some of the noblest Roman families—the Chigi, Colonna and Orsini, who had younger sons who were often seen riding, hunting and dancing with Yolanda.

Sees Count in London.

All Italy was mystified last June when Yolanda, accompanied by only one lady-in-waiting went to London incognito to spend ten days.

She lived simply and went where she pleased. Where she mainly pleased was the international horse show, Italian cavalrymen were competing in some of the events; one of these cavalrymen was Count Calvi, who won a number of prizes and whose riding was enthusiastically applauded by a certain dark-haired young lady.

But even when Calvi returned to Rome and became a frequent visitor to the Qurinal palace and companion of the princess when she went riding to the hounds, the wise ones didn't catch on. So the announcement of her engagement to Calvi came as a big surprise.

The Count's Family.

The Di Bergolo's are comparatively a new family, as titled families go in Italy. The first count was Lazarro Calvi, who got his title from the king of Sardinia in 1816.

The present bridegroom's father was in the Italian diplomatic service.

Count Carlo Calvi di Bergolo is an officer in a crack Piedmontese cavalry regiment. During the war he changed from the cavalry into the bombing service, so as to get more active duty, was badly wounded and was decorated for his bravery.

His sister Matilda married Prince Aage of Denmark, cousin of the Danish king. The Danish prince had to give up his claim to succession to the throne and his right to be called "Royal Highness," just as Yolanda had to do today to become his sister-in-law.

Calvi or Nobody!

Princess Yolanda told her royal dad not so long ago:

"It's Calvi or nobody!"

And when her father started to say something to her about the possible need for a marriage for state reasons, she kissed him, hugged him and said:

"You ought to be the last one in the world to advance such a reason; you and mother who have been lovers all your lives."

The king was silenced.

In 1896 the king, then Italian crown prince, was about to be betrothed to a German princess—for dynastic reasons. But young Victor Immanuel accidentally met the lovely Princess Elena, daughter of the king of the toy kingdom of Montenegro, fell in love, braved his father and said it would be the mountain beauty or nobody. He had his way.

The first child of the royal couple was the Princess Yolanda.

Nation Disappointed.

Italy gave voluble expression to grief and disappointment because the child was not a boy. Then came another sister, Mafalda, and finally the third child, a son, Umberto, the heir to the throne. Since then two more girls have been born to the royal family.

The three eldest children were under the strictest supervision of an English governess whose word was law. They were kept entirely out of the public eye for years. So much was this the case that it used to be gossiped in Rome that they were deficient. This was untrue.

It was only when Yolanda was eight that the public were allowed a glimpse into her existence.

Her father gave her the choice of three birthday gifts, a picnic in the country, or a holiday from all lessons, or a reception of poor children in the royal gardens.

She chose the later and 300 orphans from the Messina and Calabria earthquake regions were invited to be her guests. Yolanda played games, picked flowers for the youngsters and gave away all her toys. That night she told her parents she had a perfect day.

Her Father's Pal.

As she grew up she became a great pal of her father. She shared with him his interest in coins he has one of the greatest numismatic collections in the world.

As she loves outdoors sports, she often went out hunting and riding with him. When the war broke out she insisted upon her right to accompany him on his visits to the front and once nearly lost her life when an airplane bomb burst near her automobile.

When the king turned most of his palaces into war hospitals Yolanda promptly took nursing lessons and then worked hard in caring for the wounded.

Yolanda is fluent in English and French, a good musitian and a painter. She swings a skilled tennis racquet, pulls a strong bar, drives a motor cleverly and is noted for her skill as a horsewoman.

NEW BLOOD NEEDED IN THE SPRINGTIME

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills As A Blood-Improving, Health Restoring Tonic.

Every man, woman and child needs new, rich, red blood at this time of the year. That is a scientific fact. All doctors know it. The blood grows thin and poor in the winter; there is not enough of it, and spring shows the effect. Take notice and see how many people are pale and sallow at this time of the year. They complain of being easily tired, their appetite is poor, and they are often depressed and low-spirited. That is mother nature urging them to improve their blood supply; but often their digestion is weakened so that they cannot turn food into blood without help. Here is where modern medical science comes to the rescue. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a direct action on the blood and enable you to get full use of the blood-making elements in your meals. You soon feel their effect—your appetite improves, your nerves are steadier, colour returns to the cheeks and lips, you have more vim and energy, and can work with less fatigue. The above statements are borne out by the experience of Mr. J. P. Greschuk, Janow, Man., who says: "Very recently I found myself in a badly run down conditiog. My stomach was quite out of order; could eat but little, and what I did eat did not appear to nourish me. I did not seem to have enough blood; my hands and legs were blue, and I had no strength to work. I tried several medicines, but did not get good results. Then one day reading our newspaper I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. I used half a dozen boxes, and now feel well and strong, have a good appetite, can do my work with good appetite, and can do my work with ease. Naturally I have great faith in this medicine as a blood-making tonic."

Whether you are seriously ill, or merely feel easily tired and out-of-sorts, you should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring. They are sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box, by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WILL QUIT SENDING STUDENTS TO JAPAN

TOKIO, April 7.—The Chinese government has decided to discontinue the system of sending students to Japan at the government's expense, the provinces which contributed part of the money having been irregular in their payments.

At present there are in Tokio 127 Chinese students matriculating at Tokio Imperial University; 158 at the Tokio higher normal school; 175 at the Tokio university of commerce; 1,179 at various other government schools, and 1,071 at various public and private schools. It is said that these Chinese students are, on the whole, not inferior to the Japaneses either in scholarship or personality, and with a few exceptions are diligently taking to their studies.

NEW CHURCH SERVICE KEEPS FAMILY GROUP TOGETHER ON SUNDAY

CHICAGO, April 7.—How the family automobile may become to the city church goer what the family farm wagon has always been to the rural worshipper, is being worked out at St. Mark's Church, a downtown Episcopalian parish in Minneapolis, the Rev. Phillips E. Osgood, rector of the parish, told the church club of Chicago in an address here today.

The Sunday school as a separate institution has been abolished in his church, Dr. Osgood said, and the parents and children are brought together for morning worship. Five months' trial has convinced him that the plan is a success.

When parents and children assemble at 11 o'clock in the church, the regular service of morning prayer is conducted with some slight modifications to suit the changed program. A five minute sermon for the children is then delivered, followed by the offertory, and then while a hymn is being sung the children retire to the parish house where they have 30 minutes of class instruction. Meanwhile the regular sermon is preached for the edification of their elders.

When the regular service is ended, the children are waiting for their parents, the family automobile is loaded, or the family group proceeds to street cars, and all return home ready for Sunday dinner.

"The chief object of this plan is to restore the family pew to its traditional position," continued Mr. Osgood. "We found that because of our situation on the edge of the down-town district, many of our parish children were not attending our school. But the difficulty was not so much that the children were going elsewhere for instruction, as that the family unity in worship was sundered, or that ultimately we lost the entire family because parents so naturally follow their children.

"The great fault of the traditional Sunday school was that it did not train children in church going. It could no more do this than a blackboard diagram could teach a person to swim. The only way to teach church going is by going to church. The only way to learn how to swim is to get into the water and swim."

Mr. Osgood said the attendance of the children had been increased 30 per cent. in the five months and that the regular attendance of parents at services had been well ahead of the same period for preceding years.

"The presence of the children has vitalized the service," he added. "Formerly we were a rather staid down-town congregation, but that condition has changed."

The plan has been supplemented by activities for the children starting at 10 a.m. so that parents who desire may attend adult Bible classes assembling at that hour.

While the Bible classes are in session, children who care to do so may occupy themselves with modelling, map-making, extemporaneous dramatization of Biblical stories, and similar activities under the supervision of an instructor.

Japan Importing More Crude Oil

The Nippon Petroleum Company, which has hitherto engaged in the refining of Japanese crude oil, has now decided to import and refine foreign crude oil. It is reported that the company is to close the refineries at Niigata and Naoetsu, and is to construct large refineries and tanks at Tsurumi, Kanagawa, for both Japanese and foreign oil. Supplies will be obtained from an American oil company. It is probable that the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha will also construct tanks at Tsurumi in order to provide more convenient transportation facilities.

At thirty, you want to plant "Protection"; the maximum amount for the minimum cost. The yearly premium on a Whole Life Policy for $10,000 is only ($24.25 per thousand) $242.50.

At forty—being better off—you want to plant "Provision" for the future—something you yourself may enjoy ripely at sixty. At forty the annual premium on a twenty year endowment policy for $10,000 is $522.50 ($52.25 per thousand).

But the "Interchange Privilege" in our whole life policy, at age 30, permits you the choice—at forty—of any one of nine other plans. You will probably elect the retrospective 30-year Endowment of which the Annual Premium is $412.40, a little less than the original premium on your endowment policy.

This gives you a policy unique with the London Life; carrying full protection at small cost—which may be converted into Provision ten years hence with:

HUNGARY ASKS SHARES IN EMPIRE TREASURES

VIENNA, (By mail to the United Press)—Art circles as well as government circles are again pertrubed by reports emanting from Budapest to the effect that the Hungarian government intends to appy to the Allied Commission for an allotment of the art treasures of the Austro-Hungarian empire that have for centuries been stored in museums here.

These treasures not only include European but world-wide objects of art and historical value. Chief among them are French relics of the Napoleonic wars and they are guarded with a jealous eye by heads of the government and patrons of art alike.

The Hungarian government bases its claim to a share of the treasures on the fact that as a former partner in the Dual Monarchy it had a part ownership rights, nd since the Hapsburg empire has broken up, part of the Viennese treasure should be turned over to Budapest.

HAS RECORD FOR ARRESTS.

DETROIT (United Press)—George McCutcheon, 31, who will receive his mail at the House of Correction for the next 30 days, claims he is on intimate terms with more detectives than a popular police reporter. McCutcheon has been arrested 79 times, according to police records. His fondness for booze has resulted in his incarceration 55 times. He has been arrested 10 times for begging.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secertions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

POOR OLD J. CEASAR'S CALENDAR IN DISCARD

ROME (By mail to the United Press)—With the final adoption on March 1 by Greece of the The Gregorian calendar, this nice little reform which was started by Pope Gregory XIII. some years ago has at last become a world-wide accomplished fact.

The Gregorian calendar takes the place now in every nation of the world of the calendar gotten out by Julius Caesar and which didn't jibe with the sun by considerable. In fact ever since 1000 those countries that were still operating on the Julius Caesar calendar were just thirteen days behind the sun.

By the adoption of the Gregorian calendar on March 1, they caught up these thirteen days and are now only eyes with the sun but the rest of the world.

NEW CANAL RECORD.

ANCON, C.Z. (United Press)—A new record for the Panama Canal was made the first half of March, when 208 commerce vessels passed through the canal in 15 days and paid $935,608.06 in tolls. The receipts of the canal are steadily increasing, the daily average for 15 days in March being higher by 68 per cent compared with last October.

Want Ad Tips
by John T. Bartlett

UNSUSPECTED RETURNS FROM "FOR RENT" WANT ADS.

(By John T. Bartlett)

An electrical dealer, relating his experience with Wants Ads, told how little two-line and three-line messages, offering appliances for rent, had produced many sales. For over eight years now this man, persistently following up a proved idea, has regularly used Want Ads offering for rent motors, vacuum cleaners, electric irons—in fact, "anything electrical." Other dealers have wondered somewhat at this man's use of Want Ads. His is a very successful store, doing a huge volume. Why should he promote a renting department?

The answer is this: A large percentage of renters buy. Mrs. Stone reads that the dealer rents an iron, she stops at the store. She is given not a used, but a new iron. The clerk tells her that if she cares to buy it, after using, she may apply the rental charge on the purchase price.

You see how it works out. Mrs. Stone takes home a brand-new electric iron, and uses it. She learns what a really splendid iron it is. The desire to possess develops within her. As the moment of return to the store comes, the shame of paying a rental charge when she could apply the sum on the price strikes her. And she ends by buying.

Via the renting route, this store sells all kinds of electric appliances. Once it even offered an electric chair for rent—for lodge initiations. And it sold several as a result of the renting plan!

If more stores in all lines—hardware, electrical, furniture, etc.—realized what a strategic approach to possible customers the "renting" and "repairing" routes are, more would turn to the Want Ads and employ regular little messages. A repair department of a stationery store, for example, features its "pen doctor" not because of the money made on pen repairs but because this department regularly produces hundreds of new pen sales A furniture store gets people as renters first—then it sells them.

There are great possibilities in this Want Ad ideas.

TACTFUL PLANS FOR STATING PRICE.

(By John T. Bartlett)

The price of the article you offer cannot ,perhaps, be called, "Bad news" yet this is true—it will be in acquisition of the article, not in the spending of money for it, that the buyer will derive satifaction. Paying the price will likely be, in a way of speaking, a "necessary evil." So, like bad news, it is often best in a Want Ad to "break gently" the price. Here are several ways to do that.

When you are advertising a farm, home, used car or other offering, on terms, give simply the down payment, making no mention of the full price. This is especially a good plan if the down payment is moderate or very low. Many people are much more interested in the down payment that the total price, paradoxical though this may seem. Further, you give them to consider in connection with your offering a small sum rather than a large one.

A second plan is to follow the example of the advertiser who, instead of mentioning a lump sum, declared "Only 17 cents a day buys this." Seventeen cents a day seems a mighty small amount, when the total price, perhaps $75 or so, put baldly, would seem a big obligation to undertake.

Another plan is to follow the example of the agent for a small hotel. Instead of giving the total rent of the hotel, he put it, "Rent only $4 a room." That made the rent look to readers what it really was—very reasonable, indeed.

There is still another plan open to the advertiser who has not one, but several things to sell, at a range of prices. Instead of quoting prices and use like this: "Prices $5 and up."

The Want advertiser who is tactful "breaks gently the new of his price, realizing it is, perhaps, the least pleasant feature of his prosition to readers. In addition to the foregoing plans, this general principle should be heeded: Except when the price constitutes a strong inducement to buy, it is usually better to state it in the Want Ad after description is given, rather than at first.

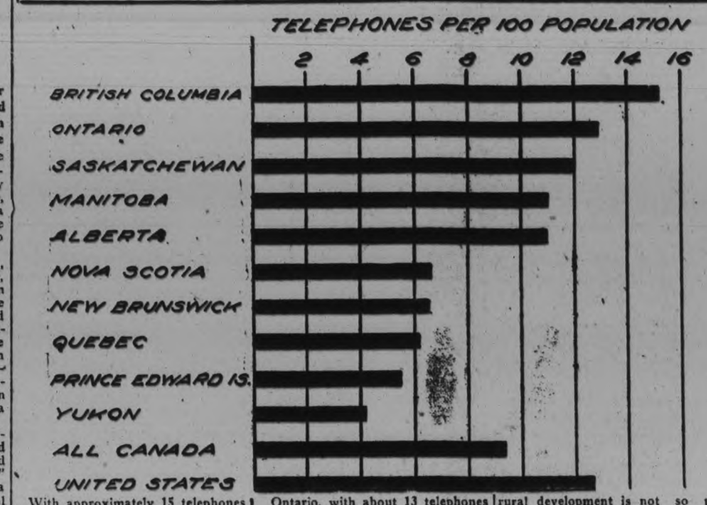
BELL TELEPHONE DEVELOPMENT



With approximately 15 telephones per 100 inhabitants, British Columbia leads the way in telephone development according to the most recent authoritative figures available.

It is hard to decide just why British Columbia finds herself in this enviable position unless it is due to the intensive development in the three cities Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster where 77% of the total telephones in the British Columbia Telephone Company's System are located.

Ontario, with about 13 telephones per 100 population, has a development equal to that of the United States where telephone development is seen at its best. While the cities of Ontario have a high development Toronto having 21 telephones per 100 of population, the rural development in Ontario is large, there being over 740 rural companies in operation. In fact there are few farmers in the more settled part of Ontario without telephone connection.

Even in the other Provinces where rural development is not so pronounced the average is very high when compared with Britain and European countries.

In Europe for instance, the average is comparatively low — the best developed country being Denmark with 7.8, Sweden has 6 and Norway 5 telephones per 100 population, German 3, Austria 3,Great Britain 9, France 1.2, Belgium less than 1 per 100.

One-third of all the telephones in France are in Paris and one-third of Britain's in London.

limousine."

"Oh, lord! I'm mighty glad you told me, Miguel. I only stole the spark plugs from that eight cylinder touring car. Lucky thing the hounds know me. They like to et me up at first."

Farrel sat down on the filthy running board of Bill Conway's car and laughed softly. "Oh, Bill, you're immense! So that's why you're running without lights! You concluded that even if he did get up early in the morning you couldn't afford to permit him to reach El Toro before the court-house opened for business."

"A wise man counteth his chickens before they are hatched, Miguel. Where does Parker keep the limousine?"

"Bill, I cannot tell you that. These people are my guests."

"Oh, very well. Now that I know it's there I'll find it. What did you want to see me about, boy?"

"I've been thinking of our conversation of this afternoon, Bill, and as a result I'm panicky. I haven't any right to drag you into trouble or ask you to share my woes. I've thought it over and I think I shall play safe. Parker will get the ranch in the long run, but if I give him a quit-claim deed now I think he will give me at least a quarter of a million dollars. It'll be worth that to him to be free to proceed with his plans."

"Yes, I understand that, Miguel, and probably, from a business standpoint, your decision does credit to your common sense. But how about this Jap colony?"

"Bill, can two lone, poverty-stricken Californians hope to alter the immigration laws of the entire United States? Can we hope to keep the present Japanese population of California confined to existing areas?"

"No, I suppose not."

"I had a wild hope this afternoon—guess I was a bit theatrical—but it was a hope based on selfishness. I'm only twenty-eight years old, Bill, but you are nearly sixty. I'm too young to sacrifice my old friends, so I've waited here to tell you that you are released from your promise to support me. Settle with Parker and pull out in peace."

Conway pondered. "Wel-l-l-l," he concluded, finally, "perhaps you're right, son. Nevertheless, I'm going to enter suit and attach. Foolish to hunt big game with an empty gun, Miguel. Parker spoke of an amicable settlement, but as Napoleon remarked, 'God is on the side of the strongest battalions,' and an amicable settlement is much more amicably obtained, when a forced settlement is inevitable." And the cunning old rascal winked solemnly.

Farrel stood up. "Well, that's all I wanted to see you about, Bill. That, and to say 'thank you' until you are better paid."

"Well, I'm on my way, Miguel." The old contractor shook hands with Father Dominic and Farrel, cranked his car, turned it and headed back up the San Gregorio, while Father Dominic guided Don Mike into the Mission refectory, where Father Andreas and the lay brothers sat around the dinner table, discussing a black scale which had lately appeared on their olive trees.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

(To be Continued.)

"I looked in at my father's grave. I was in no mood for meeting those who had loved him."

For perhaps half an hour they conversed; then the peace of the valley was broken by the rattling and labored puffing of an asthmatic automobile.

Father Dominic rose and peered around the corner. "Yonder comes one who practices the great virtue of economy," he announced, "for he is running without lights. Doubtless he deems the moonlight sufficient."

Farrel stepped out into the road and held up his arm as a signal for the motorist to halt. Old Bill Conway swung his prehistoric automobile off the road and pulled up before the Mission, his carbon-heated motor continuing to fire spasmodically even after he had turned off the ignition.

"Hello, Miguel," he called, cheerily. "What are you doing here, son?"

"Calling on my spiritual advisor and waiting for you, Bill."

"Howdy, Father Dominic." Conway leaped out and gave his hand to the old friar. "Miguel, how did you know I was coming?"

"This is the only road out of Agua Caliente basin—and I know you! You'd give your head for a football to anybody you love, but the man who takes anything away from you will have to get up early in the morning."

"Go to the head of the class, boy. You're right. I figured Parker would be getting up rather early to-morrow morning and starting into El Toro to clear for action, so I thought I'd come in to-night. I'm going to rout out an attorney the minute I get to town, have him draw up a complaint in my suit for damages against Parker for violation of contract, file the complaint the instant the county clerk's office opens in the morning and then attach his account in the El Toro bank."

"You might attach his stock in that institution while you're at it, Bill. However, I wouldn't stoop so low as to attach his two automobiles. The Parkers are guests of mine and I wouldn't inconvenience the ladies for anything."

"By the Holy Poker! Have they got two automobiles?" There was a hint of apprehension in old Conway's voice.

"Si, senor. A touring car and a

Something New For Neuralgia

And Quebec Lady Tells How She Treats Cold Troubles.

Mrs. William Watt of 87 Little Champlain St., Quebec, Que., says: "I am very much pleased with Vicks VapoRub. It did me all the good in the world and I would recommend it to anybody who is suffering from neuralgia or colds of any kind."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc.

Absorbed through the skin and at the same time inhaled as a vapor, Vicks reaches immediately inflamed congested air passages.

The modern direct treatment for all cold troubles. The successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniments, poultices and plasters.

Used for croup and children's colds, Vicks gives remarkable quick results and also avoids nauseating intesnal doses. Just as good for adults and for skin inflammations, such as cuts, burns, bruises, bites, stings.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada, it enjoys a remarkable sale. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

MOTHER'S PRAYER BRINGS BACK HER LOST CHILDREN.

For Fifty-Eight Years Mrs. Pollyanna Busby Never Gave Up Hope — Faith Rewarded.

FRANKLIN, Tex., April 7. — For 58 years Mrs. Pollyanna Busby, 96, has prayed nightly.

She has asked that her three sons, stolen from her at the close of the Civil War, be returned.

Now the three sons, grown to manhood and fathers of families, have been reunited with their aged mother.

It looks like a queer twist of fate. But, says Mrs. Busby—

"It is only an answer to my prayers. It is a proof of the potency of prayer."

Here is the story—a story equal in its pathos and heart interest to Longfellow's tale of Evangeline and Gabriel:

In 1865 Mrs. Busby was living happily in Meridian, Miss., with her three sons—William, 8; Henry, 5, and Stephen, 4. The father, a Confederate soldier, had been slain at Vicksburg.

Texas Emigration On.

At that time vast numbers of families in the war-torn Confederacy were emigrating to seek their fortunes in Texas.

One of these emigrants was the Meridian village doctor. William and Henry, the two older Busby boys, interestedly watched the physician as he loaded his meager household supplies into his or-cart.

"Jump in, boys, and I'll give you a ride," said the doctor.

That ride did not end until the boys, their resistance conquered by blows with ox-whips, reached the doctor's claim in Texas. There they were reduced to the status of peons, laboring on the farm without pay and subjected to cruel mistreatment.

They finally effected their escape. Working from farm to farm, they reached the Oklahoma frontier.

There they grew to manhood. They labored hard, saved their earnings, married, bought farms, prospered.

One Enters Clergy.

Meanwhile, back in Mississippi Stephen, the youngest son, too was stolen and taken to Texas. He escaped, went to Oklahoma and settled on a farm there.

More than a quarter of a century ago Henry and William learned of Stephen's identity.

They believed their mother had emigrated to Texas.

At the beginning of this year their search for her was still on. Henry, now 66, was a farmer at Okemah, Okla., Stephen, 64, was prospering on his land at Thakerville, Okla.

Grandson Starts Quest.

William, now 69, was living the quiet life of a clergyman at Mangum, Okla. His eldest son, H. G. L. Busby, likewise had heard the call of the church and had been ordained a minister.

On the shoulders of the younger man William unloaded the task of seeking the long-lost mother.

Young Busby became pastor of a charge here in Franklin. In his spare hours he traveled miles into the surrounding country, stopping at every farmhouse and inquiring for information of his grandmother.

Finds Clew.

Finally, on an errand of mercy, Busby stopped one night for food at an isolated farmhouse near Marquez. Replying to questions, he told the farm woman of his quest.

"Why, there's a woman just a piece down the road who's spent her life hunting for her three sons!" said the farm woman.

Leaving his dinner untouched, young Busby leaped into his flivver and went to the indicated farmhouse.

There he found Mrs. Busby—now Mrs. Dukes, for she had remarried. She told Busby her story.

"You are my grandmother!" he said.

Telegrams brought the three sons to Marquez as soon as they could travel.

"My only wish in life has been fulfilled" Mrs. Dukes said.

Finding Relief She Tells Others

Madame Telesphore Parent Took Dodd's Kidney Pills for Bright's Disease, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

She Found no Relief till she used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Valier Station, Que., April 6.—(Special).—Mde. Telesphore Parent, a well-known resident of this place is recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to those who suffer from Kidney troubles. Madame Parent states: "I have suffered for eight months with Bright's disease, rheumatism, and dropsy. I could not sleep at nights, and felt heavy and sleepy after my meals. I took three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me a whole lot of good."

Madame Parent's trouble came from the Kidneys as is evidenced by the relief she got from Dodd's Kidney Pills. When the Kidneys become Pills. When the Kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, the impurities are not strained out of the blood and the result is weariness and lack of energy all over the body. This condition is not only diseagreeable but dangerous as well. The impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease.

Guard against these diseases and get back your accustomed energy by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BLACK—TAN—TONEY RED DARK BROWN AND WHITE

JUST ABOUT SKIRTS

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, April 7.— -(United Press)—By their skirts ye shall know them!

Frocks this season are either made or marred by their skirts. The bodice portion of a gown is often as simple as a country lass, whereas the skirt has more tricks than a slight-of-hand performer.

Generally speaking, skirts are fairly short, ten or twelve inches from the floor, for day wear, and slightly longer for evening wear. They are more often tight-fitting than wide. What fullness there is, is placed at the hips, as the flat front and back effect prevails. Where are the tight-fitting lines are used there are always unusual hems, some being longer on one side, and others being scalloped or bordered in Oriental braiding.

Evening models made with the tight skirt effect often have their entire fullness concentrated in front and held at the waist-line by an unusual buckle or ornament. This being an Egyptian treatment, many of the Egyptian prints follow the front-drape silhouette.

For street wear the cloth gown of the wrap-around type is popular just now. These have straight backs drape over the abdomen and have their fullness held at the side with a large wooden buckle. There is no waist-line suggested, as this sort of gown is made in one piece from neck to hem and follows the outline of the body.

Few Wide Skirts.

Although the wail for wide skirts comes from the manufacturers there is little evidence of the wide hem at present, with the exception of the three tiered Summer frock. Skirts with the side drapes remain popular, although skirts which dip in circular effect at the sides are not seen lately to any extent.

Pleated sport skirts, which follow the figure in straight line effect, already show evidence of their popularity. One must have them repleated ever so often if they are to keep their slender lines, however, as a bulgy, pleated skirt has no charm.

Bloomer Suit.

Whether the bloomer suit is a step towards trousers for the feminine sex or not, is yet to be determined. Nevertheless, it is here—the suit with bloomers or self material, worn under a two paneled skirt, which may either be fastened or left unfastened from waist to hem.

Many of the smart suits of the season are made in this fashion. The bloomers extend just below the knee where they terminate in a wide band, often made of oriental embroidery. When panels are snapped together one has the usual street suit. And when one wishes, a walking costume or sports suit one unfastens the sides, allowing freedom of motion.

"Twenty Pay Life Policy?"

A true story of a Canada Life Policy issued over forty years ago.

At age 30 he secured a $5,000 Twenty Pay Life Policy

At age 35 he received his first Dividend, which was added to the Policy

At age 50 he received notice that his Policy, with 20 years' Dividends, was fully paid for.

At age 70 he withdrew the cash value for his personal use. For years he had $5,000 protection, and the cash value with dividends now amounted to $6,140. He had paid only $2,830 in premiums.

If he so desired the company would have given him this $6,140 as a monthly income of $66.50 for life.

A Policy on your life will do much towards carrying out your intentions—whether you live or die.

Nothing can absolutely replace your life—but a policy will in some measure offset the financial loss which will come to those who now look to you for support

It may pay off the mortgage, supply food and clothing for your family, keep the children at school.

It may be all that is left of your life work—to keep you in comfort in your old age.

But—your Policy must be large enough.

The Twenty Payment Life

policy is selected by many for the following reasons.

Premiums cease in twenty years—therefore your policy will be fully paid for before you reach later life—when your earning power will have declined.

Cash values increase year by year, and after the third annual premium the policy cannot lapse as long as sufficient value exists.

Dividends are paid during the twenty years and as long as the policy remains in force thereafter.

After one year the policy is indisputable, and you may reside or travel in any part of the world, or engage in any occupation (except aviation) without affecting your insurance.

A twenty pay life policy will provide an amount in event of death equal to twenty or thirty times the annual premium, and produce an estate of $2,000, $5,000, $10,000, or more as arranged.

An Easy Savings Plan

These active progressive years of life in which you are earning the most money are the years in which premiums can be most easily met.

Twenty years is a convenient period and premiums spread over that length of time are moderate and easy to handle.

If You Are Insurable

SPLENDID ADDRESSES AT CONVENTION HERE

Dr. Gladys Boyd and Miss Rosabel Coutts Talk on Treatment and Diet in Diabetes — Progress of Nurses' Convention.

Yesterday afternoon's session of the convention was marked by the presentation of two remarkably good papers outlining the new insulin treatment of diabetes and nursing care and diet in diabetic cases. Dr. Gladys Boyd of Toronto explained the insulin treatment as carried out by Dr. F. G. Banting and assistant Mr Best in Toronto. The earliest mention of this disease, asserted speaker, whose thorough grasp of her subject made it intensely interesting to her hearers, was in the time of the Egyptians, long before Moses lived and died. Its name was derived from the Greek word meaning "to syphon." In the 17th Century, European physicians made extensive researches in diabetic work, discovering the over amount of sugar in the body which contributed to it, and making experiments which proved that a meat diet was beneficial. In the last century, Clude Bernard found that the liver was one of the organs most at fault in his disease, but he connected the trouble with an affection of the nerves, declaring that the nerves stimulated the liver to such an extent as to allow more sugar to pass out into the system than could be assimilated. In 1889, the connection of the pancreas with diabetes was discovered and experiments made, in which pancreatic juices were ground up with saliva or alcohol or acid and administered by mouth usually. A decade ago, two English men were very close to the proper solution with their research work which involved various uses of the internal secretions of the pancreas.

In 1913, the use of these solutions in diabetic troubles was investigated and pronounced useless by Allan, but in the summer of 1921, Dr. Banting and Mr. Best determined to investigate the problem.

Pancreatic Tissues

Experimenting with the two different pancreatic tissues, the glandular, and the island tissue, the latter being the tissue which surrounds the vascular areas occurring through out the whole pancreas, they discovered that if the glandular tissue ducts were tied off, degeneration took place, without, however, any decay in the island tissue. After ten weeks' time, the isolated tissue was removed from dogs used in experiments, and this secretion mixed with an ice-cold saline solution. As it was known that in the early development of the pancreas, there is little growth of the glandular tissue, the pancreas of foetal calves was utilized, the secretion obtained proving equally potent in prolonging the lives of dogs exposed to the disease, and which was used with success in subcutaneous applications in human bodies. Certain fish also provide this extract from the island tissues. The supply of insulin was small at first, but now a fairly large amount will be available after June first to those physicians who take the necessary course of training.

Cause Diabetes

The cause of diabetes, said the speaker, has never been discovered. Heredity plays a certain part in its transmission, and it has an infectious character after the 'flu or tonsilitis.

There is a certain racial tendency in its attacks. Jews have a proneness to diabetes. Its increase in the last ten or fifteen years has been ascribed to the large amount of food ued and the lack of exercise. It may be acute or chronic and is often more liable to be fatal in children's cases than in those of adults. A baby attacked with diabetes may live for a couple of days only, a child my live for six or seven years while suffering, but an adult may fight it for twenty-five or thirty years before succumbing.

Diet plays an important part in the treatment of the disease. In seventy five per cent of the case, coma leads to death. The remainder die from some super-imposed infection to which they are prone. The body is unable, through its failure to metabolize the carbo-hydrates injected, to get rid of its accumulation of un-oxidized fat, with a consequent poisoning of the entire nervous system.

Ultimate Aim

"The ultimate aim of all treatment as in treament of other diseases, is to rest the diseased organ," said Dr. Boyd. With an absolute rest of the pancreas, there is a chance of recovery. A watchful diet is necessary, with recurring fast days, and low carbo-hydrate elements. The insulin treatment gives a means of resting the pancreas. Diabetic patients treated with this extract for two or more months, while bringing their sugar content down to normal, will increase their intolerance and possibly cure them. There is only a small margin of safety, however, in the treatment. A too large a dose has a tendency to reduce the sugar content below the normal level, in which case glucose or adrenalin injections are necessary to restore it. The very rigid diet which diabetic patients are forced to follow has a tendency to make them very low-spirited and pessimistic. Insulin, by allowing the pancreas to rest, gives them a chance to resume a more normal diet and thus build up a healthier body and normal resistance to the disease.

Two Recent Cases

Dr. Boyd showed pictures of two diabetic patients of the Toronto Hospital, who had been beneficially treated with the new insulin extract. One, a boy of eight years, who, on entrance to the hospital, had weighed only 30 pounds and had the stature of a child of three years, was treated with insulin and placed on an adequate diet. In less than three months, he gained 15 pounds in weight and increased in height.

A little girl of between three and four years of age, admitted in a state of coma, did not respond at first to the treatment, as sometimes happened. Later on, she brightened quickly, and had been sent home practically cured.

Diet in Diabetes

The paper prepared by Miss Rosabel Coutts of Toronto, whose voice was not equal to the strain, was read by Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto, and was an illuminating discourse on "Nursing Care and Diet in Diabetes." As fat is burned only in the carbo-hydrate flame, the aim in diabetic treatment is to cut out the fat until the system is sugar free, and then increase the amount of carbo-hydrates, with proteins and some fats. Miss Coutts gave examples of diet in diabetic cases when treated with insulin, which showed the length the patient may go to, the menus including such things as steaks, salads, soups, grapefruit, coffee and, above all, the bran cakes which were recommended with such insistence. Although no diabetic patient may ever abandon rigid dietary regime, the foods allowed in conjunction with the insulin treatment are very satisfying. In cases of diabetes the patients become gloomy and morose through very rigid diet, and have to be watched constantly, as they nearly always are willing to steal to satisfy their appetites, and will not curb their desires after long and forced abstinence.

Patients Employed

The hospital provides for its patients sufficient occupation to keep them interested, including knitting classes, wood-carving, etc. Miss Coutts remarked on the necessity of keeping the patents warm and providing them with sufficent fluids, some five quarts a day being necessary, and extremely difficult of administration on account of the comatose or semi-comatose condition of the majority of them.

The Constitution.

In a discussion centreing around revisions to the constitution which came up yesterday morning, the question of voting received a lot of attention. A proposed amendment which was left over for decision until this morning suggested that the system of associational voting now in vogue, by which delegates are sent to annual meetings, with powers to vote for their organizations on a per capita basis, should be changed to an "individual vote" system, whereby every member of the Association attending a convention would be entitled to an individual vote, to be influenced by associational leanings. This would do away with the system of proxy voting, of which one member recalled an outstanding example at a certain western convention where one woman, armed with dozens of proxy votes, simply outvoted the will of an entire convention. By the individual voting system it was also claimed that more interest would be taken in conventions, and a greater attendance encouraged. The opponents of the system, however, claimed that the individual vote would destroy the solidarity of the unit represented, and a final speaker gave the meeting some food for thought with her assertion that, whereas members of the Association from long distances away could not be expected to attend a convention in as great numbers as the members in the centre in which it was held, those home members would be able to practically pack a meeting, and sway it in any way they saw fit.

At yesterday afternoon's session also, Miss E. MacPherson Dickson, of Toronto, newly appointed by the Provincial Government as inspector of training schools, gave the report of the committee on Curriculum for Standardization of Training Schools, consideration of, and discussion on, which was deferred until this morning.

The afternoon session ended with a drive around the city in cars provided and driven by members of the Motor League, followed by a very pleasant tea at the Y.W.C.A. given by the members of the Local Council of Women. A picture of the delegates was taken at noon to-day on the steps in front of St. John's church.

Evening Session.

The lone masculine speaker at the Nurses 'Convention, Mr. W. J. Dunlop, of the University of Toronto, appeared before the session last evening and gave a very interesting and humorous address on "Short Term Extension Courses." Disclaiming any desire to influence the taking of these courses, Mr. Dunlop explained his talk as simply a description of the advantages to be derived from such educational interludes.

From practical experience, he regarded as absolutely unreliable the statements of a certain Montreal gentleman who, in writing to the Old Country, described Canada as a place where materialism was the outstanding characteristic of the people. Not materialism, but a spirit which strove to grasp and hold something of the higher aspects of life was the characteristic of the Canada of to-day. We have done much along educational lines, but we are just at the beginning, nevertheless, and we will accomplish more in the next decade than we ever dreamed of."

The University of Toronto, "the provincial university," the speaker declared, is doing much to further the educaational wants and desires of the people. For forty years, it has been sending out professors wherever wanted, to give university extension lectures; for ten years, developing greatly in the past three or four years, it has been giving special after-hour classes for teachers; for two years it has been sending lecturers to Hamilton, where teachers, like those of Toronto, may take their B.A. degrees without interfering with their work, 556 teachers in the province taking advantage of such facilities during the past winter; for some years it has been giving evening classes to working men and women in Toronto, in which economics, psychology and English literature are taught; and throughout Ontario during the past winter, 21 classes of 972 working men and women have been taking this short course in cultural subjects.

Referring to the institution of special short courses during the last few years, the speaker described the success of the course for farmers, whose choice of subjects, far from being the practical, money-getting sort, included the study of English literature, history, economics, some architecture and some public health, and which was attended by a far greater number than anticipated, 279 being present on the opening day; the short course for newspaper workers, in which the most popular subjects were English literature and Canadian history, and was attended by 128 members; the course in town planning, attended by 51, the course in export trade, with 75 men and two women students: the urban tutorial and rural tutorial classes in villages and suburbs, the latter attended for two hours once a week, for the study of English literature.

The spirit of a seeking after culture, "a knowledge of the field of literature and the scope of history" was evident in all, instead of the materialistic spirit denied by the speaker and likened to the attitude of the pigs whose owner had given them the habit of calling them to their feed with the tapping of a scantling on a wooden trough, and which were driven crazy with disappointment thereafter when the tapping of a woodpecker lured them to false hopes.

Mr. Dunlop spoke of the rural community which wanted a course in community singing and found later that its interspersal with English literature drew more members than the singing sessions. He mentioned the course in measuring the intelligence and in psychology generally which was requested by the Ontario Society of Occupational Therapy and attended by 22 nurses, "who are always particularly interested in psychology," and spoke of the consistent efforts made by the University of Toronto to supply the people with the form of education they desired. Happening to notice the eagerness of attendants at the Toronto Fair to look through a telescope which was pointed only at the ceiling, he had two telescopes pointed at the stars on fine nights in the summer and advertitsed the fact that they would be available for seekers after knowledge in front of Convocation Hall, an announcement which often brought as many 300 people standing in line on a fine evening, waiting for a peep at the stars through either one. "We have been asked for many different sorts of courses, one for hotel-keepers among them, but I don't believe in overlapping with the work of the Technical schools," he said.

The University had been approached regarding a short course for nurses and was willing to cooperate with a committee who would make the necessary arrangements, the fee, as in the case of all the other courses, being the sum of $2. A list of subjects had been submitted, which included public speaking, pronounced a very popular subject in all the courses; Parliamentary Law, contagious diseases, dietetics, obstetrics, anaesthetics, X-ray, diet and disease, influenza, sleeping sickness, psychology, pneumonia, English literature and English history. Some at least, of these subjects might be arranged for, declared the speaker, who answered questions put to him regarding the most suitable time, etc.

A paper on "The Trained Nurse in Industry," prepared by Miss Muriel McKay, of Toronto, was read in her absence by Miss T. Jordan, of Toronto ,and gave an interesting outline of the duties of the trained industrial nurse. One of the first of these on this continent was a Canadian woman in the employ of the John Wanamaker firm in New York a quarter of a century ago.

The duties of the nurse in industrial work included first aid, prompt care of the sick and follow up work in the homes. Her work reduced the danger of infection, for it was undeniable that intelligent first aid in accidents reduced to a minimum the danger of infection, such a frequent consequence of these cases. Her assistance also helped to reduce the hours of absence through illness ,as it computed that for one day lost through accidents in industrial pursuits, 4 and three-quarter days were lost in illness. Advice, first aid, and follow-up nursing in the homes reduced the absentee evil.

The nurse should be well acquainted with the principles of sanitation, ventilation, lighting, etc., she should inspect the toilet facilites, drinking water, the lunch and cloak rooms, the safety devices .Her visits to the homes should not be for the purpose of detecting malingering or in any spying capacity, but she should work at all times to obtain the confidence of those with whom she worked, to promote, by intelligence and tact ,an atmosphere of good will between the different parts of the great industrial machines of to-day.

And if your parents were wealthy, your home everything you could wish for and if the courts demanded, you return home?

"Yes!" says Mrs. Susie Grace Ferguson Cofer, 16, who finds herself today in just that situation.

The young woman came here recently from her home in Sparta, Ga., 100 miles away, to visit her sister. At her sister's home she met D. J. Cofer, 22, blind since birth, known in Atlanta as an expert piano-tuner.

Pair Married

A quick courtship followed. The two were wed.

Then G. F. Ferguson, the bride's father, came here and carried his daughter back home. Cofer followed and instituted habeas corpus proceedings to gain back his wife. He won.

But no sooner had the reunited couple reached Atlanta than Ferguson filed papers seeking to have the marriage annulled, declaring Cofer had married his daughter through fraud.

The case will be heard soon in the Atlanta courts. Meanwhile the girl wife says all the law in the world can't make her stop loving her husband and that she intends to stick to him though they both starve.

"Love is the greatest thing in the world—and it's all that's going to count in this case," says she.

No remedy can cure all ailments of the human body, but an immense number of people suffer from aches, pains and disease symptoms when their real trouble is lack of iron in the blood. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron your food merely passes through you without doing you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. There is one universally known tonic that has helped thousands because it contains iron like the iron in fresh vegetables and like the iron in your blood.

NUXATED IRON

is an eminent physician's best blood prescription, standardized. It is recommended for all anaemic and run-down conditions. It has helped thousands of others. It should help you. Ask for it at any drug store.

BEGIN PLANTING TREES

AURORA, Ill., April 7.—"Plan to Plant Another Tree" has been incorporated as the slogan to the Tree Lovers Association of America, whose headquarters are here.

Dr. U. P. Hedrick, vice-director of the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station, Geneva, N.Y., is president of the society, which is organized for the purpose of encouraging increased and more intelligent planting of trees, fruit trees, shrubs, flowers, vines and seeds, and to teach care after planting.

The society works with all organized efforts on the above platform "to make each community a better place in which to live," and "to make America the garden of the world."

Activities are now being centered on the spring tree planting weeks which the society is promoting during the early spring months all over the country.

The highest explosive on earth is made by uniting a selfish man with a woman who has a high temper.

THE "KING'S POOR" HAVE FEET WASHED.

A Picturesque Medieval Ceremony Was Witnessed at Westminster Hall.

LONDON, April 7 (United Press).—Today, Maundy Thursday, witnessed a picturesque medieval ceremony at Westminster Hall, when the King's "Maundy Money" was distributed to twelve old men and twelve women, selected from the poor living in the shadow of Buckingham Palace.

The ceremony, which is a substitute for the biblical custom of washing the feet of beggars in Holy Week is no longer performed by the sovereign in person (James II. was the last British monarch to donate alms personally), but it is marked by considerable state and antique pageantry, although not made a public show.

The selected 24 poor old men and women, with hands and faces nicely washed and their best clothes carefully brushed, were marshalled by the King's Sub-Almoner, the Rev. Prebendary J. J. Percival, at the Royal Almonry Westminster, and with the assistance of a squad of the picturesque yoeman of the Guard, a semi-georgeous, semi-pathetic "parade" was formed up for the high officiating dignitaries who were the Hereditary Grand Almoner (the Marquis of Exeter), the High Almoner (Dean of Wells), the King's Treasurer and Keeper of the Privy Purse (Colonel Sir Frederick Ponsonby), and the Deputy-Keeper of the Privy Purse (Sir John H. Chappie).

After a short religious service the "maunds," or small baskets containing the doles, were carried round and each of the beneficiaries received the small coins specially struck for the purpose. According to the royal custom, the alms represented one penny for each year of the sovereign's life (fifty-nine pence in the case of King George, this year), but owing to the trivial value of the penny nowadays the money is not given in current coinage. Instead, special "Maundy Money" is struck, being small bronze and silver coins to the value of one, two, three, four and six pence, and these can readily be sold to collectors for many times their face value.

Incidentally this is the only private coinage King George is permitted to order from the Roya Mint, and it is not strictly "ega tender." Many of the recipients prefer to treasure up the little coins, but there is a steady market for them if actual cash is needed.

GIRL CLINGS TO HER BLIND MATE.

Only 16 Years of Age, But Marries and Defies the Court.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 7.—Would you stick to your husband of two weeks—

If he were blind and penniless and dependent for his living on a meager piano-tuning practice?

And if your parents were wealthy, your home everything you could wish for and if the courts demanded, you return home?

"Yes!" says Mrs. Susie Grace Ferguson Cofer, 16, who finds herself today in just that situation.

The young woman came here recently from her home in Sparta, Ga., 100 miles away, to visit her sister. At her sister's home she met D. J. Cofer, 22, blind since birth, known in Atlanta as an expert piano-tuner.

SMILE AND GOT HER PROTECTION.

Two Weapons of Deputy Sheriff Mildred E. Stephens, Assistant Turnkey.

WELLSBURG, W. Va., April 7.—Deputy Sheriff Mildred Evangeline Stephens, assistant turnkey of the Wellsburg jail, is armed with two weapons.

Her smile and—

The .32 revolver she always carries in her shoulder holster.

And nary a prisoner has tried to escape since she took office!

Perhaps she looks a trifle too dainty to be rough with husky prisoners, but other deputies at the Wellsburg jail say Deputy Stephens has just as much control over the county's guests as anyone in like position in the Panhandle.

Ever since her husband, Sheriff J. W. Stephens, took office, Nov. 7, 1922, West Virginia's only "guntoting" deputy has reigned as chief assistant to John Ralston, Sheriff Stephens' bookkeeper. On many occasions Deputy Stephens is alone in charge of the jail.

More than 200 prisoners passed through the Wellsburg jail in the course of a few months, recently, having been arrested for complicity in the miners' armed march at Cliftonville July 16, 1922, and for having been in the party which slew H. H. Duval, Sheriff Stephens' predecessor.

Books and books are written about what to eat, when the chief difficulty of the matter is how?

FISH WEIGHED 40,000 POUNDS.

Captain Thompson Caught the Great "What Is It" Nobody Could Identify.

By LAWRENCE MARTIN HARDING (By mail to United Press) —There are 600 known varieties of fish life in the waters of Florida. Captain Charley Thompson knows them all. He has caught most of them.

That about sizes up one of the most famous men in the world, of whom the world at leargehears little, as such things go. But say "Thompson" to a fisherman, and he will say "Who, Charley Thompson?" They all know him, and call him the world's greatest fisherman.

Out where the dun colored shaft of the old Spanish lighthouse rears its head, over Biscayne Bay, Charley Thompson was born, some fifty years ago. His grandfather was keeper of that old light, which was sending its beams over the shallow waters of Biscayne Bay when the Spaniards sold Florida. Thompson was born on Soldiers Cay, an island that locks to the passerby down the Biscayne channel to be about as big as a gingersnap, and about as interesting.

They call it Soldiers Cay because in the Seminole insurrection, along in 1854, the soldiers were quartered there, and there too occurred a massacre of whites by the Seminoles, who were rebelling against white domination.

Thompson learned about fish and fishing before he learned much else, and he has gone on learning and teaching some of his own high art to others, ever since. To see him land a fighting sailfish is a living proof of the triumph of mind over matter. For your sailfish is a fighting demon, who must be caught more by strategy and skill than by main strength. You dangle your bait out there for him—a nice eight inch ballyhoo fish, say—and the sailfish nosing along, hits the bait with his peculiar snout. Right there plenty of green fishermen lose Mr. Sailfish, for they think he has struck and taken the bait. But he hasn't. Charley Thompson's way is to snack off a bit when the sailfish hits the bait, and that makes the fish think he has killed the ballyhoo. Then he will take it into his mouth, and that begins the battle in real earnest.

Sailfish Big Fellows

These sailfish are big fellows. One Biscayne Bay skipper said he knew of 60 pounders, and had heard tell of some that ranged up to 100 pounds, though he had never seen any. A fifteen pound one is plenty big enough for most fishermen and it is admitted by fishermen that more of them get away than are captured.

It was Captain Thompson who some five or six years ago caught the great "what is it?" that nobody has since been able to identify. This monster of the deep weighed about 40,000 pounds and had a mouth and throat you could throw a barrel down. His hide was inches thick, and though he was half dead when Thompson came upon him, it took three days to capture him.

More than 100 shots from a rifle were fired into him, but the expanding bullets did not seem to bother him. He got angry once and with a flip of his enormous tail demolished about 50 feet of dock.

To prove that this is not a fish story, Thompson had the huge carcass mounted, and had exhibited it in several places. The theory is that the monster was wounded by some volcanic eruption on the ocean floor, miles down, and came to the surface, and then could not get back.

The Biggest Fish

On Cocolobo Cay, where President Harding went fishing, are the bones of another monster of the deep, so huge that his size is almost unbelievable. This huge fish was driven ashore by a school of sharks, who literally tore him to pieces. His bones were picked up from the shallow water next morning by members of the Cocolobo Cay fishing club, and are on exhibition there now. The vertebrae of the backbone are 36 inches long. The ribs are more than 11 feet long. In the stomach of this monster was found a bone of some fish it had devoured. This bone was bigger than any bone in a horse.

Captain Charley and some of his associates want Miami to become the fisherman's capital of the United States. They declare it will when fishermen understand the wonderful opportunities Forida waters offer them. You can't abash them either by suggesting that Miami already appears to be the fishstory capital. They, at least, know the wonders of these blue waters are real.

FEARS GERMAN RIVALRY IN MARITIME FREIGHTS

LONDON, April 7.—Germany has once more become a competitor in the sea-carrying trade of the world, says Archibald Hurd, an authority on maritime matters, in commenting upon the recent defeat in Congress of President Harding's ship-subsidy legislation. "The recovery of that country," says Mr. Hurd, "is one of the most remarkable, if the least generally recognized, events of the last four years.

"When the war broke out," continues this writer, "Germany possessed more than 5,000,000 tons of shipping. She ranked as the second greatest sea-carrying power in the world, and had created an efficient organization in every foreign port for dealing with passengers and cargoes. Under the Versailles Treaty she was compelled to surrender virtually all her sea-going ships, and was left with only about 400,000 tons of steam tonnage. Today, as the result of the thrift and industry of her workers, she possesses a merchant fleet of about 2,500,000 tons, and by the end of the present year will own about 3,000,000 tons.

"The Germans have built a great volume of new tonnage at very cheap rates and they have bought, and are still buying, second-hand tonnage in England and the United States and are paying cash for it. There is no country, east, west or south which is not now visited by German ships, and mouth by month the number of vessels employed at sea is being steadily increased.

"There has been little unemployment in Germany since peace was signed. The whole population, numbering 70,000,000, has been hard at work, laboring as a rule strenuously for long hours and at low wages. They have been creating an immense amount of wealth, and that wealth has not been exported to any considerable extent. In the main Germany has been re-equipping all her industries, and is now probably the most efficient manufacturing country in the world. Her shipowners, industrial magnates and great working population have built up once more a merchant fleet to carry the vast products of the country to all the markets of the world."

GREAT RECEPTION FOR THE SENATORS

World's Hockey Champions Given the Glad Hand in Ottawa.

OTTAWA, April 7.—(Canadian Press)—Transcending in magnitude and enthusiasm possibly any welcome ever accorded a band of conquering Canadian athletes, the reception given yesterday to the members of the Ottawa Hockey team, world's champions, and Stanley Cup Holders, on their return home, surpassed any similar demonstration ever held in the capital. Thousands of cheering citizens gathered at Union Station, lined up along the route of the parade and cheered the superb constellation of hockey stars who have brought such notable honor to Ottawa.

Among those on hand to welcome the players and club officials were His Worship Mayor Plant, the members of Board of Control members of the City Council, the chairmen and member of the various committees organized to extend a reception to the team and representatives of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, One Hundred Clubs and several other local organizations.

The players, team officials and the local sporting editors all expressed their pleasure at being back in Ottawa. The players were highly tickled with the spontaneous demonstration of acclaim and the congratulations showered upon them. They appeared to be in good physical condition and none seemed to show the effect of the two gruelling series through which they passed before annexing the world championship.

TOOLROOM HELD UTILITIES TO ONE

C. G. E. Gang Piled Up Nineteen Runs in Hard-Hitting Game.

The Toolroom nine walloped their way to a 19 to 1 victory over the Utilities ball tossers in the curtain-raiser of last evening's softball programme. The Toolroom had their batting eye, and swung mean bats, collecting many long hits.

The Utilities tendered the pitcher Nicholls the worse support yet seen in any softball game, and that's saying a great deal. They handled the innocent little soft ball as if it were a hot iron. Nicholls with his battery partner Dobson would have gone well if they had been given any kind of support.

The players were:

Toolroom—A Primeau, ss; Rose, p; Dugan, 1b; Helson, c; Frost, 1b; McElroy, 2b; Guerin, ss; I. Williams, lf; H. Williams, rf.

Utilities—Hines, 1b; Kernegan, 2b; Dobson, c; Nicholls, p; Clegg, 3b; McKinnon, ss; Reid, ss; Sharpe, lf; Johnston, rf.

Score by innings:

Toolroom	016237—19
Utilities	000001— 1

C.N.R. LOST TO THE LOCK WORKS NINE

Poor Support Proved the Undoing of the C. N. R. Team—Have Lost Five.

C.N.R. went into battle against the Lock Works in the final game last evening and for the fifth straight time came out the loser. Only in the third frame did the C.N.R. boys look at all dangeorus. In this inning they garnered three runs for a one-run lead, but the Lock Works grabbed off nine counters in the fifth, which decided the game without further argument. Mason was pitching for the winners, and with the exception of the third innings got fine support. MacMillan for the C.N.R. nine got practically no support at all.

The players were.

Lock Works—Connors, 2b.; McDougall, ss.; Mason, p.; Taylor, c.; Huffman, l.f.; Black, 1b.; Burke, s.s.; Baker, r.f.; Guerin, 3b.

C.N.R.— Morden, s.s.; H. Delahaye, 2b.; Rundle, s.s.; N. Delehaye, c.; Miller, 3b.; Corneeil, 1b.; MacMillan, p.; Tripp, l.f.; Royal, r.f.

DE LAVAL BLEW UP IN SEVENTH FRAME

Five Runs Gave the Canoe Company a Lead and a Victory.

After leading for seven innings with a 2 to 1 score the De Laval (Gray) team weakened and allowed the Canoe Company team to send five runs across the plate. The Separator boys tried to stage a comeback in the eighth but were only able to register one counter and the game went to the Paddlers by a score of 6 to 3. Aside from the seventh frame the game was a close and exciting one. In the seventh, however, the Canoe boys went on a bat fest that soon made the one run lead of the De Lavals look like an overdrawn bank account.

Murray did the hurling for the De Lavals and while he had far the better of the battle in the matter of strike-outs, he develpoped freaks of wildness that resulted in numerous free bases. He had seven each of walks and strike outs. Graham pitched for the Canoe Company and fanned but one. His team mates gave him good support and he was content to let his opponents swing on them and be retired at first.

The players were:

Canoe Company—P. Ecobichon, 1b.; Anderson, 2b.; S. Ecobichon, 3b.; Graham, p.; Copp, l.f.; Miller, c.; Gray, s.s.; Taylor, r.f.; Maudsley, s.s.

De Laval—Ward, c.; Cooper, l.f.; Elliott, 3b.; Kennedy, 1b.; McIntyre, s.s.; Miller, s.s.; Feeley, 2b.; McFarlone, r.f.; Murray, p.

Score by inning:

Canoe Co.	000 100 50—6
De Laval	010 100 1—3

WHEN SKILL BEAT STRENGTH.

This ringside picture of the St. Patrick's Day fight in Dublin between Siki, Senegalese fighter, and McTigue, Irishman, for the light-heavyweight championship of the world and the heavyweight championship of Europe, shows the difference in tactics between these two fighters which brought about McTigue's victory on points after the full 20 rounds had been fought. The Irishman, avoiding with skill the fierce dashes of his opponent, scored continuously by clever hits with his left. This shows McTigue dodging a ponderous blow from Siki's left.

Standing of the Soft Ball League

With more than half of the schedule played the Canadian Woollens now top the Industrial section of the Soft Ball League, while the Gunners occupy the stellar position in the club section. Neither of these teams have lost a game and they are the only teams in the whole league who can boast of a clean sheet. Gunners came close to losing on one occasion when the Firemen staged a last inning rally for five runs and a tie game, but they have yet to taste defeat.

The standings to date are:

BEAUTIFUL CUP TO QUAKERS A.C.

Trophy Was Presented By R. W. Cormack For Perpetual Competition — Won By the Office Team

The large and beautiful cup presented to the Quaker Oats Athletic Association by R. W. Cormack, for perpetual competition between the inter-departmental hockey teams was this season won by the Office team. The presentation of the cup was made a few evenings ago, Mr. Cormack presenting the cup to W. B. Perdue, president of the Athletic Association, who in turn presented it to the winning team. Mr. Cormack, in presenting the cup spoke of the great interest taken in the various branches of sport since the association had been formed The various contests had been the means of building up a more complete spirit of comradeship and co-operation among the employees in all branches of the plant than could otherwise have been possible. The efforts of the association are not being confined to one sport, but cover every possible game, thus giving every employe an opportunity for clean, healthful recreation.

The cup was received by Alex. Butcher, captain of the winning team, who replied thanking Mr. Cormack for the cup and the association for the effort expended in the organization of the league which had made possible the winning of such a splendid trophy.

The hockey league was composed of the following four teams: Office, Box Shop, Package Department and Mill team.

Among other branches of sport promoted by the association are: Football, tennis, bowling, soft ball for both men and girls, as well as billiards and other less strenuous games. Preparations are already well under way to place a strong football team on the field this season and plans are being formulated for a mens soft ball league during the summer months.

Changes in Schedule of Softball League

Since the schedule for the Soft Ball League games for next week was announced it has been found necessary to make a couple of changes. The 9 o'clock game on Monday night will be Kiwanis vs. Triple Link and not Firemen vs. K. of C. as previously announced. The Firemen-K. of C. game will be played Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

An effort will be made to have fifteen games played next week and in order to do so it will be necessary to play Saturday evening. The schedule for this evening has not yet been arranged, but will be announced on either Monday or Tuesday evening.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock a meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. All directors are requested to be present as well as the official representatives of each club. A number of registration forms have been received by the local secretary as well as fifty D.F.A. rule books. These will be sold only through the club secretaries.

The local executive is again asking for more men to act as referees as they feel sure that the public would like to see some new names on the list.

REDS STRONGER THIS YEAR, SAYS FARRELL

(By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, April 7 (United Press).—It took the Cincinnati Reds twenty-two weeks to get under way in the 1922 pennant race. It does not follow that Pat Moran's club would have had a part in the world's series, even if they had hit their real form before the week of 23rd September, but it is a cinch that a miserable start kept the 1919 champions from giving the New York Giants more of a tussle.

Tremendous handicaps were imposed upon the Reds last season by the injury which kept Pete Donahue, the best right-hander in the National League, off duty for months, and the pesky holding out of Eddie Roush, a power on the offence and defence.

It holds good with every club that a good start, while not of vital importance, is a very valuable foundation, and for the Reds of 1923 a good getaway is of the utmost importance.

The club with which Pat Moran will seek a third pennant is stronger on paper than the Red outfit that finished second last year with a most exciting dash in the last two weeks of the race.

Moran has an exceptionally good outfield, a hustling young infielder, a reliable catching department, and perhaps the most promising pitching staff in the National League.

Eddie Roush held out again this year, and is not certain that he will be in uniform when the season starts, but Moran found out that it was possible to get along without him last year, and the same should hold good this year. So if Roush remains away until August again the team should not be terribly handicapped.

At first glance, the attack of pneumonia which put Jake Daubert down for months and made it sure that he will not be able to start the season at first bose, seemed like a bad break for the Reds, but there are many baseball men who believe tht it might be a sheep in the garb of the well-known wolf.

Daubert had one of his best seasons last year. He was a wall on the defence and a power on the offence. Daubert, however, was due to crack several years ago, and, as in the case of Casey Stengel, the Giants outfielder, it is not safe to assume that he would be in for another great season this year.

Moran perhaps will put Fonseca on first base, and many eastern critics believe if he—Fonseca—gets a real chance at first that Daubert will have a hard time getting back into the game when he is physically able to play. John McGraw has said that Fonseca is a fine second baseman, but that he is a great first baseman.

With Fonseca and Bohne both held as second basemen, Moran would have a perplexing problem in making a decision which one to play and which to keep on the bench. The incapacitation of Daubert, however, relieves Moran, for a time at least, of that problem.

John Conway Toole, president of the International League, saw Rube Benton pitch two winning games for St. Paul in the "little world's series" with Baltimore last fall, and he said he had only once seen more perfectly pitched games, and they were pitched by Rudolph in the 1914 world's series.

If Benton is as good as he is said to have been last year, and if he retains that form during the coming pennant race, the Reds ought to be an even choice to win the pennant, as the experts said last fall that all Moran needed was one more good pitcher to win this year.

With Benton in form and with Eppa Rixey maintaining his average of last year, the Reds will have the best southpaw combination in the National League, unless Jack Bentley should turn out to be a sensation wit hthe Giants.

Pete Donahue is the ranking hurler of the right-handers, and if his arm is strong he might be the biggest winning pitcher in the league. Couch is a fine young pitcher, and Moran has said that he expects Keck to be one of the big surprises of the season.

It can be seen that the Reds have the material. Perhaps the brains, that come only after long experience, are not as general among the players as among the Giants, but the Reds have plenty of brains under the grey thatch of Pat Moran, and a wise hand will cover a multitude of mental slips on the field.

Perhaps there are no such factors in baseball, but Moran won a pennant in 1915, one in 1919, and this in 1923. Every fourth year, the figures show.

KIRMANS WON IN FIVE-PIN LEAGUE.

The Kirmans took two of the three games in the play off for the Brinton Carpet Five-Pin League and in doing so twice rolled over the thousand mark, while three men did better than 500. Shaughnessy was high man with 645, W. Curtis had 583, and A. Thomas 549.

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

"Hair-Groom" Keeps Hair Combed—Well-Groomed

Millions Use It—Fine for Hair! —Not Sticky, Greasy or Smelly

A few cents buys jar of "Hair-Groom" at any drugstore, which makes even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stay combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions.

Greaseless stainless "Hair-Groom" does not show on the hair because it is absorbed by the scalp, therefore you hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it.

Annual Meeting of P.A.A.A. Wednesday

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, which was held at the City Council Chamber on Wednesday night, 11th April, promises to attract sport. The officers of the Association are preparing the report covering the operations of the organisation, and these include many branches of sport. It is generally agreed that much good work has been accomplished by the Association.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—Anti-Unionists have been very solicitious for the immigrant; they have opposed the Union on the ground that it would leave the new Canadian without a religious home. They have, evidently, no concern for the thousands of born Canadians who, through inter-marriage and generations of indifference to religion have no denominational home. Those Ishmaels of the wilderness have no claim on the thought and consideration of the clannish little sectarian whose chief concern is for the salvation of the tradition rather than the souls of men; who burn with enthusiasm for the extension of Presbyterianism rather than the Kingdom of Jesus Christ.

I notice that many of those who are opposing the Union are "New Canadians," some Scotch, some Irish One can very well sympathize with the home-sick feeling that desires to preserve the old home atmosphere, but such sentimental considerations should not be allowed to stop the wheels of progress in this new country which faces the future free and untrammelled. Would such considerations affect the industrial, commercial, or professional life of this country, When the immigrant arrives in Canada and begins to tell us how differently they do things in the Old Land, he is not too gently told to go back home if he is not satisfied.

While many of those who come to Canada may have denominational affiliations, the great majority of them are nondescript so far as sectarianism is concerned, and I believe they desire to identify themselves with the life of Canada. A Canadian Church would certainly appeal to them, and it would undoubtedly provide a religious home for thousands of Canadians who regard Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches sanctuaries of the elect.

QUESTION OF REDISTRIBUTION

EDITOR EXAMINER:

Dear Sir:—The question of Redistribution or readjustment of Federal constituencies is becoming of live interest to Peterboro county and we believe the local papers are serving a good purpose in bringing this question before the people.

In the event of East Peterboro ceasing to exist as a separate riding, two proposals for her disposition are prominently before the electors. As both Peterboros fall short of the unit of representation for constituencies of their nature a proposal that is finding favor with very many suggests that county boundaries be maintained and the two ridings merged into one constituency, Peterboro. The other proposal first given publicity and later defended by Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., would subdivide East Peterboro into two or more parts and attach the remnants to W. Peterboro, Northumberland and possibly W. Hastings.

In a recent letter to THE EXAMINER I am taken to task by Mr. Gordon because I happen to be one of those who can see much justification for the merging of the two Peterboros and who feel little sympathy for the proposal of Mr. Gordon that seeks to conjoin for electoral purposes, territories having no county municipal relations with each other.

As a Liberal representative we believe Mr. Gordon is not on very safe ground in advocating such a policy as for the past fifty years the Liberal party has at all times expressed their strong disapproval with any system of political manipulation that would disregard county or municipal boundaries. In the debate on the Redistribution bill of 1882 the Liberal view was concisely expressed in the following resolution moved by the leader, Sir Edward Blake: "That the principle of observing as far as possible the limits of the municipal counties in adjusting Parliamentary representation is sound and should be followed in the said bill." Not only does Mr. Gordon at this time find himself in opposition to the principles advocated by the Liberal party and such illustrious leaders as Sir Edward Blake, but strange to say his proposed arrangements for Peterboro is in direct variance to the policy laid down by that recognized organ of the Liberal party "The Toronto Globe."

In as recent an issue as Sat., Mar. 31, in an article dealing with the question of Provincial Redistribution, The Globe says: "The public has come to accept county boundaries as more or less the line of demarkation between ridings. In other words, a redistribution must in the main, preserve the county boundaries, unless something strange and unlooked for is foisted upon the people. In 1908 Sir James Whitney stressed "the adhesion to county boundaries and the equalization of population" as the foundation of redistribution, and there seemed to be general agreement with him regarding these principles among the Liberals."

The official Liberal organ in its issue of Mar. 9th, under the heading "No more Gerrymandering" concludes a lengthy editorial on the subject of Redistribution with these forcible comments upon the Liberal resolution of Sir Edward Blake referred to above. "The Blake resolution embodies a sound principle, which, we trust, will always be a guide in arranging the constituencies. The practice of observing the municipal boundaries, even though in exceptional cases county boundaries may have to be disregarded, it is a safeguard against any temptation to partisan manipulation. The attempt to gain any advantage by such manipulation is small politics, indefensible in principle and unlikely to produce even partisan benefits of a substantial kind."

Compared with the mild words "Political Expediency" I used in a recent letter denouncing the disruption of East Peterboro The Globe's arraignment of any such policy as that advocated by Mr. Gordon, is very strong.

But Mr. Gordon says the unit of representation is the real issue and Mr. Burnham and Mr. Brethen are running away from it. While I hold no brief to speak for Mr. Burnham, in my recent letter to the local paper, I thought I made myself very clear upon the question of the unit of representation. Briefly I said, "while the unit of approximately 36,000 of population per member was recognized as the basis for allotment of members to the different provinces, within the provinces, it was generally conceded the unit of representation would be influenced by territorial boundaries and the consideration as to whether such constituency was urban, semi-urban or rural.

Mr. Gordon insists the unit of population is 36,000 irrespective of any other consideration and proceeds to carve up the ridings to make them approximate that figure. He would take the largely urban riding of W. Peterboro and by adding a slice of E. Peterboro make a semi-urban riding with only 35,000. Compare this with the semi-urban riding of East York with 111,658, or West York with 71,509. Then Mr. Gordon says to the rural riding of Northumberland with its already overlarge population of 30,512 he would add the balance of E. Peterboro making a rural constituency of over 38,000 or some 3,000 larger than the semi-urban riding of W. Peterboro.

Again we find Mr. Gordon distinctly at variance with his party organ. What has The Globe to say on the unit of representation? Referring again to its article on Provincial Redistribution in the March 31 issue, we read: "The last census showed the Province to have a population of 2,933,662 which on the basis of 111 members as at present would place the unit of population per member at 26,429. Naturally such an exact division is utterly impossible. For one thing the public has come to accept county boundaries as more or less the line of demarkation between ridings." It is taken for granted too that the unit for population for urban constituencies should be greater than for rural ridings."

On this question of Redistribution as applicable to Peterboro, I believe Mr. Gordon has taken a position directly opposed in principle to that of the great Liberal party for a great many years, to that of the recognized organ of the Liberal party and its most illustrious leaders, and also to that of the great majority of the Liberal party in Peterboro county. If Mr. Gordon still believes his position tenable I trust the joint committee of the East Peterboro Liberal, Conservative and Progressive parties who have called a big public meeting for Norwood, April 7, 1 p.m. sharp, will see to it that Mr. Gordon is given an invitation to attend and defend his position.

Yours truly,
G. A. BRETHEN.

JOKE

When Prof. Frank Lockwood joined the staff of the University of Arizona, he wandered into the cemetery and noticed that the tombstones indicated most of the early settlers of Tucson had departed this life rather young.

"Must have been a bad epidemic of something in these parts," Lockwood commented to an old man nearby. "What'd they die of?"

"Most of them died of a difference of opinion," the old man answered.

Differences of opinion—stubborn refusal to compromise and meet the other side halfway—caused most of the trouble in history. In Europe today, also.

BABY

The most interesting news from Europe for several weeks is the rumor that ex-Kaiser Bill expects another heir. If true, and if it's a boy, the birth may be tremendously historic.

For instance

For, when the boy reaches manhood, about 1944, it is conceivable that the Germans might be ready for another Emperor and the boy's older brothers all dead. The odds are against that. But the baby would be a big stake in the international lottery. You never can tell what any baby will grow up to be. That's half their charm.

South African Sugar Output

The sugar crop in South Africa for the season will be about 158,214 tons, according to the South African Sugar Journal for December, 1922. This production is an advance of about 5000 tons on the previous estimates. As the majority of the mills had stopped crushing by the middle of December, the latest figures can be accepted practically as the result for the season, which has been a very satisfactory one, with good rains, no floods and no drought. The coming season is also expected to be satisfactory.

The modern dance is wonderful exercise for the reformers' jaws.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 7 (Canadian Press). — Although to-day's stock market session obviously suffered from a falling off in speculative interest as a sequel to the severe reaction which culminated early in the week, it was again evident that the market's internal position had experienced considerable improvement from the setback. Prices in the main body of stock fluctuated sluggishly, showing virtually no selling pressure even though no disposition to resume the advance was manifested.

Attempts to win a following on the long side of a few stocks such as Brown Shoe, General American Tank Car, American Waterworks issues, and the North Americans were abandoned when even the habitual traders refused to shake off the lethargy instilled by the first brilliant sunshine of the season. On the other hand many stocks like Pacific Oil and Iron Products fell back but this was clearly due to a special cause. If the speculative fraternity showed no interest in the operations for the rise they were less concerned over the possibilities of snatching a profit on the short side, with the result that the prices drifted aimlessly throughout the session.

Women Voters Will Sift National Affairs.

DES MOINES, April 7.—The 1924 political situation will be discussed in detail at the national convention of the League of Women Voters here April 9 to 14, according to the preliminary program just announced.

The convention promises to throw light upon the attitude of women toward National legislation, politics and world peace problems. The subjects to be discussed include: practical politics in 1924, America's responsibility for world peace and how to meet it, the new program of efficiency in government, legislative achievements and objectives, and democracy and the woman voter.

The opening sessions of the convention will be devoted to a meeting of the council, sessions of the departments and standing committees conferences. There will be dinners to state presidents on April 9. The actual opening of the convention proper will take place on April 10, with the president, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, in the chair. The convention will receive reports of officers, recommendations from the executive council, and listen to the address of the president.

On April 11 the nominating and credentials committees will report, and in the evening of that day the first of the subjects on national and international affairs will come before the league in the form of a mass meeting at which "America's responsibility for world peace and how to meet it" will be the main topic under discussion.

The general election of national officers will take place on April 13, and the sessions will close with an executive council meeting on April 14.

Important Stock Suggestions

Buy the following: May wheat about $1.18. This is the time for frost scares, and wheat should sell around $1.40 within 60 days. Coco Cola would not surprise us if it sold near par this spring. Pan-American should be bought at the market price prevailing. The copper stocks — Kennecott and Utah—will be certain to advance to new high prices. It is our opinion that stocks NOW are purchases for a substantial davnce. Aiter the next advance there may be a further adjustment of prices.

SALVATION ARMY'S "UNKNOWN SOLDIER"

Being the First Recruit Enlisted in Peterboro Thirty-Eight Years Ago Tomorrow Morning on the First Marchout of a Recruiting Party of Four Officers From Headquarters Including "Happy Jack" Rogers—Tonight is Anniversary of First Service.

Thirty-eight years ago tomorrow morning the Salvation Army enlisted its first soldier in Peterboro.

On the previous Saturday evening the little recruiting party from headquarters held their first service in the old town of 1885, in the building on Aylmer Street that had been used as a Baptist church, now occupied by Gillespie's garage. A reporter of that day described it as a novel experience to the majority of those present.

The four officers from the divisional staff in Toronto, who had been sent here to establish the Army's first outpost in Central Ontario included Aide-de-Camp Eddy who seems to have been in command and Capt. Dyer, cornet soloist by reason of the fact that he was the whole band in himself. The intrigued reporter gave him the title of hallelujah bugler. Then there was (Mrs.) Captain Mills, and finally "Happy Jack" Rogers.

So the first entry in the chronicles of the local corps should be a modest little record of that preliminary and introductory service on the second Saturday night of April, 1885. The date was actually the ninth of the month, and when the Army meets tonight they may perhaps be mindful of the fact that thirty-eight years ago they were literally non-existent in Peterboro. It should be an important anniversary, but not quite so significant as the first marchout in public on the Sunday morning.

A Day For Beginnings

It was a Spring morning pregnant with new life and teeming with the evidences of nature's mysterious awakening from the winter's sleep and refreshment. The first faint stirrings of the strange vitality that was beginning to pulse again in all the things of earth beneath the azure sky of April were echoed in the eager, thrilling carols of robins and song sparrows. There was a sense of escape and ecstasy in the broadening horizons and the heady intoxicating effect of the crisp cool air and the radiant flood of sunlight. It was a day that augured well for things just beginning, a day that must have inspired with high hopes and courage the little company of Salvation Army crusaders as they set forth on their mission in Peterboro.

Assaulting the ramparts of Satan was one of the graphic phrases that seem to have been favored in referring to the inception of the Army's campaign. At any rate the four strangers with their strange religious ways, albeit thoroughly Christian, sallied forth upon the highway to drum up recruits for the Lord. The drumming was only rhetorical for a time, and on the first parade only Captain Dyer's cornet played the tunes for the hymns his three companions sang. And so they returned to their temporary barracks on Aylmer Street that Sunday morning with one soldier to be enrolled.

The newspaper report on the following Monday was unaware of the fact that it was recording history, and omitted to announce the name of the Salvation Army's original soldier in Peterboro. There was another march out in the afternoon and "another prisoner was captured" to quote the account of the day's proceedings. Captain Dyer and his party were followed to the barracks by a large crowd and the building was filled to overflowing.

800 Membership Now

Today that first recruit is represented by the Salvation Army's more than 800 members in this city. Many officers have preceded Adjutant Smith, but probably none of them, not even the Adjutant himself, confronted by the destruction of his Temple, needed stouter hearts or possessed hearts that were stouter than those of Aide-de-camp Eddy and his detachment from headquarters.

"Happy Jack" Rogers appears to have appealed strongly to the crowd and to the reporter, for his appeal for recruits to help carry on the fight against the dévil is given prominence in the account of the events. He was a brand plucked from the burning, a man regenerate and happy, and eager to tell the world the way to happiness beyond mere material things.

Happy Jack's Regeneration

The following are excerpts from the report in the EXAMINER of April 11th: "Happy Jack told what the Army had done for him. He had sunk low in vice and plunged in horrid sin. He had tried hard to withstand the voice of the Spirit when it called to him through the influence of the Army to give up his evil ways. But he had been overcome at last, and was now a faithful soldier. No happiness was equal to that he now enjoyed, and he had tasted this life's joys. There was never "a 'appier feller alive than he was." One Christmas festival he and his brother had drunk thirty gallons of beer. But that was forgotten and he had tasted no kind of liquor for the past two years."

Such are a few aspects of the Salvation Army's coming to Peterboro. Several of the officers remained here, and when General Booth visited the town on October 19th, 1886, and was welcomed at a big public demonstration the corps boasted of well over one hundred members. At length the new Temple on Simcoe Street was dedicated on July 14th, 1888, with appropriate ceremony and the Army entered upon a new stage of expansion which has gradually broadened out to its flourishing condition of today.

Scene From The "Dumbells" At The Grand Theatre Next Friday and Saturday

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Captain M. W. Plunkett, or 'Mert' as he is better known to his many friends in Canada, is making his first public appearance as an entertainer, since the old days in France, in his "Dumbells" revue, "Carry On" which comes to the Grand.

His return to the footlights after four years of attending strictly to the managerial and production end of his company, came about in an unusual way. Last summer he wrote a song called" Come Back Old Pal", which proved so popular that he decided to put it into the next new "Dumbells" show. When rehearsals started for "Carry On" he tried out several boys in the number, but none of them seemed to get the exact idea of what he wanted to "put over" in the song. Finally, he went back stage and asked the musical director to play it over while he demonstrated just what he wanted brought out in the son. When he had finished the first verse and chorus there was a burst of applause from the boys who insisted that he both keep the song in and do it himself.

AT THE CAPITOL.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE.

Stoddard and Brown, one of the best vaudeville attractions, play at the Capitol Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Stoddard is a very clever comedian. His playing on the violin 'cello, mandolin and guitar is a treat for the lovers of good music, as he certainly is an artist, and demonstrates his ability on these different instruments. Miss Stoddard is an excellent singer and a first-class musician. A feature of the act is the costume worn by Miss Brown, a French Rinestone costume. This act played over the theatres of the Capitol entertainment and have made a big hit.

PICTURE EXPOSES INSURANCE FRAUD.

Burglar insurance fraud is vividly illustrated in "A Daughter of Luxury," a new Paramount picture, starring Agnes Ayres, which comes to the Capitol on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

The evening before the Walford safe was robbed Mrs. Walford wore her jewels to the opera. Her husband Loftus Walford, suggested that he could raise enough on the diamonds to carry him through a big deal on which his fortune depended. But Mrs. Walford replies wisely: "A diamond in the hair is worth two of your deals in the air."

Mrs. Walford may have been right, but she didn't figure on one of his deals in the dark. Walford pulled one of the latter, and the jewels disappeared. At the same time Mary Fenton (Agnes Ayres), who is forced to pose temporarily as the wealthy Mary Cosgrove, is a guest of the Walfords. The real heiress learns she is being impersonated and takes action. There results a whale of a scene, and Mary is suspected of being implicated in the burglary. But Mary soon finds a chance to take the wheel, so to speak, and brings the situation to a happy standstill.

Miss Ayres has splendid support in the work of such players as Tom Gallery, Edward Martindel, Sylvia Ashton, Clarence Burton, Zasu Pitts, and Robert Schable.

SHAWL NEGLIGEES.

Indian shawl effects are noticed in negligees and lounging robes. They are colorful and lend themselves beautifully to artistic drapery.

GRETONNE BATHING SUITS.

Cretonne bathing suits are a novelty at Palm Beach. There are large and small hats and nifty parasols to accompany them. Large floral patterns, birds and futurist designs are noticed in the assortment.

TOMATO SAUCE.

Probably no sauce is used more often or with more satisfying results than a tomato sauce.

Of course, one made with some meat stock is richer and better flavored, but with plenty of seasoning a good one can be made without stock. Such, for instance, is this:

Prepare two cups tomatoes, one small onion (thinly sliced), two tablespoons bacon fat, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon each of sugar and salt, one whole clove, one-half teaspoon peppercorns, a small piece of bay-leaf and two tablespoons chopped celery, or, instead of the celery have one-half teaspoon celery salt, a sprig of parsley and one-eighth teaspoon thyme.

Fry the onion in the bacon fat, add flour and brown. Then add tomatoes and seasonings and cook slowly 20 minutes. Strain, rubbing every bit of pulp through the sieve. Season more to taste and serve.

A MEETING IN NORWOOD TODAY

Question of Redistribution Discussed by Number of Speakers.

NORWOOD, April 7. — At the public meeting being held in Norwood to-day to protest against redistribution, two members of each of the two political associations were appointed to wait upon the Redistribution Committee to protest against any change affecting East Peterboro.

The aim is to retain the riding as it is.

W. A. Anderson of Keene Deputy Reeve of Otonabee presided and the speakers at the early afternoon session included G. A. Brethen, M.P. for East Peterboro; J. A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., for East Peterboro; John Dewart, Liberal candidate at the last Federal election; and E. N. McDonald.

The meeting was very largely attended, the hall being practically filled.

WAS BLIND, SHE IS GIVEN SIGHT

Delicate Operation on 12-Year-Old Girl Provides Her With New Eyelids.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7.—(Canadian Press)—Virtually blind from infancy, 12-year-old girl whose name is with held for the present, has been provided with a new pair of eye-lids grafted on by nine operations and she now is learning to read and write at the State Eye and and Ear Infirmary. The new eye-lids respond to muscular control quite as well as though they were natural. There is but a slight trace of the surgery, and it is said this will eventually disappear.

For days after the surgeons had done their delicate plastic work, the girl's eyes were bandaged. On the day the bandages were removed she saw her parents for the first time. Since then she has made rapid progress in learning to read and write. Her recovery is now considered complete and she will be sent home and will attend school regularly as she is able to study several hours without eye-failure.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF EDUCATION CONVENTION

TORONTO, April 7.—(Canadian Press.)— Adjournment of National Council of Education until a date three years hence, when it is proposed to hold another convention, is before the semi-final business meeting of the Council to-day, under the presidency of W. J. Bulman, of Winnipeg. Motions were made to identify the Council with the Daughters of the Empire, Boy Scouts and other organizations interested in education, but it was the sense of the meeting that by including some such bodies and inevitably leaving out others, offence might be given.

The resolution was to the effect that recognition of Canadian Nationality should be made statutory both in census of population and in registration of births and deaths.

FRENCH INCREASE FINE AND PRISON SENTENCE

BERLIN, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)— French court martial sitting at Recklinghausen has increased to three years the prison sentence imposed on vice lord mayor Schaefer of Essen. His fine has been increased by six million marks. Herr Schaefer was arrested in February on a charge of not supplying French troops with automobiles and coal.

SAW VESSELS SINK.

VINEYARD HAVEN, April 7. — Canadian Press. — Five bodies were recovered to-day from Vineyard Sound, believed to be those of members of the crew of a vessel which coast guards saw sink in the Sound yesterday. They were life preservers bearing the name of "John Dwight, New York."

Society

Miss Mary MacManuss, Notary Public of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. J. Geary, Stewart street.

The tea given by the Local Council of Women in honour of the visiting delegates to the twentieth annual convention of the Graduate Nurses of Ontario, held yesterday afternoon in the Green Room and Library of the Young Women's Christian Association, was a very successful entertainment.

The nurses coming in from a very pleasant drive around the city, were welcomed in the rooms, beautifully decorated with ferns and spring-like daffodils. Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. James Kendry received the guests on behalf of the Local Council. Mrs. Joseph Mills had charge of the tea room, where, at the prettily-arranged table, Miss A. Lancaster and Miss F. Walton presided. An enjoyable programme of music was in charge of Mrs. H. Morphet. Mrs. W McKee Bingham, Misses Edna Corbridge and Daisy Davidson sang, and Mrs. P. Hooper gave a violin solo. Assistants in the tea room were from the affiliated societies, and included Mrs. W. J. Howden, Mrs. D. C. Legendre, Mrs. J. A. Johnston, Mrs. V. Hamilton, Mrs. J. W. Wolstenholme, Mrs. W. Belleghem, Mrs. F. C. Weber, Mrs. Robert Hall, Mrs. Joseph Wearing, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, Mrs. Holmes, Misses S. A. Tomkins and Phyllis Dawson.

An attendance of nearly two hundred ladies during the afternoon, including the visitors and attendants from the city, made a pleasant and bright event.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Waddell left to-day for a trip to Atlantic City.

Mrs. E. Leahy left for New York this morning to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. O'Leary.

Mrs. R. McQuade, who is training at the French Hospital in New York, left for that city this morning after a month's holidays spent here.

Mrs. A. R. Devell has returned to Toronto after spending the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hooper, Dalhousie street.

Miss Helen Moher, 238 Caddy street, entertained a number of her school girls at her birthday party. They enjoyed a very pleasant time in games and music.

RADIO OPERATORS MUST HAVE A RADIO LICENSE

The attention of all persons who have a radio receiving equipment is drawn to the fact that the Department of Marine and Fisheries advises the local Postmaster that it is absolutely necessary for them to have a license to operate same, which can be purchased at the Post Office, money order wicket, for the sum of one dollar. All persons who had a license prior to March 31, 1923, are requested to renew same.

FRENCH JOURNAL HOPES FOR ENTENTE AGREEMENT

PARIS, April 7 (Canadian Press). —On his return from London last evening, Louis Loucheur disclaimed the views on the reparations question attributed to him in the press, but told the foreign editor of Le Matin that he had brought back the conclusion that the British opinion had changed, and that the great majority of publii sentiment in England was clearly in favour of France.

Le Petit Parisien says an entente agreement may be reached as the result of M. Loucheur's visit to Great Britain

SAYS CHILDREN SHOULD DRINK MORE MILK

WASHINGTON, April 7 (United Press).—That country children are more prone to malnutrition than city children is indicated by investigations conducted in connection with the milk campaigns run in more than half of the states of the Union under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Miss Jessie M. Hoover milk utilization specialist of the dairy division, is authority for this statement. She has been carrying on milk campaigns in behalf of the Department of Agriculture for five years. Speaking of the situation among country children today, she said:

"The surveys show that in not a single case has the consumption by any group of children which we have studied reached an average equal to what is considered the minimum portion of milk for safety—one pint per capita per day. More frequently, the groups have averaged a half or three-quarters of a pint. Where milk consumption is lowest, under-nourishment is unusualy highest. The children of one Wisconsin county were the only exceptions I have found to the rule that mal-nutrition occurs as frequently among country children as among city children and in some cases more frequently. This rural situation is largely due to the fact that farmers sell their milk instead of using it at home."

Since more than 32,000,000 people—practically a third of our continental population—live on farms, the vast importance of properly feeding the children in the rural sections is evident. H. E. Van Norman, president of the World's Dairy Congress Association, has this to say about the sack of milk-drinking among country children:

"The milk check—the money received from the sale of milk by the producer—is only one cause for the failure of farmers to use more milk in their homes. Modern ways of life tend to specialization and the farmer is coming more and more to be a producer and less and less a manufacturer in every way. Time was when he made his own clothes, or had them made, at home, as an example. Now, he buys his clothes, his shoes and most of his manufactured supplies from others. He does not even make butter on the farm in the vast majority of cases. Frequently, he buys his meat from other people. He raises his products and ships them to those who do the manufacturing.

"This tendency to send produce away from the farm extends even to milk; which is prepared for shipment as soon as it is drawn from the cow and then sent off to the milk-collecting station, or to the creamery."

The discussion of milk-drinking in the homes of the nation will play a very important part at the World's Dairy Congress, which is to open at Washington, D. C., on October 2.

Headaches

Modern science has proven that headaches don't "just happen." They have a cause. The ache is but an effect and treating effects will do no permanent good. TO ADJUST THE CAUSE IS THE ONLY SOLUTION. Chiropractic has further proven that the cause is pressure upon the nerves that carry vital force or mental impulse, which is the means of all life in the body. The only place where such pressure by bony tissue can exist is where the nerves emit from the spinal column through openings between the vertebrae. Headaches may be

Direct or Adaptative

That is, they may be due directly to pressure upon nerve fibres which supply the tissues of the head and brain or they may be adaptative to abnormalities in other organs of the body. The Chiropractor determines the location of the nerve pressure which is responsible for the headache. He relieves this pressure and the ache disappears. This is not theory or a fanciful idea, but a proven fact, a grand reality which has brought and is NOW bringing relief to countless sufferers.

SAYS LEAGUE MIGHT ADJUST RUHR TROUBLE

Lord Robert Cecil Ridicules Suggestion That France Dominates the League of Nations.

IT'S ALL NONSENCE

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—"The occupation of the Ruhr for some years would be a great disaster," declared Lord Robert Cecil, in the course of an interview granted at the Government House this morning. "The Ruhr is the greatest industrial section of Germany, and its occupation for any length of time would mean a tremendous economic loss. By far the best way out of the difficulty would be for one of the nations to bring the whole question before the League of Nations for consideration and adjustment."

Lord Robert explained that any member of the League of Nations was empowered under Section Eleven of the covenant of the League to bring up any matter which had in it the threat of war. "I think there is rather a strong movement in the British House of Commons in favor of bringing it before the League of Nations," he said, "but it is, of course, a matter for the Executive to decide."

"Have you seen the suggestion made by Mr. Lloyd George in his articles that France dominates the League of Nations?" Lord Robert was asked. "That is a very silly suggestion," he replied. "I regret that a statesman of the eminence of Mr. Lloyd George should give the weight of his name to such a statement. It is fantastic nonsense."

A NEW SCHEDULE FOR THE NURSES

Proposal to Extend Minimum Training Period to Two and a Half Years

At the conventnon of Graduate Nurses held here last week, the newly-appointed inspector of training schools, Miss Edith Macpherson Dickson, of Toronto, presented for consideration a schedule of the minimum nursing course in training schools. As this tentative schedule was based on the former minimum training course of two years, the later decision of the nurses to alter the training period minimum to two and one-half years will allow of further extensions in the various periods. Suggestions for time extensions were made in the sections devoted to theory of medicine, surgery, gynaecology, infectious diseases, and nervous and mental diseases, also tuition in infants' feeding. The operating room practice, entered as six weeks, was recommended to be changed to eight weeks, and a course in mental nursing, both theory and practice, was regarded as beneficial by many of the delegates.

The tentative schedule for a training course, based on the two years' minimum, was as follows: In Theory only (exclusive of practical nursing demonstrations); (1) Theory of practical nursing (72 hours); (2) Anatomy and physiology (30 hours); (3) Materia medica (24 hours); (4) Theory and practice of dietetics (24 hours); (5) Medicine (10 hours); (6) Surgery, including orthopedic, (10 hours); (7) Gnaecology, (4 hours); (8) Bacteriology and urinalysis, (10 hours); (9) Hygiene)10 hours); (10) Ethics (6 hours); (11) Bandaging (practical and theoretic), (10 hours); (12) Obstetrics (10 hours); (13) Infectious diseases, (4 hours); (14) Nervous and mental diseases, (2 hours); (15) Children's diseases, (6 hours); (16) Diseases of the skin (2 hours); (17) Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat (6 hours).

The practical work included: Medical nursing (3 months on public ward duty; Surgical nursing (3 months on public ward duty); Nursing of Children (2 months); Obstetrics (8 weeks in practical nursing, including 10 cases); Contagious diseases (where possible) (2 months); Operating room work (6 weeks).

DECLARES THE GIBSON WOMAN NOT SUMMONED

Not at Chapleau When McKee Was Murdered and Could Have Been Heard at the Trial.

WAS NOT CALLED

CHAPLEAU, Ont., April 9.—(Special).—"Mrs. Gibson was not at the home of John McKee when he was shot and killed on the night of December 16 last. There can be no question of that," stated Mr. H. R. Armstrong, solicitor for Mrs. Gibson, to the Examiner. "Mrs. Connaughton is certainly mistaken as to the identity of the woman she saw at McKee's house. The presence or absence of Mrs. Gibson at the McKee place at the time of the shooting has been established beyond all doubt. Evidence to prove beyond question that the whole story of her alleged part in the affair is a mistake would have been placed at the disposal of either the Crown or the defence, had either so requested. But neither the Crown nor the defence were interested in clearing Mrs. Gibson's name, with the result she was not called as a witness.

"As to the statement made at the trial that Mrs. Gibson had gone to Florida or some other distant state and was, therefore, not available as a witness, that is ridiculous. Mrs. Gibson was not only in Chapleau for some time after the inquest, where her name was first publicly mentioned, but was in Chapleau for several days before and after the death of her husband, who died on the 12th day of February of this year. On the 28th day of February, scarcely a month before the trial, she was in my office at Chapleau, and was in town for several days at that time. So far from not being available as a witness, Mrs. Gibson was willing to attend at the trial and give her testimony had she been so requested by either side even without a summons. She was neither served with a summons nor requested to attend the trial.

"No application was ever made to me for her address," continued Mr. Armstrong, "and it is my belief that no subpoenae was ever issued to be served on her by the Crown or any one else. She has not been hiding in the States as suggested, but has been within the jurisdiction of the Criminal Court trying this case, and could have been served at any time, and would have been compelled then to attend and give her testimony."

Mr. Armstrong produced affidavits sworn to by Mr. and Mrs. Gibson and a neighbor, stating that Mrs. Gibson had been in her home on the evening of December 16, save for two brief intervals, when she had gone to a nearby grocery store.

GRENFELL MISSION TO LOCAL SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The Peterborough Sunday schools, which have always responded generously to the annual appeal in behalf of the youthful dwellers in the barren lands of Labrador and Newfoundland, are asked to remember the increased needs of that part of the world this year.

Cartwright school orphanage must be looked after this year, which has been one of the worst, according to newspaper reports, on the Labrador Coast. Last fall, the partial failure of the herring fishermen, whose catch totalled only about one-third of that of the previous year, brought on starvation conditions in many of the inland sections as early as February. Cargoes of food supplies were tied up at shipping ports, unable to proceed to the interior on account of complete suspension of land and water transportation through ice and snow barriers. Blizzards, furious equinoctial gales that took a toll of life and brought further stiffening of the frozen ice fields, also tied up electric power facilites, compelling many industries to close down. In some places lakes were frozen to a depth of five feet.

A recent newspaper despatch says: "Newfoundlanders, familiar with the tragic history of the shore fishermen, say that the west coast faces the darkest days in the annals of the colony."

And on top of all, comes the announcement of the failure of the sealing catch,owing to bad weather and ice barriers.

SEVERAL NATIONS ON WATCH FOR DOPESTERS

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press)—Several nations are understood to be on watch for an international dope fleet which is reported to be operating off Canadian coast. Notification of operations of this fleet was sent by Canadian Government to League of Nations at Geneva some little time ago. Further details of matter are, however, being withheld by the officials.

SENTENCE WAS AN INJUSTICE

Bishop O'Brien Appreciates Sympathetic Comments of Press in Regard to Prelates.

Before the sermon at High Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, His Lordship Bishop O'Brien. made reference to the sentences of death imposed on two Roman Catholic prelates in Russia, and executed in the case of Vicar General Butchkavitch.

The Bishop appreciated the sympathetic comments of the press, including editorials of the same tenor in many of the leading dailies, wherein the absolute injustice of the sentences was dwelt upon. His Lordship took exception, however, to a news item which appeared in the Toronto press of April 4th. It was a telegraphic despatch, purporting to be from Rome, and to give the mind of the Holy See in regard to these sentences. The Bishop read the following extract from a despatch from "Arnold S. Cortesi" to the Toronto Globe, and the New York Times of April 3rd;

"The Vatican has always claimed that the prelates are subjects of the Pope, and as such entitled to the rights and privileges of foreigners in any land"

The Bishop characterized such a statement as an oft-refuted fallacy. He repeated the distinction between the sovereignity of the Pope in spiritual matters and the sovereignity of the temporal ruler in temporal affairs. In things spiritual the prelates of the church, as all Catholics do, believe in the supremacy of the Papal Sovereign; in things temporal and secular, prelates of the Roman Catholic Church practice, and preach to the faithful, the supremcy of the temporal sovereign. Both rulers are supreme within the limits of their own jurisdiction, and neither should interfere with the other. As a British subject, the Bishop said he would yield to no man in his loyalty to the British Sovereign in all things temporal and secular, and would allow no man to qualify him as a foreigner in the Empire, simply because he was also a Catholic prelate.

PRISONER COLLAPSED AT SENTENCE DEATH

MONTAGNY, Que., April 9.—(Canadian Press)—Custave Dube of St. Adalbert, Montagny County, was Saturday evening sentenced to be executed on July 13, next, by Justice Gibson for murder of his wife, December last. When the verdict was returned accused, who had been saying his beads, fell to the floor and was supported by two constables, who were in tears. Daughter of accused and his mother had to be carried out of the chamber, being unable to sustain strain. His wife died, following revolver shot fired through her head by accused, who said they were shooting hens in a barn.

EXPLOSION WORST CASE OF SABOTAGE IN RUHR

ESSEN, Germany, April 9.—(Canadian Press.)— The explosion of a bomb destroying the lock of the Dortmund-Ems canal here to-day is considered the most serious case of sabotage yet reported on Ruhr waterways. The lock that was destroyed is near the junction of the Dortmund-Ems canal with the main canal that runs down to the Rhine at Duisburg and Ruhrort, where a large inland port is located.

The intention of the dynamiters apparently was not only to block the canal, but to drain the water from the main Rhine-Herne canal, which is the main waterway artery of the Rhur.

Circumstances of the explosion indicate that the bomb had been placed with great care in a difficult situation.

LAW GOVT. CONFRONTS DOMESTIC TROUBLES

When British Parliament Re-assembled Today 100,000 Workers Were on Strike and Half a Million Others Threaten to Lay Down Tools.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, April 9. — Domestic difficulties, which have piled up steadily since the inauguration of the Bonar Law Administration, confronted the government as parliament reassembled to-day. With 1,000,000 workers on strike and the possibility that half a million in the building trades may be added to this number, labour unrest presents perhaps the most serious difficulty, but others include—

1—The certainty of a sharp labor attack on the government's policy regarding housing and rents, a subject on which two recent bye-elections have already gone to Labour.

2—A fierce attack impending upon the budget which Stanley Baldwin will introduce next Monday with demands for decreased income taxation and less tax on beer.

3—The Housing Bill, providing for subsidies on certain type of dwellings, will be introduced after the budget, and will be the subject of severe parliamentary hammering.

4—The agricultural crisis, exemplified by strikes of farmers in Norfolk and Suffolk, will contribute to the government's unhappiness.

ARCTIC EXPLORER HAD A TALK WITH CABINET

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press)—Journal in its news columns to-day prints following—"Vilhjalmur Stefannson, Arctic explorer had prolonged interview with members of cabinet on Saturday in which he presented his views with regard to attitude which he considers government should assume in connection with Wrangel Island. They are, in brief, that Canada should declare Sovereignty over the Island, which lies in Arctic Ocean, north of 70 degree and off the Behring Straits, between Russia and Alaska and about 400 miles northwest of the latter country."

"Citizen" after declaring the explorer's interview, concludes. "Explorer got sympathetic hearing and it is understood that in his overtures to British Government will be backed up by the Government, which may establish post on island."

V. J. McELDERRY NEW PRESIDENT OF ROTARY CLUB

Installation of Officers is However Postponed for Week Because of His Absence from City.

NO SPEAKER TODAY

Although the installation proceedings had to be postponed because of the absence from the city of Rotarian V. J. McElderry, the members of the Peterboro Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon at the Empress to-day were informed of the list of officers for the year.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy of the Board of Directors made the announcement naming the officers as follows:

President—V. J. McElderry.
Vice President—Reid Wrenn.
Secretary—J. M. McHardy.
Treasurer—Douglas Lawrie.
Sergeant-at-Arms — Chris. G. Graham.

The other directors are Fred L. Roy and R. A. Browne.

The officers will be installed at the meeting of the club on Monday next.

In view of the fact that the installation ceremonies were to have taken place to-day no speaker had been arranged for and the programme was of an informl nature.

Little Miss Irene Wright, daughter of Rotarian Eddie Wright was a guest and she delighted the Rotarians with several most enjoyable recitations. This young elocutionist is fast making a name for herself and her readings are always appreciated.

Rotarian R. A. Browne sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginnia" very acceptably and a contest in which one half the club sang "Annie Rooney" and the other "Jingle Bells" was responsible for much fun and more noise.

President John Crane was in the chair and the attendance was large. Rotarians Orley DeGraw and H. R. H. Kenner were given a warm welcome after their recent illness.

TO ADDRESS MEETING CHURCH UNION ISSUE

A meeting under the auspices of the Presbyterian Association, of those who are opposed to the proposed union of the Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, and who favor the continuance of the Presbyterian church in Canada, will be held in the city in the near future. The meeting will be addressed by Dr. McGillvary, of Guelph, or by Rev. W. G. Brown, of Red Deer, Alta. Definite notice of time and place will appear later.

Sympathy is great unless it makes you want more of it.

Bubonic Plague Sweeping India Fatalities Appal

BOMBAY, India, April 9. — (United Press). — The bubonic plague is again sweeping India.

Nine thousand new cases were reported from all parts of the country during the week ending March 24.

Eight out of every nine cases resulted fatally, making 8,000 deaths in the week.

IMPROVEMENTS CITY HOSPITAL

Board of Health to Make Alterations at Queen Mary Isolation Building.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Health this morning, it was decided to ask for tenders for painting the south side of the interior of Queen Mary Hospital and installing a bath room on the ground floor. The latter alteration is on recommendation of the Provincial Health Officer.

A communication from the City Council indicates that the Council sympathizes with the proposal of the Board of Health to coordinate the work of the various health associations in the city, but is unable to act on account of appropriations having been made.

William Brady, 648 Armour Road, applied for sanitary conveniences and these were granted by the Board on the usual terms.

Act as Nurse.

Miss McCartney has consented to accept the position of nurse in the Provincial clinic here, in which position she will be maintained by the Provincial Department. The local Board decided to send Miss McCartney to Toronto, for a course of special instruction, the City Health Board to cover the expenses.

THE HOUSE COMMONS IS AGAIN UNDER WAY

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press)—House of Commons meets again this afternoon after ten days recess for Easter. From now on, till prorogration members will be more and more actively engaged. Private members days have ended but there is much business ahead. Budget, chief of all, combines bill, revision of Bank Act, Redistribution, Legislation to give effect to Halibut Treaty between Canada and United States bill to prevent publication of racing information and other matters.

In presenting his budget, Mr. Fielding, minister of Finance, will, it is expected, be able to show a surplus of ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure, but owing chiefly to railway expenditures, there will be an increase to net debt.

EXEMPLIFYING A KEEN INTEREST IN INDUSTRIES

Executive Council of Commerce Chamber to Visit Plants of Westclox and Otonabee Mills.

UNITED CONVENTION

The Executive Council of the Chamber of Commerce will visit the plants of the Western Clock Company and the Otonabee Mills tomorrow, as a sign of their interest in local industries.

Michigan Pikers.

The Michigan Pikers who are coming to Peterborough on 20th July, are making the only detour on their entire itinerary in order to visit Peterborough. Their reason for this is the desire to see the Lift Lock and the floating bridge, both structures of considerable interest to visitors.

United Convention.

The first united convention of the Boards of trade and Chambers of Commerce to be held in the Dominion will be held in Montreal on 9th, 10th, and 11th October next, and will be of the nature of a national convention. The, discussion at this gathering will be confined to topics of national importance.

One of the subjects to be considered will be the consolidation of the Boards of trade and Chambers of Commerce into a national body. This is practically the only country in the world which is without a national Board of Trade or National Chamber of Commerce.

Form Association.

The secretary of the Trent Waterways Development Association is going to Kingston to-morrow in the interests of the formation of the Rideau Lakes Association, representing all the municipalities in Eastern Ontario.

This Association is being formed on the same basis as that of the Trent Waterways Association, and the organisers of the plan have the advantage of the experience of loral men who were prominent in the successful exploitation of the Trent Waterway.

REDEMPTIONIST FATHERS WILL CONDUCT MISSION

At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, it was announced that a mission by the Redemptionist Fathers would be preached in the Cathedral for two weeks, beginning on May 6th. The first week's services will be devoted to the women, the second week to the men. Further announcements will be made later.

Announcement was also made of the presence in Peterborough for the next two weeks of Dom Eudine, a member of the Benedictine Order, from Farnhonrough, England, who is here to instruct the children of St. Peter's and St. Mary's Schools and the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral in church music, in connection with the effort begun some time ago in the Roman Catholic Church to restore the ancient liturgical music in use in former times. The Benedictine Order was charged by Pope Pius Tenth with the duty of restoring church music to the original Gregorian or plain chant.

SIXTY-FOUR VESSELS WILL BE DISPOSED OF

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press)—Twenty seven of sixty four vessels comprising fleet of Canadian Government Merchant Mercantile Marine are to be offered for sale.

Vessels to be disposed of are of smaller type, more suitable for coastwise than overseas trade, and yet not adapted for economic operation throughout Canadian canals.

DESCRIBES MONTREAL AS A MODERN SODOM

MONTREAL, April 9.—(Canadian Press)—Montreal as modern Sodom was picture drawn by Rev. Dr. R. L. Hart, of Sherbrooke Methodist church, Westmount and member of general committee of sixteen, in his sermon last night which was in reply to Recorder Geoffrion's recent strictures on committee activities. He said: "God save our city from public men who are using high office to perpetuate these perils. God save our daughters and our sons from peril of this modern Sodom."

He referred to Recorder's statement as one of the most remarkable fulminations that ever proceeded from lips of public man in Canada and added that it had to be admitted that Mr. Geoffrion's record showed he had lived up to his declaration of faith in regard to commercialized vice. Speaker could not see difference between supervision and toleration as drawn by recorder.

BOY WANTED—APPLY TO WM. LECH & SONS LIMITED 413 GEORGE ST. 3d 86 1560

: : RACE FOR TITLE, "MAGELLAN OF THE AIR" : :

LONDON, April 9.—Striving to become the Magellans of the air, four British birdmen will hop off within a few weeks here in a quadrangular race to complete the first flight around the world.

It was in 1522—401 years ago — that a handful of the sailors who had started out with Ferdinand Magellan, Portuguese navigator, landed at Seville and completed the first circumnavigation of the globe after more than three years of cruising.

To-day these four British expeditions will try with ships of the air to duplicate the achievement of the Magellan cruise:

ONE: The expedition of Sir Keith Smith.

TWO: That headed by Alan J. Cobham.

THREE, A project in which R. H. McIntosh, Captain Tymms and Captain A. McCloughry will be associated.

FOUR: An expedition headed by Captain Norman MacMillan.

All four contestants plan to start late this month or early next month.

Ground Carefully Laid

Because of the careful preliminary organization work being done by each of the four leaders aviation experts here believe at least one expedition will reach its goal, if all of them do not.

Sir Keith Smith, it will be remembered, last year planned a flight around the world with his brother, Sir Ross Smith. But when Sir Ross lost his life in an accident, the project was abandoned.

Since that time Sir Keith has made a tour around the world in which he inspected the route he intends to follow. He will use a Vickers-Viking, plane with a Napier "Lion" engine.

Cobham Famed Pilot

Cobham is a famous de Haviland pilot who makes trips in the regular air passenger service between Paris and London. He'll use a de Haviland 9 with a 240-horsepower Siddeley-Puma engine.

With him he will take Mackeuzie Grieve as navigator. Grieve was with Hawker in his famous trans-Atlantic flight.

Cobham expects to make the flight in 60 days. He will fly from England across Central Europe to Constantinople via Vienna; thence via Aleppo to Bagdad; on to Calcutta Shanghai, the Aleutian Islands and Vancouver. He'll fly across Canada to St. Johns, N.F., and thence across the Atlantic to his starting point.

McIntosh, Tymms and McCloughry will follow almost the same route. They will use a Fairey twin-float seaplane with a Rolls-Royce "Candor" engine.

MacMillan With Blake

Captain MacMillan, fourth leader in the race, went 10,000 miles last yer with Major Blake in the latter's attempt to fly around the world.

MacMillan will be accompanied by G. Malins who also was in the Blake expedition. They are backed by London club which is building a machine the dimensions and character of which are being kept secret.

The route McMillan proposes is: From England via Italy, Greece, Egypt and Palestine to Bagdad; thence across India and Persia to Burma, China and Japan.

Then the expedition will cut across the edge of southern Siberia to the Aleutian Island and around by southern Alaska to Vancouver.

Then MacMillan will cross the Canadian mainland to Halifax and will cross the Atlantic in a manner not heretofore attempted: Via Greenland, Iceland the Faroe Islands, Orkey, Shetland, Scotland—then to London.

In preparation for the trip "advance agents" will place caches of food and gasoline on the uninhabited islands of the Aleutian and Kurile groups.

CONFIRMATION IN 3 CHURCHES PETERBOROUGH

Bishop of Toronto Administers Apostolic Rite in St. John's, All Saints and St. Luke's.

THE LORD'S DAY

Yesterday Bishop J. F. Sweeny, of Toronto administered the apostolic rite of Confirmation in three Peterborough Anglican churches — St. John's in the morning, St. Luke's in the afternoon and at All Saints' in the evening—92 candidates in all between All Saints' and St. John's, in addition to a few at a special confirmation in St. Luke's, presenting themselves for the laying on of hands and the prayer and blessing of the bishop, authority for which the Anglican church claims is found in the scriptures, where Christ's apostles baptized, laid on their hands and blessed converts to Christianity. Thirty-eight were confirmed in St. John's church (21 males and 17 females), and fifty-two in All Saints' (23 males and 29 females), the rite being administered in the presence of large congregations.

The Lord's Day.

At St. John's in the morning the bishop, in place of his customary charge to the confirmation candidates, confined his address to "the observance of the Lord's day" as one day of seven for rest, a practice which he characterized as one of greater antiquity than the wonders, customs and observances revealed by the recent opening of King Tutankhamen's Egyptian tomb or in the ruins of ancient Ur, of the Chaldees, also recently discovered. For, he stressed, the Lord's Day dates back to the very beginning, when God rested from his six days' labor of world creation, and hallowed and blessed the seventh day.

Citing the fourth commandment, and emphasizing the character of the Sabbath as found therein, his lordship said this one day of rest—the Lord's Day—was worked into the fabric of ancient moral law, guarded by punishment for offenders against its strict observance. And it was also glorified by the promise of Isaiah that he who shall honor God by not doing his own ways or finding his own pleasure on the Sabbath, him also will God honor — "then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth."

Urging his hearers not to forget the divine promise of honor for those who honor God in regard to the Sabbath, the bishop held that the spiritual principle and significance of values contained in the traditional Jewish Sabbath had passed into the first day of the week, which Christians call the Lord's Day, for the Lord distinctly says that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. Touching on the right and wrong observance of the Sabbath, its misuse and abuse in this day and genertaion, he insisted that Sunday should be a day of rest, reverence, the practice of acts of loving kindness and the observance of practical Christianity. Warning his hearers aganst the adoption of the European Sabbath, so gradually, but surely spreading into the British Isles, Canada and the United States —a Sabbath on which its early hours are devoted to communion and worship, while the remainder of the day is devoted to man's purposes alone —he contended that this degrading of the Lord's Day emanates largely from the encroachment of foreign populations on the congested centres of British and American cities, constituting a menace to the sanctity of the Sabbath and the fundamental principles of Christianity. The Lord's Day he emphasized, is one for rest, worship, re-creation of man spiritually; and man has no right to rob God of a portion of it, either at the beginning or at the ending of the day.

Continuing, the distinguished visitor deplored all modern controversy and disagreement as to whether the seventh day or the first day of the week should constiute the Christian Sabbath, and the manner of its observance; and, in effect, he found justification for observing Sunday as the Lord's Day in that it is the day of Christ's resurrection and triumph over death after having completed the great atonement, which holds out to man the promise of a similar resurrection from the dead, and as such was observed by the early Christians.

Again reiterating that the whole Sabbath day should be kept holy and not simply a portion of it, the speaker counseled that if this nation wishes to walk in the high places of the earth in peace, prosperity and rich development as promised by God through Isaiah, let us see to it that we honor God by our strict observance of the Lord's day as a Christian people.

In conclusion, to the candidates His Lordship expressed his pleasure that they had come for confirmation on this first weekly birthday of the Easter Lord's Day, when our beloved Master broke the bonds of death and rose in triumph from the grave. He would be glad were it possible that every confirmation could be held on the Lord's Day, than which there is no more fitting occasion for administering the apostolic rite of laying on of hands.

AT ALL SAINTS'.

All Saints' Church was thronged last night when the Lord Bishop of Toronto, Rt. Rev. J. F. Sweeny, conducted the confirmation service. His Lordship was assisted by Rev. R. B. Grobb, Rector of All Saints', Rev. O. G. H. Lloyd, of St. John's, and Canon Forneri.

In his very eloquent confirmation address, based on St. John's Gospel ix., 4, the Lord Bishop said that the expression "confirmation obligations" simply means "Christian obligations."

The duty of public and private prayer and the frequent partaking of the Holy Sacrament are general duties of a Christian.

The duty of serving God in the particular state of life into which He has called us is a special duty. Like our Lord, we must do only those things which please God. "That is a very big programme," said His Lordship, "but that is what is going to abide, and the only thing that will stand the test of time and give you the victory in the conflict between the devil and your soul. It will stand the great strain of the great day of Almighty God, and is the only programme that is reaching out and on into the vast stretches of eternity. It is the only programme that is worth while."

The desire to know the will of God concerning us is the supreme desire of the soul, and out of this desire grows the great obligation of the Christian life. To know the wishes of your employer or your dear ones is a very important thing in its place, but the thing of paramount importance is to know the will of God concerning you, and when you know the will of God concerning you personally that constitutes a spiritual obligation. Nothing must come between you and your spiritual obligations once you know the will of God concerning you," said the speaker. This sense of obligation to his Etgrual Father carried Christ through His sufferings and death to God's right hand. Having realized your obligations to God, whether your work lies in the Sunday School, the Women's Auxiliary, the boys' work or social service, you must do your work now with all your might, for the night cometh when no man worketh.

"The time is short," concluded the Bishop, "too short for us all. It is terribly short for some of us possible who think it is long. The King's business requires haste, consecration, concentration and all the strength of body, soul and spirit to discharge the King's obligations. We must follow Jesus Christ, Who said, "I must work the works of Him who sent Me, for the night cometh."

Before proceeding with the rite of confirmation, the Lord Bishop expressed his pleasure in seeing so great a number ready to take upon themselves the privileges and obligations of full church membership.

Most Urgent Wants

There's a world of interest in the Want Ads. They reflect the urgent desires of various businesses, households and individuals.

The Wants tell what is most needed. If the cook has left, if a worker is needed in the office or factory, if an article of value is lost or found, if there is urgent necessity to sell a piece of property, square tenants, roomers or boarders—all such conditions are expressed and met in the Want Columns.

The Wants are close to the heart interests of its people. It is interesting to watch them carefully.

BONAR LAW NOW FACED WITH A DIFFICULT TASK AS PARLIAMENT OPENS

Difficult Conditions Both at Home and Abroad Will Prove Embarrassing to Conservative Government

POSITION WEAKENED.

LONDON, April 9. Canadian Press. — Troublesome days are in prospect for Bonar Law's "tranquility" overnment, on the eve of the opening of parliament, which will re-assemble to-morrow. This session will not be concluded until August, with a brief rest at Whitsuntide.

Even the supporters of the government do not deny that the Cabinet, with the delicate Ruhr situation hanging like the sword of Damocles over hear heads, and forced at home with budget difficulties and awkward housing and agriculture problems, are in uncomfortable seats. Thus far, the government has averaged a majority of 96 in the voting. To this result the National Liberals contributed substantially, having given twice as much support perhaps to the Cabinet as did the Opposition Liberals.

But the political experts aver that Premier Bonar Law's position has been weakening somewhat owing to events subsequent to the general elections. Three of his Cabinet appointees were defeated in bye-elections necessitated by their appointment to office and were forced to retire, it being conceded their downfall was due to the government's failure to furnish a ratisfactory plan for the solution of the housing problem which they were forced to face on the stump.

Three Defeats.

From Mr. Bonar Law's point of view, these defeats were particularly damaging not only because they represented severe adverse criticisms of his policy, or lack of policy, but because he has limited reserves from which to draft recruits to the government. Parliamentary experts assert that the government bench is much weaker than when the Ministry was first formed.

The general effect of the changes which had to be made in consequence of the defeat of these three Ministers is that the die-hard element in the Government has become more pronounced. Moreover, Coalition Conservatives, like Lord Birkenead and Austen Camberlain have shown no signs of throwing in their lot with the present Prime Minister, and the confident prediction made at the elections that the former Ministers would be found with the government on the reassembling after Easter has proved ill-founded. The resentment occasioned by the break-up of the Coalition still rankles. The former Conservative Ministers in the government of Lloyd George, are not overly hostile to the government but their attitude cannot be put higher than "not unfriendly."

Another factor in the complicated position is Mr. Bonar Law's health. His brief rest at Easter enabled him to get rid of the cold which had dogged him since the election, and rendered him almost voiceless just before adjourning, but his friends are uneasy regarding the effect the strain of the session will have on his general health.

Liberal Re-Union.

The Liberal reunion still hangs fire. Mr. Asquith's last move in rejecting the idea of a consultative committe, which would involve a common line of action for the two Liberal groups in the House of Commons, and in refusing to appear on the same platform with Mr. Lloyd George at Leeds, has disappointed the friends of the hoped for combination. It is suggested in some quarters that Mr. Asquith is ready for a reunion but is restrained by "domestic influences" and by a little knot of politicians who control the party organization. But there is also distrust and it is hinted that if Mr. Lloyd George became one of the leaders of the party he would range the new army with the Progressive Unionists, and there would be another coalition.

The philosophic members of both groups are content to await developments, convinced that reunion will come naturally when an issue arises which genuinely divides all the Liberals from the supporters of Bonar Law.

The Labor Party.

While all the developments are preceding behind the scenes, the Labor Party has made a brave show in the House of Commons, and according to observers is justified its claims as the official Opposition. The claims of the Laborites are inclined to be noisy, but on the whole the members have shown considerable parliamentary skill and have adapt-

POOR POLITICIANS HAVE HARD TIME

Calumniated, Vilified, Cariacatured and Made Targets of Slander and Ridicule.

MONTREAL, April 9. — Politicians are the most misrepresented of all men; they are calumniated, villified and caricatured, made the targets of slander and ridicule and generally held in contempt by all the newspapers. Such is the opinion of Hon. Phillipe Paradis, organizer of the Liberal party at Quebec, expressed in his address to the Reform Club here Saturday.

Mr. Paradis scored the press in general declaring that "young journalists, these men who are not capable of attaining a profession, but who creep and cringe and model their article according to the narrowness of their views," are responsible for the general bad opinion of politicians.

On the other hand, and according to Mr. Paradis, politicians are fine men; upright, honest, straight and virtuous. There are splendid public men in Quebec and in Ottawa; men who serve their country and province in the most disinterested way, whose ideals and ambitions are of the super-fine kind; in short, men who are several stages above the average man, and should therefore not be subjected to anything but reverence, respect, love and admiration, not only by the people who elect them, but especially by the press.

Mr. Paradis' contempt for editors, writers and reporters was reinforced by opposite quotations from Casimir Pirrier, Anatol France, Premier Poincare and Hilaire Belloc.

BENSFORT DANCE ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Music First Class and Arrangements Perfect—Bailieboro News of Interest.

BAILIEBORO, April 9. — The young people of Bensfort conducted a dance on Tuesday evening in the Bensfort Hall, where the attendance was gratifying, considering the disagreeable weather and the bad roads.

The Bensfort orchestra furnished inviting music for the occasion. A new piano has recently been purchased and installed in the hall.

Lunch was served by the ladies, and the evening was a very enjoyable one throughout.

Personal Items.

Mr. Sidney Smith, of Bensfort, disposed of his farm stock and implements, by public auction, on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large attendance of buyers, and almost everything sold readily.

Cars are once again able to speed along the Provincial Highway between Port Hope and Peterborough. The roads where they have been blocked with snow have been ploughed out and dragged, putting the Highway in good condition.

Mr. Fred White and his bride, of Kingston, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John White, of this village.

Mr. John Reid, of Toronto, is a guest of his uncle, Mr. George Eagleson.

A number of farmers of this district have tapped their maple trees. It is feared, however, that as the syrup season is so late, there will not be a heavy run of sap. The season is later than for some years.

STORMS IN FRANCE.

PARIS, April 9.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The period of stormy weather has been succeeded by a foretaste of summer which has been enjoyed during the last few days. Thunder and hail were reported from nearly all districts of France. Several houses were struck by lightning in Burgundy and the occupants were more or less seriously injured. Hail has caused damage in many districts and in the Perpignan district more snow has fallen.

BARON BYNG TO COMMEMORATE SCRAP AT VIMY

Canadian Troops Went Over the Top at 5.30 on Easter Monday Morning Seven Years Ago.

CORPS RE-UNION.

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—Representative officers of every unit of the Canadian Corps that was identified with the capture of Vimy Ridge on April 9, 1917, and also the British officers of senior rank who were attacked to the corps at that time, have been invited to attend a dinner to be given by His Excellency Baron Byng of Vimy, who was the Corps Commander during the battle, at Government House night.

This dinner will be the occasion for one of the largest re-unions of officers of the corps that has never been held in this country and Baron Byng is looking forward with marked pleasure to meeting many of those who served under him, numbers of whom he has not seen since he left the Canadians in France to take over te command of the Third British Army in June 1917. The Governor-General of Canada, when raised to the peerage, took the title of Byng of Vimy, in honor of the capture of what the Germans regarded as an impregnable fortress on the western front. The attack on Vimy was the outstanding feature of the battle of Arras, which was waged by British and Canadian troops on a twelve mile front on that Easter Monday seven years ago.

WORLD UNITY IS NOT A VAIN HOPE

So Declared Lord Robert Cecil at Massey Hall, Toronto, Saturday Night.

TORONTO, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—It was a heartening and inspiring greeting which awaited Lord Robert Cecil, Doughty champion of the cause of the League of Nations, when he arrived in the Massey Hall on Saturday night to tell the people of Canada something of the aims and achievements of the great movement for peace in which he is so deeply interested. The occasion was a fitting culmination for the great educational congress of the week.

Lord Robert Cecil brought the message, clear, practical and convincing, that world unity is no vain hope or Utopian ideal, but that, indeed, its essential principles are now in course of being demonstrated through the influence of the League of Nations. He was able to give concrete instances of contending nations which, through the instrumentality of the League, have adjusted their differences and avoided war, because of fear to face an enlightened public opinion.

No nation, he showed, wanted war, and if we would but thrust the public opinion of the world it would be avoided.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell spoke on conditions in the Old Country, and pointed to some of the defects in education there. There was too much opposition of class against class, and he believed it was founded on misapprehension of facts and misunderstanding of each other from a want of sympathy and good-will, which ought to have been ingrained as part of the education of men of the country. He felt that employers and manufacturers should look upon their trades rather as a profession than as a trade.

TWO BOYS DROWNED IN NOTTAWASAGA WATERS

Wagon Broke Through the Bridge — Father Reached Shore After Hard Struggle.

ALLISTON, April 9. Canadian Press. — Two young sons of Wes-W. Scott, a farmer residing near Alliston, were drowned, and their father had to swim for his life when his wagon went through a bridge into the raging waters of the Nottawasaga River here on Saturday morning. The tragedy occurred when his two sons, James aged 5, and Ernest, aged 7, were driving to Nicholson, five miles east of Alliston. They had crossed over the bridge when the horses got into a deep hole which was submerged by water. Horses, wagon and occupants were swept down stream by the torrent. The father made desperate efforts to save his boys, but was unable to locate them amidst the whirling waters, and it was with great difficulty that he managed to gain the river bank himself.

UNION BETTER TO DELAY FINAL ACTION THAN TO COURT DEFEAT

Rev. Daniel M. Gordon Strong Supporter of Church Union But Advocates Delay.

LEGAL DIFFICULTIES.

MONTREAL, April 9 (Canadian Press). — While always an advocate of church union, Rev. Dr. Daniel M. Gordon, former Principal of Queen's University of Kingston, Ont., an outstanding leader in Canadian Presbyterianism, has oftered the opinion in the present situation of that denomination in regard to organic union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches of Canada that it will be better for the present "to delay final action than court defeat."

Dr. Gordon's view is set forth in a letter to Rev. Dr. George Duncan, minister of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul in thie city. The venerable clergyman writes:

"You ask for my opinion on the proposed legislation submitted by the legal counsel who are the advisers of our Church Union Committee. They were asked to consider any legal difficulties that might be in the way of Union and to draft Acts that might be passed by the Dominion Parliament and the Provincial Legislatures. These draft Acts, with explanations, have been published, and I think that if they had been carefully considered by our ministers, there might not have been so general and urgent a demand by Presbyteries for immediate consummation of Union as has recently been reported.

"The draft Act proposes to incorporate the United Church such as a joint-stock company might be incorporated, and by this Act of Incorporation to consummate the Union.

"This is an entirely different view of the Church from that implied in the Acts which were secured in connection with the Union of the Presbyterian Churches in 1875. In the latter the Union was consummated by the action of the Churches and the Church is not incorporated.

"Our Church fathers, true to the teaching and history of the Scottish Churches, regarded the Church as Divinely appointed, its essential function being to bear witness for Christ, and for this work it must be self-governing and independent.

"The draft Act now submitted not only proposes to incorporate the Church, but also to 'ratify and confirm' the Basis of Union.' It might almost seem as reasonable for the negotiating Churches in 1875 to ask the various Provincial Legislatures to 'ratify and confirm' the Confession of Faith.

"In order to determine all questions regarding the rights of non-concurring congregations a Commission with large powers and final authority is to be appointed: but, although it is proposed that the non-concurring congregations be represented on this Commission, no provision is made for securing their consent to the Constitution or composition of this Commisson.

"These appear to me to be decidedly objectionable features in the Draft Act.

"I assume that all these points were duly considered by the legal counsel of our Union Committee and that there must have been some reasons which appeared to be sufficient to justify their decisions otherwise they would not have submitted this Draft Act as necessary for the consummation of Union. Their decision, however, seems to me rather to illustrate the legal difficulties in the way of that consummation.

"I am, as I have always been, an advocate of Union; but would regard with grave aprehension any attempt to push through the proposed legislation as it now stands, and in view of the present opposition to Union and of the weakness of the vote of members in its favour, I would expect the failure of any such attempt. Better delay final action than court defeat.

"The Union that I long for and pray for, and for which I am willing even to wait a little longer, is one that would preserve all that is best in our heritage from the Scottish Churches, that would leave no ground for resentment in the hearts of brethren, and that would enable our Presbyterian Church to make still further contribution to the welfare of our country and to the advancement of the Kingdom of God."

"Let patience have her perfect work."

NEWS NORWOOD AND DISTRICT

Allen Bongard Passed Away on Saturday — Auxiliary Meet — Personals.

NORWOOD, April 9.—The death occurred on Saturday morning, April 7, of Allen, the sixteen-year-old son of Mrs. Lillian Bongard. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon from the family residence, Dummer Road, to the Norwood cemetery. The services will be conducted at the home and at the grave by the Rev. T. M. Wesley, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He leaves to mourn his loss his mother, two brothers and four sisters, who have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends.

Auxiliary Meeting

The Young Woman's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. John Rogers on Thursday evening.

Preparatory service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Friday evening last. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed on Sunday morning.

Personals

Mr. Gardner, of Chicago, Ill., was a guest at the home of his brother, Mr. William Gardner in Dummer, during last week.

Miss Grace Douglas returned to Brantford on Friday after spending the vacation with her sister, Miss E. Douglas.

Miss Jennie Clysdale returned to Toronto on Saturday. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Cora Clysdale, who will remain in the city for an indefinite time.

Mr. O. Baskin returned to his home at Highland Creek on Friday.

Miss Pauline Weir returned to Toronto on Sunday after spending the past week at her home.

Mrs. J. Vandervoort, who spent the winter with friends in Peterboro', returned home on Saturday.

STRATFORD, April 9 (Canadian Press). — Joseph H. Creighton, who, according to a telegram from an Indianapolis solicitor, has fallen heir to $2,000,000 through the death of his uncle, Benjamin Randolphe, disappeared yesterday morning from his boarding-house, and had not been heard from at a late hour last night.

CATTLE FROM CANADA DO NOT CAUSE A SLUMP

Cattle Arriving at British Ports Last Week Commanded Good Prices.

SMALL NUMBERS.

LONDON, April 9 — (Canadian Press Cable) — The fact that the Canadian store cattle which arrived at British ports last week fetched practically the same prices as English wholesale meat at the Smithfield market has occasioned surprise. "The general public had been led to expect a fall of meat prices with the arrival of Canadian store cattle," says the London Star which interviewed the leading importers in an effort to find an explanation.

Smithfield merchants point out the impossibility of a handful of cattle like 425 head affecting prices. The secretary of the meat traders' federation said that even if a thousand head came in weekly they could not come to the market for months. A reduction of prices could not be expected until cattle were imported in large quanitities and placed on the grazing grounds.

Another authority thinks that the good prices obtained for Canadian stock were due to temporary causes, notably the fear that the strike of agricultural workers might last for months.

SWANS AND DUCKS IN A FLIGHT OF DEATH

NIAGARA FALLS, April 9—(Canadian Press)—Biggest flock of swans and ducks ever seen in this district came over Falls last night and yesterday were slaughtered by hundreds from their flight over cataract which was attributed to storm. FRANCE WILL LEAVE THE RUHR ONLY WHEN GERMANY HAS PAID UP

The Ministers of Poincare Government Reiterate the Determination of France to Stand Firm.

NO NEW POLICY.

PARIS, April 9—Canadian Press—Five ministers of the Poincare Government journeyed to distant parts of France yesterday, and standing beneath monuments dedicated to the war veterans, and unveiled in their presence, solemnly informed thousands of French citizens that "the Ruhr will be evacuated only when Germany has fulfilled her reparations obligations."

The War Cross was affixed to the Coat of Arms of various cities which gallantly withstood the German occupation for four years.

The statement respecting the Ruhr is interpreted generally and in political circles is said to be intended as the official reply to the suggestions made in certain quarters opposed to the present policy in the Ruhr, that M. Loucheur's visit to Great Britain where he met Premier Bonar Law and Mr. Lloyd George, followed by conference with President Millerand and Premier Poincare, was the beginning of a change in the French attitude and that the French Government was wavering and was willing now to talk with Germany.

M. De Lasteyrie, Minister of Finance, speaking at Turrene, in the Department of Correze, said:

"Occupation of the Ruhr is the only efficacious means of coercion we have against Germany. We are no longer prepare to accept empty promises and vain signatures. We have a guarantee, and we have decided to hold it until we have received satisfaction. We will evacuate the Ruhr only as Germany settles her reparations."

The War Minister, M. Maginot, in awarding the Croix De Guerre to the town of Saint Dizier, in the Meuse Department, said:

"Germany must pay and disarm.

After four years of patience, which has been interpreted as weakness, we have been forced to resort to coercion. We have occupied territories not for annexation purposes, but to safeguard our rights. Germany will realize our unshakeable resolution to evacuate the occupied territories only in accordance with her schedule of payments. She knows full well

Crowds Greeted the Winner of 52 Mile Perambulator Race

BRIGHTON, England, April 9—(Canadian Press)—Wheeling a perambulator in which nestled her baby, Mrs. Lily Groom, of Easthourne, finished first in the 52-mile perambulator race, from London, Saturday, covering the distance in twelve hours and twenty minutes.

Mrs. Groom was loudly cheered by crowds of spectators who gathered to see the finish of the novel race. She was still going at a good pace when she crossed the "finish line," followed fourteen and twenty three minutes later by two of the 25 others who started out from London at dawn. The mothers who finished second and third, likewise, showed by little exhaustion, while all three babies appeared happy and contented.

Two of the mothers were left resting by the roadside.

GETS SIX MONTHS AT BURWASH FARM

Amateur Burglars' Case at Millbrook Disposed of—One Released on Suspended Sentence.

MILLBROOK, April 9.—The two amateur burglars who operated here on Sunday night, April 1, and were later placed under arrest by Constable H. Nattrass, received a preliminary hearing before R. J. Doak, J.P., and were taken to Port Hope on Saturday morning for trial.

Police Magistrate Campbell allowed George Lane, the older boy, to go on suspended sentence, this being his first offence. Albert Lane, a brother, was sentenced to six months at Burwash Farm. For a previous infringement of the law in the States he was only recently allowed out on parole. The prisoners gave their ages as 26 and 22 respectively.

Film May Attack

Your teeth tonight—while you sleep

There's a film on your teeth—a viscous film. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

While you sleep, acids may be formed in it. Most tooth troubles, most cloudy teeth, are due to film.

This is to tell you how to combat it, and offer a convincing test.

Film troubles

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. That's why so few have escaped tooth troubles, despite all care.

New ways found

Dental science, after long research, has found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two new film destroyers were embodied in it. That tooth paste is called Pepsodent.

Fights acids too

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus every use gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

World-wide use

Careful people of some 50 nations now use Pepsodent, largely by dental advice. Wherever you look you see the results. Teeth glisten as they should.

Watch the results on your own teeth. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results will surprise and delight you. You will never again go without them. Cut out this coupon now.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

THE HERRIN MASSACRE.

It is an interesting commentary upon the manner in which justice is administered in some sections of the United States to hear that the acquittal of the second lot of miners alleged to have participated in the Herrin (Ill.) massacre last summer was hailed with joyous celebration.

No recital of German atrocities during the war could be more harrowing than the story of the cold-blooded murder of twenty-two non-union miners, callously put to death by a mob after they had been promised fair treatment and had surrendered.

Twenty-two men massacred in broad daylight with scores of on-lookers, and yet not one of the guilty parties has been convicted!

Indeed, the miners' union boasts that not a solitary prisoner of those indicted in the case will be found guilty or punished.

Surely there is something wrong with the process of law enforcement when an atrocity of this nature can be perpetrated without the conviction of one of the murderers.

It is a very dangerous impression to allow to be developed that any body of men, organized labour or whatever they may represent can take the law in their own hands and kill their fellow-beings with impunity.

Yet that seems to be the moral of the Herrin massacre.

WHAT ABOUT PETERBOROUGH?

The people of East Peterborough have taken their stand on the question of Federal redistribution and its possible effect upon the county.

At a meeting at Norwood Saturday, notable for the total absence of any sign of political intrigue and for the evident interest taken in the matter by voters of all three political parties, a resolution was unanimously passed urging the Redistribution Committee to leave the two Peterborough ridings as they are at present.

It is doubtful if there is much chance of this forlorn hope succeeding.

East Peterborough, with the second smallest population of any Federal riding in the Dominion and the smallest in the Province, according to Saturday's speakers, can scarcely avoid being wiped out in the reshuffling of Ontario constituencies.

The East riding voters will fight to save their constituency, but if they fail they will press for the county of Peterborough to be made one riding, instead of being carved up.

What about the West riding, and particularly the city of Peterborough?

Here is a matter that vitally concerns this community, and so far but scant attention has been given to it.

The City Council, instead of considering a communication calling attention to the situation, referred it to the Legal Committee, which has not yet been called together.

What are Peterborough's wishes in the matter?

Do we want to back East Peterborough in its fight to have the present ridings maintained, or failing that to have the county remain as one constituency?

Or are we satisfied to have county boundaries disregarded, part of the East riding added to the West and the remainder distributed among other constituencies?

At least Peterborough should have a voice in the question.

The people of the East riding have shown commendable enterprise and public spirit in elliminating party hostilities and in making possible a conference capable of looking at the problem from a non-partisan viewpoint.

In this respect they have proven themselves decidedly more alive to the situation than have their fellow-voters in the West riding.

It is high time Peterborough as a city recognized the need of action in regard to redistribution.

VIMY RIDGE.

No matter what our difficulties, problems and differences, by the exercise of those qualities which triumph... Vimy Ridge Canadian manhood will win through.

Such is the inspiring message sent to the people of Canada by General Sir Arthur Currie on the anniversary of one of the greatest triumphs scored by the Canadian corps in France.

Six years ago today on April 9, 1917, Vimy Ridge, one of the most dominant and strongest positions held by the Germans on the western front during the war, was captured by the Canadian corps, assisted by the 13th Brigade of the 5th British Division.

The capture of this commanding fortress that overlooked the British lines for a wide stretch to the west and the city of Lens, one of the most important mining centres in France, the city of Douai and other towns in the vicinity to the east was the outstanding feature of success in the Battle of Arras, fought on that Easter Sunday.

Zero hour was 5.30 on Easter Monday morning. The artillery broke into a mighty crescendo. The firmament above the attacking troops seemed to be a canopy of shrieking steel. The earth trembled with the shock. No battle ground had ever been the scene of such a terrible inferno. Within forty minutes from zero hour all the enemy's first line trenches were captured and the Canadians were moving steadily forward to the second line of defence, while the artillery barrage crept ruthlessly before them. The Canadian barrage was carried out with wonderful precision and accuracy. The terrain which the Germans had held soon became a mucky waste of craters, and barbed wire and debris. By the time the barrage lifted from the final objective at 1.28 in the afternoon the whole Vimy Ridge had been captured, except its northern corner, known as the Pimple and Hill 145, where the troops of the 4th Division had met with the most obstinate resistance and had to beat off a succession of counter-attacks. But the next day Hill 145 was won and two days later the Germans were driven from the Pimple.

In the afternoon of April 9 a troop of Canadian Light Horse swept down onto the plain between the crest of Vimy Ridge and Douai, and narassed the retreating enemy.

In that Easter Monday fighting, the Canadian corps, in addition to capturing the last of the great viewpoints held by the Germans south of the Lys, had made a wide breach in the enemy's wall, and had taken over 4,000 prisoners, several batteries of guns of different calibre, hundreds of machine guns and trench mortars, and a vast quantity of war material.

Ludendorff in his despatch on the battle stated:

"The enemy succeeded before noon in reaching our battery positions and seizing heights which dominated the country to the east. The counter-attacking divisions were not there to throw the enemy back. The situation was extremely critical and might have had far-reaching and serious consequences if the enemy had pushed forward. But the British contented themselves with their great success, and did not continue their attack, at least not on April 9."

The attack would have been continued and the success fully exploited had it not been for the weather, which being so wet made it impossible to move the guns up rapidly, and in such a battle the infantry could not advance without generous support from the artillery.

But the Vimy show did not end for the Canadian corps with the capture of the Ridge. The fighting was continued well across the level plain in front of Douai, until Willerval; Arleux and Fresnoy were taken. Fresnoy fell before an attack of the 1st Canadian Division on May 3, and a few days after the corps was taken from the line to rest and reorganize.

In the three weeks' fighting on the Arras front the Canadian corps captured over 5,000 prisoners, 55 field and heavy guns, hundreds of trench mortars, huge supplies of material, penetrated to a depth of six miles and decimated a number of enemy divisions. Altogether the Vimy "show" was one of the greatest accomplishments of the Canadians during the whole period of the war. The success was the result of perfect co-ordination of every branch of service in the corps.

STEFANSSON AND WRANGEL ISLAND.

The patriotic efforts of Vihjalmur Stefansson, the distinguished Canadian explorer, to add Wrangel Island to the territory of the Dominion is proving to be more complicated than he anticipated. Wrangel Island is an island about the size of Java, perched up in the far North above the extreme eastern part of Siberia. It has been an international "maverick." It lies opposite Siberia, but was never formally occupied by Russia. It was discovered by an American, but he made no effort to claim the island for the republic.

Several years ago the survivors of the wrecked steamer Karluk, of the Stefansson Polar expedition, landed on the island. After their rescue Stefansson conceived the idea of claiming the island for Canada and at his own expense sent an expedition North, headed by a young Toronto adventurer, to hold the territory for the Dominion. This expedition is still in possession of the island, and Stefansson at the present time is fitting out another ship to take supplies to it.

However, the efforts of the explorer to annex the island to Canada do not seem to be appreciated either in Ottawa or in London. There is official indifference in both capitals, probably for fear of international complications. This is nothing new. Great Britain has always been accused of being a land grabber, but the facts are that the British Empire has extended throughout the world, not as a result of any set policy of territorial development, but through the efforts of British explorers and adventurers. The empire has grown despite the statesmen at London. The New York Post, discussing this very subject, recently pointed out that New Zealand was saved to Great Britain in 1839 by the spirited colonizer, Edward Gibson Wakefield, only when the French were on the point of taking possession. In Hawaii in 1794 a council of chiefs asked for British protection and a naval lietenant hoisted the British flag, while in 1922 Kamechameha, II., confirmed the protectorate, but the British Government would never acknowledge the acquisition. Tahiti was discovered by the British in 1767 and a British flag hoisted, while in 1825 Queen Pomare was eager for a British protectorate; but Louis Phillippe, of France, was allowed to take over the island. The Fijis all but slipped from the careless British hold—W. T. Pritchard saved them, to the intense indignation of the colonial office. Australia for years after 1867 labored to effect British annexation of Eastern New Guinea, but the British resisted until they found that the Germans had gobbled half.

The New York Post's remarks that the occupation of Wrangel Island by Stefansson "adds another to the many striking instances of the extension of British sovereignty by energetic subjects without the knowledge and even against the will of the colonial office. London cares nothing about Wrangel Island, and Ottawa little."

The explorer claims that Wrangel Island has great resources through furs, fisheries and mineral wealth. He is also persuaded that there may be polar air routes some day, which would make the island of strategic importance. Despite the indifference of Ottawa and London he proposes as long as he can afford it financially to hold it for Canada and the British Empire.

Canada does not want to go to war with any of its neighbors over Wrangel Island, nor does she want international feeling to be raised, but unless there is danger of serious complications then the Dominion should not hesitate to recognize the action of Stefansson and assert sovereignty over this unclaimed Northern isle.—London Free Press.

EAST PETERBORO WILL FIGHT FOR TWO PETERBORO MEMBERS

Progressives, Conservatives and Liberals Join Forces in Concerted Appeal to Redistribution Committee—Meeting of Protest at Norwood Saturday.

Deputation to Ottawa.

(By Staff Correspondent)

NORWOOD, April 9.—United by the reported probability of the extinction of their riding in the forthcoming redistribution of the Federal constituencies, East Peterborough Progressives, Conservatives and Liberals at a largely attended public meeting here on Saturday afternoon decided upon an immediate offensive with the object of retaining two members for Peterborough County. A committee composed of the President and Secretary of each of the three political associations was appointed to wait on the Ontario Redistribution committee and protest against any action that would deprive Peterborough County of one of its members of Parliament.

The committee is composed of H. G. Fitzgerald, Lakefield, and E. C. Squire, Norwood, representing the Conservative Association; Dr. Munro, Warsaw, and W. A. Richardson, Norwood, the Liberals, and Morley Smithson, Otonabee, and W. Barrie, Norwood, the Progressives.

John Dewart sounded the clarion call of "no surrender" in a snappy address, and after he had left the meeting, returning to Indian River on the afternoon train, E. N. McDonald, M.L.A. for East Peterborough, took up the fighting slogan and finally carried the meeting unanimously with him in favor of the Foch tactics that the best defense was a vigorous offensive.

Party Lines Down.

The Town Hall was comfortably filled with Tories and Grits of the old guard of many campaigns and Progressives whose comparatively recent success was personified by G. A. Brethen M.P. W. A. Anderson, Deputy-Reeve of Otonabee and one-time Liberal standard-bearer in the riding, was chairman. Party lines were obliterated by the common danger, and after a prolonged and friendly discussion the electors declared themselves in full agreement with Mr. McDonald's plan of an immediate expedition to Ottawa.

Mr. McDonald refused to admit that East Peterborough would be offered up as one of the sacrifices to redistribution, and his persistence swept away a recommendation that had been presented at the commencement of the meeting to draw discussion suggesting the merging of East and West Peterborough into one riding in the event of any change being made. Mr. McDonald briefly sketched the affairs of the riding from Confederation, and asserted that it had been threatened before in its history and had survived, and exhorted the three parties to line up again behind the demand that Peterborough County continue to have two representatives at Ottawa.

Mr. Brethen Explains.

On a blackboard erected on one side of the platform Mr. Brethen had roughly outlined the Peterborough ridings and their neighbours, showing the following populations according to the latest census: West Peterborough, 29,318, including 20,994 in the city; East Peterborough, 13,716; West Hastings, 34,451; Northumberland, 30,512; Durham, 24,449; Victoria and Haliburton, 33,995.

Mr. Brethen devoted his remarks largely to an explanation of the circumstanies that demanded a redistribution, and why East Peterborough was threatened with obliteration as an entity. According to the British North America Act, a census of Canada was taken every ten years, and the constituencies were allotted representation on the basis of that census. Quebec had been made the standard. The number of its members in the Federal House was fixed at sixty-five, and as the population of that Province grew so did the unit of representation. Thus in 1901 the unit was about 25,000. Ten years later Quebec's populaton had grown to nearly two millions, and dividing sixty-five into that number, raised the electoral unit to 30,000. This year Quebec has 2,600,000, which brings the unit of representation up to 36,300.

This unit of population was applied to all Canada. Mr. Brethen continued, to determine the number of Federal members each Province was entitled to. Ontario's growth had practically kept pace with Quebec's, so that its quota of members was unchanged at eighty-two. Nova Scotia showed a decrease, and was one Province that would lose representations.

Smallest in Ontario.

"Our population today is 13,716, while ten years ago we had 15,449," Mr. Brethen said. "We are the smallest riding of the whole Province of Ontario and the second smallest in the Dominion. Large ridings with populations up to 100,000 were clamoring for readjustment, and to do that the committee must take from the smaller ridings their members in order that representation may be given to those ridings which have more than double the unit. Naturally they are beginning with the smaller ridings and trying by dividing them up or throwing two together here and there to get seven or eight members for redistribution among the larger ridings."

Some of the smaller constituencies nearly on a par with Easter Peterborough were cited by Mr. Brethen, as follows: Dufferin, 15,415; North Ontario, 15,420; Grenville, 16,644; Prince Edward, 16,806; East Elgin, 17,306; Lennox and Addington, 18,944; South Perth, 18,382.

While Peterborough County has two members, some of the other low counties had only one member. Dufferin, Grenville and Prince Edward were mentioned in that class by Mr. Brethen.

"There is a feeling that no county should be wiped out altogether. We have 3,000 less population than ten years ago and the unit is 6,000 larger, so that we are 8,000 worse than we were ten years ago."

Mr. Brethen said that his personal interest was in the retention of East Peterborough within its old boundaries, but it was foolish to shut one's eyes to the situation as it appeared.

"It is all very well to talk of retaining the riding, and if there is any possible way of doing so, of adding to it from other ridings, we would all be delighted," Mr. Brethen continued. "To retain East Peterborough with only one-third of the unit of population at the expense of ridings that have 50,000 to 60,000 population, in fairness I don't think that would appeal to any one.

An Alternative.

If that is not feasible, then what is the next solution? Manifestly West Peterborough is too small. Any riding with a comparatively large urban vote should be at least from 30,000 to 40,000. West Hastings, including Trenton and Belleville, is possibly not too large at 34,450. Northumberland has 30,512, which is fairly large, and about enough for a rural riding, which should average satisfactorily at 26,000 or 27,000. You can't take anything off West Peterborough, and if there is any suggestion how we could take parts from Hastings, Haliburton or Northumberland and bring us up, then the solution is solved. It has been proposed that Lakefield, Douro and Otonabee be added to West Peterborough and the other municipalities be divided between Hastings and Northumberland or go intact to Northumberland."

In concluding, Mr. Brethen said he had simply tried to present the facts of the situation to the meeting in order that it might be thoroughly understood and discussed.

Mr. John Dewart.

John Dewart, Liberal candidate in the last Federal elections, declared himself in favor of fighting to preserve the historic riding of East Peterborough in its old identity. After that, if need be, something else might be considered, but at the present stage Mr. Dewart suggested a vigorous protect and appeal to the Redistribution Committee of Ontario.

John A. Sexsmith.

John A. Sexsmith ex-M.P., said the same conditions obtained in 1911 when he was the representative of the constituency. East Peterborough was the smallest riding in the Province in point of population.

"I hadn't any hope we'd be able to save East Peterborough. I went through the struggle, and if I had taken as selfish a view as Mr. Gordon, I would have said go, and East Peterborough would have been joined to West Peterborough. Sometimes I think it would have been better if I had. At that time I had the promise that East Peterborough would remain unless I consented to it going. We then anticipated that after ten years the city of Peterborough would have a population of 35,000 or 40,000 but to our surprise and our regret, Peterborough has increased only 12 per cent. And I may say that if the public men of Peterborough take as small a view of the interest of the county as the present member, I wouldn't expect Peterborough to flourish or to grow very fast. Mr. Gordon's attitude is selfish and is opposed to the principles of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I agreed with Laurier that where possible the political and county boundaries should coincide. I will give the Liberal Party in the past credit for that policy of keeping county boundaries intact."

Mr. Sexsmith said that in recent communication he had recommended to the Hon. Mr Meighen that if East Peterborough had to go that the whole county be put into one riding. He believed that a resolution wouldn't be worth a snap of his fingers unless pressure could be brought to bear upon Mr. Gordon, who would have more power than Mr. Brethen and Mr. Dewart.

Mr. Brethen interjected the remark that from his observation the Ontario committee would have to settle its own problems and bring in its own recommendations as to redistribution.

Appeal to City.

Mr. Sexsmith believed that an appeal should be made to the city of Peterborough. The citizens would have some influence with Mr. Gordon, and if they could influence him to say that the two ridings should go together that would settle it. Mr. Sexsmith said he couldn't see much hope for anything better than that, and he regretted that the Peterborough Examiner had not as yet expressed an opinion one way or another on the matter.

Mr. Sexsmith advised that an effort be made to secure the support of Peterborough City in urging upon Mr. Gordon that if any change is made in redistribution affecting East Peterborough that it be included with West Peterborough in a new riding embracing the whole county.

BONAR LAW

ed themselves to novel surroundings under the shrewd guidance of J. Ramsay MacDonald.

Mr. MacDonald has difficulties as his party is not homogenous, but by strategy he has kept his followers together and his authority has not yet been seriously questioned.

This, then is the political situation at the reopening of Parliament and the deepest interest is manifested throughout the country in the future stand of the Liberals and the Chamberlainite section of the Conservative party.

The first knotty problem to be faced by the government is in connection with the agricultural situation, which since the adjournment of Parliament, has been greatly aggravated by strikes of farm laborers over wages. The initial debate on the subject, it is expected, will take place on Wednesday, when the strong agricultural section in the House, headed by Colonel Pretyman, will demand a specific statement from the government as to what it intends to do for the betterment of the situation.

Demand Action.

This section is prepared to demand that the government enact into law the recommendations, just published, of Mr. Bonar Law's agricultural tribunal. This at present is an unpleasant situation, since the tribunal's recommendations are distinctly protectionist, and while they are said to coincide with the ideas of the bulk of the Conservative party, yet it is admitted that the passage of protection laws at this stage would arouse a tremendous outcry and increase the Government's opposition from Labor and the Liberals.

Neville Chamberlain will be placed on trial with housing and rents. He was appointed to the Ministry of Health with the warm support of all sections of the Conservatives, but has yet to win his spurs. He has had a difficult task in handling the question which perhaps is nearer the hearts of the people as a whole than most of the others which come up for discussion and which have cost the government so dearly already.

The statement of Stanley Baldwin Chancellor of the Exchequer, on the budget, will probably be made April 23. There will be a number of interesting debates during the session, including that on Philip Snowden's motion, which to all intents and purposes would turn England into a Socialistic State.

Lady Astor's liquor bill, which aroused such a furore when introduced in the earlier half of the session, will also be taken up for detailed consideration.

DOUBLE DROWNING FATALITY, SUNDAY

Two Toronto Men Lose Lives When Fishing for Suckers.

TORONTO, April 9.—(Canadian Press) — Precipitated into the water below dam at Erindale on Sunday morning while fishing, Herbert Sullivan, aged 34, and William McDole, aged 21, Toronto, were drowned, their bodies being swept out of sight by the fierce current at that point.

The double fatality, which is the first drowning this year, was caused by a sudden snapping of the net pole which McDole and Sullivan were hauling in from the narrow ledge at the foot of an abutment. There was almost a third victim in Gordon Simpson, who seeing his chums' peril courageously dropped into the racing flood, fully dressed, and attempted to save them. But they were swept beyond his sight in a twinkling and he, was hard put to save himself.

Sullivan and McDole were sitting together, Sullivan holding the net, when he thought he had got a sufficient of load and started to haul the net up. But it was too heavy for him alone so McDole leng his assistance The added strain, however, proved too much for the weak pole and it snapped, causing the catch of suckers to fall back into the water, and the two men to lose their balance and follow it. Sullivan is survived by his widow and six young children McDole leaves a sister.

THE INSURGENTS ARE IN BAD WAY

Rebels in Ireland Being Captured at Rate of Two Hundred a Week.

By Geo. Macdonagh, United Press Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, April 9.—The insurgent cause in Ireland is in desperate straits if one may judge from the document published here to-day by the Free State. The collapse of the rebellion against the present Irish Government would appear to be imminent.

One document, the minutes of a recent meeting of the first southern insurgent division, states the division has been "fought to a standstill," that its morale is weak, and that a summer campaign is impossible. Another document quotes a resolution of the Irregular Executive Committee, meeting March 23, to the effect that further armed resistance against the Free State will not further the cause of independence.

The resolution was defeated 6 to 5. Other documents describe the "futile tinkering" with the situation by Eamonn De Valera and his associates.

The Free State Government vouches for the authenticity of the documents.

On Saturday Kevin O'Higgins, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, announced the rebels were being captured at a rate of 200 a week, and that less than 2,500 remained organized against the Free State.

CAMPBELLFORD BOARD WILL NOT AFFILIATE

Cheese Board Met on Saturday—Will Accept New Conditions Relating to Grading.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — The members of the Campbellford cheese board will carry on this year as usual and will not affiliate with either of the two cooperative companies now before the public. They will accept the new conditions under which all cheese must be graded by a government expert and have no fear that they will lose anything by this system as the cheese produced in this section has always been rated among the best in Ontario.

The decision to go it alone this year just as they have always done in the past, was reached at a special meeting of the Board which was held in the township council room on Saturday afternoon. There were about 20 members present, nearly every factory in the district being represented. Fred Barnum, the president, who is associated with the Rylstone factory, occupied the chair. The chief speaker was W. S. Cook, the well known cheese buyer of Belleville, who thoroughly explained what the new government order with regard to the grading of cheese meant to the producers. He claimed that it would beyond all question work out to the advantage of the producers in the Campbellford district. Manager G. Nicol of the Bank of Montreal also made a short address in which he stated that the new conditions as to grading would not adversely affect the bank standing of the members of the board.

Bow Grading is Done.

Mr. Cook said that Belleville buys the cheese at the car door. It is graded by an expert when it reaches the city. His firm is willing to take the chance that all the cheese coming from here will be No. 1 just as it has been in the past. If any of it is rated as No. 2 the Campbellford people will be notified at once by telephone and for the inferior grade the price will be ½c a pound less than that of the better grade. If the cheese is shipped direct from Campbellford to Montreal for export to England it will be graded here.

Mr. Cook said that the new order with regard to government grading was a necessity. So much inferior cheese was going from this country to England that the buyers there were refusing to handle Canadian cheese and were beginning to buy exclusively from Australia and New Zealand. With a grading system in effect the best cheese would command a ready market and a high price overseas.

There was no advantage, he said, to be gained by cooperative selling as proposed by some of the propogandists now at work in the province.

Right Idea of Co-operation.

"The cheese board is the right idea of co-operation," said Alex. Hume, one of the members. "We are working for our own people, and anything we make goes back to them. The co-operative companies make a charge of 7 per cent."

Mr. Hume asked Mr. Cook the difference between No. 1 and No. 2 grades but was assured that this district would have none of the latter. If there were any No. 2 the buyer would pull these out of the lot and buy them over again at a reduction of ½c a pound.

"There is no cheese in Canada," said Mr. Cook, "which is equal to that which is made in this district."

Selling cheese that is too "green" has resulted in a lot of inferior stuff being dumped on the market to the detriment of the reputation of the Canadian product. These sales will be stopped by the new system of grading."

"Have any factories represented here linked up with the co-operative companies?" asked Mr. Cook.

It was stated that not one factory in the district had done so. This announcement recild the rumour that five factories had cast in their lot with the co-operatives.

Board is Unanimous.

Finally William Locke made a motion which was seconded by Alex. Hume, that the Campbellford cheese board carry on during 1923 as formerly. This was carried unanimously.

The first regular meeting of the board for the sale of cheese will be held on Thursday, April 26th, at 10.30 a.m. Some of the factories, it was reported, had already started operations for the season.

Before the meeting adjourned W. Murray made an address in which he threw further light on the new regulations. Every vat of cheese that is produced is to be properly marked. All cheese is to be weighed here before it leaves for the market. There must also be a label on each cheese as well as on the container.

FORMOSA SUNDAY IN CAMPBELLFORD

Sermon of Special Interest in the Presbyterian Church by Rev. Armstrong.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — Yesterday was Formosa Sunday in the Presbyterian Church, and it was observed at the morning and evening services and at the Sunday School session in the afternoon. The special preacher for the day was Rev. E. A. Armstrong, M.A., of Toronto, who has spent some time in the foreign mission field, including Formosa.

For the past two years the congregation of St. Andrew's Church have maintained a missionary, Rev. C. A. Williams, in the distant island, paying all his salary and travelling expenses in the field. Mr. Williams is assisted in his labours by his wife.

Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the Formosa mission field, the first worker among the natives, and at the services yesterday pamphlets were circulated showing the wonderful growth of Christianity in that part of the world during the past 50 years.

India and Self-Government.

In his evening discourse Mr. Armstrong dealt with the civil and religious problem in India, and his conclusion was that that country is not yet ready for self-government. In his introduction he emphasised the necessity of religious brotherhood, of an international spirit among the different races. Chemical analysis reveals no difference in the blood of different people, no matter what their colour may be, and for reason all should be regarded as members of the same human family.

Mr. Armstrong regards China as the greatest potential power on earth, with its millions of population and practically unlimited resources of all kinds. That country, he predicts, will soon be pacified and its growth will then begin. Fortunately for the rest of the world, the Chinese hate rows. They may have the largest, but theirs is the most incompetent army in the world.

In India there are 67,000,000 Moslems, more than there are in the entire Turkish empire, but the majority of the people are of the Hindoo faith. The Hindoos do not believe in war, and one Moslem soldier as a fighter is worth ten of them. If the British rule was withdrawn, these two factions could never agree on a ruler, as one would refuse to accept a king or ruler from among the ranks of the other.

For a variety of reasons Mr. Armstrong believes that self-government in India is an impossibility for some time to come. There are too many languages and religions for one thing, and the caste system is also an objection. The most ardent admirers of the British Government in India are the American missionaries, who believe that if the British retired from that country, chaos would result.

India's only hope is the Christian religion, and Mr. Armstrong concluded his interesting and instructive discourse by calling attention to the need for more missionary workers in that vast field.

Special music was rendered at all the services by the choir, under the leadership of F. Wrigglesworth, the new organist.

Personals.

Mrs. W. H. Hart has returned home after visiting her son in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Thompson entertained a number of friends at bridge on Friday evening.

Viola, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross McComb, gave a birthday party to about 25 of her young friends on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Ada Locke, of the Toronto Public school, who has been spending her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Locke, English Line, returned to Toronto on Saturday.

Mr and Mrs. S. J. Fisher, of Belleville, formerly of town, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCook, Grand Road, for the past few days.

Mr. James Benor is spending a few days in Smith Falls.

Miss Nellie Ross of Meyersburg, left last Monday to spend some time in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Naylor, of Madoc, spent a few days at the home of the latter's father, Mr. Thomas Oulton.

Friends of Mr. Cecil Salisbury, Booth street, learned with regret of his illness with bronchitis and pneumonia and wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Geraldine Hankinson entertained some of her friends at her home on Thursday evening, the evening being pleasantly spent in dancing, etc.

Miss Irene Tripp was in Lindsay last week visiting friends.

Miss Ruth Dunk of the Bell Telephone staff has accepted a position in Mr. J. A. Burke's store and assumes her new duties to-day.

Misses Mabel Hay of Brown Public school staff, Toronto, and Miss Winnifred, B.A., of the Collegiate Institute staff, Niagara Falls, returned on Saturday to resume their duties after holidaying with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Hay.

Friends of Miss Janet Donald, Burnbrae, will regret that she is seriously ill at her home and her condition does not show much signs of improvement.

Mr. John Currie, of Seymour West, who has been visiting in Saskatchewan and Alberta for the past year, returned home on Saturday morning. Mr. Currie brought with him a fine carload of horses.

Miss Florence Dodge entertained a number of her little friends at her home, Sebastopal street, on Friday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and an excellent and varied programme was rendered, each little guest contributing, a piano solo, a story or some number on the programme, for which prizes were given. Dainty refreshments were then served by the hostess.

MILLBROOK LADIES HAD ACTIVE YEAR

Secretary of the Methodist Aid Reports Society in Healthy Condition.

MILLBROOK, April 9.—The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church was held at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon, the attendance being very good considering the steady downpour of rain which prevented many members from the country being present. Rev. Mr. Tucker opened the meeting with prayer, especially remembering one of the most faithful members of the Aid who, on account of serious illness, was absent from her accustomed place. The president, Miss M. Needham, took charge of the business period, and gave a brief outline of the improvements just completed at the church for which the Aid had assumed the financial responsibility, mentioning particularly the men who had assisted with the work, and requesting that a vote of thanks be extended to the latter for their kindness in giving time and labor and thus lessening the expense incurred. A hearty vote of thanks was promptly moved and seconded, and carried unanimously, the secretary being instructed to convey same to those interested.

The secretary, Mrs. J. McKnight, in her annual report, showed a total membership of 70, nine regular meetings and four special ones held during the year, two 'Thimble Teas,' one on January 10th, at Miss Needham's and the other on February 14th, at Mrs. P. Stinson's, four Life Members added to the roll, Mrs. H. Argue, of Port Hope, Mrs. Alex Ferguson, Miss S. Dean and Mrs. W. H. Byam, eight letters of sympathy sent to members, suffering bereavement in their families, and nine boxes of clothing, and other necessaries, sent to the fire sufferers in the North.

The report of the treasurer, Miss M. Duncan, was also encouraging, nearly $500 being raised last year, $125 expended on the recent improvements at the church, and sufficient money on hand to paint the outside of the parsonage when the weather permits.

The paston took the chair while the election of officers was proceeded with, the following being the list for the ensuing year.

President—Miss May Needham.
1st Vice-Pres.— Mrs. R. H. Edmunds.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. A. J. Brown.
Secretary—Mrs. Ross Edmunds.
Treasurer—Miss May Duncan.
Parsonage Committee — Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. B. R. Raper, Mrs. G. Locke, Mrs. Charles Garside.
Visiting Committee— Miss Pearl Burnham, Mrs. S. T. Tucker, Mrs. W. G. Rowland.
Programme Committee— Mrs. G. W. Sayles, Mrs. F. Stinson, Miss A. Hampton.
Pianist—Mrs. B. R. Raper.

After discussion it was decided to hold the Aid meetings for the summer months in the evenings, and for the winter months, beginning in October, in the afternoons, this arrangement suiting the members living in the country better than the present method.

The fact that the members refused to consider Miss Needham's request to be retired from the presidency was a fitting tribute to the excellent services which she has rendered during the years she has held that office. Miss Duncan, too, as treasurer, has been a most capable officer and she also was unanimously returned to that responsible position.

Mrs. Tucker, assisted by Misses Alixe Johnston, and Gladys Tucker, served delicious refreshments at the close of the business session, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed before the gathering dispersed. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. McKnight, Tupper street.

A PRETTY WEDDING

SMITH, April 9.—On Thursday, March 22, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Seymour, Cavan, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their youngest daughter, Sadie, was united in marriage to Mr. W. A. Poast, of Smith. Rev. S. G. Rorke officiating. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered by Mrs. A. P. Williams, of Stirling(aunt of the bride, and Master J. McIntosh, nephew of the bride, acted as ringbearer.

On the Friday previous to their marriage the members of Scott's Corners Community Club invaded the home of Mr. Seymour and presented Sadie with a handsome mantel clock in an oak casing, with the following address:

Dear Sadie,—The Athletic Club, which seemed to hibernate for the winter, certainly was startled when it heard rumors of losing one of its most active and enthusiastic members. There will be a gap in the basketball team, hard to fill, when that season comes. We fear we are almost selfish enough to regret your leaving the active work of the club, but then, we trust you will be a participant when you come back to see us, which we hope will be often.

We know you will be happy, for when were you otherwise? Besides wishing you happiness,

"Here's wishing you luck;
Here's wishing you health;
Here's wishing your tears may be few;
Here's wishing you pluck,
And the winning of wealth,
And not too much work to do."

In this case we may as well be optimistic and unselfish enough to see, that what is our loss is another's gain, also the gain of another community, where we know you will make a host of good friends.

We take great pleasure in presenting this slight token of our appreciation and esteem for you, and "Here's a gift to our friendship that's lasted so long,
Here's a hope that its warmth will remain,
And will kindle the fires of remembrance strong,
As the glow of our meeting again."

(Signed)
Scott's Corners Community Club.

A Shower.

On the following afternoon a miscellaneous shower was given the bride at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Howden by the girls of the Fairmount Sunday School.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Prospects Not Very Bright For Lacrosse—Death of Mrs. John Gould.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6.—Margaret Hopps, wife of John Gould, died at 1.30 Friday morning at her home on the second concession of Seymour. She had been in poor health for the past two years and heart trouble was the cause of death.

The late Mrs. Gould, who was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hopps, was born on a farm on the eighth line. She was 70 years and nine months old. The surviving relatives are her husband and two daughters. The latter are Mrs. Ernest Mitchell of Seymour, and Kate who resides on the homestead. Benjamin Hopps, who resides near Meyersburg, is a brother, and Mrs. John Ferguson of Clifford, is a sister of the deceased.

The funeral will leave the family residence at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and the remains will be interred in the cemetery of the Methodist Church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. J. E. Glover, of the Seymour circuit, will conduct the service.

Assessor Mulhearn is on his rounds. Mr. Mulhearn did this same work last year and made the enviable record of getting through his duties without having a single appeal made against his valuations.

It is said that upwards of twenty families are expected to come to Campbellford shortly, the adult members of which have secured positions in the woollen mills that are now running to capacity, night and day.

W. C. T. U. Tea

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will give a tea on Tuesday, April 10, at 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. C. W. Turner. A good programme has been arranged for and all members are requested to attend and bring friends with them. A 25-cent collection will be taken up in aid of the work.

Prospects For Lacrosse

Another attempt was made last night to hold a meeting to talk over the lacrosse situation but nothing came of it. The prospects for a senior team this year, as stated some days ago, are dim. Even such veteran supporters of the game as Charlie Nadoo and "Dick" Cole show no signs of enthusiasm. It may be, however, the sport may be kept alive here by the organization of a junior team, for which there is an abundance of material. The ambition of the promoters goes no higher than that. There must be a lacrosse game here at the celebration which the Agricultural Society will hold on Victoria Day or the affair would not seem natural to the people of this town and district.

Returns from the announcement that Campbellford proposes to hold an "Old Boys Re-union" in August are already beginning to come in. Hastings offers to send a lacrosse team here to play on one of the days when such contests form part of the programme.

All the sport writers on the papers in this district take it for granted that Campbellford will have a team in the Northumberland Baseball League this year. The date of the annual meeting has not been announced but when it is held this town will be represented by Charles Davidson.

The curling season—one of the largest, if not the very longest on record in Campbellford—is closed at last and the rink is deserted. The local club could almost qualify for the Russell cup which is offered annually by a Detroit curler to the club that plays the most exhibition games during the season. The object of the donor is to encourage curling for pure love of the game instead of making it a scramble for cups and other trophies.

Recent visits of representatives of the various legislative candidates in the local field lead to the conclusion that the next provincial election is not far away.

A special meeting of the cheese board will be held at 1.30 this afternoon to discuss matters of interest to the industry.

A. C. Dorby, of the Brighton Monumental Works, was in town yesterday on business connected with the proposed soldiers' memorial.

GOLF CLUB AT CAMPBELLFORD

Officers Elected for the Year—Will Apply for Charter—Town Got the Money.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9.—The members of the Campbellford Golf Club held a reorganization meeting in the office of I. A. Humphries, at which the following members were in attendance: G. Nicol, P. J. Kelly, W. S. Wiggins, A. E. Caddy, J. C. Birmingham, S. J. Moore, A. J. Jenkins, A. L. Riendeau, S. H. Neale, O. E. Giedhill, A. Laurie, A. J. Meyers, Dr. Watson, J. M. Ferris, I. A. Humphries and Clifford Weston. The following officers were elected for the year:

President—I. A. Humphries.
Vice-President—W. S. Wiggins.
Secretary—G. Nicol.
Treasurer—S. H. Neale.
Executive Committee — S. J. Moore, A. L. Riendeau, J. C. Birmingham, P. J. Kelly, Clifford Weston and J. H. Hogg.

Will Apply For Charter.

It was decided to apply for a charter. Every member of the club is to be a stockholder, and a committee will complete the regulations with reference to the grounds, the committee to report at a meeting of the club to be held on April 16, when the organization will be completed.

The outlook is bright for a successful season. The present membership includes a number of the leading citizens, and there are a large number of others who have signified their intention of joining. There is every prospect that when the season opens the club will have a membership of at least 50.

The Promoters.

The club was organized on October 31 last year, the promoters being T. A. Humphries, S. J. Moore, A. L. Riendeau, S. H. Neale, J. M. Ferris and P. J. Kelly. The grounds secured, the property of Mr. Riendeau, who donated the use of the land for the season, are ideal for the purpose. The links are situated on the west side, about a mile from the business centre, and command a splendid view of the river and surrounding district for miles. The club carried on for two months last season with a membership of 15.

When Dr. Doolittle, president of the Ontario Motor League, addressed the Chamber of Commerce here recently, he listed a golf links as an attraction to draw auto tourists to a town. This is another of the essentials, good hotel accommodation, summer sports and scenery, which Campbellford possesses. All that is required now in order to get the town on the tourists' map is publicity.

Town Got the Money.

Captain W. J. Doxsee, who lost his life overseas, was Reeve of the village of Campbellford when it was incorporated as a town in 1906, the event being celebrated by a Reunion of Old Boys. The other members of the Council at that time were A. H. McKeel, C. Cassan, John A. Irwin and S. J. Abernethy. Mr. Cassan is now a resident of Toronto. Mr. Irwin is a member of the Board of Education, and Mr. Abernethy is chairman of the Water and Light Commission.

At the meeting of the joint committee last Thursday night, as reported in the Examiner of Friday, one of the members stated that the members of the Council in 1906 became personally liable for any deficit that might result from the celebration of that year, and that there was a surplus which was divided among the councillors.

Mr. McKeel takes exception to this statement. He says that the councillors did become personally responsible for any deficit up to $1,500, feeling that as a Council they had no right to pledge the credit of the town for such a purpose. There was a surplus of $510.19, which the councillors turned over to the town.

Mr. McKeel took the Examiner representative on Saturday to Treasurer Fred. Wood, who confirmed this statement. The $510.19 appears on Mr. Wood's receipts for that year as well as in the auditor's report.

At the committee meeting last week this matter was talked over by the members as an example of public spirit on the part of the Council of 1906, and no reflection whatever was intended.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Trust Deeds for the Scholarship Have Arrived—Personal Mention

MILLBROOK, April 9. — The trust deeds for the scholarship donated by Mrs. Norman Allen of Toronto, to the Continuation school here, in memory of her late husband, have now been deposited with the School. A Province of Quebec bond for $500 bearing interest at 5 per cent. thus assuring $25 annually, constitutes Mrs. Allen's generous gift. The scholarship goes to the boy having the best all-round record in the senior room of the Continuation School, and is to be competed for each year. The bond is for thirty years and, on maturity, the amount will be re-invested by the trustees in the best possible securities. The school board, and the citizens generally will have a sincere appreciation of Mrs. Allen's kindness in making possible a strong incentive to the best work of which they are capable among the boys of the senior room here.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist church will be held on Tuesday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. E. S. Burnham at 3 p.m. All reports of the year's work are to be given at this meeting.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Stewart Atwood to Mr. John William Todd, which took place in St. John's church, Lakefield, on Wednesday, April 4, will prove of interest here as the groom was a resident of Millbrook for some years, and the bride also made many friends while the guest, one more than one occasion of Miss Mary Thompson before the latter removed to Toronto to reside. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Mackenzie assisted by Rev. C. Grant King, Mr. R. J. Devey, organist of St. John's Church, Peterboro, playing the wedding-march. About forty guests were present at the reception afterwards held at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Todd are spending their honeymoon at Toronto and points west. On their return they will reside in Lakefield.

The April meeting of the ministerial association will be held on Monday at 9.30 a.m. the president, Rev. G. S. Gervan, to be the speaker using as his subject, "The Significance of the Temptation of Christ."

The many friends of Mrs. William Mullen, will be glad to learn that there is now some improvement in her condition though she is still quite seriously ill. Pneumonia being a treacherous disease, especially in one somewhat up in years, Mrs. Mullen's friends are not yet free from any anxiety on her account but there is some hope given of her ultimate recovery at present.

Mr. Matthew Breckenridge, of Westwood, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. J. E. Gillott, over the week end.

Since M. Loucheur's return from London, many of the newspapers have been attacking M. Even newspapers like the Echo de Paris, staunch supporters of the Government, want to know whether M. Loucheur was entrusted with an official mission. Mr. Jacob H. Mackesy, 336 Midland Ave., Midland, Ont. writes:—

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over 20 years and I feel that I owe my life to them. I suffered severely from rheumatism and heart failure. One doctor just gave me one year to live, and even told me I might be found dead at any time. A neighbor advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and I have been using them as needed ever since. I am now 70 years of age, weigh 217 pounds and can work as well as any young man."

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR CONCERT.

Brief Autobiography of Cameron McLean, Assisting Artiste.

Cameron McLean, Scottish baritone, was born in Rothesay (the Scottish Madeira, on account of its popularity as a summer resort), on the Bonnie Banks o' Clyde. As a boy he gave early promise of becoming a vocalist. He sang as principal soprano boy at St. Paul's Cathedral in his home town. Several years later we find him taking up the study of voice in real earnest. After completing these studies, he entered the national contest for bass and baritone vocalists open to contestants of Scotland at Edinburgh, and carried off the gold medal, the highest honour his countrymen can bestow on a vocalist.

At this time he met a bonnie Scotch lassie, who a short time afterward left bonnie Scotland for the golden shores of Florida. Several months later we find Cameron McLean also in Florida, and shortly afterwards they were married in the quaint little Methodist Church at Lakeland, Florida. Two children have blessed this happy union, Cameron the younger, being four years of age, and Betty the elder, six years.

Mr. McLean left Florida for Detroit, Michigan, where at a private gathering he gave a recital to some of his friends. In the course of a few months, Mr. McLean has become a national figure in music, and is now in great demand throughout the United States and Canada.

Mr. McLean is singing the classical folk songs of Scotland, and is doing it so artistically that he is making the songs of home revered abroad.

Referring to the songs of the Hebrides, which Cameron McLean has made a special study, John Ruskin has clearly demonstrated that the art of a country is the direct expression of the mind of its people. If this be true of the arts in general, it is also true of music in particular, for of all the arts, the most direct, the most subtle and by far the most expressive is music. If we would gauge the depth of the emotional temper of a nation, we would find it faithfully registered in its native melodies.

The late Mr. Louis C. Elson, who is probably the greatest authority of Folk Song in America, in speaking of them said: "No other country possesses such a wealth of folk song as Scotland, and certainly no other nation can show such a treasury of poetry and music combined. They are the most beautiful folk songs in the world."

The Hebrideans of Scotland delight in songs of unhappy love, of parting, and of death. They are full of the sadness of the long melancholy Scottish twilight, and contain the deepest affection for the mountains and the ocean.

The manner in which the Hebrideans sing their songs is also somewhat strange. They stand or sit quietly with an utter absence of self-consciousness and the tones are emitted somewhat monotonously at first, but as the song goes on, one is deeply moved by a strange subtle something, a wild irregularity of rhythm, something ancient, something remote, something more easily felt than described or expressed. The quaint Gaelic language, the old world melodies the quiet calm reposeful way of singing them is indeed haunting.

At festive gatherings they make a circle around the table or room reaching their plaids to each other, and as they sing they sway their bodies from side to side, gently waving their plaids to the rhythm of the song. They also introduce queer little grace notes between the notes of the melody.

The origin of most of their songs has long since been lost sight of owing to their having been orally bequeathed from one family or generation to another.

Singing is part of the everyday life of these people. They have different songs for different tasks. They have their sheiling songs, boating songs, weaving songs, fairy songs, death croons, songs of lullaby, cradle songs, and songs for calling the cattle home. In the Hebrides, labour and song go hand in hand. Labour gave rise to song and song lightened labour.

The Songs of the Hebrides.

As sure as the bird follows the song of his restless heart to the woodland beside a summer sea, so does the song of the Celt bring men's and women's souls to rest by the strands of life's tenderest emotions. The song of the Celt is a link with the old passing world, which elevates, ennables, inspires, and which will ring in our hearts and ears. A solace, a comfort, a joy, as we are borne down the corridors of time.

"Superlatives are never out of place in recording most of the offerings of Cameron McLean. And the same is true of his wonderful accompanist, Mabelle Howe Mable, a pianist of high order."—The Musical Leader, Chicago.

To-morrows Concert.

These few notes on the Hebridean songs and origin give but a faint idea of their beauty when rendered by such an artiste as Cameron McLean, who is a master of the art of vocal expression. And the patrons of the Peterbogough Male Voice Choir's annual concert, to be held in the Grand Opera House to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, are promised a treat of rare musical beauty. The choir also have new numbers this year, and with many hard practices have reached a high plane of proficiency, under the direction of John H. Renwick as conductor.

Tickets are selling quickly, and the box office will be open all day to-morrow (Tuesday).

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

At the entrance to the palm avenue, Bill Conway stopped his car and proceeded afoot to the Farrel hacienda, which he approached cautiously from the rear, through the oaks. A slight breeze was blowing down the valley, so Conway manoeuvred until a short quick bark from one of Farrel's hounds informed him that his scent had been born e-to the kennel and recognized as that of a friend. Confident now that he would not be discovered by the inmates of the hacienda, Bill Conway proceeded boldly to the barn. Just inside the main building which, in more prosperous times on El Palomar, had been used for storing hay, the touring car stood. Conway fumbled along the instrument board and discovered the switch key still in the lock, so he turned on the headlights and discovered the limousine thirty feet away in the rear of the barn. Ten minutes later, with the spark plugs from both cars carefully secreted under a pile of split stove wood in the yard, he departed as silently as he had come.

About nine o'clock Don Mike left the Mission and walked home. On the hills to the north he caught the glare of a camp-fire against the silvery sky; wherefore he knew that Don Nicolas Sandoval and his deputies were guarding the Loustalot sheep.

At ten o'clock he entered the patio. In a wicker chaise-longue John Parker lounged on the porch outside his room; Farrel caught the scent of his cigar on the warm, semi-tropical night, saw the red end of it gleaming like a demon's eye.

"Hello, Mr. Farrel," Parker greeted him. "Won't you sit down and smoke a cigar with me before turning in?"

"Thank you. I shall be happy to." He crossed the garden to his guest, sat down beside him and gratefully accepted the fragrant cigar Parker handed him. A moment later Kay joined them.

"Wonderful night," Parker remarked. "Mrs. P. retired early, but Kay and I sat up chatting and enjoying the peaceful loveliness of this old garden. A sleepless mocking bird and a sleepy thrush gave a concert in the sweet-lime tree; a couple of green frogs in the fountain rendered a bass duet; Kay thought that if we remained very quiet the spirits of some lovers of the 'splendid bile forties' might appear in your garden."

The mood of the night was still upon the girl. In the momentary silence that followed she commenced singing softly:

I saw an old-fashioned missus,
Taking old-fashioned kisses,
In an old-fashioned garden,
From an old-fashioned beau.

Don Mike slid off the porch and went to his own room, returning presently with a guitar. "I've been wanting to play a little," he confessed as he tuned the neglected instrument, "but it seemed sort of sacrilegious—after coming home and finding my father gone and the ranch about to go. However—what's the matter, Miss Kay? I like it. If you'll hum it a few times——"

Ten minutes later he knew the simple little song and was singing it with her. Mrs. Parker, in dressing gown, slippers and boudoir cap, despairing of sleep until all of the members of her family had first preceded her to bed, came out and joined them; presently they were all singing happily together, while Don Mike played or faked an accompaniment.

At eleven o'clock Farrel gave a final vigorous strum to the guitar and stood up to say good-night.

"Shall we sing again to-morrow night, Don Mike?" Kay demanded, eagerly.

Farrel's glance rested solemnly upon her father's face. "Well, if we all feel happy to-morrow night I see no objection," he answered. "I fear for your father, Miss Kay. Have you told him of my plans for depleting his worldly wealth?"

She flushed a little and answered in the affirmative.

"How does the idea strike you, Mr. Parker?"

John Parker grinned—the superior grin of one who knows his superior strength. "Like a great many principles that are excellent in theory, your plan will not work in practice."

"No?"

"No."

For the second time that day Kay saw Don Mike's face light up with that insouciant boyish smile.

Then he skipped blithely across the garden thrumming the guitar and singing:

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord!

At seven o'clock next morning, while Miguel Farrel was shaving, John Parker came to his door, knocked, and without further ado came into the room.

"Farrel," he began, briskly, "I do not relish your way of doing business. Where are the spark plugs of my two cars?"

"My dear man, I haven't taken them, so why do you ask me? I am not flattered at your blunt hint that I would so far forget my position as host as to steal the spark plugs from my guest's automobiles."

"I beg your pardon. Somebody took them and naturally I jumped to the conclusion that you were the guilty party."

Don Mike shaved in silence.

"Do you know who removed those spark plugs, Mr. Farrel?"

"Yes, sir, I do."

"Who did it?"

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

USE WORDS OF ENTHUSIASM

Listen to a high school girl describe a beautiful new dress—a "fan" relate high lights of his favorite pitcher's latest great game—a clever statesman make the talk which will land a big order. There is one characteristic common to the speech of all. Words of enthusiasm!

One of these three, the salesman, gives free outlet to his enthusiasm with forethought, knowing how it will aid him to sell. So necessary is enthusiasm to him, in fact, that, if he is an experienced man, he will seldom undertake to sell an article for which he cannot be enthusiastic—he knows he would fail. He knows how sincere words of enthusiasm arouse interest in the party he is interviewing, stimulate desire, and, finally, move to favorable action.

In Want Ads, words of enthusiasm are equally powerful for results. Keen advertisers realize this. Here are such words and phrases, used in messages to sell homes:

"Sunny rooms," "nice decorations," "pride of 7th avenue," "one of the nicest built and arranged bungalows in this fine district," "new and up-to-the-minute 6-room bungalow," "attractive kitchen," "elegantly furnished," "splendid North Side location," "convenient built-in features," "a love-nest of a home," "extraordinary large rooms, wonderfully built," "two beautiful lots," "real dream of a home," "convenient as a pocket in a shirt," "only 500 feet from street car," "built upon honor," "nice entertainment room," "magnificent view," "a pleasure to show this pretty place," "in a beautiful block of homes."

No matter what the thing you are advertising, if you feel it is unusually good let your enthusiasm for it be apparent in your Want Ad. It will only take a word or two, here and there, to turn the trick.

THIS IS AN AUTOMOBILE AGE

Six families out of ten in your neighborhood own automobiles—or is it eight out of ten? The exact number doesn't matter. The point is that this is an automobile age. The automobile is fundamental to the prosperity and the pleasure of a large section of the population.

There is significant in this fact for the Want advertiser. It means, for one thing, that for many people it is much more convenient to reply to Want Ads and investigate, than it used to be—and growing more convenient all the time. The automobile has a lot to do with the fine results so many readers get from Want Ads. Accordingly, a good "urge to action" to put in your Want Ad may be such as this: "Come out in your car today—just 10 minutes from the Civic Centre." And carrying the thought farther, if you are on a main highway, it is a good plan to say as much. "Fine road all the way."

One advertiser, living on the edge of town, always watches the weather. If it is sure to be pleasant the day a Want Ad is published, he includes in it, "Fine day for an auto spin; come out."

View the subject from a different angle—the car you yourself own. You can make it help you in several ways. You give a 'phone number in your Want Ad. An inquirer calls up. You give information; the inquirer is much interested. When you state your address, though, the inquirer is disappointed. He doesn't happen to own a car. You are several miles from his home.

"I'll come and get you in my car," you offer. Or, possibly, the article you advertise can readily be transported, in which case you say you will bring it to the inquirer's home for him to examine.

L. B. Sampson works in the city, but lives with his family on a tract. They keep several fine Jersey cows. Mrs. Sampson makes splendid butter. The husband delivers it to Want Ad customers in his car, of course—just a matter of starting a few minutes earlier, that's all.

When you use the Want Ads, remember this is an automobile age!

BLIND AND DEAF, HE IS A PRODIGY

Boy, Aged 7, Brighter than Many of His Fellow Pupils.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., April 9.—Tad Chapman, aged 7, has earned the title of "South Dakota's little wonder."

Because Tad, though deaf and blind since he was 3, leads as active a life as any boy of his age—and is far brighter than many of his older fellow-pupils in the State School for the Deaf here.

Tad knows 90 commands and can take them in combination and the names of 150 objects.

His spoken vocabulary consists of 138 nouns and pronouns, 43 verbs and 8 adjectives. He can count to 50 and knows the combinations to 10.

He knows 20 question forms and the expressions — "Good-night," "How do you do?" "Thank you," "You are welcome," and the like.

Tad has made marked progress with the typewriter, using sandpaper letters as a basis. He knows all the keyboard positions and can write sentences like: I hopped, I ran, I fell, a bounced a ball.

Tad can dance, too, and in the winter enjoys making a snowman on the grounds as well as the boys that have their sight.

WHAT IS BEING WORN IN NEW SPRING STYLES?

Here are the new points in spring dresses:

Drapes—In front, in back, on the sides. Any one or all of these places.

Sleeves—Very short or full length. The medium-length sleeves apologizing for their existence by an unusual cuff or ruffled trimming.

Waistlines—Still low and sometimes wide yokes fitting smoothly around the hips.

Necklines—Suit yourself. They're all good.

Skirtlengths—Suit yourself again. There's good authority for every length from knee to ankle and no international court to settle matters.

Trimmings—Pleats, ruffles, tucks. Embroidery, of course, and some beading. Many gowns are entirely untrimmed, but are made of the most exotic figured stuffs.

COURTESY IS A PANACEA TODAY

That courtesy is cheap, and an effective antidote to many of the evils that pervade business and everyday life to-day, is the belief that animates the Kiwanians in their courtesy campaign on Courtesy Week.

The test of courtesy, the proponents of the scheme believe, is its economic reasons, cannot afford to manifestation toward those who, for talk back to you. When the messenger boy hears "thank you" cordially expressed, he will be keener to serve you upon future occasions. A "thank you" to the elevator employee will give you distinction above many. Perhaps friend wife would be surprised to hear you say, "Thank you, dear, for that splendid dinner." She's entitled to it.

The sooner we realise that no man lives to himself, the better for all of us, Courtesy is not an abstract Sunday virtue, but is a practical seven-days-a-week business asset. This old world needs courteous men — men who recognise not only that they have a right to live, but that they have an obligation to let others live. It takes more brain power to be courteous than to be curt. Any man can be curt, but it takes a gentleman to be courteous.

Courtesy pays.

NORTH HASTINGS MAN HELPED SELF TO SUIT

PEMBROKE, April 7. — Max Linke, a young man aged 21, a resident of Maynooth, North Hastings, came to town and took a room at a hotel. He then proceeded to outfit himself with a new suit, braces, watch, silk handkerchief and returned soldier's button, at the expense of Mr. M. R. Horn, who has a room at the New Leland Hotel. However, Mr. Horn found out that his wardrobe was short and as a result the culprit was arrested on Renfrew street late Friday night just as he was taking his young lady friend home after a stroll. The misguided young man spent the night in the cells at the town hall and in the morning pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny before Magistrate Stewart. He was sentenced to six months in prison.

MAKE THE BACKYARD PAY

Raspberries

BY W. R. BEATTIE.

Raspberries are the second of our early fruits. There are three types of raspberries, red, black and purple. The red type differs from the others in its habit of growth and its method of forming new plants from the roots. The black and purple types form new plants by the tips of the canes bending down and taking root in the soil.

Good varieties of the red type are Cuthbert, Loudon, Marlboro and Ranere, or St. Regis. Among the good black varieties are the Cumberland, Gregg, Farmer and Kansas. Five good varieties of the dull purple are Cardinal, Columbian, Haymaker, Royal and Shaffer. Less than 15 or 20 plants of each will not give enough berries for the ordinary family. The plants should be set at least 2 by 3 feet and tied to stakes.

Raspberries want rich deep soil and plenty of manure and fertilizer every year. The fruit is borne on wood of last year's growth so that after the spring fruiting period the old canes should all be pruned out. Pinching the heart out of the growing canes when about 3 feet in height will cause branches to form. The exception is the Ranere or St. Regis which frequently bears a spring and fall crop. Other of the red varieties have this characteristic to a limited extent.

The methods of securing two crops from thte Ranere or St. Regis is as follows: After the spring crop is gathered the old canes are pruned out and the plants cultivated and fertilized. The tips of the new canes are not pinched out but are kept growing well into the early fall when they blossom and produce a crop of fruit.

Following the fall crop or at some time late in winter the canes are tip-pruned and when they start the new growth in the spring they throw out numerous short side shoots on which the spring crop is borne. Following the spring crop prune out the old canes and repeat each year until the plants become weakened.

In the meantime make a new planting.

As many as 6 or 8 quarts of fall crop red raspberries may be gathered from a row 60 or 70 feet long each week over a period of three or four weeks. Around Hammondton, N. J., hundreds of crates of fall crop red raspberries are produced each year.

It should be borne in mind, however, that raspberries do not thrive everywhere. Especially is this true of the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast States. The climate of parts of the northwest is also too severe for raspberries unless they are given special protection during the winter.

Dangers following Influenza

A few years ago the Surgeon General of the U. S. Army officially drew public attention to the danger of the development of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Doctors say that persons of delicate constitution or in a "run-down" condition—those who have had their stamina lowered by worry, overwork, faulty nutrition or disease, are most liable to contract influenza and are least apt to make a prompt and complete recovery from it.

If your constitution is delicate—if you are weak or run-down—you should start at once building up your strength and acquiring the stamina you will need to resist an attack of influenza. If you are now suffering with influenza, or if you have just gotten over it, you will need this stamina all the more to increase your prospects of complete convalescence, and especially to escape pneumonia.

To gain this strength and stamina—this power of resistance what you need is an absolutely trustworthy general tonic—one that will enrich your blood, invigorate your nerves, promote nutrition, and increase the resistive forces of your entire system.

In Wincarnis you have such a preparation, for it is a Tonic, a Restorative, a Bloodmaker and a Nerve-builder, all in one. This is why

Wincarnis

The Reconstructive Tonic

is so often prescribed by the physician in cases of influenza. That is one of the reasons why it has become a household word in England, where influenza is so prevalent. More than 10,000 physicians have recommended Wincarnis. It is just the type of general tonic that is daily prescribed by the most successful members of the medical profession the world over.

Buy a bottle of Wincarnis from your druggist today. Start now building up your strength. Remember that deadly pneumonia may result from influenza, even days after one feels that recovery has taken place.

H. P. KENNEDY ONE OF RECORD SHIPPERS

Shipped a Portion of First Canadian Store Cattle Recently Landed.

TORONTO, April 9. — The first shipment of Canadian store cattle to arrive in Scotland in thirty years reached Glasgow at 2.30 p.m. on Thursday, and was received by an enthusiastic gathering of cattlemen, farmers and a special reception committee appointed by the City of Glasgow. The shipment consisted of consignments by the Harris Abattoir Company, Toronto; the United Grain Growers, Limited, Winnipeg, and H. P. Kennedy, Limited, Toronto, the last named firm acting as representatives for the United Grain Growers in the handling of their store cattle for export.

P. J. Irwin, representative for H. P. Kennedy, in Glasgow, cabled that on the shipment being unloaded, a Canadian steer, valued at 35 pounds for ordinary market purposes was selected and turned over to the public reception committee by whom it was sold at auction for the sum of 500 pounds sterling, and the money turned over to the Unemployment Fund of the City of Glasgow. A banquet in honor of the arrival of the first shipment of Canadian store cattle was held, with celebrities from all parts of Great Britain in attendance.

H. P. Kennedy is well known in Peterborough, where he formerly engaged in business,

OPENED CONVENTION IN LONDON, ENGLAND

In January the International Multigraph Co. (Britain), Ltd., held their convention in London. This was attended by all of their branch managers, senior salesmen and the London selling staff. It lasted for two days, and both the business and the social programme were properly taken care of. Conventions of this sort, if well organized (and this undoubtedly was) are invaluable in a selling force like the Multigraph Co., with branches scattered throughout the country. The pooling of experiences and ideas together with the esprit d'corps engendered not only increased selling efficiency, but breeds a pride in the work, which is a valuable asset in a selling force.

Mr. W. H. Hartley, the general manager, opened the convention and a number of the staff, including Mr. Collis of London, Mr. Haigh of Birmingham, Mr. Elston of Liverpool, and Mr. Knight of Manchester gave papers. In the evening of the first day of the convention the staff were entertained at dinner, followed by a concert at the Connaught Rooms.

Mr. Hartley is a son of Mrs. S. B. Wylder, 43 Park Street, Peterboro.

A TYENDINAGA INDIAN MAKES OWN MOONSHINE

DESERONTO, April 9. — The spade of the Provincial police officers dug so deeply near Deseronto a few days ago that Solomon Maracle, an Indian, was discovered along with a considerable quantity of moonshine liquor. Persistent excavations brought the tomb and treasures of King Tut to light and similar diggings on the part of the Provincial police have resulted in the uncovering of several illicit liquor caches down Tyendinaga way.

Inspector Naphin, with Provincial Police Officers Maker and Davis, gathered Maracle in, and Police Magistrate Bedford pronounced the benediction at Deseronto when an assessment of $200 and costs was recorded against the Indian.

Maracle, thinking of spring, thinks that he would rather have cold weather than Raney.

TO EXTEND POWERS OF WOODMEN OF WORLD

Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., was in Toronto Saturday in conference with the Executive Council of the Woodmen of the World, who are applying for greater powers, under their charter, from the Dominion Government.

The Woodmen desire to have the right to issue insurance policies up to $10,000.00; insure children; give paid-up and endowment policies, and generally to carry on the same business as any of the old-time or old-line companies.

This will extend very much the powers of the Woodmen of the World. Mr. Gordon has been much interested in this organization, as he was a member of the Executive Council for some years.

INVITES THE PEOPLE GET BACK TO EARTH

TORONTO, April 9.—(Canadian Press.)— "People must drop their private theatricals with regard to patriotism and give up the custom of looking upon different nations as stiff separate figures. Declares Tanlac Ended Indigestion and Rheumatism, Restoring Her Weight and Strength.

"Tanlac has relieved my fourteen years' suffering, and made me so healthy and happy that I just go about my housework singing," recently stated Mrs. Margaret Craig, of 10 Sutton Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

"I had rheumatism in my lower limbs so bad my ankles and feet would swell up until I couldn't lace my shoes. I just hobbled about almost like a cripple, and the pain was so dreadful at times I thought my end was near. I also suffered from stomach trouble, nervousness, and sleeplessness was amazingly thin, and felt terribly weak and run-down.

"Well, when I saw how the Tanlac treatment was helping me, I was overjoyed and just kept on taking it, and now I have a ravenous appetite, I've actually gained twenty-seven pounds, and I'm sleeping like a child. Best of all, every sign of rheumatism is gone, and I can get about as good as I ever did. I wouldn't think of being without Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

SIX-YEAR-OLD HAD BRONCHITIS EVERY WINTER

Bronchitis generally begins with chills, followed by fever and a hatch dry, hacking cough. There is a raising of phlegm, whi at first is of a light color, but, as the trouble progresses it becomes of a yellowish or greenish color and is sometimes streaked with bloo.

All those who are troubled with bronchitis will find in Dr. Wood's Pine Syrup a remedy that will stimulate the bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Oliver C. L- ge, South Russtiso, P. E. I., writes:—"My little six-year-old girl had very ba attacks of bronchitis every winter. In the evening and during the night, she would have fever and cho e up, and had a wheezing in her chest. We tried several cough medicines, but they never seemed to do her any good. A neighbor advised us to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which we did, and after she had taken two bottles she got perfectly well."

HOW MUCH WATER IN YOUR CELLAR?

This is What North Monaghan Residents Are Asking Each Other,

NORTH MONAGHAN, April 9.—The two popular questions in this district at present are: "Is summer ever coming?" and "How much water have you in your cellar?"

If, according to reports, we are due to skip a summer, the residents of this section will have more to say about this question in the future. The latter question is not so hard to find an answer for. Nothing serious in this line has been reported up to the time of writing.

The drains were cleaned out in time to avoid too much danger from flooding. The wind has dried the land up rapidly and the roads are now in much better condition.

A petition to have the electric lights extended from Crawford's Grove past Jay's corner, and along the Springville road, is now in circulation. The electricity is also wanted in the Grove. Last year the lines were extended down Park street and all around the district near the Grove and the residents of that section have been enjoying electric comforts. It is strongly hoped that those comforts will be extended further down so that many more may enjoy them.

Despite the steady downpour of rain that prevailed on Thursday afternoon, quite a large crowd attended the sale which was held at the home of the late E. A. Wood, Springville road. Mr. Wood was quite well known in all parts of the district, and his death was an unfortunate loss to the community.

Mr. William Stewart has rented the farm belonging to the late E. A. Wood and intends moving in shortly.

Mr. Hopgood of Peterborough, has rented the property on Springville road, formerly rented by Mr. J. Baker and owned by Mr. L. Whitfield, and will move into it in the near future.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT TO REASSMBLE TO-DAY

LONDON, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—The most important part of the present Parliamentary session begins to-day, when the House of Commons re-assembles after a short vacation. It is universally admitted that there are critical times ahead of the Government. Seldom has there been an administration that has drawn more criticism from the press because of its alleged shortcomings. Unrest in the Labor world, discontent shown by a large division of the middle classes and anxieties of capital and business are features in every London paper, and the Government seems to be regarded as the scapegoat of all interest.

Jake Solomon Second Vice of O.B.A.A.--Jan. 1 Residence Rule

JANUARY 1 RESIDENCE RULE WAS ADOPTED AT FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING

Jake Solomon Elected Second Vice-President of O. B. A. A. at Meeting Held in Toronto Saturday

GOOD REPORTS.

The fifth annual meeting of the O. B.A.A. held Saturday in the Carls-Rite Hotel in Toronto, showed the provincial body, as well as the baseball leagues and associations through out the province of Ontario to be in a flourishing and growing condition. The season of 1922 had been universally successful and the delegates were one and all enthusiastic over the prospects for 1923.

Numerous matters of importance came before the meeting, but the two subjects most concerning baseball fans of the Central League circuit were the election of Jake Solomon, of Peterborough, to the second vice-presidency and the adoption of the January 1 residence rule. Neither of these came as a surprise, for Mr. Solomon has long been one of the moving spirits in baseball circles, carrying the support and confidence of leagues and associations from both east and west ,and but little opposition was expected or evidenced in the matter of the residence rule. "A" section of the Central League had requested a change to May 15 for that section, but it was decided that all leagues and associations must adopt the January 1 residenec rule if they are to affiliate with the O.B.A.A.

The question of professional coaches also came up for consideration and it was decided that professional coaches may be used, but their activities must cease as soon as the team takes the playing field.

League Winners.

Leagues must declare winners as follows: Juvenile and junior, second Saturday in August; intermediate, third Saturday in August and senior the last Saturday in the same month. Where as affiliated associations has two or more leagues extra time will be allowed.

Between March and November the executive must meet at least once a month and each affiliated association or league must file a financial statement with the O.B.A.A. secretary not later than March 1, the following year.

The amendments which would give the O.B.A.A. the right to take 25 per cent. of the receipts from the semi-final and final games was defeated, and so was the one which would have all semi-final and final games played in enclosed parks.

The offices of secretary-treasurer will not be co-ordinated and a permanent secretary-tresaurer will not be appointed.

The O.B.A.A. will adopt the T.A.B.A. rule in regard to size of diamond and ball for bantam and midget series.

Play-off Games.

When a third game is necessary in play-offs and the team are unable to agree of a venue, the association will name the place the game must be played. When a bona fide move of a player's family takes place before May 1 of the playing year, a certificate will be granted if he plays in the junior or lower series.

The Inter-County League recommended, and the recommendation was carried: "That the status of all leagues or associations affiliated with the O.B.A.A. be defined as to territorial rights, and that before any new affiliations or changes in existing ones can be accepted they must first be approved of by the sub-committee of the O.B.A.A. or their commissioners."

This amendment was defeated: "Players who are desirous of playing senior ball are allowed to participate in there games on senior teams in an effort to make good. They shall not be allowed to play intermediate if more than three games are played. All bonafide junior players are eligible tto participate in as many senior and intermediate games as desired."

The O.B.A.A. will set aside a sum of $300 to be applied to a fund for the assistance of intermediate, junior, juvenile and midget clubs, said sum to be used in assisting the group winners to compete in the Ontario semi-final and final games. No club will receive a grant of more than $75, and this will be given only in cases where the gate receipts are not sufficient to meet legitimate expenses.

The sub-committee shall have full power to adjust such claims, and their decision to be final. No payments to be made until close of season.

Ald. MacKay, representing the Hamilton Ontario Baseball Association ,extended a hearty invitation on behalf of the associtaion he represented to hold the next annual meeting in Hamilton.

The Election.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, D. P. MacFarlane, Harriston; First Vice-president, W. J. Snyder, Hamilton; Second Vice-president, J. J. Solomon, Peterborough; Secretary, M. B. Dulmage, Guelph; Treasurer, A. J. Walsh, Toronto; Governor to A.A. U. of C., W. J. Smith; Executive Committee—C. R. Penfold, Guelph; Geo. S. Martin, London; W. H. Farrell, Sudbury; Hugh Maguire, St. Catharines. The president appointed Allan Grimes, of Ottawa, and Mr. Burns, of Beaverton, to the executive. The secretary and treasurer were voted substantial honorariums for their work in the past season.

Secretary M. B. Dulmage, of Guelph, presented a lengthy report covering the activities of the association from the annual meeting of 1922 to the present date. He pointed out that the leagues of every denomination were cropping up in every corner of the province The large attendance at the semi-final and final games last Fall showed that the fans stood strong behind amateur ball. The biggest attendance to be recorded was 7,000, at the senior final game between Galt and Belleville, which was played at Guelph Oct. 25.

Nice Surplus.

Treasurer A. J. Walsh, of Toronto, showed the association was in a very flourishing condition. The balance on hand is $2,866.70, an increase of $2,299.54 over a year ago. Four hundred and fifty dollars was paid into the association for fees, and the championship games netted the treasury $4,027.61. The net expenses of the association for the year were $2,177.87.

The following associations and leagues were represented: Central Ontario, Inter-Club, London, Trent Valley, Hamilton Amateur Baseball Association, Peterborough City League, Frontenac and Addington, Nickle Belt, Inter-County, Durham and Ontario, Tri County, Niagara District, Kingston City League, Eastern Ontario Association, Brantford City League, Southern Ontario, Halton County, East Peterborough, Lake Short, Kent County, Northumberland, T.A.B.A.

The new leagues are Northumberland, Eastern Ontario, Kingston City, Durham and Ontario, Brantford Junior City.

Senior series— Galt Terriers (Inter-county League).

Intermediate series — Canadian General Electric (Peterborough.)

Junior series— Guelph Outfitters (Inter-county Junior League).

Juvenile series—Moss Park (Playgrounds League, T.A.B.A.) .

Midget series—Maple Leafs (Peterborough.)

President P. M. Kennedy, of Toronto, welcomed the delegates, and the large representation showed the wonderful growth amateur ball has made throughout the province since the association was organized five years ago by W. J. Smith.

President Kennedy announced in his address that he was retiring from office this year. The 'proxy" withdrawing his name from the nomination for president, left the office open to D. P. MacFarlane, of Harriston, by acclamation. Mr. MacFarlane has been president of the North Wellington League for the past three years.

Mr. MacFarlane's election left the office of vice-president open to W. J. Snyder of Hamilton, leaving the only contest for office between J. J. Solomon of Peterborough and H. S. Roxborough of Toronto. Mr. Roxbrugh withdrew his name, and the office fell to Mr. Solomon without the necessity of a vote.

WAS ELECTED.

J. J. Solomon.

Genial manager of the Peterboro Senior baseball team who was Saturday unanimously elected second vice-president o fthe O.B.A.A., when H. S. Roxborough of Toronto withdrew. "Jake" was the Central League nominee for the office. President D. H. McFarlane of Harriston and Vice-president W. J. Snyder, of Hamilton were also elected by acclamation.

Manager Solomon will this year again be at the helm of the local ball club and will make things interesting in the race for honors in the Big Four section. In addition to his interest n the Central League Jake has been a big factor in the development of baseball in the city and throughout the entire Peterboro District and the honor which has been accorded him was a well earned one.

NEW CHAMPION.

MONTREAL, April 9 (Canadian Press). — Maintaining his lead of 1,000 points almost to the end, A. P. Woodward won the Canadian championship at English billiards here on Saturday, defeating Arnold Ibbotson, the title-holder, by 894 points in the 7,200 points title match.

The new champion made the best breaks of the match with 151, 142, and 117, whilst Ibbotson's best effort was under a hundred.

FINE FIELDING WON FOR CANOE MAKERS

Snowed Lock Company Under By Hard Hitting and Fast Fielding.

The Canoe Company strengthened the common opinion thta they now have one of the best fielding teams in the Mercantile section of the soft ball league, when they snowed the Lock Works under by 13 to 2.

The Canoe nine handled everything faultlessly and the Lock Works didn't have a chance to score many. Mason pitched steady ball for the Lock Works crew and he received fair support. The Paddlers got close to Mason for a large number of hits though.

In the first innings the Canoe boys had the unique experience of having three on bases with none out and yet failing to get any runs. The three necessary put outs were all made at the plate on forced plays.

Copp filled left field like a big leaguer, spearing everything that came into that field and taking part in two double plays. The both Ecobichon boys worked well on the opposite sides of the diamond at first and third.

The teams were:

Lock Works—Taylor, c; Mason, p; Black, 1b; Burke, ss; Connors, 2b; McDougal, ss; Guerin, 1b; Hoffman, lf; Baker, rf.

Canoe Co.—P. Ecobichon, 1b; S. Ecobichon, 3b; Graham, 2b; Copp, lf; Miller, c; Grey, ss; Taylor, lf; Maudsley, ss; Halpin, p.

Score by innings:

Lock Works	001000010—2
Canoe Co.	01230232—13

QUAKERS LOST BY COSTLY BLOW-UP

Woollens Were Behind Till the Sixth Frame When They Started on a Batting Spree.

The Quakers gave the Woollens the first scare that the had received so far in this season's ball games when they lead by a score of 2-1 up to the end of the fifth. Then they blew up losing by the score of 10 to 2. This game that the soft ball moguls thought would go easily to the faster Woollen team, proved to be one of the best games of the season, the Quakers giving the knitting boys a real live battle.

"Phil" Phiefer the Quakers' pitcher was the stumbling block to the Woolens. He had the Woollen batters completely baffled with his queer delivery until the sixth innings and in that inning they got their first hit of his deliveries. Foster worked well behind the bat, helping out by grabbing off every pop fly that went behind the plate.

McLean the Woollens' star twirler was in his usual good form, allowing only three hits and striking out seven. Phiefer struck out seven and allowed four hits.

The Woolen lads were one hundred per cent behind the pitcher having only one error chalked again them. The breakfast food gang made but one error until the sixth, when a bad one was made, letting in three runs and putting the skids under their chances

The Quakers got their first run in the second innings, Phiefer getting the first hit and stealing home from third. They secured their other run in the fourth. The only error giving Guerin a base. He got around on clever stealing. The Woollens obtained their first run in the fourth on an error.

The old ball game went flooey in the sixth when the Woollens got three. They got four in the seventh and made it ten in the eighth when they chased across two more.

The lineups:

Quakers—Hearnes, ss; Foster, c; Carruthers, rf; W. Guerin, 1b; Phiefer, p; Meyette, 2b; Gandy, 3b; F. Guerin, lf; Graham, ss.

Woollens— Russell, 3b; Hillier, rf; Hopkins, c; McLean, p; Legros, 1b; Anthony, ss; Stiles, ss; Clarke, 2b; Connors, lf.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

WILLARD SAYS HE IS IN GOOD SHAPE FOR JOHNSON BOUT

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., April 9.—(Canadian Press)— Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, yesterday entered his last two weeks of training here before he breaks camp to go to New York, where he will meet Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, at the Yankee Stadium, May 12.

Willard will go to New York to complete the final three weeks training. The former champion has spent six weeks of strenuous training here. "I am in the best shape of my life," Willard said yesterday. "I am going to show all my critics that I am in that kind of shape."

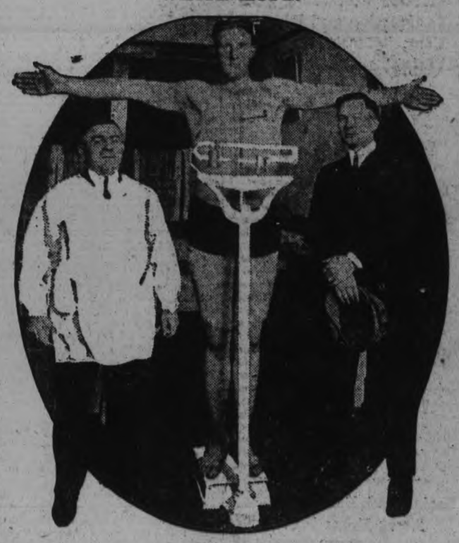
Jess is training more seriously than ever before, according to his manager, and is said to weigh 250 pounds at present.

TURKS REPLY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 9.—The Turkish Government's reply to the Allied invitation for a resumption of the Near East peace conference at Lausanne arrived in Constantinople yesterday from Angora.

It is understood the note comprises an acceptance of the invitation, with reservations on certain of the Allied proposals.

JACK HORNER, OREGON GIANT, LATEST WHITE HOPE.



Can you find Jack on the photo? No, he's not the one on the left. That's Dr. Earl V. Morrow, of the Oregon Boxing Commission. And you're wrong again, he's not the one on the right. That's Fred Windsor ,who once handled Jack Dempsey, and is now manager of the Oregon giant.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 9.—The little Jack Horner, who sat in a corner, eating a piece of huckleberry pie, is not by any means the same Jack Horner who has started to attract the attention of the pugilistic world in this part of the world.

This Jack Horner is not so little. He has been dubbed the "Oregon Giant," which is not a misnomer, for Jack, 21 years old, stands 6 feet 6 1-2 inches, and weighs 245 pounds f.o.b.

He's even bigger than Jess Willard, and is said to have more speed.

Jack has had a couple of minor bouts under his belt, but won't make his real debut there for a little while. Naturally those who are teaching him the fight game are looking toward the championship at some distant itme. And you never can tell in the world of put-and-take—put a punch and take three.

Here are his measurements:

Age, 21; height, 6 feet 6 1-2 inches; neck, 16 1-2 inches; reach, 80 1-2 inches; cheset, normal, 42 inches; expanded, 45 inches; chest, expelled, 40 inches; waist, 36 inches; hips, 43 inches; thigh, 25 inches; knee, 18 inches; half, 16 1-2 inches; ankle, 11 inches; biceps, 14 1-2 inches; forearm, 13 inches; wrist, 9 inches; fist, 8 inches; weight, 245 pounds.

UTILITIES EASY FOR ENGINEERS

Six Straight Games Have Been Lost By Utilities, Who Occupy the Cellar Position.

The Utilities made it six straight, when they lost to the Engineers Saturday afternoon, by the count of 17 to 7. The Utilities are running in the cellar position in the Industrial section, the same berth that the Bowlers occupy in the Club group. These two teams if they met would provide as much excitement, as did the memorable battle betwen the Kiwanis and the Bowlers last season.

The Utilities at times showed flashes of real ball playing, but these were rare. Clegg at third covered the area around that base in faultless style, but he was one of nine. The Utilities didnt score until the seventh, when a few hits aided by some careless playing of the Engineers gave them six runs.

The Engineers played good ball except for the seventh when they took things easy.

The players were:

Engineers—McCarney, rf; Burgess, ss; W. Jackson, 3b; Langley, p; Munro, 1b; Metherall, 2b; Cruthers, lf; B. Jackson, ss; Anderson, c.

Utilities—Hines, 1b; Kernnegan, 2b; Dobson, c; Nicholls, p; Clegg, 3b; McKinnon, ss; Platt, ss; Sharpe, lf; Johnston, rf.

Score by innings:

Engineers	50602400—17
Utilities	00000061— 7

COBB WAS ORDERED FROM THE FIELD.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9.—(Canadian Press)—The first exhibition game between the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals Saturday ended in a forfeit, 9 to 0, to the St. Louis Club, when Manager Cobb of the Tigers was ordered from the field by Umpire Johnson, and refused to retire.

Cobb was called out sliding to second, and disputed the decision of Umpire Pforman, who was upheld by the other arbiter. The play, in the opinion of many of the spectators and some newspaper men, was not close and Cobb should have been safe.

The game was halted at the end of the sixth innings, neither club being able to score. Collins, had held St. Louis to three scattered hits and the Tigers had registered only four off Sherdel.

BOWLING

The Westclox and Post Office teams will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the final match for the Gordon Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Mercantile five-pin league.

The Lawn Bowlers are looking for a game with the DeLaval team, winners of the Factory Ten-Pin League. The Bowlers' team is composed of: Curvin, King, Gilliam, Bacon and Mayneord.

SIKI NOW FACING A CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

PARIS, April 9. — (Canadian Press)—"Battling" Siki, the Senegalese pugilist, has been summoned to appear this morning before the Investigating Magistrate of the Tribunal of the Seine, to answer to a charge of aggravated assault with intent to cause bodily injury and also intoxication. The charge grows out of his fight several nights ago with a man in an all-night Montmatre restaurant, in which the man was knocked out by the negro.

Siki, who though he had left all his troubles behind him in Ireland, where he lost his championship title on St. Patrck's Day to Mike McTigue, now finds himself facing the most serious situation in his checkered career, as the man whom he fought in the restaurant, a waiter, was severely beaten.

NEW BALL LEAGUE IS NOT AN OUTLAW

Application For Admission to Organized Baseball Has, However, Been Denied.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(Canadian Press)—Undaunted by the rejection of its first application for admission to Organized Baseball, executives of the Atlantic League decided at a meeting yesterday to start the season as an independent circuit. Meanwhile, a second application for a charter has been forwarded to the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, the minor league governing body.

League executives adopted a 120 game schedule and completed plans for opening the sason on May 2, with seven clubs in the field. The season will close on Labor Day. Ernest C. Landgraf, who for four years was owner of the Syracuse International League Club, and who is Vice-president of the Atlantic League, pointed out that as at present constituted, the Atlantic League does not invade organized baseball territory and therefore cannot be classed as an outlaw organization.

The League, of which John Conway Toole, Inter. League President is head, includes clubs in Pottsville, Allentown, Lancaster and Bethlehem, Pa; Wilmington, Del; Trenton, N.J. and Middleton, N.Y.

PLAGUE IN INDIA.

SIMLA, India, April 9. — (Canadian Press.)— The plague is raging in almost all the provinces of India. The statistics for the week ending March 24, give 9,000 new cases for all India, of which 8,000 were fatal. The death rate is especially heavy in the central provinces, the United Provinces, Bombay Presidency, Punjab and Delhi. In Calcutta there have been only three deaths.

All possible remedial and preventive measures have been taken by the authorities.

They say girls' colleges don't teach much. Any graduate will tell you two and two make a bridge game.

WEST HAM MAKES BID FOR HONORS

But Were Held to a Draw By Crystal Palace in Saturday's Game.

LONDON, April 9 (Canadian Press Cable). — West Ham United is the most talked-of side at the moment in football circles. Their bold bid for promotion to the First League, as well as to win the Association Cup, is followed with keen and widespread interest.

TThe position is undoubtedly full of possibilities, nevertheless the West Hams are a paradox inasmuch as they seem to play better away from home than before their own spectators.

After scoring five goals in the Cup semi-final, five goals at Bury, then five at Sydenham against Crystal Palace, they could only draw with Crystal Palace on their own ground on Saturday. Incidentally the draw prevented them from taking third place in the League table, but as they still have three games in hand they still have a good chance

It is a noteworthy fact that all five teams at the head of the Second League played drawn matches on Saturday. Within a month of the end of the season Sunderland is putting up a spirited and stern chase in an effort to wrest the First League championship from the holders, but Liverpool appear to have just enough in hand to retain the distinction for the second consecutive season.

Huddersfield have now lost their chance of gaining second place. Stoke on Saturday gained a notable victory, and now possess an outside chance of escaping relegation to the Second Division . Oldham, at the bottom of the log, has picked up.

In the Southern Section of the Third Division, Swansea, who have scored more goals than any other side in the League, are close behind Bristol City, but they only possess an outside chance of overhauling the leaders.

The scoring throughout the four Leagues on Saturday was low, Luton of the Third Division alone getting more than three goals. Of the 43 matches played on Saturday, many were drawn, while 36 teams failed to score.

It is interesting to note regarding the Cup finalists that while West Ham succeeded only in drawing on the home ground on Saturday, Bolton Wanderers were successful in their match at Middlesbrough.

STRIKE SETTLED.

CARIFF, Wales, April 9.—(Canadian Press.)—The striking miners in the Rhondda coal fields held a meeting late Saturday night and settled their differences. Work therefore will be resumed in the mines, which employ about 46,000 men, today.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 9.— (Canadian Press.)—There was no business recorded here Saturday either in cash or oats. The feeling in the local flour market was better with a moderate amount of business. Trade in millfeed was fairly good, but the rolled oats market was quiet. A fair business prevailed in eggs. Total receipts from May 1 last to date were 394,043 cases as against 619,093 cases for the same period of 1921-22. The market for butter was quiet. Total receipts May 1 to date has been 158,278 packages in excess of the same period of 1921. An easier feeling prevails in the cheese market. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 329,806 boxes smaller than the corresponding period of 1921-22.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 8.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts, 155 cattle and calves, and 247 hogs.

Trading, owing to limited offerings, was light on the cattle market Saturday morning, but prices were steady at Friday's close.

The hog market was unchanged, thick smooths weighing at 965 and select bacon at 10.61 1-2.

SILENT NIGHTS IN RADIO HELP DISTANCE HEARING

CHICAGO, April 9. — "Silent nights," when local radiophone broadcasting stations forego the presentation of programs, inaugurated a week or so ago, have resulted in many records of long distance reception, according to a compilation of reports mare here recently. Monday nights were temporarily adopted by the Chicago broadcasters for the experiment in response to many requests from radio fans for a "silent night" and will be continued, it was said, unless the popular demand wanes.

A plan whereby "silent nights" be adopted by broadcasting stations throughout the country has been discussed following the inauguration of Chicago's silence. Under this plan stations in a certain district would not broadcast on Monday night, another district would not send on Tuesday night, and so on throughout the week. It was pointed out that in this way the entire country would have a silent night once a week.

Objection to "silent nights" has been raised by radio fans owning crystal detector sets, which ordinarily are capable of receiving telephone signals for a distance of only 25 miles. It is estimated that from one-third to one-half of the radio telephone receiving sets in Chicago use crystals. Only receivers using audion bulb detectors are certain of long distance reception.

Inauguration of "silent nights" has brought prominently to the radio fan's attention the phenomena of "fading" encountered only when listening to far away stations. "Fading" for which radio experts say there is no present remedy, it was explained, caused the received signal to become so faint as to be almost inaudible. A station may be picked up with the voice or music at fair volume. Gradually it begins to diminish, then slowly returns to its original intensity, only to recede again. Several theories have been offered in explanation, one of them being that some atmospheric condition absorbs the energy being sent out by the broadcaster.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 9. (Special.) Running contrary to most predictions and despite the ease in tone of money, the stock market to-day became dull and then showed a tendency downward after a fairly good opening so far as industrial stocks were concerned. Trading was quiet in the first hour but the action of the main body of stocks indicated a healthy situation in the market's internal structure.

American Locomotive and Baldwin reached new highs on the recovery and operations for the rise went ahead in a few specialties, while the general list was almost wholly free from selling pressure.

The contraction of $80,000,000 in loans shown by Saturday's bank statement was regarded as constructive. Another development pointing to easier money conditions was the strength of the bond market. Quite a few brokers arranged time loans last week at 5¼ per cent, although the ruling rate for 30 days was 5½. Shipments of funds to New York from the interior have been on the increase.

Copper shares in recent weeks have made no response to the increasing strength of the industries technical position.

One copper producer says productions of individual mines will not reach normal this year. He adds that consumption is considerably in excess of production. Proof of this, he said, is found in the fact that American brass is turning out more tonnage than during the war. General Electric and Westinghouse are doing a combined business of close to $500,000,000 anually. All other big copper consumers also are working at capacity. There will be no material declines in copper prices this year.

Finding the market inclined to turn dull on the advance, the professional operators tried their hand on the short side in the late morning, concentrating pressure on the pivotal stocks, like American Can, Studebaker, Baldwin and corn products.

PEACEFUL CONDITIONS PROMISED FOR IRELAND

DUBLIN, April 9. — (Canadian Press)—Steady trend of Free State toward conditions of comparative peace and order is subject of general comment. Isolated outrages continue to be reported and there is still much to be accomplished before normal economic life of country is restored, but optimism has taken place of despair and there are most encouraging signs that end of Republican Campaign is in sight.

Evidence of nmore tranquil conditions is also supplied by fact that Major General McKeown to-day addressed public meeting at Tuam in support of government. This is first public meeting held on behalf of Free State, outside Dublin since four courts were attacked.

They say the income tax returns indicate prosperity. They certainly do for the Government.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

"DAWN OF THE EAST" A COLORFUL DRAMA

Patrons of the Regent Theatre are being treated to a trip to the Orient this week in "Dawn of the East," starring Alice Brady. The actress is presented in the role of an exiled Russian noble-woman who, with others of her class, at the outbreak of the revolution, makes her way across the Siberian plains and finds herself stranded in a Chinese port city.

Authentic Chinese scenes, both street scenes and various interesting interiors, add color to the backgrounds against which the almost melodramatic action takes place.

AT THE GRAND.

THE DUMBBELLS

Captain M. W. Plunkett's greatest of all soldier shows, the "Dumbells," are this season presenting an entirely new overseas revue, entitled, "Carry On," which will be the attraction at the Grand for two days starting April 13-14.

The organization is no longer a strictly third division troup, as the cast has been augmented to take in the stars from all the overseas units.

Of course those old favorites, Ross Hamilton, Al. Plunkett, Ben Allen, Bert Wilkinson, Morley Plunkett, Bert Williams and the famous T. J. Tilly are among those representing the old-timers. Then there are Pat Rafferty, Jack Challis, Gordon Calder, Bert Mason, Dick Kimberley, Stan. Bennett, Fraser Allan and Art Allan from the other divisional parties and another twenty clever entertainers from the various battalion, company and platoon parties, making an acting company double the strength of any of the former "Dumbells" tours.

The new revue, "Carry On," is very much of a military nature, both of the comedy sketches, and several of the numbers and interludes having a distinct bearing on the lighter side of trench life.

The newspapers in Toronto and the east, as well as Winnipeg and other cities in the west where the company has played recently, are unanimous in declaring "Carry On" to be the best of the series of "Dumbells" shows.

The items which seem to have aroused the greatest interest and enthusiasm are the songs of Al. Plunkett and Ross Hamilton; the first stage appearance of Captain Merton Plunkett, in his own songs; the new Overseas Orchestra; the brilliant staging of the entire production and the large number of new faces seen in various individual numbers and in the big ensembles.

The "Dumbells" have long since become recognized as a Canadian institution, and if they continue to advance in such rapid strides from year to year, they should hold their popularity indefinitely.

Bakers Taught Their Business Great By War.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 9 (United Press)—Baking science has developed more in the past ten years than in all the previous years of man, Dr. H. E. Barnard of Chicago, declared at a general meeting of the American Chemical Society.

"Comparatively few baking chemists, working under little appreciated difficulties, have in the last decade overthrown the craft control of one hundred centuries and built a scientific industry," said Dr. Barnard. "To besure, for many years chemists have helped the miller buy wheat for his grinding. They have valuated flour by weighing ashes and digesting proteins. They have given casual assistance to the brewer and distiller, turned yeast maker for the baker. But their routine service never unlocked the secrets of fermentation or solved the mysteries of gluten.

Taught by the World War

"The World War amalgamated 33,000 individual bakers into a great industry, which for the first time in history was compelled to work under controlled shop methods. Out of the chaos which confounded every baker, emerged an industry with a vision of the value of science. In the beginning the vision was focussed on practical things, on better buying methods, on relative values of materials, on the fitness of ingredients for their particular purposes.

"Today the baking of bread is a chemical process—with physical and biological aspects—carried on in huge laboratories, filled with automatic machinery and operating under temperature, humidity and time control. The quality of bread depends upon the control of the process of fermentation. Dough room fermentation is a means to an end which produces in the process of yeast growth sufficient acidity in the dough to develop or mature the gluten.

The Chemist's Part

"Gluten is an extraordinary material. Flour strength depends on its gluten content and even more on the character and quality of the gluten. The baker determines the condition of the gluten by feeling the dough. The chemist finds out just how much lactic acid it takes to mature or soften the gluten of a particular dough, and instead if training a trillion yeast plants to develop the proper acidity, he adds the calculated amount of lactic acid to the dough batch in the mixer. This process makes four hours' fermentation in the dough room unnecessary; it eliminates the hard work of punching the doughs; it saves labor and capital investment.

"With materials, methods, fermentation control, and the subsequent processes of proofing, baking cooling and wrapping all in the hands of the chemist technically trained in bake shop operation, the making of bread is no longer a duty for the housewife or the craft of a laborer. It is the application of chemical and biological skill to the production of the nation's food."

Dr. Barnard is director of the American Institute of Baking, with offices in Chicago.

Flying With Ebert to Leipzig Spring Fair.

ABOARD THE JUNKER AIRPLANE BEARING PRESIDENT EBERT FROM BERLIN TO THE LEIPZIG FAIR (By mail to the United Press).—A rush of wind, a whirr of motors, the eddying of air currents—they're off.

Fritz Ebert, President of the German Republic, leaned back in his luxurious armchair in the cabin of the all-metal Junker airplane bearing him from Berlin to the Leipzig spring fair—puffed his cigar and proceeded to enjoy the passing landscape below.

At the wheel sat the most expert pilot in all Germany, and at his elbow Government Counsellor Langfeld of the aerial bureau, as special observer, studying the delicate instruments which recorded every breeze, ever motor pulse and every current of the air.

The "flagship" of the fleet bearing officials of the government to Leipzig carried the President on his first aerial voyage. The flight was over in forty-five minutes. A great crowd greeted the President and his aerial escort as they landed at the Leipzig harbor. Each plane carried four or five passengers.

The President showed child-like interest in every detail of the trip. He showed surprise at the comfort of the cabin, asked questions about the safety devices, the recording instruments, the distance covered, the speed and other details. He estimated the height of the ship over the pine forests and lakes, finally stepping from the plane at the Leipzig landing field with a smile.

A REMARKABLE CURE OF A DIABETIC PATIENT

NEW YORK, April 9.— (Canadian Press.) — Announcement is made to-day of a remarkable cure effected by serum for diabetes discovered by Dr. F. G. Banting, Toronto.

Joseph Corbett, High school instructor, lingering on the verge of death for months and given up by doctors, was treated with Dr. Banting's serum on February second and is now completely cured. So hopeless were his friends of his recovery from the disease that they had purchased a plot in the cemetery for his burial.

He learned of Dr. Banting's serum through a newspaper article.

DANGEROUS AGE FOR HUSBANDS.

Anywhere Above 45, Says Mrs. Helen P. McCormick, Brooklyn Lawyer —Seek Younger Love.

NEW YORK, April 9.—What is the dangerous age for husbands?

Psychologists who analyze quirks of criminology, especially crimes of passion, find close parallels between famous cases.

The unsolved mystery, now six months old, of the Hall-Mills murder is now recalled as a parallel to the murder of Dorothy King, beautiful Broadway model, who was found dead of chloroform in her apartment March 15.

These are the questions entering into the analysis:

Was J. Kearsley Mitchell, wealthy son-in-law of E. T. Stotesbury, Morgan partner, marked as a victim of a blackmail plot in which the girl model met her death because she cared too much to help the plotters?

Was Rev. Edward W. Hall, New Brunswick rector, slain with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the church caretaker, because a plot of somewhat similar nature failed?

Mitchell is 52. His wife, Mrs. Frances Stotesbury Mitchell, is 42. And Dorothy King was only 27.

Rev. Hall was 41. His wife, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, was 55. And Mrs. Mills was only 33.

Is there a dangerous age, in which many men seek a younger love than that given by wives who are approaching—or have reached—middle age?

"There is—anywhere above 45," says Mrs. Helen P. McCormick, Brooklyn lawyer who was assistant district attorney of Kings county for five years.

"With the success that comes after the man has made good in his competitive fight in the business world, comes the let-down, that so often leads to trouble.

"He has time on his hands, and money—and seeks diversion.

"The larger the bankroll, the more dangerous the age."

"Ages of men have little to do with girl tragedies, I think," says Dr. S. A. Tannenbaum, physician, psychanalyst and author.

"Men with tendencies to philander live in a dangerous age all the time. It is going on in all circles of life all the time.

"Only the wealthy find it easier, sometimes, to hide their inner lives. But this very fact creates another sort of dangerous age—for it sometimes acts as a boomerang, their wealth predisposing them to exposure and even to blackmail."

Just 6 Months.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The murder of Dorothy King, Broadway butterfly, occurred six months to a day after the killing of Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

On Sept. 15, last, the New Brunswick, N. J., clergyman and his choir singer friend were slain on a deserted farm on the outskirts of New Brunswick.

On March 15, the model was chloroformed in her apartment just off Broadway, police believe, by men who were trying to get her aid in blackmailing J. Kearsley Mitchell, her wealthy admirer.

Another coincidence: Both Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Mitchell are named Frances.

ADDRESS WHICH WILL BE OF GREAT INTEREST

Robert Abbott, manager of the Canadian Raybestos Company, Limited, will deliver an address to the local engineers in the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening, April 12, at 8.15. His subject will be "Asbestos and Asbestos Products as adopted for Brake Lining and Packing." This address will deal with one of Peterborough's important industries, and the public are invited to attend. The information gleaned will be truly worth while.

London Prepars For Huge Crop of Tourists.

LONDON, April 9.—England is making plans to entertain more American tourists this summer than in any similar period in recent times.

The vanguard estimated at 100,000 who are expected to arrive in time to see the Duke of York's wedding from the sidelines, will be only a forerunner of a veritable army of pleasure seekers, which before the summer is spent is expected to number at least 700,000. Judging from the spending propensities of American tourists in previous years, this summer's delegation is expected to spend at least $100,000,00. Whereas three years ago 40 per cent. of the American tourists disembarked at Southampton or other English ports, and 60 per cent. landed at Cherbourg and other continental ports, the English tourist statisticians are now boasting that the ratio has been more than reversed in favor of the British Isles. Everything is being done by British hotel keepers and other professional entertainers not only to maintain that lead over continental attraction, but even to increase it.

Besides installing thousands of American soda fountains for the benefit of those with Volstedian thirsts, the English are importing ever increasing numbers of American jazz band musicians to play for American dancers.

There are now more American jazz musicians in London, according to the statement of a prominent London hotel official, than in any other three European capitals combined. In fact, the influx of American musicians has reached such a stage that there have been numerous protests against allowing alien musicians to enter England in the face of so much unemployment.

OBITUARY

FLORENCE MAY YOUNG.
The death occurred on Saturday evening of Florence May Young, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Young, after a lingering illness. The funeral was held this afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery from the family residence, 535 Albert Street.

MRS. FRED REVOY.
The death occurred yesterday after a short illness, of Mrs. Fred Revoy, nee Jessie Fleming. Mrs. Revoy came to the city ten years ago from Centreville, and latterly made her home at 292 Wood avenue, where she passed away. Two sisters and one brother survive, Mrs. Robert Shorts, McDonnel street, Peterboro; Mrs. William Smith, Windsor, and Bride Fleming, Peterborough. The deceased attended Bethany Tabernacle regularly and was an enthusiastic church worker.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, 292 Woodbine ave., on Wednesday, April 11, at 2 p.m., to the Little Lake cemetery.

Rev. A. G. Doner, of Bethany Tabernacle, will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. Robert Pogue of St. Paul's church.

MRS. K. P. ELLIS.
Murray street Baptist church has suffered a great loss in the death of Mrs. K. P. Ellis, which occurred at her late residence, 708 Harvey street, yetserday, at 10 a.m. after a very short illness. Mrs. Ellis came to Peterborough 34 yeads ago from Manilla and her husband predeceased her 26 years ago this month. She was prominently identified with all church work, and was an active worker in every department of church activity. The deceased was also a member of the Protestant Home board, and an energetic member of the W.C.T.U.

There are left to mourn her loss three daughters and three sons: Mrs. Frank Peck of Holliston, Mass., Mrs. A. W. Wray and Mary A. Ellis of Peterborough; W. T. and J. H. Ellis of Detroit and J. C. Ellis, of Peterborough, also one brother, Ben Strickey, Brandon, Manitoba.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, April 10 at 2.30 p.m. from the family residence. Rev. J. R. Webb, of Kitchener, formerly pastor of Murray street church in this city will conduct the services. Interment will be made in Little Lake cemetery.

AUSTRIAN FINANCES NOW ON FIRM BASIS

LONDON, April 9.—More has been accomplished to place Austria on a sound financial basis in the past few months than could have been done in 50 years without outside aid. The League of Nations has accomplished this, and the result of its efforts have been called miraculous by the leading financial experts of Europe. The Austrian committee of the league, reporting recently to the general council, made these statements.

"Not only has the money of the country been stabilized, but it has been possible to arrange for the floating of an external loan, 93 per cent of which is covered by government guarantees and the remaining seven per cent to be provided by other nations. London financial houses have expressed the opinion that the loan could be raised within a very short time, and virtually all of it in England.

"It is an important fact that, in addition to facilitating the loan, the allied powers and certain of Austria's neighbors are entering into commercial agreements with her designed to end the fatal isolation which has been in force since the war."

The Austrian chance or, Dr. Seipall said recently that the attempt to restore his country's economic life would have been doomed to failure at the offset if undertaken by any organization other than the League of Nations. He cited as proof of returning confidence the fact that more than 90,000,000 gold crowns had been raised internally during the last five months. Not a fraction of that sum would have been subscribed had not the hopes of the people been raised by the work done at Geneva.

Twins born in Chicago were named Adam and Eve and should be kept away from the orchards.

Outlaw Bands in India Flee Before Airplanes.

PESHAWAR, India, April 9.—After more than a year of fighting, peace has been established between the British forces and the Abdusiai Mahsuds on the northeast frontier of India. The terms of the British leaders have been accepted by the tribes in full. They provide that a road be built from Sara Rogha to Razmak, to be paid for by taxes raised from the tribes, and that outposts be established within the tribal territory.

The warfare has been carried on mainly by air and the British casualties have been very small. Sixteen bombing planes and an armored train formed part of the British equipment. The bandit forces in the vicinity of Nushki have disappeared to the north. They succeeded, however, in looting a convoy in the neighborhood of Hurmuk, and in inflicting other serious damage.

Punitive air operations, which have been carried on since early in January, have effected great destruction in enemy areas. Dinour, where the notorious raider, Mussa Khan, was supposed to be hiding, has been bombed with ruinous results.

Bombing planes and artillery were resorted to after infantry forces had failed to drive back the outlaw bands. Nine bombing flights were made, and more than five tons of bombs were dropped on the towns of Makin and Lelikhe. All the machines returned safely. Six-inch howitzers were used in the shelling of Makin. The moral effect of these air operations is believed to have been considerable.

Raiders are reported to be active on the Persian border. A party near Dizdap was followed by Persian troops and levies. The latter returned with a portion of the captured loot, and claim to have killed several of the raiders, including the notorious leader, Feto Khan. The gang was reported to be retiring up the Helmand river.

Red Financial Agent Close Private Banks.

VLADIVOSTOK, April 9.—M. Karlin, new commissariat of finance in the Far East, who has just arrived here from Moscow, has issued a statement explaining that he will be held responsible for reconstructing Siberian finances according to the Soviet principles; and also, announcing that he has been instructed to levy and collect taxes, both direct and indirect.

"Besides this," he added, "I am entrusted with the task of liquidating all former banking establishments. Among the banks which are to be liquidated are the local state bank, all joint-stock banks, and societies for mutual credit. The latter, if found necessary, will be allowed to continue their work, but only after their reconstruction on Soviet principles. Another thing which it is specially to do is to clear up the character of the work done by the foreign banks established here and to define their position. For this purpose I am going to summon a meeting of all government, commercial and private trade organizations in order to work out a plan under which the work of these banks here may be desirable.

"The most important task at present is the floating of an internal gold loan. The first bread loan surpassed our most optimistic expectations and will be repeated in the course of this year. We are also floating a lottery loan in gold which we think will be very profitable.

"No new taxes will be introduced and no special changes will be made in the tax system. Our main object is to get arrears of taxation and in gathering these we shall always keep in view that we are dealing with wea thy peop e.

"All private banks will be liquidated and the question of foreign banks will be settled by Moscow and I shall meanwhile only watch over their operations.

"We shall establish a stock and goods exchange here.

"At present we have no way of prohibiting the circulation of foreign money in the Primoria but we shall try to introduce legislation to control the currency as it exists now. We propose to introduce bank notes which may be changed into gold at any time and bank notes of small denominations will be issued."

AN OLD RESIDENT OF DIED SATURDAY NIGHT

BROCKVILLE, April 9.—(Canadian Press) — Rufus Avery, Ontario's oldest resident died Saturday night at House of Industry, Athens, where he had been an inmate since 1918, at age of 111 years. He was walking around a few days ago. He retained his eyesight and hearing until the last and was an inveterate smoker, having enjoyed his pipe the day before his death. His wife, thirty years his junior, is an inmate of the institution.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of sorrow often flow,
Memory keeps our loved one near us
Whom God claimed 4 years ago.
He sleeps beside his comrades
In a soldier's grave unknown,
But his name is written in signs of love
On the hearts he left at home.
A loving husband and father
Kind forever in our hearts enshrined
We think of you in silence
And your name we oft recall,
But there's nothing left to answer
Only your photo on the wall.

FREE STATERS CAPTURE HEAD OF IRREGULARS

Liam Lynch, Chief of Irish Rebel Staff, Made Prisoner After Being Wounded.

STIFF ENGAGEMENT

DUBLIN, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Liam Lynch, chief of staff of the Irish Irregulars, has been captured, it was officially announced this afternoon.

Lynch was captured by Free Sttae forces this morning at Knocknasaland, near Newcastle, after an engagement in which he was seriously wounded.

Liam Lynch has been one of the most uncompromising of the Irish Republican leaders, according to indications from his various reported utterances and the documents he has issued.

In February, when the peace proposals of Liam Deasy, the captured Irregular officer, was re-advanced, Lynch informed Deasy officially that his propositions could not be be considered. The chief of staff later issued a proclamation declaring: "The war will go on until the independence of our country is recognized by our enemies, foreign and domestic." He calls upon the "army" to continue its activities with vigor, and declared the Republicans would not falter "on the threshold of victory."

De Valera, Countess Markievicz and other prominent rebels are reported to have been with Lynch when shot. Their pursuit is continuing and it is believed their capture is imminent.

REGULAR MEETING OF SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held last evening, with a good attendance, the president, Mrs. S. F. Touchbourn, in the chair. The regular routine business was transacted, and representatives appointed to the Local Council of women: Mesdames C. Cheverill, J. T. C. Lang, Karl Simpson. The representative to the Well Babies' Clinic will be Mrs. R. Parnell.

It was decided to have a paper collection on April 27, a rummage sale in the near future, and a school picnic in June.

It was also decided to procure a set of the "Book of Knowledge" for the school. The secretary was instructed to write the Board of Education, thanking them for placing a piano in the school. Discussion took place over the advisability of drawing up a constitution for the association, the matter to be left in the hands of the Executive.

CUNO'S ADDRESS

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, April 10.—Germany today buried the thirteen workmen shot down by French troops at the Krupp works at Essen, according the victims all honors as though they had fallen on the field of battle.

Bells tolled throughout the Republic, from the Rhine to East Prussia and from Lake Constance to the North Sea, at the moment when a quiet procession with thirteen odd, open-faced hearses containing pentagonal caskets, wended through the streets of Essen.

Mourners in frock coats and top hats followed the caskets through the hushed streets of the Ruhr city, while hundreds of workers in overalls with rust and coal halted their work for an hour in tribute to the dead.

In Berlin the Reichstag Chamber was draped with crepe and decorated with laurel. Chancellor Cuno, President Ebert and the leaders of all the parties assembled at ten o'clock for services made up largely of speeches of regret at the "French bitterness."

The workmen for whom the nation mourned were shot down with machine guns at the Krupp Works after an effort of a patrol to requisition autos had been resisted.

Cuno's Address.

In his address, Chancellor Cuno expressed a willingness to enter free negotiations based upon reparations possible of fulfillment. "Until our opponents are willing to negotiate on this basis," he declared, "passive resistance must continue. In the name of the dead, we ask the entire world how long it will be until this insane mistreatment in the Ruhr ends.

"We Germans have constantly sought an understanding. We have offered France securities; she has not accepted them.

"Even when the enemy stood within our borders we proved our desire for an understanding by appointing our own proposals of the American Secretary of State.

"To-day at the graveside of our dead we are still ready to enter free negotiations leading to an understanding.

Peace With Freedom.

"However, sacrifices are vain if peace and freedom are not secured.

"Reparations must be brought to a measure where they can be fulfilled.

"No arrangement will be reached which fails to give the Ruhr and the Rhineland freedom. As long as our opponents are not ready for this, our passive resistance must continue."

The Chancellor appealed for solidarity. "In this battle there must be no parties, a single will must unite us. Act as though on the outcome of your behaviour depends the fate of Germany."

Eulogized the Dead.

ESSEN, April 10. Canadian Press. —Eulogizing the thirteen Krupp workers who fell in the shooting by the French troops at the plant here on the eve of Easter, Dr. Gustav Krupp Von Behlen und Halbach, the head of the works, at a memoral service to-day, said that their lives and their deaths would constitute "a foundation stone for Germany's future."

He briefly addressed his condolence to the bereaved families, and concluded: "Honor the memory of the fallen. They too died for German liberty and German honor."

The burial services were attended by people from all over the Ruhr and floral wreaths were sent from all parts of Germany. All church bells in the city rang during the ceremonies.

Would Rather have Death

COLOGNE, April 10. Canadian Press. — The declaration of the German ocupied area to the world on the day the victims of the Krupp shooting are buried, is "Rather death than slavery!" says the Cologne Gazette.

"The world may learn from that what the Paris politicians' cold-hearted policy of force has to reck on with here on the Rhine if it is to succeed in gaining a willing free path for the enslavement of the Rhineish people."

UPWARD TREND SUGAR PRICES

This is Wholesale, However, and is Not Expected to Affect Retail Price

The wholesale price of sugar has again commenced an upward trend, with two steps totalling an advance of 25 cents yesterday. Atlantic Sugar Refineries raised their price to wholesalers on granulated sugar to $10.40 per hundred pounds yesterday morning, a rise of 15 cents. According to a local dealer who is in constant touch with the refineries, a further advance of 10 cents was made later in the day.

It is not expected in other centres that this advance will affect the retail price of sugar, as this has been running about 11¼ and 12 cents for some time, but some grocers who have been trying to cut prices to the lowest possible figure may be forced up half a cent by the increase.

Since February 6, sugar has risen from $8.15 to to-day's price of $10.50. The stages have been as follows: February 6th, $8.15; 8th, $8.25; 9th, $8.35; 10th, $8.50; 14th, $8.50; 19th, $10; 22nd, $10.25; April 9th, morning $10.40, evening $10.50.

It is difficult to predict just where the sugar situation stands. Those in close touch with the sugar market say that the rise of 1920 was created by factors which are entirely absent from the sugar market to-day.

The Examiner's informant stated to-day that the latest rise in price is a bona fide increase in the value of sugar, and is not due to speculation.

FREIGHT CARS ARE DERAILED

Accident on Grand Trunk Line Results in Little Damage to Rolling Stock

Fourteen freight cars, most of them containing pulpwood, were derailed on the Grand Trunk line four miles northwest of Peterboro at 11 o'clock last night. Ten of these overturned and caused considerable difficulty in clearing the track. Fortunately the train was not proceeding at a sufficient rate of speed to pile the cars or telescope them, so the damage to the rolling stock is not extensive.

The morning passenger trains to and from Lindsay were diverted by way of Millbrook, but the track was cleared in time to permit the noon trains to pass.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR.

Members are asked to be at the Grand Opera House (Water Street entrance) to-night at 7.45 sharp, to be ready to allow of concert commencing at 8.15 sharp. Curtain will rise at 8.13, and patrons are asked to kindly be in their seats at this hour.

The choir had the final rehearsal at the Opera House last night, and put in a hard practice. The various numbers went with a swing and completeness that augurs well for this, their third annual concert tonight. The members and conductor are confident of a big improvement on the work of former concerts, and expect a full house on this occasion.

The choir accompanist, Miss Ida G. Sanderson, the assisting artiste, Cameron McLean, with Mabelle Howe Mable at the piano, will be on hand, and patrons are promised the musical treat of the season.

NO HOPE FOR FEDERAL HELP FOR PROVINCES

Premier King Declares Government Not Legally Committed to Contribute to Good Roads

OTHER NEEDS FIRST

OTTAWA, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—"As a Federal Government here we are being taken to task because of an alleged deficit and enormous weight of taxation, but a great deal of this is due to the fact that the Federal Government has been raising money for the Provinces," declared Premier King to a large delegation of the Canadian Good Roads Association, which waited upon him and members of the Cabinet.

"Little by little obligations have been thrown over on the Federal Government which it never intended to meet. Our problem is to find out how we can raise revenue for matters which, under the B. N. A., comes under Federal jurisdiction. We must do this before considering further assistance to the provinces. There is no legal obligation, and I think there is no moral obligation to extend the period of the Canada Highways Act or to make a further grant."

The Premier assured the delegation that the Federal Government was sympathetic to the construction of good roads, but informed it that delegations pressing their particular claims were constantly besieging members of the Cabinet. Claims for unemployment, agriculture, housing and education were placed before members of the Cabinet and all sections of the country were crying out for public works, but they were being denied because of the financial situation.

"I tell you frankly, gentlemen," continued the Premier, "that with a majority of one or two in the House of Commons— and that is all we have—we cannot go before Parliament and ask for further grants to provinces unless we are willing to satisfy some of these demands for necessary public works."

LOCAL EMPLOYEES RECEIVE A BOOST

Headquarters is Well Pleased With Winter Work of Local Grand Trunk Men.

A winter record distinctly better than any other district on the Eastern lines, was made by the district of which the local Grand Trunk lines form a part, according to a letter, sent out by the General Superintendent. In communicating the contents of this letter to the railroad men, the bulletin says:

"A complimentary letter has been received from the General superintendent, Mr. W. Davidson, in connection with the handling of passenger trains on the eighth, ninth and tenth districts, which includes Peterborough."

Mr. Davidson states that notwithstanding the abnormal weather conditions our passenger trains have been shown on time almost daily, which is a wonderful record, and distinctly better than any other district on the Eastern lines.

PLAYER ALLEGES FRAUD IN HIS WHITE SOX SUIT

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 10—(Canadian Press).—That Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox baseball club, practiced trickery and fraud in securing Joe Jackson's signature to a three-year contract, was alleged by the outlawed ball player in his deposition before Girard M. Cohen, Court Commissioner, yesterday. The testimony given by "Shoeless Joe," and Mrs. Jackson, will be used in the trial of his suit for $116,500 damages and back pay from the White Sox, which will take place at Milwaukee on May 12.

SUDDEN DEATH OF NOTED TURF MAN AND BREEDER

FORT MYERS, Fla., April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Colonel Gatesby Woodford, aged 74, well known turf man and race horse breeder of Paris, Kentucky, died here yesterday morning. He had been spending some time at Naples, near here and had been ill only a few days. Mr. Woodford was the owner of "Raceland," said to be one of the finest stock farms in Kentucky and was a former president of the Kentucky Racing Association.

SMALL STREAMS HELP MAINTAIN POWER SUPPLY

How First Spring Freshets Swelled Reach to Healey Falls While Stop Logs Were Put in Above.

SEASON IS LATE

As elsewhere, spring is two weeks behind its average schedule in the records of the Trent Canal Department. Within the last few days the moving pen has begun to mark an ascending line on the charts, showing the first manifestations of the freshets as they raise the levels of the lakes.

Mr. A. L. Killaly, superintendent of the Canal, told The Examiner that beyond the belated season the conditions were normal.

At Hastings on Saturday it was thought that a heavy flow of ice tumbling over the dam was the outgoing of Rice Lake's winter crop, but other reports, including those fro mthe canal, agree that Rice Lake has not yet broken up.

Mr. Killaly reported a rather interesting experience recently in the control of th Trent reservoir that illustrates how various water resources have to be manipulated to continuous and best results.

At the beginning of the winter he had deliberately adopted a policy of drawing off more than the usual amount of water from some of the upper lakes to maintain the flow in the Otonabee and Trent Rivers. This demand together with a lessened supply due to the fact that the precipitation of rain and snow from November to March was 30 per cent. below the average, created a condition which finally a few days ago began to threaten trouble.

Fortunately, an early promise of the rout of winter was ushered in with rain and mild weather several weeks ago, and almost at once the creek running through the city swelled to freshet proportions, and other small tributaries of the system from Peterborough south, including the Indian and Ouse Rivers, began to pour their surplus into the reaches above Healey Falls.

The upper lakes, which are slower to react to such changes, especially under the conditions that existed at this time, gave only faint signs of increasing head. However, the Superintendent decided to put in stop logs in the system above Lakefield to store up whatever water was available, while the many streams below were supplying Healey and Ranney Falls with more than their requirements.

Lessening the flow above the city might possibly have affected the C.G.E. and Quaker Oats Dams and the Auburn unit of the Hydro system, and Mr. Killaly assumed responsibility for any eventualities at these points. Everything was satisfactory down stream, with plenty of power for the district, thanks to the flow from the lower watershed through Baxter's Creek, the Peterborough Creek, the Indian River, and other small streams.

Although the local records had to be watched almost continuously for three days, no serious effects were felt, while one part of the system was compensating another, and since then the upper lakes have hopped off on their spring rise.

Mr. Killaly's observations this winter had more than ever convinced him of the industrial safety and protection in the Department's policy of conserving the water, except for the normal draft, according to the lessons of long experience

NURSE REPORTS TO WELL BABIES' CLINIC

Ninety-six Births the Last Three Months, 24 Have Died.

At the quarterly meeting of the Board of Management of the Well Babies' Clinic, held recently at the home of Mrs. James Kendry, there was a good attendance. Very encouraging reports were given by Dr. Birnie ,by the treasurer, Mrs. F. C. Neal, and by the Clinic nurse, Mrs. G. McCartney.

Dr. Birnie spoke of matters of general interest to the Clinic. The treasurer's report was as follows: Receipts: Balance on hand, Jan. 1923: $123.31. Donations: Major Bennett Chapter I.O.D.E., $20; 57th Regimental Chapter I.O.D.E., $25; Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., $100; Queen Alexander Home and School Association, $12 .Total $280.31. Expenditures: Advertising (re annual meeting), 75 cents; to G.W.V.A. (for coal), $37.00. Total, $37.75. Since the annual attatement was prepared, further donations of $40 have been received, being sums of $10 apiece from Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Hazlett and the Misses Martha and Charlotte Dickson, making a total balance on hand at present of $282.56.

The Nurse's Report.

The report of the Clinic nurse, Mrs. G .McCartney, follows:

Madame President and Ladies,—For the past three months, January, February and March, there were one hundred and fifty babies at the Clinic. Also two well attended lectures, one by Dr. Harvey on the Expectant Mother and the other by Dr. Eastwood on Malnutrition.

During these three months there were ninety-six births; of these twenty-four have died.

There has been two hundred and thirty-eight visits paid. Of these two were specials. Two eye cases were found. One of these was cured, the other one is incurable. The thanks of the Well Babies' Clinic is due Dr. Buchanan for the careful examination of this eye. The other special calls were mainy to children suffering from colds, pneumonia and indigestion. Three cases of measles were discovered and reported. Several cases of distress were relieved by gifts of clothing from the Big Sisters and a layette from Thursday Club and milk and eggs from the Medical Health Association.

The interest at the Clinic is increasing and is very gratifying.

Births and Deaths.

Following the reading of reports, it was decided to report the number of births and deaths of infants, as recorded at the City Hall, to the members of the Medical Association of Peterborough for their careful consideration, in an effort to ascertain the cause of the city's high infant mortality rate, which is creating alarm.

At the conclusion of the business session, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Kendry and a social hour spent.

Officers for the Board of Management of the Well Babies' Clinic this year are: President, Mrs. Jas. Kendry; Vice-President, Mrs. Robt. Harstone; Secretary, Mrs. A. W. Turner; Treasurer, Mres. F. C. Neal.

Dr. Jessie Birnie is Secretary of the Clinic itself ,and Mrs. G. McCartney attendant nurse. Voluntary workers who give faithful and untiring service are the Misses Marjorie Best and Ila Giles. The King's Daughters and the Thursday Club are also much-appreciated helpers in making the meetings and the work of the Clinic so successful.

KIWANIS CLUB HAD A VARIED BUDGET TODAY

Peterboro Male Voice Choir Eulogized—What the P.A.A.A. Stands For —Boys Entertained.

TODAY'S GUESTS

Cameron McLean, the well known Scottish baritone of Detroit and Mrs. Mabelle Howe Mable, accompanist, were the guests of honour at to-day's luncheon of the Peterboro Kiwanis Club. President J. A. McKone presided. The attendance was seventy-six and a half per cent; number three team leading with seventy-seven per cent and number one and number two each had seventy-six per cent. To-day's guest besides the guests of the day included Dr. J. C. Greene, D. Wells Fraser, John Gordon, William Morten, William Hutchinson, Alex. Kay, Dr. A. W. McPherson all of the city also C. S. Thompson, C. B. Adair and Fred Sutcliffe representing the Peterboro Male Voice Choir and W. C. Wood of Bensfort. Speaking for the Male Voice Choir, Mr. C. B. Adair, past-president said the Peterborough Male Voice Choir is unique in the fact that it is the only purely male musical organization in the history of Peterboro. It was organized on June 2nd 1920, and the name of Peterborough Male Voice Choir adopted. Its inception began in 1919 and 1920, when augmented choir concerts were held in George Street Methodist Church. Some thirty men who assisted in those concerts, conceived the idea that a non-denominational male musical organization would promote the musical interests of Peterborough, as well as provide pleasure and development for men of the city who are interested in better vocal production. A committe was appointed, and a meeting called, which resulted in the formation of the present organization.

Cameron McLean

"No individual would want to live in a city without a soul", said Cameron McLean during the course of an interesting address which included a generous reference to the Male Voice Choir and its value to the community. No man or woman has any license to sing before the public unless they are imbued with the brotherhood of man. In the words of Abraham Lincoln real singing is to sing of the soul to the soul and for the soul. Human sympathy and expression are necessary to good singing, said the speaker.

Mr. McLean then favoured the gathering with two vocal selections "The Song of the Flea" by Mousorgsky and "Annie Laurie." The latter was described by Mr. McLean as one of the most famous songs ever composed. It has been translated into fourteen different languages. The first song brought out the expressive power of Mr. McLean and his wide range of vocal ability. The ability of the accompanist was also demonstrated in the two numbers.

Kiwanis Ball Team.

Another interesting feature of the programme was the presence at the meeting of the following members of the Kiwanis bantam baseball team. They are as follows: John Goodson, 514 Patterson street, Dion Snelgrove, 544 George street; Jas. Holland, 584 Cedar street; Greig Wolfe, 452 Donegal street; Ernie Wolfe, 452 Donegal street; Roy Lewis, 544 Stewart street; Jas. McDuffie, 358 Hunter street; Russell Lucas, 325 Aylmer street; Allen Morphet, 104 Aylmer street; Jack Jennings, 332 Rubidge street; Desmond Marshall, 332 Rubidge street; Bill Dick, 380 Stewart street; Keith Copping, 316 Margaret avenue; Brian Copping, 316 Margaret avenue; Charlie Huffman, 311 Elias avenue; Harry Chonhall, 526 Water street; Robert Mackey, 603 Stewart street; Arnold Spencer, 576 Stewart street.

SAY THAT COST CANADIAN COAL IS PROHIBITIVE

Price of Semi-Anthracite at Alberta Mines in Excess of the Pennsylvania Product.

FREIGHT RATE HIGH

Information gleaned from some of the principal coal dealers in the city indicates that no Alberta coal will be brought to Peterborough. None has been ordered, and these dealers have no intention of ordering any. "The Alberta coal costs more at the mines than a similar grade of coal in Pennsylvania, and the freight rate is practically double the rate from the United States," said one of the dealers. "The Alberta coal would not be suitable for the stoves here, which have been made for hard coal. There seems to be no reason for paying a higher price for Canadian coal when we are sure of the quality of the American anthracite."

Quotations have been received locally from the Alberta mines, but no further steps have been taken.

Already people are making preparation for next winter, and one dealer received a car load of coal every working day last month. This was all disposed of in small lots. Orders are being taken with the provision that they will be filled only when the coal is procurable. The indications are that people here, as elsewhere, have learned the lesson of meeting winter with an empty bin, and this year will make provision.

Cost of Freight.

Col. R. F. Massie, of Cobourg, received a car of Alberta coal from Wayne last week. On this consignment he paid $12 a ton freight and the coal cost from $4 to $5 at the mines. If the practice of bringing coal from the west comes into favor it is hoped that the government may co-operate to the extent of reducing the freight rate to about $6 a ton.

Satisfactory Quality.

A local man who used the western coal while resident in Southern Alberta, stated that he had found it very satisfactory. Coal dealers and others say that the stoves in Ontario have too small a flue and are otherwise unfit for burning this western coal, but as the majority of the stoves used in the west are of Ontario manufacture it is difficult to understand this contention. According to the Examiner's informant, the Alberta coal lasted longer with equal heat than the anthracite he used here.

INQUEST TO BE HELD ON WELL KNOWN WOMAN

LONDON, April 10. — (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Rosalind Travers Hyndman, widow of the famous British Socialist leader, Henry M. Hyndman, and herself a poetess of note, was found dead Sunday night in her home under circumstances which have caused the authorities to order an inquest. It is understood that a letter found in her room may throw some light upon her death. Mrs. Hyndman was 58 years of age. The newspapers are giving considerable attention to the case.

COAL AND ORE MINERS RECEIVE WAGES BOOST

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Apr. 10. — (Canadian Press).—It was announced at the offices of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company here late yesterday that the wages of common labor in all parts of the company would be increased 11 per cent.

The coal and ore miners of the company, together with other miners of the district to the number of 30,000, received a wage boost of 12½ per cent. on March 15.

HUMANE SOCIETY MAKES PROGRESS

Several Members Added to Peterborough Branch and Activities Expand.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held in Toronto last month, Dr. Thos. Johnston V. S. of Peterboro, represented the local branch of this organization. Dr Johnston's report of this meeting shows a very interesting session. Bishop Sweeney, the Anglican bishop of Toronto, who opened the meeting, paid a particular tribute to the progress made by the Peterborough branch. Officers for the ensuing year are: Hon. Pres., Adam Brown, "the grand old man" of Hamilton; President—Rt Rev. J. N. Sweeney; First Vice President—Mr. McLaren of Hamilton, Second Vice-President; J. J. Kelso of Toronto; Third Vice-President—Mr. McPherson of Ottawa; Secretary Treasurer —Mr. Wilson of Toronto.

"Great discussion took place on cruelty to animals through slipping. Mr. Wilson reported a lot of cruelty to animals among the lower class of farmers around Toronto. Sometimes even starvation, resulting in death. He also said that for educational work, "The Humane Pleader" should be placed in every public school."

Local Progress

The organization of a local branch of the Humane Society, and the appointment of an inspector to look after cases of cruelty to those "who cannot speak for themselves" has been productive of good results in lessening such evils in the city itself and in surrounding districts.

In the month of March, several new members were elected to the Society's rolls. Ten cases were investigated during that month, the majority being instances of neglect or ill-usage of horses, in such ways as allowing them to go poorly shod, with galling and ill-fitting harness, with irritating eye-blinkers, or left without blankets while standing. On the open- market, this latter practice is common one, owner allowing his team to stand unblanketed for over four hours in chilly weather while he was comfortably occupied elsewhere.

An incident which has recurred several times in a certain section of the south end is that of a disposal of live pups in the garbage cans. Two and three-day old puppies, alive with their eyes still unopened, have been placed, securely wrapped up in paper, in neighboring garbage cans, to find their way, presumably, to a death by fire in the incinerator, a fate which any dog-lover and appreciator of the cuddling softness of a small puppy, would wish to see them saved from. The garbage collectors, who, one and all balk at the job of roasting alive a baby pup, have on several occasions discovered these small wriggling bundles, and live cats have also been disposed of in the same fashion. A cat, however, is usually more likely to free itself from such a situation than a small helpless dog, and Inspector Stapleton issues a formal notice that any further instances of the sort will be made an example of by the local Humane Society.

INCREASE IN WAGES OF COMMON STEEL WORKERS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Apr. 10.—(Canadian Press).—The Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, one of the largest independents in the country, yesterday announced an increase of approximately 11 per cent. in the wages of common labor, meeting the advance announced earlier in the day, of the Carnegie Steel Company, a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

The advance affects about 16,000 employees.

Wages of other employees also will be revised upward, the announcement said.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT TO GIVE RELIEF ONLY IN NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Questions of Unemployment, Unless Very Acute, Will Be Left For Provincial Government.

WAR MEASURES.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 10 (Canadian Press). — "The policy of the present Government, as of the late Government, is that unemployment is primarily a matter for municipalities and provinces," declared Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour, while labour estimates were under consideration in the House yesterday. This, added Mr. Murdock, was unless unemployment reached so acute a stage that it became necessary for the Dominion to intervene.

The Prime Minister pointed out that the Provinces had claimed that factory legislation and employment were within the jurisdiction of the Provinces under the British North America Act. If employment was a provincial matter, unemployment would seem to be provincial also.

During the last two years there had been a national emergency arising out of the war, and the Dominion had helped. The time had come when it was necessary to draw a line. During the war the Federal debt was increased enormously, while the Provinces had virtually added nothing to their debts, and some of them were beginning to have surpluses. If the Dominion were to carry out its obligations under the law, it would be necessary to ask the Provinces to carry out their obligations also.

L. J. Ladner (Vancouver) understood the Federal Government did not intend to assist in the relief of unemployment except in case of war.

"National emergency," the Premier substituted.

Mr. Ladner replied that he could not think of any national emergency except war, that would be likely to make Dominion action necessary. He had been receiving many complaints on this matter, but he believed that the policy of the Government was right, and it was well that the public should understand that unemployment was a Provincial matter.

W. Irvine (Labour, Calgary) was glad to have a statement from the Premier; but if that were the meaning of the British North America Act, that Act should be amended. The Federal Government had the power to regulate trade by its fiscal policy and also the power under its immigration policy to bring in labour for which there was no employment. Therefore it should take responsibility in the matter.

J. T. Shaw (Independent, Calgary W.) urged that Calgary had complied with the spirit or the Order-in-Council in regard to granting relief to ex-service men and its account, approximatng $1,800, should therefore be paid. If the letter of the law would not allow payment, would not the Minister bring down a supplementary estimate for the purpose?

Mr. Murdock replied that if he were to say yes, he had no doubt that there would be other claims presented, just as well justified as those of Calgary, and that the total amount would run up into thousands of dollars.

During discussion, Mr. Irvine had some sharp criticism for the Labour Department. He declared it should be called the "capitalistic department," that it should be abolished, and the money expended on the department spent on the unemployed or in placing money on the land. All the work done by the Labour Department, Mr. Irvine, urged, could be done by the other departments.

BIG DRUG TRAFFIC TO UNITED STATES

Customs Officials Seize Million Dollar Lot of Morphine.

NEW YORK, April 10—Customs officials here expressed the hope to-day that they had made a start toward breaking up a vast international plot to smuggle narcotic drugs into this country, in the guise of merchandise shipped ostensibly to Canada, but actually intended to be diverted into bootleg channels in this and nearby cities.

This "start" was the seizure in the New York Central Railroad yards Friday of 1,221 pounds of morphine, shipped from Europe on a Holland-American Liner, and invoiced as "lamps." The narcotic, which was billed for Canada, had a bootleg market value of considerably more than a million dollars, Customs agents said. While no figures are obtainable as to the total quantity of narcotics which have found their way into his country, it is conjectured the figure is several million dollars.

Only a small part of the narcotics shipped to Canada, reaches the invoiced destination, it was stated by the Customs agents, the bulk of it being diverted in this country while in transit.

START SEEDING SOON

SASKATOON, April 10.—(Canadian Press)—Estimates that seeding in this district would not commence before the end of April were upset by Cory municipality officials yesterday, who declared farmers would go on the land at the end of next week. A few more warm days like Sunday and to-day would clear the land of snow and hasten seeding operations, they said.

DEAN ARRAIGNS CO-EDS.

OXFORD, April 10.—Speaking on the question of sex equality and equal educational opportunities for women, Dean Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, declared that out of 2,600 women students at Oxford University only 657 had married. The rest—77 per cent.—had taken vows of perpetual maidenhood. "I hope" said the distinguished London ecclesiastic, "that this deplorably low percentage is not final. When I walk through the streets at Oxford and observe the very attractive-looking young students in their fetching caps and gowns, I cannot believe that such a large proportion of them can be so hard-hearted as to ignore the other sex."

WAGE INCREASE ANNOUNCED FOR IRON WORKERS

United States Steel Corporation Has Granted a Substantial Increase to Employees.

OTHERS FOLLOW.

NEW YORK, April 10 (Canadian Press). — The United States Steel Corporation yesterday announced a wage increase of 11 per cent., effective on 18th April, for day labourers employed in the manufacturing plants of its subsidiary companies, with an equitable adjustment for other classes of labour in those plants.

More than 150,000 employees are affected, and the increase, it is estimated, will add approximately half a million dollars weekly to the payroll.

The Republic Iron and Steel Company immediately announced a similar wage increase for its day labourers, and the Bethlehem, Crucible, Youngstown-Sheet and Tube, and other large independent companies are expected to follow suit.

Three small Middle Western manufacturers previously had announced increases from 40 to 41 cents an hour for common labourers.

Employees of the mining, transportation, and miscellaneous properties of the United States Steel Corporation are not affected by the present increase.

The present rate of pay for day labourers in the manufacturing plants of the corporation is 36 cents an hour.

The increase will bring the wages to approximately 40 cents an hour.

The increase in the steel industry closely follows those in the textile, copper mining, and certain building trades.

While the increase in the steel industry was regarded in Wall Street as inevitable because of the sharp competition for unskilled labour, the actual announcement was not expected until the return of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, who is due here on Friday, after an absence of two months on a Mediterranean cruise.

Mr. Gary and Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, repeatedly have called attention to the shortage of unskilled labour, which they blamed on the restrictive immigration laws.

Manufacturing plants of the United States Steel Corporation are now working at 92 per cent. of capacity, which is believed to be the maximum possible under present labour and transportation conditions.

Prices of steel products have been advancing steadily since the early part of last year, the increases for a number of standard products ranging from 33 1-3 to 66 2-3 per cent.

LABOR OBJECTS TO THE SPECIAL FORCE

Say If Government Creates "White Guard" Labor Will Want "Red Guard."

LONDON, April 10.—The Government met strong opposition from the Labor Members to-night on the second reading of the Special Constables Bill. The Act of 1914 enrolling special constables for service during the war expired at the end of last year, and by the present bill the Government seeks power to continue recruiting special constables for use in case of emergency.

The Labor members hotly opposed making this emergency force into a permanent force and accused the Government of desiring to create a strike-breaking force. Charles P. Trevelyan, Newcastle-on-Tyne, declared that if this "White Guard" was created by the Government, it would create a desire on the other side to have a "Red Guard." Home Secretary Bridgeman ridiculed what he terms the amazing suspicions of the Labor Members regarding the Bill and taunted the Labor Party with the probability that if they ever came into power they would be glad to use the proposed act. The debate was closured by a vote of 214 to 126; a motion for the rejection of the bill was defeated 218 to 122 and the bill passed its second reading.

YEARNS FOR CANADA.

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(United Press)—"America fever" again has broken out in various parts of Sweden, according to statistical reports. This term is applied by the opponents of emigration to the yearnings of young men and women to seek their fortunes in Canada and the United States.

More than one thousand persons left Sweden for America during January and February of this year as against fewer than three hundred for the same period last year. Virtually all of these imigrants are well supplied with funds to cover their traveling expenses, and most of them have relatives who will help them out when they arrive.

Sweden's quota under the United States immigration law is about 20,000 per year.

ANDREW BONAR LAW MAY HAVE TO RESIGN

Continued Ill-Health May Make It Necessary For the Premier to Give Up the Reins of Leadership — Baldwin and Chamberlain Suggested As His Successors.

LONDON, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Returning to the House of Commons yesterday, Premier Bonar Law looked bronzed and well, but the House was pained when he attempted to reply to questions to find that his throat was still affected, and that he was able to speak only with difficulty and in almost inaudible tones. Indeed, when he came to explain the arrangements for the Imperial Conference he handed his answer to Stanley Baldwin, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to deliver.

In the Prime Minister's entourage it was stated that although he is only suffering from a relaxed throat, there is no likelihood that he will be able to deliver a speech for some time to come, and this has revived the rumors of his possible retirement at an early date, which have been more persistent lately. No immediate developments are expected, but it has always been understood that Mr. Bonar Law's retention of office depended upon the course of his health; therefore, should he decided to retire after the budget statement is made, it would cause no surprise.

There is much speculation as to his possible successor. Mr. Baldwin is the only likely man in the present ministry, but there is talk of Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead rejoining the Conservative Government, in which case Mr. Chamberlain would most likely take the post of Prime Minister.

NEXT PREMIER?

Austen Chamberlain.

A BIG HIGH SCHOOL CADET CORPS CAMP

Preparations Under Way At Kingston to Serve the District, Including Peterborough.

KINGSTON, April 10.—(Special)—Preparations are being made for a big high school cadet camp by Capt. Victor Heron, I.S.C.M.D. No. 3. According to present plans there will be but one company, and this will be held in Barriefield.

The plans were prepared by the late Inspector, Lieut. Col. Gillespie, who is now re-organizing military district No. 1. Capt. Heron is an infantry man and his war service has equipped him with splendid experience for the organization work he is now doing.

No estimate is yet available as to the number of cadets to attend camp, but it is expected that there will be high school battalions from Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterboro, Lindsay, Belleville, Napanee, Picton, Brockville, Renfrew, Pembroke, Cornwall, Perth, Ottawa and Hull.

DREAM OF TOURISTS.

LONDON, April 10.—At least one English village is planning to pay its share of the war debt to America, and incidentally to rent a new town hall, by means of the money spent by American tourists.

The Cheam Parish council recently decided to rent as a council chamber a 400-year-old cottage. Opponents were silenced by a member's proposal that the town clerk should charge American tourists a guinea to show them over the building.

The council has rented the house and will now lie in wait for such descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers as reach Cheam next summer.

A party of Americans visited the cottage last summer and made a generous offer for the place, intending to ship it bodily to the United States as a specimen of fine old English architecture.

BIG RUM RUNNER IS WITHOUT COAL CAN'T LEAVE U.S.

Bootlegger Told the U.S. Officials That the Vandreuil Had No Coal to Carry Her Back to Her Home Port.

CLOSELY WATCHED.

NEW YORK, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—United States Customs officials announced yesterday that the steamer Vaudreuil, one of the rum-running fleet hovering off Atlantic Highlands, N.J., is without coal to carry her back to her home port, Montreal. They are watching her every move, and if she should attempt to slip into port to replenish her bunkers she will in all probability be seized and her officers asked to give an account of themselves.

Information of the Vaudreuil's plight was obtained by the Customs officials from a bootlegger arrested in a recent harbor raid. This man said the Vaudreuil hove to off the Jersey coast early last January, laden with liquor contraband. It was said she was the largest of the so-called Rum Armada, and at times had been designated as "Mother Ship" of the rum fleet.

The Vaudreuil's skipper is said to have tried vainly to coax coal merchants in this city and in New Jersey ports to supply enough coal to enable him to make his home port, or some port in the West Indies.

Marine records show that the Vaudreuil cleared from the River Clyde, Scotland, November 20, presumably headed for Havana and the Bahamas.

Observers at Sandy Hook announced yesterday that the rum fleet had been augmented by three schooners, making the Anti-Volstead Division now off the Highlands comprise three steamers and nine schooners.

MIGRATORY REVERIES.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(United Press)—The "barkers" of employment agencies which cater to the Order of Casual and Migratory Laborers are again singing coaxing ditties on the sidewalks in front of their establishments, in an effort to obtain men to fill the increased demand for outdoor workers usual at this season.

"Hey, big boy, what d'ye say?" the burden of their song runs. "Long jobs, big pay, up state, down south, west, all over. Take a squint at the board, step right up and park yer 'war bag' here 'till shippin' time."

Many itinerants, faced with the dwindling of their winter's "stake," the savings of last summer's wages which enabled them to idle through the cold weather, are responding to the cajolings of the "barker" but others, it was said, are marking time until things "open up" a little wider.

The employment agencies report a strong demand for railroad laborers and farmhands, with wages approximately the same as last year.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN.

LONDON, April 10. — (United Press)—In the past there have been many guesses and speculations as to the location of the Garden of Eden. Professor Sir Arthur Keith, lecturing before the Royal Society, treated a scientific audience to some original ideas of his own on the subject.

He said that in the "far distant past" the Sahara and the vast deserts of Arabia and the area stretching to Mongolia were "blooming."

"That large tract was really the Garden of Eden, man was driven from it not by a flaming sword but by a flaming sun. Every type of man could be found round that Garden of Eden.

"It is possible to go far beyond the days of Abraham and Tubal Cain and his smithy. It should be realized that Egypt and Babylonia were only remnants of a past civilization. Civilized man, I am convinced, is far older than is at present generally believed."

TYPHOID FEVER OUTBREAK HAS PASSED CRISIS

Steps Taken By Medical Authorities Are Coping Successfully With the Serious Epidemic.

24 DEATHS.

COCHRANE, Ont., April 10, Canadian Press. — The fourth week of the typhoid fever epidemic in Cochrane began on Monday with a total of 677 cases reported since the epidemic started, and a force of 75 nurses and eight doctors recruited from all parts of Ontario, engaged in curative and preventative measures.

These figures were supplied the Canadian Press last night by Mayor Russell, who is in charge of the entire organization for fighting the epidemic. The deaths since the epidemic began have now reached a total of 24 of which two occurred on Sunday and one on Monday, while this total is expected to be enlarged by daily additions for the next few days. Mayor Russell stated that he believed the peak of the epidemic had passed.

The average number of fresh cases during the week since the incubation period of germs taken from the contaminated water supply was over has been 15 daily, but all of these have been the result of secondary infection, according to Dr. W. E. George of North Bay, who has returned to the scene of the epidemic.

The more serious cases, 140, are being accommodated in special hospital beds in the Lady Minto Hospital, and the Knights of Columbus Hall, which has been specially equipped for the purpose. Eight doctors are in the town, six of whom have been recruited from outside points, and these are working under instructions from the two local physicians, Dr. Fraser and Dr. Biron.

Each doctor has 12 nurses under his charge, while the provincial nurses are organized to canvass the homes where cases are reported and leave orders with the Board of Health for the necessary supplies.

Of the doctors at present in town two are from Toronto, one from Montreal and one from Ottawa. The others are from various towns throughout the north.

Mayor Russell estimated the cost of the epidemic to the town at $500 a day. Shipments of supplies have been donated by the Red Cross Provincial Board of Health, Iroquois Falls and South Porcupine, and a shipment is in course of preparation at Cobalt.

Nos. 601 and 602, now operating because of disinfectants, such as lysol and chloroform. Donations of any supplies such as sheets, bandages and other equipment, and particularly drugs of the above mentioned type, would be welcome from any source and should be addressed to Mayor Russell at Cochrane.

The present sources of water supply are pure fresh water springs and Norman Lake, the entire supply being chlorinated from two plants continually in operation. Mayor Russell in discussing the situation generally was optimistic and referred appreciatively to the efforts of the provincial authorities and Cochrane's sister towns in northern Ontario for their assistance in fighting the disease.

Imperial Conference To Be Held in London

LONDON, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—An imperial economic conference and a meeting of the Imperial Conference of Premiers, similar to that held in June, 1921, will sit concurrently in London, beginning October 1, it was announced yesterday in the House of Commons by Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It is anticipated, he said, that India and the Dominions will be represented in the discussion of affairs vital to the Empire.

In answer to a supplemetnary query, the Chancellor said that questions relating to the Imperial defence would most certainly be discussed.

FEW MEMBERS AT QUEEN'S PARK

Only Twenty-Six Members Present When Provincial Legislature Opened For Business Yesterday.

TORONTO, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)— Although yesterday was private members' day in the Legislature the House was forced into government business because there were not enough private members present to carry on with that order of business. When the House opened for business only 26 members were in benches. The four included leaders of the Conservative and Liberal parties each with one supporter. On the other side seven were cabinet ministers and 15 private members.

Premier Drury although frankly unprepared for such a state of affairs immediately proceeded to keep the House busy with a discussion of government business. The bill proposed by the Attorney General that the registrar offices of York county, including the city of Toronto, be amalgamated was given second reading on a vote of 15 to nine. The opposition was simply backing up the county of York which went on record as opposed. The House also passed second reading of Hon. Manning Doherty's bill given financial aid by loan to the consolidation of small cheese factories.

The House passed first reading of a bill to increase the Ontario loan to municipalities for drainage purposes from one million to two million dollars.

A bill also got second reading leaving it to government-in-council to set the salaries of the chief coroners of the city of Hamilton and Toronto.

LETTERS SAY IRISH REBELS MORALE GOING

Malcontents Are Finding It Very Difficult to Carry On — Are Ready to Surrender.

29 KILLED.

DUBLIN, April 10.—(Canadian Press)—The Irish irregulars have been reduced to such desperate straits that a summer campaign on their part is impossible, according to captured documents made public yesterday by the Publicity Department of the Free State Army.

In one of the documents, the officer commanding the First Southern Division of the irregulars, reports:

"The present state of the division is that we have been fought to a standstill, and are flattened out. In the Cork First, Third and Fourth Brigades, we have 29 killed, 12 posts captured and six seriously attacked. If five men are arrested in each area we are finished.

"The men are suffering great privations and their morale is going. The enemy is in a very strong position with several spare battalion at Curragh."

The divisional officer further says he is quite content to continue until a meeting of the Republican Executive when he desires to satisfy himself that "what we are fighting for we can win militarily," but these are the only conditions on which he is carrying on.

Extracts from the correspondence show, according to the Government Publicity Department, what the "high-thinking" irregular leaders are doing. An alleged communication from the "Adjutant-General" to "The President," dated February 20, says:

"The Quartermaster-General is not quite clear what our minimum peace terms are. What should I say to him?"

The reported reply of the "President" to the "Adjutant-General" two days later, reads:

"The obvious answer is that our minimum will be the maximum that conditions will enable us to obtain. Under conditions of which it is possible to conceive, this maximum might be as low as zero. People talk sometimes as if there was nothing in question but our desires."

The captured documents are regarded as showing how decisively

A SPLENDID SERVICE.

The Examiner has on several occasions called attention to the community service rendered by the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada in bringing to this city many well-known speakers to discuss problems of general interest and in inviting the public to take advantage of the opportunity to hear addresses on such vital subjects.

The courtesy and enterprise of the local branch in this respect has been appreciated.

The Engineering Institute of Canada is now demonstrating its usefulness in another way by preparing to place the technical training of its members at the service of citizens who want to burn substitutes for their regular fuel.

The various branches are being asked to co-operate in this very useful undertaking, and to utilize the knowledge and skill of their members in solving the fuel problems of their respective communities.

Necessarily the changing of fuel caused by a dearth of the coal usually used calls for a change in method and apparatus, and it is felt that the technical knowledge possessed by the engineers will be of service to the community in deciding upon the best plan to follow.

The institute deserves credit for the public spirit shown in this undertaking.

THE WORLD DOES MOVE.

There is a certain type of citizen who delights in telling how much better everything used to be when he was young, how times were more prosperous, children were more polite, the sun shone brighter and there were more honest folk.

In some respects perhaps he is justified.

But there is one subject that generally stops him. He has to admit that along many health lines the world has made progress.

In dentistry, for one thing.

The old days saw the dentist appealed to only as a last resort when an aching tooth refused to respond to any of the family remedies, and finally had to be pulled.

Dentistry has made such studies since then, and the connection between bad teeth and many ailments formerly not associated with such conditions has become so firmly established that most people, as a matter of course, have their teeth examined regularly, just as they have their motor car overhauled systematically.

Children, too, are being taught to pay more attention to their teeth. They are encouraged to use the tooth-brush, and in the school there are nurses and school dentists who insist upon the new generation starting out in life unhandicapped by defective teeth.

It is a development that shows that the world is moving, despite the individuals who persist in lamenting the departure of the "good old days."

THE TAX CONFERENCE.

The first annual convention of the Canadian Tax Conference of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada is announced for April 26, 27 and 28 in Toronto, and a glance over the programme shows that many taxation problems of the greatest public importance will be discussed.

The Tax Conference has been inaugurated because of a realization that while taxation is one of the means by which revenues are raised to defray the cost of necessary services to citizens and to the businesses and industries in which they make a living, yet inequitable, exhorbitant or haphazard taxation may prove a burden to citizens and may handicap or ruin production and commerce.

Many municipal authorities on taxation are to take part in the convention, and there is every reason to believe that the deliberations will be of great interest and value.

If the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce have not taken steps to have Peterborough represented at this important gathering, the Examiner believes that it would be good business to see that Peterborough gets the benefit of the discussion and reports.

There is so much room for improvement in our general methods of taxation, so much need for greater uniformity in municipal and Provincial taxation, that a general conference, bringing together experts from all sections of the Dominion, cannot fail to have a helpful result and may lead to some of the reforms that are so long overdue.

Every municipality should be glad to assist in hastening along the new era.

THE P.A.A.A. MEETING.

The Manufacturers' Association of Peterborough has appointed a special athletic committee to co-operate with the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, an action that provides an effective endorsement of the policy of fostering clean sport for as many people as possible.

In view of the fact that the annual meeting of the Athletic Association is to be held tomorrow evening, the action of the manufacturers is timely, as it affords a recognition of the value of the association to the city.

Tomorrow's meeting should be largely attended.

There is a place for an organization like the P.A.A.A. in this city, and while in some respects its path has not been strewn with roses, no difficulties that have been encountered are insurmountable, and with tactful and patient handling there is no reason to fear for the future of the association.

A central body to regulate and assist all branches of sport that require such help, to institute new activities for many citizens who hitherto have been content to be merely grandstand sports instead of participants, is a prime necessity in a centre of this size, and the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association has demonstrated its usefulness in that respect to such an extent as to justify an appeal for the enthusiastic support of the citizens.

Any misunderstandings or difficulties that may exist should be wiped out in view of the need in Peterborough of such an organization.

A representative gathering of those interested in all branches of sport should assemble at tomorrow's meeting, when a review of the year's activities will be given and officers for the year elected.

THE JOY OF DOING THINGS.

Isaak Walton once quoted the saying that "doubtless the Almighty could have created a finer fruit than the strawberry, but that doubtless also He never did." In Barrie's address to the University of St. Andrew's he improves on the saying by remarking that "doubtless also He could have provided us with better fun than hard work, but I don't know what it is." Some people may not be inclined to agree with that doctrine, but most of us will agree that no matter how we may earn our daily bread and butter, there is always a peculiar satisfaction in learning something that has nothing in particular to do with one's occupation, and may be regarded as more or less of a hobby. In a good many cases what is first a hobby becomes a life work, and something taken up in spare time proves so fascinating that one continues it for the sheer joy of accomplishment.

To the man or boy, woman or girl, the Technical School of Ottawa offers an opportunity in its special afternoon and evening classes, to improve one's daily job, or to learn something altogether different. The exhibition on Thursday last must in a good many ways have been a revelation to the thousands of visitors who thronged the building for several hours. Over five thousand residents of Ottawa took advantage of the special courses during the past term, and while the work exhibited was an example of what can be done with skilfully directed energy, the actual results of the term's work went far beyond anything so tangible as an exhibit.

So long as the world goes round, people must eat three or more meals a day, must wear clothes, and most of us must do something or other to earn a living. To learn to do all these things well so that the doing is not too great a burden physically or mentally, means a full and happy life. Nothing on earth can give such a feeling of exhilaration as to know that some job or other will hold no lurking half-fear of failure in the future. The fact that, under direction, something new was attempted, and successfully completed, has an actual tonic effect on one's daily life. There may not be anything really wonderful in baking a loaf of bread, but the girl who does it will not agree with you. That first loaf of bread is something more than merely bread to her. It represents the fruit of an effort that did not depend on luck for success.

More than half of the visitors the other night were men. Probably they were more interested in the exhibits in the workshops, in the red cedar chests, in the gate-leg tables, and the chairs that had comfort written all over them, than in the dressmaking and millinery exhibits, but if such was the case, we would like to point out the fallacy of such a viewpoint. Hats, as hats, are to most men things that men buy with the expenditure of little or no effort, in a short time, and at a moderate expense. Ottawa stores do not, as yet, stock hats for men at $20 as were advertised in a New York paper the other day. The newly-married man, however, is greatly surprised at the amount of attention that women devote to their headgear. Store after store is visited, questions of color and line, of material and trimming, and the prices asked seem, to a mere man, utterly beyond reason. If the Technical School did nothing else than teach the women of Ottawa how to make the hats that were on exhibition, it has earned the gratitude of the city.

Every women knows, and so do most men, that the cost of clothes has gone up tremendously in the past few years. Partly due to the increased cost of materials, but mainly owing to the costly hand-finishing that is demanded by fashion today, it has a bright side for the woman who can make her own, for hand-sewing is something that can be acquired.

Before the time of June weddings, therefore, we would urge that a searching questionnaire be filled out by both parties. If he can handle a hammer and screw-driver and a paint-brush, he will be handy around the house. If she can make her own clothes and hats, and can cook real meals instead of warming up the contents of tin cans, he will not have to worry about living within his income, nor about indigestion tablets. And if, in addition to making delectable cakes, she can make bread, he will never lack bread both to eat and to cast upon the waters!

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

West Peterborough's view on redistribution are as difficult to obtain as Premier Drury's plans on the same question.

It is expected that the Budget debate in the Legislature will be wound up this week. What is the hurry? It has only been running since February 22.

And now they say there'll be two elections in Ontario this year—a Provincial contest in the early summer and a Federal election in the fall. This will undoubtedly be known as the year of the big wind.

Long lists of baseball scores in the newspapers are a reassuring sign that there is warm weather somewhere.

As a resting place for King Tutankhamen where his remains are never likely to be disturbed again, the new Union Station in Toronto is suggested.

New Brunswick is to have a blue sky law—a sort of a blue nose, blue sky, measure as it were.

Somehow it is difficult for Canadians to get excited over Wrangel, probably because the climate resembles the kind of weather we have been getting in Ontario for the past four months.

Now is the time Canada should be concerning herself about next winter's coal supply. Leaving the matter over until the Arctic breezes begin to howl next autumn would be a dangerous proceeding.

"Timely use of Zam-Buk saved me from a bad attack of blood-poisoning," says Mr. Jas. Davey, of 786, Ellice Avenue, Winnipeg.

"In opening a can of lobster I gashed the knuckles of my right hand. I had no idea that the thing was going to be serious until TWO DAYS LATER the arm, up to the elbow, suddenly became swollen and inflamed. Dreadful throbbing pains forced me to knock off work and return home.

"As soon as I got there I bathed the wound, then freely applied Zam-Buk healing balm, which fortunately we always keep on hand." Zam-Buk was as soothing as ever and it soon caused all pain to vanish. Next day saw a vast improvement in my hand, and a week's perseverance with Zam-Buk cleared out the blood-poison completely and brought perfect healing."

FAMED MUSICAL COMPOSER HERE

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 10.—Granville Bantock, one of the most famous musical composers of the British Empire arrived here this morning on the Canadian Pacific Steamship Montrose from Liverpool. He is to be one of the adjucators at the Canadian Musical competition festivals, which are to be held in the various provinces. Prior to which he will tour cities in the United States on lecture recitals. He is chairman of music in the University of Birmingham and head of the Birmingham Institute of Music, which includes over 1600 pupils. He is a distinguished composer and some of his greatest achievements on the realms of music are: "The Songs of Sappo," "The Hebredine Compositions" and other famous symphony and choral productions. His fame as composer is extended and his arrival in America will be heard with interest by all musicians as well as lovers of music.

He is accompanied by Miss D. Parker, a famous Scotch mezzo contralto, who will assist him with his lecture recitals by singing some of his great compositions. At Gloucester last year she won fame by her masterful rendition of Scotch and Hebredine songs from the opera of Mr. Bantock. She has been associated with Mr. Bantock for some time and is thoroughly familiar with his great masterpieces, especially the "Songs of Sappo" which was written especially for a contralto voice. She is a clever linguist and her interpretation and rendition of songs in Russian, German, Italian and other tongues have won for her considerable renown.

ADOPT RUHR CHILDREN.

COPENHAGEN, April 10. — (United Press)—Since France invaded the Ruhr, the average Dane has softened his heart a little towards Germany, which to most Danes was always the traditional enemy. In the make-up of the Danish character there has always been a great deal of sympathy for any under dog. Perhaps this is common in most small countries. At any rate, the very fellow who cheered every victory of the allies during the war now feels that the German is the under-dog and is being treated cruelly.

Consequently, organizations are being formed throughout the country which propose to bring to Denmark the children of the Ruhr who are said to be starving. The news of their distress pours in every day to this country, flowing with milk and butter and other good things which Danes are told the tiny tots in the Ruhr knew nothing of. Already, it is reported, 2,000 of these little German children have been brought to Denmark.

It is reported that the French do not like this "sloppy sentimentalism" on the part of humble honest Danes. A section of the press reminds the public that the invasion of the Ruhr has sobered the arrogance which German elements in Slesvig have been showing to Denmark. It also gives striking evidence that a bitter war against Danism is still raging in reactionary circles of Germany. The Danish recovery, after the war, of part of the old crownland of Slesvig, which the Germans had taken away many years ago, is at the bottom of this ill feeling.

SUFFERS HARDSHIP TO PREPARE FOR MINISTRY

BOSTON, April 10.—Harold C. Cuthill, the "flying parson," has found out something about how the other half lives. The graduate of Boston University School of Theology who defeated Joie Ray on the track in 1921 went hungry and homeless for two days while he wandered about this city facing the raw winter winds with only a few coins in the pockets of his tattered clothes. Cuthill is a present a post-graduate student at Harvard University.

The experiment, which he said he undertook to fit him for the ministry, was begun after he had fasted for 24 hours. As he slouched through the downtown streets friends passed him by, not recognizing him.

"I did not go slumming out of idle curiosity," says Cuthill. "I was sincere in my experiment. I voluntarily suffered hunger, cold and other privations to put myself in the others fellow's place. To those who are ashamed and who need mercy and a sympathetic hand I want to minister."

Cuthill, who for two years acted as assistant pastor of the Tremont Street Methodist Church, on the first night of his wanderings was picked up by two plain clothes detectives as a suspicious character. At the police station he established his identity and was taken through Chinatown by a sergeant. The next day he spent his last dime. That night he slept in a mission for "down-and-outers" and washed windows to pay for his lodging.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 10.—The Town Council intends to take another step in the matter of good roads by paving William street from King street to the C.N.R. crossing. This links up Cobourg's paved streets with the Provincial Highway on the West. As George street is also to be paved and possibly sections of some other streets, quite a large addition will be made to Cobourg's pavements. It is estimated that the cost of paving this section of William street will be $39,000. The advantage of having King street, Cobourg's main thoroughfare paved, is being appreciated just now, as other springs it has been in a frightful condition for traffic, notwithstanding all precautions to the contrary. The snow has now disappeared leaving the pavement bare, and in good condition for traffic

All Actons Adjourned.

Quiet an interesting session of the Court Court was expected here last week, presided over by His Honor Judge Ward, when the docket first made its appearance, but all of the actions, which were civil non-jury cases, have been adjourned to a day to be fixed later.

The first case on the docket was an action over rental for a piece of machine. T. A. Humphries, counsel for plaintiff, Hirkins and Graham for defendant.

Ames Holden vs Leonard was an action over shoes alleged to have been sold to a merchant in Campbellford, it is stated. T. A. Humphries for plantiff and D. J. Lynch for defendant.

Wright vs Wright—In this action a returned soldier residing at Orland brought action against his father, for reimbursement over the sale of some Alsike clover seed, alleged to have been sold by the defendant, upon which the plaintiff alleged that he had claim. Kenneth Langdon, Brighton for plaintiff, G. Dreury, Brighton for defendant.

Anderson vs Village of Newcastle, was an action brought by the plaintiff a lady, for damages for injuries alleged to have been caused by defective sidewalk. W. A. F. Campbell for plaintiff, D. B. Simpson, K.C. for defendant.

University Estates vs Horkins and University Estates vs Marchand, were actions over the sale of some park lots in Manitoba. Frank M. Field, K.C. for plaintiff, T. J. Rigney for defendants.

Wants to Build Memorial.

Rev. D. S. K. Byrne, formerly of the Bewdley district, whose efforts to secure control of the large fortures said to have been bequeathed to him by an American millionaire, are widely known, is stated to now be contemplating the erection of a memorial at Port Hope in memory of the late Joseph Scriver, author of the well known hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" who was for some time a resident of the town, and worked among the poor. Mr. Scriver's generosity and charity are spoken of with gratitude to this day.

Social and Personal.

Friday afternoon Mrs. McNaughton, wife of Dr. McNaughton, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital, held a tea at her residence in aid of the Helping Circle of St. Andrews Presbyterian church. It proved to be a delightful social event and was very greatl yenjoyed.

A special C.P.R. train with four hundred old country visitors passed through here on Tuesday afternoon and another one went West on Wednesday evening. Four or five specials it is stated here, left St. John lately for Winnipeg.

Capt. Charles A. Rheault and his bride, the Boston heiress, before her marriage, Miss Rosamond Bradley, are in Cobourg and have taken up residence here. A part of their honeymoon was spent at Sherbrooke, Quebec. They are occupying "Villa May" on King street east.

Capt. F. D. Forrest, has returned from the South, where he spent the past few months, improved in health we are pleased to state, and has resumed his duties as Master on Ontario No. 2, which is on the route between Cobourg and Genessee Dock, port of Rochester.

The Provincial Highway between Cobourg and Port Hope is now pretty free of ice and snow, which is a great satisfaction to motorists.

Marriage at Toronto.

The marriage took place in Toronto of Miss Gladys V. Howard, daughter of Mr. William Howard to Mr. Paul Haggis, Port Hope, formerly of this town. They have returned to Port Hope, where they will take up residence on Dorset street, and are being welcomed by citizens.

Death of W. E. Thompson.

The death took place in Toronto last. week of William Edmond Thompson, a son of Mrs. Fannie Nolan and formerly of this town. He was 55 years of age, and leaves a widow. Mr. Thompson had suffered for some time from kidney trouble. He passed away at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. George Windriss.

Death of Mrs. Bonghen.

The death took place at her home on University avenue of Mrs. Bonghen ,widow of the late Thomas Bonghen and before her marriage, Mary Messenger. Mrs. Bonghen had been in poor health for some time. The funeral took place at Wesleyville, Clarke township, her former home.

Brighton Man Fined.

A man from Brighton was fined $200 and costs by Lt.-Col. W. H. Floyd on a B.O.T.A. charge. It is alleged that during the municipal election last January, liquor was taken to the Town Hall. Two local men were charged with drunkenness in the same court and were fined $15 each and costs.

Returned from the South.

Mrs. A. L. Jex and daughters have returned from St. Petersburg, Florida, where they spent the winter season. Mr. and Mrs. David Jex and children are also returning shortly from St. Petersburg.

Opposed to Sunday Funerals.

At the last meeting of the Central Northumberland and Durham Ministerial Association, a motion was concurred in which expressed disapproval of burial services on Sunday, excepting in cases of absolute necessity.

Moving to Cobourg.

Mr. Thomas Rowe, who resides on the Provincial Highway, West of town, is giving up farming, and will remove to Cobourg. He held an auction sale of his stock and implements a few days ago, which passed off well. Auctioneer J. A. Noble wielded the hammer. The proceeds amounted to about $2,500. After a number of years of good service in agricultural life, Mr. Rowe is retiring.

Rotarians Entertained.

The Cobourg Rotary Club entertained the directors of the Port Hope Club at their regular weekly luncheon on Friday last.

Anniversary of Vimy Ridge.

Yesterday was a memorable day to all returned veterans and it was also a sad anniversry in many homes throughout Canada, for it was the anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge, in which our Canadian soiders immortalized the name of Canada, and some paid the supreme sacrifice for their valor.

MARRIAGE COMPULSORY ACCORDING TURKISH LAW

There is a commotion in Turkey, where they have a new law making marriage compulsory for men. It's a fool law, and will not help its purpose—replenshing the Turkish death losses in war.

War is a biological condition.

And nature, by biology, will replace the war losses. Two more generations, and you'll never know there had been a war in Europe, when you look over the official nose-count. The tendency of people, on the average, is to multiply up to the limit of the earth's ability to ssuport them. Sometimes, as in Asia, beyond that.

PLAYS PRODUCED AT CAMPBELLFORD

Interesting Event at Christ Church Last Evening—Still Talking Lacrosse—Personals.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 10. — The members of the Leaders' Tuxis Square Bible Class of Christ Church put on two plays in the Parish Hall which drew a full house and which were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. There was not a dull moment from the rise to the drop of the curtain, the laughter was genuine and continuous, and the applause was hearty. Every part was well rendered. The plays will be repeated to-night as the hall was not large enough to accommodate all those who wished to attend on the opening night.

"Embalming Ebenezer."

The first play was "Embalming Ebenezer," the story of which is that Horace Hardripp, played by Sam. Burkton, has spent the last "two quartahs" of his friend Ebenezer (Jack Free) for an insurance policy in his own favor. But Ebenezer has no notion of dying. Horace, however, reports to the agent that Ebenezer has passed out, and when the insurance man calls, Ebenezer plays dead, under protest. Grant Morrison, who takes the part of Dr. Jackson, the agent, proceeds to embalm the supposed corpse. Then follows a truly funny Ethopian scene. In the midst of the preparations, the "corpse" shows signs of life, and the doctor flees in terror, leaving Ebenezer in possession of the field and the insurance money.

"Wanted, a Confidential Clerk."

The scene of this, the second play presented last night, is laid in the office of H. Jonathon Dobbs, a shipping agent, who is anxious to secure a confidential clerk, and the comedy of the situation is supplied by his efforts to do so. At last a suitable applicant appears in the person of Harry Dalton. The cast in this play was as follows:

Jonathon Dobbs—William Bailey.
John, the Janitor—A. Cubitt.
Horatio Lushington (an applicant) —Ted Scrivener.
Charles Valentine—Charles Battman.
Dick Sharp—Albert Thrower.
Harry Dalton—Albert Scrivener.

Samuel Clegg acted as stage manager with all the self-possession of a professional, and James Benor filled the position of chairman in a satisfactory manner.

The programme included a solo by Miss Helen Bygott, Mrs. C. H. Harris playing the accompaniment; a clog dance by George Flint, and a character song by Harry Cubitt, who was unanimously voted the star performer of the evening. Good music was furnished by Clegg's orchestra, member of the Boys' Parliament for Northumberland. Those who fail to see this performance tonight will miss the opportunity to witness a clever amateur dramatic performance.

Still Talking Lacrosse.

If the game of lacrosse is allowed to die in Campbellford it will be a slow and painful dissolution. Another meeting has been called for this evening, the object being to organize the juniors and juveniles of the town. If the assembly room of the Public Library is not available the gathering will be held in the room over T. J. Horkins' store.

To-Night in Campbellford.

Few towns the size of Campbellford can show the long list of events that are billed for to-night. There is a play in the Parish Hall, a dress rehearsal of the Japanese opera, "Princess Chrysanthemum," a meeting of the Farmers' Club to discuss co-operative buying and selling, a meeting of the members of the Twelve O'clock Club, A.W.C.T.U. tea (in the afternoon) and a lacrosse meeting.

Miss Janet Donald.

Miss Janet Donald, one of Seymour East's oldest and most highly respected residents, passed away after a few months' illness of heart disease at her home near Burnbrae. The late Miss Donald, who was in her 79th year, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Donald, and had a host of friends, who regret her demise. The deceased was a woman of loving, cheerful disposition, and noble Christian example. She was a faithful member of St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, taking an active part in all its activities. She is survived by her brother, Mr. A. T. Donald, with whom she resided. The funeral, which will be announced later, will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Black, assisted by Rev. Robert Fry, and the remains will be laid to rest in the family plot, Burnbrae Cemetery. The family have the sympathy of all, as this is the second bereavement in their home during the past six months.

Lest We Forget.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Twelve O'clock Social Club to-night (Tuesday) in the Public Library at 8 o'clock. As there are matters for consideration of the club generally, a goodly number are expected to attend.

Personals.

Miss Edna Graham, R.N., who has been in attendance on her aunt, Mrs. Jas. Caskey, Belleville, during her illness, has returned home.

Mrs. William J. Morton, of Stirling, formerly of town, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Cock, returned home on Monday.

Friends in town will regret to learn that Mr. John Craighead, of Stirling, is seriously ill at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craighead, of Seymour West, were called to Stirling on Monday, due to the serious illness of the former's father, Mr. John Craighead.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNaughton, Grand Road, announce the birth of a daughter on April 8.

DELEGATES TO ASK FOR ROAD GRANTS.

TORONTO, April 10 (Canadian Press). — Two Pullman cars filled with delegates from Ontario County Councils left for Ottawa last night to ask the Federal Government that the $20,000,000 for Provincial road grants be continued from now as it has been done in the past.

Among the delegates going from Ontario were: Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Highways, Mr. MacLean, Deputy-Minister, and Wardens and representatives from the following counties: Peel, Wentworth, Dufferin, Ontario, Victoria, Perth, Simcoe, Waterloo, Kent, Lincoln, Elgin, and York.

Eastern Ontario county delegates will meet the Western Ontario representatives at Ottawa.

GENERAL ELECTION IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., April 10 (Canadian Press). — An official proclamation issued yesterday fixed Thursday, 3rd May, as the date of the general election in Newfoundland.

The official nomination day for candidates will be Monday, 23rd April.

The election date is somewhat earlier than was expected, owing to the tie-up of rail and steamer transportation as a result of winter storms and ice blockades. To meet these difficulties, the Governmest had entire lists of electors in the more remote districts telegraphed to St. John's, to be printed for use in the election.

Winter is about over. Long may it stay over.

Spoonful for a Penny Brings Quick Relief

Splendid laxative properties of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin proven by test

A SCIENTIFIC test has now proven what Dr. Caldwell of Monticello asserted many years ago, that constipation will slow you up fully 25 per cent. The test was made by Dr. Donaldson of Loma Linda upon four men in the prime of life who deliberately went without a bowel movement for four days. Within 48 hours the men had coated tongue and foul breath, cankers in the mouth, no appetite, restless sleep, indigestion, headache, depression, nervousness, cramps. The blood pressure was up 28 per cent. It is just this that Dr. Caldwell has preached to his patients in private and to the public through the printed word ever since he began the practice of his specialty, diseases of the stomach and bowels, back in 1875.

After observing for years the satisfactory effect of his prescription for constipation, he placed it in drug stores in 1892, a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, now known as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. That was 30 years ago, and today over 10 million bottles are bought annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. You will find it in any drug store you enter, a generous-size bottle costing you less than a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 20 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Every member of the family from the infants to the grandparents can use it with safety. It is gentle and mild. The formula is on the package. Miss Gertrude Steeves of St. Stephen, N. B., says her mother will use no other laxative for her little sister, who is two years old, and Miss Jennie McDonald, of Parkhill, Ont., declares it is just what her mother needed. Try a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin for constipation or any of its symptoms. The results will delight you. And the cost is only one cent a dose.

FORMER COMRADES GREAT WAR MEET

OTTAWA, April 10.—(Canadian Press)—Not since the war ended has there been a more notable reunion of the officers of the Canadian Corps than at the Vimy Ridge dinner at the Government House last night, when Baron Byng, Governor-General of Canada, who was commander of the Canadian Corps when Vimy Ridge was captured six years ago, had as his guests officers representing almost every unit under his command at that time. It was one of the most happy functions that has been held in this country, for it gave an opportunity for former comrades in arms to meet again, many of them for the first time since they left the battle fields of the western front in the peaceful and congenial precincts of His Excellency's Canadian home.

Before going into dinner each guest was greeted by General Lord Byng, nearly every one of whom know him in a more or less intimate way. Dinner was held in what is ordinarily used as a ball room. The 160 officers present from all parts of Canada, sat where they chose at several tables. At the table with the host sat Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Defence, Major General Mewburn, General Sir Arthur W. C. Currie, Lieut. General Sir Edward E. W. B. Morrison, Major General Sir A. C. MacDonnell, Major General Sir F. W. Loomis and other Canadian guests.

WELL KNOWN ISLAND IS BEING GREATLY DAMAGED

HELIGOLAND, April 10.— The rocky island which as a fortress, kept vigil over the western entrance to the Kiel Canal, and played an important role as a submarine and flying base during the world war, is disintegrating rapidly under the constant explosions of dynamite which for three years have been demolishing the great fortifications the Germans had imbedded in the cliffs.

German scientists assert that the great crag of red and white sandstone is being so badly damaged by the concussions that its complete annihilation by the rough waters and strong winds of the North Sea may come within a few years if protective measures are not taken. The island rises a hundred feet above the sea, but is less than a mile long and scarcely a quarter of a mile wide at its broadest part. Great sections of the cliffs already have slipped into the sea since the demolition of the fortifications began under direction of the British and French.

The Germans built numerous sea walls and spent much money in protecting the island against the ravages of the sea when it was a fortress; but, as under the Versailles Treaty terms it cannot again be fortified, the shattered island, which has a population of 3,000 fisherfolk, probably will be left to the mercy of the elements.

LINDSAY, April 10. — Provincial officers here are making a big effort to clean up the illicit sale and manufacture of liquors in the north country.

Yesterday a man named Clarence Casey of Monmouth, Haliburton County, was fined $200 or three months in jail for selling.

Another man from Haliburton County, John Avery by name, is serving a term of three months in the county jail for a similar offence, being unable to pay his fine.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF SLAYING HER HUSBAND

EDMONTON, Alta., April 10 (Canadian Press). — "Not guilty, sir," answered Mrs. Irene May Christensen, when a charge of murdering her husband near Dapp, Alta., on 29th September, 1922, was read to her in Court here yesterday.

This is Mrs. Christensen's second trial. She was previously convicted and sentenced to be hanged, but a new trial was allowed on appeal to the Appelate Court.

Practically the same evidence will be introduced at the re-trial now proceeding, but it is thought there will be a legal argument over the admission of what the Crown claims is Christensen's dying statement.

This was one of the grounds on which the new trial was granted.

ROUSH IS BATTLING FOR LARGER SALARY

CINCINNATI, O., April 10 (Canadian Press). — Ed. Roush, the re-colcitrant outfielder of the Cincinnati National League Club, confered with President August Herrmann yesterday morning on salary and other contract difficulties, but without reaching any agreement.

Roush would not discuss the conference, except to say that no agreement had been arrived at. He said, however, that the failure to reach an understanding was no indication that he and the club could not finally get together.

President Herrmann announced he had arranged a conference for Roush and the directors of the club for to-day at 11 a.m.

LETTERS SAY

the situation is adjusting itself in favor of the Free State. The admission that big scale operations on the part of the irregulars are no longer possible, is considered very significant.

When the peace resolution proposed by the Republican "Deputy Chief of Staff" Barry, at a meeting of the Republican Executive Committee on March 22, was defeated by only one vote, it was agreed to summon the Executive Committee in three weeks' time, to consider the position further. This adjourned meeting should be held some day this week, when it is thought possible the scale may be turned against the continuance of armed opposition

Much comment is provoked by Eamon De Valera's admission in the captured documents, that he was "condemned to view the tragedy through a wall of glass, powerless to intervene effectively."

More train outrages were reported yesterday but without serious consequences.

MAJORITY OF ENGINEERS SEND SONS TO COLLEGE

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Approximately eighty per cent of the children of the nearly 90,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers get a higher education, according to an announcement made here by Albert F. Coyle, director of the department of educational information of the brotherhood.

This information was made available through the announcement that the department of educational information had been instituted for the purpose of advising the members of the brotherhood regarding relative advantages, facilities, cost and entrance requirements of the various colleges and universities.

The announcement continues: "Dr. David Starr Jordan once remarked: 'It is a shame to waste a thousand dollar education on a fifty cent boy.' It is even more of a shame to waste a thousand dollar boy on a fifty cent college.

"Some colleges are strong in one subject and some in another. Some emphasize technology and science, and others culture and the arts. Some colleges develop sturdy, rugged, wholesome manhood and womanhood, while others are soft and flabby. Again some colleges provide scholarships and opportunities for outside employment in order to reduce the expense of education while others have almost become fashionable clubs for the sons and daughters of the rich.

"The department will gladly help their fellow workers to find the kind of education they want for their children."

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES FIGHT A RESOLUTION

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 10 (Canadian Press). — The railway employees in the traffic and locomotive departments have gone on strike, owing to a reduction in wages of 33 1-3 per cent.

Almost at the time the men quit work, a fire broke out in the railway plant, destroying electrical appliances.

The woman who goes through a man's trousers is nicer than the one who sends bullets through them.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

Rev. W. E. Morrow Delivered an Excellent Sermon in the Morning.

An excellent sermon was preached in the morning by Rev. W. E. Morrow of Park Street Baptist Church, and the pastor preached in the evening. The choir rendered excellent service.

"Daydawn by the Sea" was the subject of the evening sermon, and was a development of John xxi:4, "But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore, but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus." The following is an outline of the sermon:

On the Shore of Galilee.

On the morning of the resurrection, an angel with countenance like lightening, and raiment white as snow, had said to the weeping women, "behold He goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you." Jesus himself said, on the same occasion, "Be not afraid; go tell my brethern that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me." And now it is evening and seven of the disciples are gathered by the shore of old Lake Tiberias, where they had so often met with Jesus in the days before his crucifixion.

Toiling in the Night.

Peter was a busy disciple, and while he waited for the promsie of the Holy Spirit, he thought it best to be engaged in some useful employment. "I go a fishing" was his bold and independent declaration. He was an individual, and did not ask who would follow him. But well directed individuality seldom walks far alone, and in a moment his six brawny companions are going a fishing too. The boats push off, as the sun drops down. The stars rush out, as nets go over the side. The weary hours of the dreary night pass slowly on, and the toiling fishermen catch nothing. You notice that these men toiled away all night, and never thought of giving up. There is nothing so healthy for mind or body as good honest toil. These early preachers greatly commended themselves to the people by their willingness to earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. The social chasm between the pulpit and the pew must be bridged, if we are to reach with the gospel the man in the street. The preacher must be a man among men, and not a pampered fop. He must prove to the people that he works as well as other men, denies himself as truly as other folks, pays his debts like a Christian, has to practice economy like his neighbor, is tempted every day in every way just like his tailing brother; but fights the devil and wins the battle. If the preacher can prove this to the satisfaction of the people he has nothing to fear, but if he is playing a double game, and leading a double life, the day of a rude awakening is near at hand. You will remember that in all the charges brought against the disciples, they were never accused of playing fast and loose with morals. They were men of lofty moral character.

Jesus on the Shore.

It was breaking day and the nets were still empty. The faint outline of the shore is now visible to the disciples. They are hungry, but they have caught nothing. They have toiled and failed. Have they done their best? Yes. "Look, who is that figure on the shore?" Listen, he is calling across the water, and his voice is strangely sweet. That voice has the sound of many waters, and its music falls on the ears of these wandering men, as something they have heard before. "Children, have ye any meat?" "No." "Cast the net on the right side of the ship and ye shall find." Yes, and they did find. The haul was a big draught, so big that the nets began to break. The disciples are all animation. "It is the Lord," said John to Peter. Certainly it was the Lord. What would they expect? Did He not tell them that He would go before them into Galilee. When Jesus tells you that he will meet you by the sea of trouble, you may rest assured that He will be there first.

Jesus' Business By the Sea?

Jesus had told the disciples that He would meet them in Galilee. He knew that the disciples would take up their former employment, until the Spirit would come at Pentecost. He must see Peter. He has not had a conversation with this disciple since Peter's great sin of denial. Jesus must be first at the meeting place, just as He and the angels were first at the sepulchre. So He comes at dawn to the oft frequent shore of the dear familiar lake. He kindles a fire, secures fish and bread for the morning meal of the hungry men out on the sea with empty nets. Oh the grandeur of the fact. There at the dawn of day is the crucified and risen Christ, preparing food for his weary, hungry, dispirited disciples. There is famine on the sea, but there is abundance on the shore. The same Christ stands on the shore of the sea of want, and worry, sickness and sorrow, sin and suffering, and call today, just as he did that morning through the gloom and vapours, "Children, have ye any meat?" Yes, and He can provide without your contribution.

Conversation With Peter.

The Divine caterer invites the fisremen to come and dine. What a daydawn picnic. Then He addresses Peter. "Simon son of Jonas loves thou me more than these?" More than what? The boats and fishing tackle, the great haul of fish? No, verily. "Do you love me more than you love the other disciples? That is not Christ's question to Peter. This is Jesus' question. "Simon son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than thy fellow disciples love me?" Peter had boasted of his superior love and loyalty before the crucifixion, but had proved by his denial his utter weakness. The question is asked three times, and correspond with the three-fold denial. But both Peter and his Lord have pass through mighty cataclysms of agony since that night, and Peter is now ready to feed the flock of God.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

WHAT THINGS WILL YOU TAKE IN TRADE?

(By John T. Bartlett)

The owner of three parrots decided to advertise them for exchange. He was an observing man when selling was being done, and had pondered many times on the way good retail clerks made suggestions to customers. Visiting a drugstore, he asked for razor blades. Doing them up, the clerk suggested, "Have you tried Blank's new shaving cream?" The more suggestions a clerk made—this is what the owner of the parrots observed—the more goods he sold.

Why, reasoned the advertiser, wouldn't the same principle operate in a "For Trade" Want Ad? He decided it would.

So, writing his message, he didn't simply say, "What have you?" He mentioned specifically several things he would take in trade. He reasoned correctly that owners of these things would, reading the Want Ad, immediately ask themselves how much they needed them, and whether they wouldn't like more what was offered in trade. And the more things he mentioned, the greater the chance he would hit on articles which readers had and would be glad to exchange.

His Want Ad read: "For Sale or Trade—Three parrots, talk and sing English or Spanish, laugh and cry, fine pets and companions. Separate or all. Value $100. Exchange for Smith & Weston or Colt's 38 special; motorcycle side car; 12-volt auto battery; old coins and stamps; poultry; radio set; or such of equal value."

He used, the reader should note, the several good methods of a "For Trade" Want Ad. He described his offering attractively. He gave his estimate of the value of the parrots. He said, "For sale or trade."

Finally, he mentioned not one, but several things he would take in exchange.

In your "For Trade" messages, mention specifically some of the things you will be glad to trade for. The plan will help you to make a trade much more quickly.

Development of Radio Causes Run Upper Rooms.

The radio craze creates a shortage of top-floor rooms in Boston hotels. Travelling salesmen are carrying radio outfits in their trunks. They want top-floor rooms for stringing aerials.

It's a good thing we do not build for permanence in America. As the radio develops, favorable conditions for its operation will have a lot to do with making rented properties attractive or unattractive. Not many years until families, looking about for a place to rent, will be inquiring about landing and garage facilities for their flying flivvers.

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—The fiscal year ending March 31, 1923, has set a new record i the amount of revenue produced from the customs port of North Bay. A fact which is generally considered a reliable criterion of the general business activity of the district served, which in this case is the whole of Northern Ontario. A grand total of $791,562.32 has been collected during the past year, compared with $665,773.93, the total for the yea rprevious. The difference, $125,788.39 represents an increase of 19.19 per cent.

For the month of March, just closed, both import and excise duties dropped from $79,593.33, the total for February, to $78,232.58. The total for January was still higher, over $80,000. The March figures were made up of $49,905.99 import duties and $28,326.59 excise taxes.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Chamber of Commerce and Town Council Held a Joint Meeting--Debate in St. Andrew's Church.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 10. — The Chamber of Commerce and the town council in joint session last night, Rev. Father Phelan presiding, accepted the recommendation of the joint committe representing the two bodies, that an old boys' reunion be held this year in Campbellford. The date however was slightly changed. The committee's suggestion was that the celebration begin on Civic Holiday, August 6th, and continue for three days, but it was decided to have the opening day on the previous Sunday ,the affair to close on Tuesday night. This will give the old boys who come to town an opportunity to attend services in the churches with which they were associated in their youth.

Mayor Meyers is to be chairman of the finance committee and his colleagues will be the chairmen of the other committee.

Officers Elected.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—C. L. Owen.

Hon. Vice-Presidents—Dr. A. Haig D. Macoun, Dr. E. S. Free, G. S. Gillespie, Robert Linton, W. J. Armstrong, F S. Tait, John Maynard and Fred Dunwoodie.

President—Rev. Father Phelan.

Vice-Presidents—D. W. Douglas, Charles H. Nadoo and F. W. Woods.

J. A. Humphries was nominated for the position of secretary but asked that he be given until the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, on April 10, to decide whether he can accept.

The following chairmen were appointed for the various committee:

Finance—Mayor Meyers.

Calithumpian Parade — Charles Davidson.

Transportation—Major Bygott.

Accommodation—H. W. Carter and the Regent of the I.O.D.E.

Decorations—R. H. Cole.

Information—S. A. Maguire.

Entertainment—Dr. Watson.

Reception—R. C. Weston.

Publicity—R. J. Allan.

Fireworks—J. A. Burke.

Regatta—A. H. McKeel.

The committee chairmen will hold their first meeting on Wednesday night in the Chamber of Commerce room. The work of preparing for the celebration will begin at once and a thorough canvass will be made of the city to solicit funds and to secure the names of those who have friends living in other places.

R. J. Allan and Wesley Stephens will work in the Second Ward; W. J. Meiklejohn and J. P. Archer in the First; R. H. Cole and Dr. Watson in the Third, and W. Henson and Deputy Reeve Wilkinson, in the Fourth ward. Residents of the various wards are asked to prepare a list of names of their absent friends, so as to be ready when the committeemen call on them. The workers mentioned have power to add to their numbers.

Seymour township will be asked to cooperate in the celebration.

There was unanimity in every decision arrived at last night, and the prospects are that Campbellford will have a reunion that will equal anything of the kind ever staged in a town in Central Ontario.

Clean up Week.

Dr. G. A. Hay, chairman of the Town Improvement Committee submitted a list of suggestions for the beautifying of the town. These were as follows:

That property owners along the river be invited to meet with the Chamber of Commerce to devise plans for improving the appearance of the rear of their premises.

That a piece of land near the fair grounds be secured as a site for a camping ground for auto tourists.

That the Town Council order a clean up week about May 15.

That the government be asked to place a railing along the east wall of the canal and to place lights upon it.

This report was adopted clause by clause and the property owners will be asked to attend the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, on Tuesday evening of next week.

How Belleville Does it.

A report was received of the plans adopted by Belleville in arranging for an Old Boys' Re..ion. That city holds one of these celebrations every five years. The first was in 1905, the second in 1910, the one set for 1915 was ommitted on account of the war and the last one three years ago.

The first step is to call a public meeting at which committees and a secretary are appointed. Col. W. N. Ponton was secretary in 1910, and A. L. Johnson of the Income Tax office held that position in 1920. Local residents are asked to send to the secretary the names of friends and relatives living at a distance, and circulars are sent to all whose addresses are obtained.

The money required is raised by private subscriptions and by a grant from the council. Special stationery is got out and this is sold to the private citizens and business men at an advance over the cost to be used by them in their correspondence. A neat programme is prepared, and sent to those who are invited to attend. uPblicity is everything.

Concession are sold to local residents only. No outside fakirs or circuses are allowed at the celebration. Everything is free and any surplus that accrues is put into a fund to finance the next celebration. People at a distance are asked to send in names of former residents of the city There is no admission charge for anything. The visitors are told the town portals are made open and the key mislaid.

Two features on the programme found to be especially interesting and a community picnic and a game of baseball on some other athletic contest between the old boys and the younger residents. In these celebrations Belleville has always managed to come out ahead, the surplus in 1910 being $147 and $46 in 1920.

Another suggestion is that a special cancellation stamp be obtained from the Government so that even letters sent out from the local post office will bear the date of the coming re-union. Some time ago the Government refused to permit the use of these stamps except for events of national importance but it is believed that the order has been rescinded.

Held a Debate

On Monday evening, April 9th the young people of St. Andrew's church met in large numbers with the president, Mr. John Storie occupying the chair in his usual efficient manner. After the opening exercises and general business Mr. Storie introduced a debate "Resolved that intemperance does a greater injury to mankind than war." The affirmative was ably upheld by Mr. Gerald Connor and Miss Bessie Locke while the negative was stoutly defended by Miss Helen Haig and Mr. Gilbert Stephens.

The affirmative asserted that Intemperance deals with the individual while war affects the nation. Intemperance lessons the intellect and reason, while military training is beneficial to health. The dope habit does more physical harm than war as Lord George, said: "We are fighting Germany and strong drink but the greatest enemy is intemperance Intemperance not only affects the individual but his family and also increases crime. In Switerland in a year out of 33,740 persons convicted of crime, 7190 were traceable to the liquor habit. In the United States out of 184,000 criminals, 4370 were criminal, because of dope or liquor Intemperance shortens life, and leads to dishonesty and smuggling and quarrelsome disposition. If a life is lost in war, it is honorable, if through intemperance it is a disgrace

The negative pointed out the vast amount of money in preparing for war, maintaining armies, navy even in peace, the devastation of land. War caused racial jealousy and differences kills innocent women and children, destroys buildings, large vessels and causes gdeat politic al industrial and social unrest. War a set back to a nation raises prices and is the cause of intemperance and great loss of life and promising manhood.

The judges who were Rev. C. F. McIntosh, Mrs. John Storie and Mrs. Arthur Armour after much deliberation finally decided in favour of the affirmative.

The young people o St. Andrew's are live wires and are possessed of much talent as evidenced by the profitable and interesting meetings held each week.

The next meeting on April 16th will be in charge of Mrs. William Hume and a profitable evening is assured.

The meeting closed with the Endeavour benediction.

HUGO STINNES AND WIFE ARE ARRESTED

But Subsequently Released by French -- Former Minister in Custody.

(By Gus. M. Oehm, United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, April 10.—Hugo Stinnes and his wife were taken by French troops from the industrialists sleeping car attacked to a train at Scharnhorst, and were placed under temporary arrest in a freight car early to-day.

Later the Stinnes were released.

Many arrests were effected throughout the old and new areas by the French to-day on the occasion of a nation-wide funeral for the Krupp victims.

Former Ministers Giesberts and Stegerwald were taken into custody to-day.

State Secretary Hamm, of the Chancellory, was thrown into jail.

ROBERT CECIL HAS STIRRING MESSAGE

League of Nations is Machine to Nip War in Bud, He Says.

OTTAWA, April 10 (Canadian Press). — The most distinguished proponent of the great ideal which he declared with the right use would bring peace on earth, Lord Robert Cecil, in his speech on the League of Nations here last night, attracted an audience which for size and distinction, was a very remarkable tribute both to the man and his subject.

On the platform were the Prime Minister, leader of His Majesty's loyal Opposition, Cabinet Ministers, and ex-Cabinet Ministers, representatives of both races, of Labour, of the Army, and all the local organisations.

It was a straightforward simply told message of great statesmen, of achieving world peace. The causes of war must be nipped in the bud, he held, and the League was the machine to do the nipping.

At the close of his address, Lord Robert answered questions from the audience, ranging from the Pope to Ireland, Germany and the United States.

In his answers Lord Robert said he desired to see Ireland a member of the League, and that she could not reasonably be excluded, that Ireland was entirely mistress of herself, and that he strongly desired that the Pope should give his support to the work and aims of the League of Nations.

RAILWAYMEN'S LEADER COUNSELS MODERATION

LONDON, April 10 (Canadian Press Cable). — J. H. Thomas, the leader of the railwaymen's organisation, and M.P. for Derby, came out in the open in favour of moderation when addressing yesterday a mass meeting of all grades of railwaymen who are threatening to strike over the wage issue.

"Twenty-eight separate unions are involved in the shopmen's dispute" he said, "Our opponents are twitting us about our unfitness to govern, but they omit to notice our weakest point, namely, that there are too many unions and not enough unity At the same time, a strike fets no support from me."

DECLINED TO REVEAL BUSINESS OF BOARD

OTAWA, April 10. Canadian Press, — The reasons for which the Canadian National Board of Directors selected Riviere du Loup, as the western terminus of the Marine division, had already been brought down in the House, it was stated yesterday by Hon. G. P. Graham, acting Minister of Railways, in answer to questions asked by Sir Henry Drayton. Sir Henry asked if the board had decided on Brockville and Cochrane and susequently changed such western termini to Montreal, a.d again to Riviere du Loup. He asked further for the place of meetings at which such decisions were reached, and a statement showing who was present and acting. The reply was that it was not considered to be in the interest of the successful management of the National Railways to make public the proceedings of the Board."

HEART PALPITATED And Was Short of Breath

Through one cause or another a large majority of people are troubled, more or less, with some form of heart trouble.

Many people may be unaware of having anything wrong with their heart till some little excitement, over work or worry starts it to palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time and then so slow as to seem almost to stop, then it causes great anxiety and alarm.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

will give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. Alice Bishop, 15 Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., writes: —"I take great pleasure in recommending Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to all persons troubled as I had been.

I suffered from palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath; my heart would skip beats, and in the night, at times, I would have to sit up to get my breath. I could not go up stairs without my heart fluttering, and my nerves were all unstrung, but since using your famous Pills I have felt like a different person."

C.P.R. TO START USING ALBERTA STEAM COAL

CALGARY, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)— The important announcement was made by Charles Murphy, of Winnipeg, general manager of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, on Monday, that his company was considering the matter of using Alberta steam coal as far east as Winnipeg. Mr. Murphy stated that in order to stimulate business and to show their confidence in Alberta steam coal, it was likely that they would place about 200,000 tons on the dump for use during the fall, and to assist the mines in the meantime. Up to the present time the company, he said, had not shipped Albetra steam coal further east than Moose Jaw, the necessary supplies having been received from the United States mines. "It is an experiment to see if the field for western steam coal canot be properly extended," he explained.

Aged Resident Passes to Her Rest — News Paragraphs of Social and Personal Interest.

HASTINGS, April 10.—Mrs. Dennis Gilmurray passed away at the home of her brother, Mr. John Convey, of Percy, on Sunday evening, at the age of 79 years. She had been ill for only a short time.

The deceased was a consistent member of the Roman Catholic church and was always ready to assist in any good work. She was a quiet missionary woman, devoted to her family and highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her husband predeceased her 53 years ago.

The late Mrs. Gilmurray is survived by two daughters, Sister St. Evangelstia of Fort William, Sister St. Peter of Campbellford, and one son, Dennis, of Edmonton, and three brothers, Patrick and John of Percy, James of Hastings and one sister, Mrs. P. Shannon, of Saskatoon.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from the residence of her brother, John Convey, of Dutch Line, to the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, interment taking place in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Geo. Goderich, license inspector of Cobourg, was in town on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Larkin of Kearney are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D .Scriver.

Miss B. McNaughton, of Norwood, is spending a few days in town relieving on the post office staff.

Sunday's cold weather is being followed by more springlike conditions, which, however, are not very favorable for sugar-making.

Miss Flo German of Peterborough, has been the guest of her parents, Mr .and Mrs. B. German.

Schools have re-opened after the Easter vacation, with an increased number of the little tots.

A number from town attended the funeral of the late Mrs. McKelvie in Percy on Sunday.

Mr .and Mrs. J. G. Staples and little son have returned to their home in Lindsay, after spending the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Tate.

House-cleaning is now in order, and the busy housewife is making business hum.

Jas. Stevenson, Jr., has opened up his butcher business in the stand recently occupied by H. White, Front street.

The streets are almost entirely cleared of snow and autos are once more on the road.

The local merchants have their windows decorated with every necessity for the spring trade, wallpapers, rugs, paints, etc.

Wilfrid Armour of Campbellford, was in town on Monday.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. F. Runnels, and wish for her a speedy recovery to her wonted health.

Plan Lacrosse Match.

The Hastings Lacrosse Club have received an invitation from the committee in charge of the old boys' reunion to be held in Campbellford in August, to play the Campbellford team. This will be a big drawing card as these two teams have always staged a great battle.

DUTIES KING'S PRINTER DISCUSSED IN THE HOUSE

OTTAWA, April 10. — (Canadian Press).—In the Federal House of Commons yesterday, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen asked if it was correct, as reported, that F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labor, was to be made King's printer, with an additional expenditure of $6,000 a year. Mr. Acland, he said, had about as little experience of printing as any living man.

Mr. Murdock replied that Mr. Acland had about thirty years' experience as printer, editor and publisher. It had not yet been decided what changes were to be made in the Labor Department. But it was proposed that, whoever was made the King's printer, should do some of the work hitherto done by the Editorial Committee. When this and other re-arrangements which were in view had been completed it would mean a saving rather than an added expenditure of $6,000 for the King's printer. At present Mr. Acland was Deputy Minister of Labor and acting King's printer.

Mr. Meighen contended that it would be a backward step to try to get the King's printers to take the responsibility now on the shoulders of the Editorial Committee. This committee had saved the country millions, and its work could simply not be done by any one man. The Minister should maintain a representative committee.

Mr. Meighen asked the Minister if he did not think that he should resign in view of the fact that the cost of living now was higher than when he had taken office. The Minister had assumed office on the understanding that he would reduce the cost of living.

Mr. Murdock replied that he was getting along very nicely.

Progress was reported on the item under consideration, which was one $241,735 for salaries and for $45,500 for contingencies in the Labor Department.

SIAMESE STUDENTS REACH THE STATES

VICTORIA, B.C., April 10 (Canadian Press). — The C.P.R. steamer Empress of Asia reached port yesterday morning from Yokohama, with 450 passengers aboard.

Among the passengers was Phyia Buria Navarasth, Siamese Minister to the United States, en route to Washington.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, April 10. — Canadian Press. — Answering a question asked in the House yesterday J. T. L. Church, Toronto, Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, said that action had been taken in one case under the commbines and trusts legislation fro 1905 to 1922. That case was against the United Shoe Machinery Company of Canada, and that company was declared to be a combine within the meaning of the act. The company had changed its form of lease and the change had, it was represented by the then Minister of Labor, Hon. T. W. Crothers, remedied the evil alleged by the combined Investigation Board.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"Bill Conway. He came by last night and concluded it would be better to make quite certain that you remained away from El Toro until about nine-thirty o'clock this morning. It was entirely Bill's idea. I did not suggest it to him, directly or indirectly. He's old enough to roll his own hoop. He had a complaint in action drawn up against you last night; it will be filed at nine o'clock this morning and immediately thereafter your bank account and your stock in the First National Bank of El Toro will be attached. Of course you will file a bond to lift the attachment, but Bill will have your assets where he can levy on them when he gets round to collecting on the judgment which he will secure against you unless you proceed with the contract for that dam."

"And this is Conway's work entirely?"

"Yes, sir."

"It's clever work. I'm sorry it wasn't yours. May I have the loan of a saddle horse—Panchito or the gray?"

"Not to ride either of them, breakfastless, twenty-one miles to El Toro in two hours. They can do it, but not under an impost of a hundred and ninety pounds. You might ruin both of them——" he scraped his chin, smiling blandly——"and I know you'd about ruin yourself, sir. The saddle had commenced to get very sore before you had completed eight miles yesterday."

"Then I'm out of luck, I dare say."

"Strikes me that way, Mr. Parker."

"Very well. You force me to talk business. What will that quit-claim cost me?"

"Six hundred thousand dollars. I've raised the ante since last night."

"I'll not pay it."

"What will you pay?"

"About fifty per cent. of it."

"I might consider less than my first figure and more than your last. Make me a firm offer—in writing—and I'll give you a firm answer the instant you hand me the document. I'm a poor bargainer. Haggling irritates me—so I never haggle. And I don't care a tinker's hoot whether you buy me off or not. After nine o'clock this morning you will have lost the opportunity, because I give you my word of honor, I shall decline even to receive an offer."

He reached over on his bureau and retrieved therefrom a sheet of paper. "Here is the form I desire your offer to take, sir," he continued, affably, and handed the paper to Parker. "Please re-write it in ink, fill in the amount of your offer and sign it. You have until nine o'clock, remember. At nine-one you will be too late."

Despite his deep annoyance, Parker favored him with a sardonic grin. "You're a good bluffer, Farrel."

Don Miles turned from the mirror and regarded his guest very solemnly. "How do you know?" he queried, mildly. "You've never seen me bluff. I've seen a few inquests held in this country over some men who bluffed in an emergency. We're no longer wild and woolly out here, but when we pull, we shoot. Remember that, sir."

Parker felt himself abashed in the presence of this cool young man, for nothing is so disconcerting as a defeated enemy who refuses to acknowledge defeat. It occurred to Parker in that moment that there was nothing extraordinary in Farrel's action; for consideration of the sweetness of life cannot be presumed to arouse a great deal of interest in one who knows he will be murdered if he does not commit suicide.

John Parker tucked the paper in his pocket and thoughtfully left the room. "The boy distrusts me," he soliloquized, "afraid I'll go back on any promise I make him, so he demands my offer in writing. Some more of his notions of business, Spanish style. Stilted and unnecessary. How like all of his kind he is! Ponderous in minor affairs, casual in major matters of business."

An hour later he came up to Don Mike, chatting with Kay and Mrs. Parker on the porch, and thrust an envelope into Farrel's hand.

"Here is my offer—in writing."

"Thank you, sir." Don Mike thrust the envelope unopened into the breast pocket of his coat and from the side pocket of the same garment drew another envelope. "Here is my answer—in writing."

Parker stared at him in frank amazement and admiration; Kay's glance, as it roved from her father to Don Mike and back again, was sad and troubled.

"Then you've reopened negotiations, father," she demanded, accusingly.

He nodded. "Our host has a persuasive way about him, Kay," he supplemented. "He insisted so on my making him an offer that finally I consented."

"And now," Farrel assured her, "negotiations are about to be closed."

"Absolutely?"

"Absolutely. Never to be reopened, Miss Kay."

Parker opened his envelope and read. His face was without emotion. "That answer is entirely satisfactory to me, Mr. Farrel," he said, presently, and passed the paper to his daughter. She read:

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sanative Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. ED. BOEHNLEIN, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. It is now selling almost all over the world.

FACING A CHARGE OF FALSIFYING RETURNS

MONTREAL, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)— Methods of calculation in connection with the pari-mutual system of betting at horse races took up the whole time of the court here yesterday in the hearing of the case against Frank Dunn, charged with stealing $38,000 and falsifying returns while employed by the federal government as a race track official.

J. B. Watson, auditor of the Connaught Park Jockey Club, Ottawa, was the witness. An interesting point was his statement that the total in "breaks" of odd cents made up a sum of about $1,200 in one season.

The case will likely continue all week.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN PATRIOTIC FUND

All Emergency and Relief Assistance to Cease on April 30th Next — Only Continuous Cases to Continue to Be Assisted.

By decision of the Advisory Board of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, at Ottawa, important changes will come about in the field of work and benefit of this, for the last nine years, National Institution. Carried on during the war years, as it was, and since the close of the war as a part of the National Re-Construction, (apart from governmental direction), the time has come that its course for the future is to be strictly defined. The general benefits it has been enabled to make during the last four years must, from force of circumstances, be curtailed in many respects.

From its invested funds, allowances will be still made to dependent mothers, with children (where, owing to the death of the father and husband in civil life no pension resulted for the future support of the family). To widowed mothers, who have been practically supported from the Fund, where other assistance has not been available. Such cases are known as "Continuous Cases," and will be so considered and treated.

Another range of cases, found all over the Dominion—the deserted wife and children. In all such cases, accepted for assistance by the Patriotic Fund, the desertion must have taken place within six months of the discharge of the ex-soldier from service. It is understood that assistance, where there are children, will be continued until the youngest child of the family has reached the age of sixteen years.

To do all this, and doing it outside of any State assistance and direction, considerable money will have to be found. The Patriotic Fund has set aside about $4,000,000 for the purpose. This has been invested in government and Provincial securities and from the income together with some modified expenditure of capital, the money will come. The immediate distribution on this account will be made from the Head office, at Ottawa. From month to month an inspection and enquiry will be made as to the circumstances of each family or person benefiting, in order that conditions under which these grants are made are being observed. And as children reach the age of 16 years automatically such will cease to benefit. After that age something of being self-supporting is expected.

For the last four years the Patriotic Fund has expended a very large sum in the aggregate in emergent and remedial work to individuals and to families, all being those of ex-soldiers. A stated allowance has been the rule, accessible to all who applied, in maternity cases, thus sharing hospital and medical expenses. In addition, very large number have had hospital help, and medical help, lightening the responsibilities of the heads of families very materially. All of this form of assistance will now cease at April 30th. After that time no more cases can be entertained.

In many of these cases no pension had been allowed, the ex-soldier having reached home without visible disability. But amuch of sickness has ensued, both to ex-service man in and the respective families. Whether any provision will be made by the Government to meet such conditions is not indicated. It is most probable that in extreme cases the local Board of Relief may be appealed to, as a matter of recognition for the man who went overseas, served, returned and now finds himself or members of his family in hard circumstances owing to sickness.

In the past eight years the Patriotic Fund has served a purpose unique in the history of this or any other country. Raised by voluntary subscription and so free from all departmental or governmental direction or influences, absolutely apart from all political intriguing; self-contained and administered, it has been the source of untold satisfaction as the one organization that could be appealed to, both during the war and since, to afford relief and assistance. Which it invariably did, within its very moderate rules defining the opportunity. And as Sir Robert Borden has said, it is conspicuously the one arm of war service of which no criticism has resulted. Absolutely free from any suspicion of graft, diversion of monies, defalcation and mis-use of funds. It has raised and distributed nearly one hundred millions of dollars, with the utmost fairness and fidelity, standing off all attempts at imposition on the part of applicants by its system of thorough inspection, investigation and supervision. And doing all this because it had in its service over 27,000 men, the very best in each locality, working and giving unpaid service heartily and willingly. With few changes, the same men are on the job in this city today who gathered in December, 1914, and took over the work from the citizen's committee previously in action. Of this some further review may be made when the local administration finally lays down its work.

DERIDES SIR ARTHUR'S SPIRIT EXHIBITION

NEW YORK, April 10—(Canadian Press).—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "spirit pictures," showing throngs of shadowy figures gathering about the tomb of the British unknown soldier in London on Armistice Day, were derided yesterday by the Rev. C. M. De Heredia, S.J., who demonstrated in the photographic department of the Evening World that he could cause similar phenomena to appear on photographic plates without touching them, and without any aid from the other world.

Father De Heredia, a Catholic priest at Mexico City, has made a long study of spiritualism, as well as the tricks employed by stage magicians and sleight of hand performers.

He described his method of producing weird photographs as "trickery and device, and spiritism not at all—because as between living persons here on earth and the spirits that have passed from the body there is not and cannot be a control from the living world."

AUSTRALIA PLANNING TO ISSUE NEW LOAN

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 10.—(Canadian Press, via Reuter's).—Dr. Earle Page, Australian Federal Treasurer, when announcing yesterday the details of the first conversion issue of £38,000,000 five per cent. stock to redeem the five per cent. war loan falling due on September 15 next, stated that the new loan would be issued at par and would be repayable in 1948 and would be subject to Federal taxation. The subscription list closes on May 31. Holders of the war loan bonds who convert into the new stock will receive a bonus of one per cent. Dr. Page added that the Government was not asking for any cash subscriptions.

ALL DOMINIONS AND INDIA AT CONFERENCE

LONDON, April 10.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated in the House of Commons yesterday that it was anticipated that all the Dominions and India would be represented at the proposed imperial economic conference in London and with the exception of New Zealand they would all be represented at the imperial conference of premiers. He was sorry to state that the prime minister of New Zealand did not expect to be able to attend the latter conference, but the chancellor hoped that all the other prime ministers would be present.

A member asked whether, since the prime minister of New Zealand would be unable to attend the conference of premiers, if the chancellor would consider the propriety of inviting the New Zealand high commissioner to attend in Premier Massey's place.

Mr. Baldwin replied that he would leave that question to the prime minister to decide.

STRIKING FEATURES IN YEAR'S RAILWAY REPORT

LONDON, April 10.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—A striking feature of the returns filed by the standard gauge railways of Great Britain for last year is the decrease of gross expenditure which dropped more than 20 per cent. Gross expenditure last year was £191,000,000, compared with £246,000,000 in the previous year. Gross receipts last year were £238,000,000 compared with £236,000,000 in the previous year. The total net income last year was £54,000,000. There were thirty-one million fewer passengers carried in 1922 compared with 1921 and the average receipts dropped from 122 pence to 90 pence per ton.

Advises all Sufferers To Use Them

New Brunswick Man Cannot Speak too Highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Leandre Doiron used Dodd's Kidney Pills and now Recommends them to all His Friends.

Pointe Sapain, N.B., April 9.—(Special).—"I have used your Dodd's Kidney Pills and can tell you that they are good and that they have done me much good," states Mr. Doiron, a well known and highly respected resident of this place.

"I recommend Dodd's Kidneys Pills to all who suffer from bad kidneys. I tell my friends what a marvellous remedy they are, and advise all those who suffer not to delay taking them. I cannot speak too highly of them."

It is statements like the above that have made Dodd's Kidney Pills a household remedy throughout Canada.

The satisfaction Dodd's Kidney Pills are giving as a remedy for Kidney trouble is shown by the large number of people who keep them always at hand. They have learned that the proper way to avoid serious forms of Kidney troubles, such as rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy and heart disease is to correct the early symptoms of Kidney trouble.

A POLICY COST $2,000 AND VALUE NOW IS $48

LOS ANGELES (United Press) —Pola Negri, Polish film star, has just cancelled an insurance policy for 2,000,000 marks, which she took out some months before leaving America.

The policy insured Pola against any injury which would prevent her further appearance on the screen as a means of livelihood. The policy, if cashed in now, would be worth $48.

At the time she took out the policy, even with the low rate of exchange, the premium she paid amounted to some $2,000. The drop in the mark since then has reduced the value of the entire policy to $48.

Pola decided she was to much more valuable "vamp" than that, so cancelled the "paid in Germany" policy, and has taken out a new policy with an American company for $250,000.

Finds the Right Thing For Asthma

Ontario Lady Just Rubs Vicks Over Throat and Chest

Here is the last word in treating cold troubles— rub Vicks well in over throat and chest. Get into bed and have the coverings loose about the neck. All night long you breathe in the healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Turpentine, etc. The application also acts like a heating liniment or plaster. It is almost sure to loosen the cold before morning.

Mrs. J. Saunders of 235 Barton street, East Hamilton, Ont., says: "I was bothered with asthma and a very bad cold in my chest. I applied Vicks VapoRub, rubbing it on with my fingers, and found it gave me wonderful relief. I would be pleased to recommend it to anyone having a bad cold or in case of burns. As a family medicine it has no equal. I know it will help others and it has helped me."

Treatment with Vicks is especially desirable for children as it avoids so much dosing. Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises, sores and skin itchings.

At all drug store 50c a jar. For free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada, it enjoys a remarkable sale. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

RICKEY STANDING PAT WITH THE CARDS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 10.—(United Press.)—It is probable that the good people of St. Louis are still hoping for a National League pennant. They have been hoping for three years, and game fans never give up. So, under the circumstances, it will not be a disappointment if the Cards fail to come through in the 1923 pennant race, as they have become almost habitual failures.

Last spring a great many good baseball judges picked the Cardinals to beat out the Giants for the National League pennant. They not only failed to win the league championship, but they were crowded out of second place by the fast-finishing Cincinnati Reds and almost squeezed out of third hole by the resuscitated Pirates.

It is impossible to explain the reason for the flop of the cards last year without entering into a criticism of the managerial methods of Branch Rickey and, for the same reason, it is equally impossible to make an accurate forecast of what the club will do in the coming pennant race.

The loss of McHenry, a star outfielder, who was ill all season and who died after the season had closed, and the utter collapse of the pitching staff, were two apparent causes for the failure of the Cards after they had been worked up to their top form and first place in the latter part of July.

The brain malady which came upon McHenry was a very bad break, both for the player and the club, and it was something over which Rickey had no control, but the poor work of the pitchers was attributed by several of his players as being due to very poor management of their manager.

The players also criticized Rickey for using McCurdy, a young catcher, behind the bat in several critical games; for benching Fournier and using Bottomly, a rookie, on first base, and for using another rookie, Blades, in the outfield, when he had more experienced players on the bench.

It must be admitted that Rickey knows baseball, and that if the critics among his players knew as much as he did they would not be players. But, on the other hand, the evidence tends to indicate that the players might have been at least partially right in their criticism.

Rickey, at various times, has held himself up as the outraged victim of the money demon, who helped the New York Giants win pennants. Several seasons ago, when the Giants were reported to have offered $200,000 for Rogers Hornsby, Rickey said that he would never sell a great ball player and neither would he buy one.

For this reason the Cards have not been strengthened since the close of the last season. Even down to the Athletics and the Phils, most of the major league clubs opened their purse-strings last winter and went after ready-made products. Rickey still goes along with the idea that he can develope young players, and you can count up on your fingers the young players who have been developed by major league clubs since the war.

The Cards control three minor league clubs—the Syracuse club of the International League, the Houston club of the Texas League and the Fort Smith club of the Western Association. All three trained with the Cards this spring, putting 60 ball players before Rickey for the picking. From that lot he expected to find the necessary plugs for the holes in his club.

Fred Toney, the old Giants right-hander, is a new face with the club, but Rickey didn't spend any money for him. He may win a few games, but he will not make a pennant for the club. The other pitchers, under the existing system of handling, cannot be expected to show any sensational improvement.

Hy Myers was secured in a trade with the Brooklyn Robins, a trade in which Rickey got all the best of it. Myers is a good ball player, but he may not measure up to the standard of play set by the late McHenry.

Bottomly is still at first base. He is a youngster and it would be a fine thing if he would come through and vindicate Rickey, who has been criticized for playing him.

Otherwise the team is about the same. It, as has been said, has not improved, while the Giants and the Reds have been strengthened, and the Pirates are more formidable.

BABE RUTH AS A HIGH-PRICED WRITER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 4 (United Press).—Among those great sport celebrities who have turned literatists, Babe Ruth, the swatter, is one of the most prominent. The Bam is not only the high priced man playing ball, but he is the highest salaried man writing baseball, if his terms haven't been reduced since 1921.

Not only that, but the Babe on his 1921 rate for wordage is the highest priced writer in the world.

In the spring of 1921, when Ruth's name began to have commercial value, he was hired by a press association to describe after every home run just how he did it, what kind of a ball it was and all the exciting details.

He signed a contract for a flat sum of $1,000 with a bonus of $5 for every home run. The Bambino hit fifty-four homers and that ran his pay up to $1,270, and the Babe's only contribution all season to his editor was one wire on the first trip to Boston, which read:

"Low fast one outside.

"Babe."

* * *

That rate is $254 a word, and it's as good a record in its line as 59 homers.

* * *

Boxing in England is supposed to be under ideal and almost perfect supervision. The regulations carried out by the leading British clubs are copied in practically every country that has taken up boxing. Even with perfect supervision, the "boys" sometimes get away with.

During a recent bout in London, one of the contestants was unfortunately killed and an investigation resulted. One of the rules requires that all contestants in boxing bouts should be examined physically before they enter the ring. In bringing out this point, the promoters replied in the affirmative when asked if the boy had been examined.

The "doctor" was then called to the stand and a sensation was created when in the course of the preliminary examination dealing with his age, place of birth and other details, he was asked for his occupation, and he replied:

"A porter, sir."

He explained that his duties consisted of sweeping out the arena and examining the fighters. He qualified as a medical expert when he applied for the job and showed a discharge from the medical corps.

* * *

Jack Dunn could have made a fortune several years ago if he had placed the five big stars of his Baltimore International League team on the market for cash. Wise baseball heads said he was making a mistake as he wasn't getting any more at the gate than he would with a team minus two or three of them and that he was foolish for not selling the players when the market was good. Intimates of Dunn know that he had a reason outside of business for maintaining a great team. He wanted to build up the best team and the best business in the minor leagues and pass it over to his son, "Young Jack," who was secretary and treasurer of the club. Just a few days ago the son was stricken with pneumonia and died. That blow, too great to be described, probably will cause Dunn's retirement from baseball.

* * *

"Young Jack" was well known to the owners and managers of nearly every minor league team by attendance at all the minor league meetings since the war. He was growing up in the business and he was acquiring the greatest of all commercial assets, a great personal popularity and a respect in business transactions. His loss is not his own family's only, it is a loss of all baseball, because the game needs club owners like he started out to be.

* * *

Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox, tells of a young rookie in the Sox camp who had just learned that he was about to get the "sir" from Kid Gleason. He approached Grabiner and asked him if some wires could be pulled that would get him a transfer to the St. Louis Browns. Grabiner was curious, and asked him why the Browns attracted his fancy.

"Well, Sisler's goin' to be out for a month, they tell me, and I don't know no one better to take his place for a while than me."

AMATEUR ASSOCIATION AT COUNCIL CHAMBER

All indications point to a lively time at the annual meeting of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association which will be held in the City Council Chamber to-morrow night.

The Executive will meet the hockey committee this evening to hear the report on the operations of the O. H. A. teams. The hockey statement shows a balance of less than $5.00.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE FOR THIS WEEK.

It has been necessary to make several changes in the schedule as previously announced, and games for th remainder of this week will be as follow:

ANTI-TORONTO SPIRIT RULES SAYS TORONTO

Display of Pique on the Part of Toronto Over Failure to Grab Control of O.B.A.A.

MAY WITHDRAW.

Disgruntled at the absolute failure of the Toronto contestants for office in the O.B.A.A. the Toronto Amateur Baseball Association is now talking of withdrawing from the provincial organization. The report of the proposed withdrawal taken from a Toronto evening paper gives no logical reason for such action and it seems to be merely a case of sulking like a spoiled child who has failed to get what he wants regardless of whether his desires conflict with the rights of others or not.

We would have thought that the T.A.B.A. would have been glad to play under the present officers of the O.B.A.A. Under existing conditions they can when they are eliminated from the championship running by Peterboro or some other "provincial" teams raise the howl that they have been discriminated against by the "provincial" officers. The Toronto papers have always played their amateur teams up as world's champions and when the licking comes as it nearly always does near the end of the season from some "hick" team they must dig around for some excuse to hand out to the fans. In the past with the O.B.A.A. controlled by Toronto practically the only available excuse was to blame the umpires. These poor hard working officials have born the brunt of Toronto's defeat on more than one occasion but this year will be able to share the difficulties with the O.B.A.A. officers who can be blamed for various things if the necessity should arise. The following report clipped from a Toronto paper paves the way for such a howl complaining of the difficulty of being ready for the finals on the date set by the O.B.A.A. It is quite apparent that the great majority of the leagues throughout the province have decided that they can conform to this rule and in the O.B.A.A. as in all other democratic organizations the will of the majority is paramount. If Toronto is to stay in the O.B.A.A. then Toronto must bow to the will of the majority.

Following is part of Toronto's complaint:

Right after the session of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association on Saturday, the delegates of the Toronto Amateur Baseball Association met and decided that it would be impossible to operate this year's finals early enough to get ready for the O.B.A.A. finals three weeks from the second Saturday in August. The attitude of "Anti-Toronto' taken by the Ontario delegates was a sad affair. Everything that even smelled Toronto was voted down to a man. The T.A.B.A. delegates to the O.B.A.A. annual were men who have guided the affairs of the Toronto association for years, and their decision to break away from the O.B.A.A. for this year at least will meet the approval of the T.A.B.A. session tomorrow night.

SIKI SETTLES UP FOR DAMAGE DONE.

PARIS, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Battling Siki side-stepped trouble with the law yesterday when a charge against him of assault with intent to cause bodily harm was withdrawn by the complainant, a waiter whom Siki knocked out in a Monmartre restaurant several nights ago.

The Senegalese was a much subdued battler when he appeared yesterday morning before the investigating magistrate of the Seine Tribunal and agreed to pay indemnity for the damage done to the waiter's features, as well as reparation for the few days of idleness enforced upon his victim by the encounter.

Peace having thus become effective, Siki was let off with a warning henceforth to confine his pugilistic activities to the roped arena.

George Sisler May Be Out of the Game

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 10 (Canadian Press). — Manager Lee Fohl, of the St. Louis American League Club, declined here late yesterday to discuss reports that George Sisler, the Browns' first-sacker, was out of the game for good because of eye trouble.

Fohl said, however, that he did not expect Sisler to be in condition to begin the season, and that he did not know how long it would be before he could report.

Sisler is now in St. Louis, and it is said it may be necessary for him to undergo an operation in order to correct an impairment of his vision.

"RUBE" BENTON CASE IS CLOSED

Haydler Says Decision of Landis That Benton is Eligible Settles Question

NEW YORK, April 10 (Canadian Press). — The Rube Benton case, which has been agitating major league baseball circles for some time, is closed, so far as he is involved, John H. Haydler president of the National League, announced yesterday upon his return from a six weeks' vacation trip, which took him to the Pacific Coast.

"Commissioner Landis has decided that the Cincinnati Club is at liberty to sign and play Benton," he said. "As far is I am concerned, that closes the incident."

Because of alleged knowledge of the 1919 world's series scandal, Benton's eligibility to return to the major leagues was questioned when the Cincinnati Club negotiated his purchase from the St. Paul Club of the American Association It was understood a majority of National League Clubs voted to oppose his return to the senior circuit.

Commissioner Landis, however, ruled that no basis now existed for action against Benton, and declared him eligible to play with the Reds.

The Commissioner based his decision on the fact that no disciplinary measures were taken against the pitcher when his alleged irregularities became known, more than two years ago, and that it never had been contended he was guilty of playing dishonest ball.

THE TRIPLE LINK TRIPPED KIWANIS

Two Runs in Last Inning Broke a Tie and Won the Game By Score of 8 to 6.

Two runs in the final inning broke a tie, and gave the Triple Link nine a victory over the Kiwanis Club with a score of 8 to 6 in the final soft ball game last evening. The Kiwanians started off like a house afire and ran in four runs in the first two innings while the Triple Link boys were getting one. In the third however the Kiwanis team weakened badly and before they knew what what had happened five runs had crossed the pan giving their opponents a two run lead. By mighty efforts Kiwanis sent in one run in each of the fifth and sixth innings to tie the score, but the Triple Linkers came to bat in the seventh, and again hit McLean hard sending in two runs to win the game. In their turn at bat Kiwanis got one man as far as third but the next three men went out with rapidity and dispatch.

Price did the mound work for the winners and in addition to pitching a good game he fielded his position well. He only fanned two but he got first class support and the breaks of the game were with him.

McLean pitched for the Kiwanis, and fanned five. With the exception of the third inning he got good support.

The players were:

Triple Link: G. Butcher, ss; A. Butcher, 3b; Munro, 1b; Ackford, c; Long, lf; Byers, ss; Price, p; Barrie 2b; Cross, rf.

Kiwanis: Webber, 1b; Gordon ss; Brown, c; Parker, 2b; Cummer, 3b; McKay, ss; McLean, p; Dick, rf; Phalen rf; Lacey lf.

Score by innings:

BELMONTS WON FROM LEADERS

Gunners Toppled From League Leadership in the First Game Last Evening —Score was 8 to 6.

The Belmonts handed the Gunners their first defeat of the schedule in the first of the three fast soft ball games last evening at the Armouries. The score was 8 to 6, and an unusual feature of it was that neither team scored more than two runs in any inning. Runs have a habit at times of coming home in flocks in some of the soft ball games. The Belmonts came from behind to win for the Gunners had them down to the tune of 5 to 0 at one stage of the game. Steady playing and hits when hits were needed, however, enabled the Belmonts to grab the lead and hold it. In the first half of the seventh the Gunners managed to tie the score but in the final half of the same session the Belmonts came across with two more and that proved enough to win.

Tommy Holyman did the hurling for the winners. He turned in a good game with eight strike-outs to his credit and in addition received first-class support from his team mates. Lowe, Stuart and Heckman were the mainstays of the team. Piercy was on the mound for the Gunners and was touched for some long hits in the last three frames. His team mates on the whole gave him some good support, but their few errors came at the critical times and let the runs score.

The players were:

Belmonts—Lowe, 1b.; Jobbitt, 3b.; Stuart, 2b.; Heckman, l.f.; Haskins, c.; Holyman, p.; Batten, s.s.; Fanning, r.f.; Thompson, s.s.

Score by innings:

Gunners	102 100 20—6
Belmonts	002 022 2x—8

ORANGEMEN WENT DOWN TO ROTARY

Matthews - Graham Combination Proved Too Much For L.O.L. 50.

Rotary maintained the good showing that has been made in the Softball League for the past few games by defeating L.O.L. 50 by a score of 6 to 2 in a fast game played at the Armouries last evening. The two teams battled along on even terms for the first five innings, but then the Cog Wheelers got next to Spencley for some heavy hits, which sent three runs in and sewed up the game.

The L.O.L. boys tried hard to wrest a victory from their defeat, and had several men as far as third base but the necessary punch to send them home was lacking.

Matthews formed the big half of the battery for the Rotarians, with Graham behind the bat. Matthews was in fine form himself, and fanned eleven, but he also received first-class support from his team mates, both in the field and at bat.

Abbott and Macdonald were the star willow wielders, while all the members of the team were good in the field.

Spencley was on the mound for the L.O.L., and relied to a great extent on the support of his players. With the exception of the fifth frame he got first-class backing.

The players were:

Rotary—McPherson, ss; Matthews, p; Macdonald, 3b; Abbott, 1b; Caise, rf; Dobbin, lf; Graham, c; Primeau, 2b; Young, s.s.

L.O.L. 50—H. Hardill, 1b; Nelson, 2b; Batten, 3b; J. Hardill, c; Mahood, ss. Bradley, lf; Spencley, p; Edgar, ss; Carney, rf; Mongraw, lf.

WESTCLOX TEAM FIVE PIN CHAMPS

Defeated Post Office Team in Final Match Game Last Evening.

The Westclox team won the championship of the Mercantile League, by defeating the Post Office last evening by a score of 2500 to 2432. High scores were the order of the day. The Post Office gang grabbed the first game of the match but lost the second. The third was a battle royal with the final issue in doubt till the last pin toppled over. Westclox came out on top in this game with a margin of two pins.

Seven of the ten players went over the 500 mark. Ballard of the Post Office, having the high score with 522, while Devey of the same team was next with 512. The scores were as follows:

WILSON'S "The National Smoke"
BACHELOR
Still the Most for the Money
10c.
ANDREW WILSON & CO.

ON THE BASEBALL FIELD

(Apropos the agitation for utilizing baseball grounds for outdoor opera in the big cities).

Under ideal weather conditions the regular playing season of the National Grand Opera League got under way today.

* * *

Grand stand and bleachers were packed. Many of the fans had waited in line all night.

* * *

There was a roar when Signor Tutti, the great baritone, cantered on to the diamond at 2.05 and started throwing his voice. He used no backstop.

* * *

His throat seemed in mid-season condition and there was no sign of wildness in his delivery.

* * *

Mlle. Geraldine Jarrem, the famous soprano, came from the visiting bench at 2.15 and was given a great cheer. She appeared to have great control and conferred at some length with her manager.

* * *

Signors Enrico Stoppi, Luigi Lusti, Francesco Yeilli, and Miles. Gallon-Quartal, Fritzi-Straffe, Bella-Donna, and other stars romped on the field a few moments later, followed by the orchestra of sixty pieces. The orchestra went through snappy batting practice.

* * *

At 2.30 a brass band entered the south gate and marched on to the field, followed by the mayor, the board of aldermen, six prominent politicians, an ex-saloonkeeper, and a dog. The dog was given a rousing cheer.

* * *

The band played "Hail to the Chief," as the mayor passed first base. The mayor tipped his hat, greeted the visiting opera stars, and delivered a short talk on the work accomplished by his administration for bigger and better sewers.

* * *

* * *

The umpires, Deems Taylor and Pitts Sanborn, came to the plate in taxicabs at 2.40 and demanded action.

* * *

The umpires inquired who was playing. At 2.45 the contest was announced as between the Montreal Opera Company and La Boheme.

* * *

Ground rules were explained and Mlle. Geraldine was warned there must be no flirting with the officials.

* * *

* * *

* * *

The mayor tossed out the first false note, an E flat, at 2.15, and play began.

* * *

* * *

The crowd was jarred a moment later when Mlle. Geraldine Jarrem muffed a high C and promptly threw out her director, unassisted.

* * *

At the beginning of the last act the fans stood up and stretched in observation of the "lucky finale." As Signor Enrico Stoppi stepped to the plate with the "Ah, Mimi, Tu Piu" solo, the crowd showed hostility. There were cries of "Throw out the big bum!" "Back to the minors, ya poor stiff!" and "Hey, skinny, pull in your ears!"

* * *

Play was about to be resumed when the orchestra, complaining that fans in the first rows were throwing peanut shucks down its neck, walked off the field in a body. The game was then called.

* * *

A demand for rain checks was set up by the fans, but the management refused to give them, claiming that the game hadn't proceeded far enough for the phonograph records. The matter will be referred to the National Commission.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 10 (Canadian Press):— There was a stronger feeling for oats in the local market yesterday, with prices marked up 1 cent per bushel. Local prices for flour were unchanged. A firm feeling continues to prevail for all lines of millfeed, but the trade in rolled oats was quiet. There was no improvement in baled hay demand.

The egg market was steady. The tone of the potato market was firm.

Prices for butter fell off in the afternoon, with prospects of going still lower.

Trade was quiet and the tone easy in cheese.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 10 (Canadian Press). — There has been very little change in the market during the past week, and the feeling has been steadier with an inclination to firmness. A few Easter eggs have arrived, costing around 29c delivered.

Two cars from Chicago are reported to be now rolling costing 30c delivered.

Ontario country markets are reported firmer under lighter receipts. Demand is keen, with shippers paying 23c to 25c, and making sales at 27c to 28c f.o.b.

Toronto firm, specials 35c, extras 33c, firsts 30c to 32c.

Montreal steady, extras 34c, firsts 32c. Fresh dressed poultry steady.

Winnipeg firm, receipts light. Dealers quoting 22c to 23c delivered.

Saskatchewan unchanged. Storing expected during the present week.

Alberta markets firm under lighter receipts. Dealers quoting delivered extras 21c, firsts 18c, seconds 15c.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 10 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 1,030 cattle and calves, 1,370 hogs, and 300 sheep and lambs here was a fair demand for the better class of offerings on the cattle market this morning, and the prices maintained a steady tone.

The hog market opened unchanged with packers bidding $9.65 for thick smooths and $10.61 1-2 for select bacon.

Trading was light on the sheep and lamb market. A few odd lambs

WAGES CANNOT BE FIXED BY LAW.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (Canadian Press). — Wages cannot be fixed by law, the United States Supreme Court, dividing five to three, held yesterday in a case brought to test the constitutionality of an Act of Congress fixing minimum wages for women and minor girls in the District of Columbia.

The majority of the Court based its decision broadly upon the right of contract, insisting that while laws could be enforced to regulate working conditions, the employer and the employee must be free of restraint in determining between themselves what wages are acceptable.

DISORDERS IN MOSCOW.

RIGA, April 10 (Canadian Press).—A Moscow despatch reports disorders there provoked by attacks against the Church and mockery of the Easter celebrations.

Troops were employed to suppress the disorders, and three Red soldiers were shot dead.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETING

Teams Are Asked to Get Together Tomorrow Evening at 7 o'clock.

All local teams interested in the various serie, of the City Baseball League are reminded of the meeting to be held to-morrow, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of arranging plans for the season. The meeting is called at an early hour in order to allow those interested to attend the annual meeting of the P.A.A.A. which will be held at 8 o'clock in the City Council's Chamber.

The Peterboro Baseball Association has offered the City League the use of Riverside Park free of charge and this concession should do much to solve the problem of financing the operations of the League. It is hoped to be able to carry on intermediate Junior and Juvenile Series and any team wishing to enter any one of these series are asked to have delegates present.

Put confidence in too many strangers and you soon won't have any.

BANKERS' DANCE

The dance held by the bankers of Peterboro at the G.W.V.A. Hall last evening, proved to be one of the most successful affairs of the season. Arrangements in every particular were carried out in a manner that elicited admiring comments from all who attended, and made the evening one of the most enjoyable social events held in some time in Peterboro. Unique and original innovations for the entertainment of their guests were planned by the committee in charge, composed of the Misses H. Stapleon, G. McCarthy, M. Evans, M. Conner, M. Morrison and M. Drope; Messrs. W. E. McWilliams, J. . Nesbitt and C. T. Aulph, (chairman), and included novedty effects of various kinds. During the evening rainbow colored lights played on the dancers, there was an unusual "favor" dance, with vari-colored serpentine streamers from a large central basket, and a balloon dance, with toy balloons attached to the shoes of the ladies, the final unbroken balloon belonging to Miss Phyllis Robertson, who received the award, a bouquet of sweet peas. A pleasing interruption in the programme was the novelty dancing duet, in Egyptian costume, of the Misses T. Coner and M. Kirn. Excellent music was supplied by Ken. Blood's four-piece orchestra from Port Hope.

The decorations were particularly effective and striking. Large ferns surrounded the musicians' platform, which was backed by a large white circle, surmounted by a white dove, and small ferns and colored balloons filled the window spaces. Yellow and white bunting festooned the ceiling, with a mass of vari-colored pendant paper streamers centering above the large white "favor" urn, with its green fronded fan arrangement. Colored lights added to a scheme of decorations exceptionally bright and attractive. Dainty refreshments were provided by the feminine members of the different bank offices in the city.

Among the two hundred and fifty people present at the Bankers' dance which it is anticipated will be an anual affair, looked forward to by those who enjoyed last evening's hospitality, were:

Suffered From Pimples and Blotches For Fifteen Years

When the blood becomes impure it is only natural that pimples, blotches boils or some other blood trouble will manifest itself by breaking out of the system.

There is only one way to get rid of these obnoxious skin troubles and that is by giving the impure blood a thorough cleansing by the use of a good blood purifier, such as

Burdock Blood Bitters

This remarkable remedy has been on the market for over forty years; is the best obtainable, and will do all we claim for it as a blood cleanser.

Mr. Albert R. De Witte, Lake Valley, Sask., writes: "I have suffered very much from pimples and unsightly blotches for the past fifteen years, and was so bad that I hated to go out anywhere. I tried many different medicines, but none seemed to help. A friend told me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I have used three and a half bottles, and now I have a clear, rosy complexion."

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(Special).—Wall Street played a bullish construction on U.S. Steel's 11 per cent. wages increase, but not bullish enough to pull the market out of the lethargy that has marked it for the past two sessions.

There was apparently no great urge to buy or sell. It was believed the wage advance suggested optimism on the part of Judge Gary concerning the immediate future of the steel industry.

Steel Common advanced fractionally to 107 in the early dealings and small gains were scored by Independent Steels, which will undoubtedly follow the example set by the Steel Corporation.

This means that steel workers will receive an additional $100,000,000 in wages annually, representing a large addition in the purchasing power from a single industry.

Trading was sluggish in the first hour. Prices showed a sagging tendency but the downward trend anpeared to result from the indifference of interests sponsoring the constructive side rather than an abundance of offerings, for there was no real selling pressure on any part of the list. International Paper receded a point to 51¼, reflecting the 1922 report which showed a deficit of over 9,000,000 on top of a deficit of $8,942,000 in 1921.

After turning decidedly dull on further re-action around 11, American stocks developed greater activity in the late morning when prices gave indications of an advancing tendency. Sugars reached a degree of animation in the wake of the new higher for the year for Cuban raws. Cuban American moved up 5-8 to 35 1-8. Punta Alegre 58 to 67 1-8, Manati two points to 71, and Cuba Cane Preferred 1 3-8 to 62 3-8.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Lakefield, 9th April 1923.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I have just read your editorial following a meeting in Norwood on the question of redistribution ,where you say, in part: "The Redistribution Committee are unanimous for leaving the two Peterborough Ridings as they are at present, and that it is doubtful if there is much chance for this forlorn hope."

The writer would be in favour of making East and West Peterborough one constituency, one member to represent the Provincial House and one the Dominion House. We have too many members by half in this country, with a population about one-third greater than the City of New York. We have about 900 members of Parliament. Who will say that we cannot be as well governed by half this number? This country is in dire need of the strictest economy in the public service, and the idea of two members for each Parliament in this county, and ten or more in a city like Toronto is a disgraceful waste of public money.—Yours, etc.,

J. P. Lillicrap.

STEPS BEING TAKEN TO PROTECT VICTORIA PARK

Victoria Park is being closed to traffic to-day and will be kept closed for a fortnight or longer according to the weather conditions. This is absolutely necessary if the beautiful sward which makes this spot so pleasant in summer is to be preserved. Already great damage has been one by people cutting corners in crossing the park, and it is hoped that the signs requesting care will be respected by the citizens.

MASS FOR BERNHARDT

LONDON, April 10.—(Canadian Press).—Solemn requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Sarah Bernhardt was said in Westminster Cathedral this morning, and was attended by the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs in state, representatives of the Premier and Queen Alexandria, numerous diplomats, famous doctors, actresses an actors.

SWITCHMEN MEETS DEATH

HAMILTON, April 10.—(Canadian Press) — Romeo Boucher of Montreal, a switchman of the Steel Company of Canada, was run over by an engine this morning and killed. Both legs were cut off.

It is getting so that when a bootlegger is arrested, he raises cain if it makes him get home late for supper.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Captain M. W. Plunkett's "Dumbells" company will offer their latest and most spectacular overseas revue, entitled "Carry On" at the Grand for two days, April 13-14.

The organization has been greatly augumented and strengthened by the addition of the outstanding stars from each of the four divisional parties that were organized in France. The company now numbers thirty-two Canadian soldiers, and is still headed by those two popular stars—Ross Hamilton and Al. Plunkett. Others in the cast are Stan. Bennett and Fraser Allan, Canada's foremost song writers; Ben Allen, the original coloured parson; Pat Rafferty, the pint sized comedian; T. J. Lilly, the original "Red" of the "Dumbells" in France; Dick Kimberley of the old "Volatiles"; Morley Plunkett and Bert Wilkinson, "Dumbells" of long standing; Jimmy Devon, who put on the dancing platoon; Gordon Calder and Bert Mason, star "girls" of the shows in France; Al. Johnson, the French-Canadian baritone who won highest honors in the national musical competition this year; Jack Challes of the "Maple Leafs"; Bilee Baker, Jack Grace, H. Clark, N. L. Lye, Roy Locksley, Bert Williams, W. H. Thomas, Bob Ford, D. Chisholm, Art Allan and the gallant Captain, himself, complete a cast that would be impossible to duplicate from the ranks of the Canadian Army.

There are twenty-six new musical numbers in the score of "Carry On," and two brand-new military sketches. The entire production is, as usual, under the personal direction of Capt. M. W. Plunkett, who is making his first public appearance in Canada this season, singing his own songs and telling a few stories and getting acquainted.

The vaudeville at the Capitol Theatre for the first three days of this week is exceptionally good. Stoddard and Brown have a musical and dialogue act which received repeated encores from an enthusiastic audience last night. A queue that lengthened nearly to the corner of Charlotte street, filled the theatre with a crowd that appreciated fully the talent of the two clever players. Stoddard, the male member of the duo, showed outstanding ability. He played the violin with a richness of tone production and an ease in difficult fingering that brought a whirlwind of applause. Jazz and old-time favorites alternated with "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," on the 'cello, and duets with Miss Brown in banjo and 'cello, and mandolin and guitar. Miss Brown also sang "Carolina in the Morning," and wore a striking white costume embellished with rhinestones that added much to the effectiveness of a snappy act that is one of the best of this season's Capitol offerings, getting applause after every number and a triple encore after the last tuneful number. Stoddard's make-up is especially effective.

Agnes Ayres in "A Daughter of Luxury," has a role which suits her style admirably. As the pseudo Mary Cosgrove, a rich heiress, she becomes entangled in a curious mesh of circumstances which transport her from a dingy lodging house to a refuge in a rich home. Here the son of the house falls in love with the demure beauty, masquerading under an assumed name, and a romantic finale rounds out a luxuriously set production.

An excellent programme, which commences with the interesting Screen News, includes a fantastic comedy featuring Jimmy Aubrey, and a very good Sherlock Holmes episode, "The Tiger of San Pedro."
